Jeremiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Prophet Jeremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whome some thinke to be hee that founde out the booke of the Lawe, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident revelations of prophetic, so that by the commandment of the Lord hee began very young to prophetic, that is, in the thirteenth yere of Iosiah, and continued eightene yere vnder the sayd King, and three moneths vnder Ichoahaz, and vnder Ichoiakim eleven yeeres, and three moneths vnder Ichoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleven yeeres: vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboute fourtie yeere, besides the time that he prophetic after the captiuitie. In this booke he declarerh with teares, and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, couetousnes, subtiltie, crueltie, excesses, rebellion, and contempt of Gods worde, and for the consolation of the Church, reueileth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more subburne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonishe them most plainly of their destruction. Next howe the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly, though God shewe his iust judgement against the wicked, yet will he ever shewe him selfe a preferer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to manns judgement to be abolished, then will he declare him selfe victorious in preferring his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Jeremiah propheticd. 6 He acknowledged his impossibility, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preache his word without feare.

a That is, the sermons and prophecies. b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the Lawe vnder king Iosiah, 2. King. 22. 8.

c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21. 18.

d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: forasmuch as he did not presume of him selfe to preach, and prophetic, but was called thereunto by God. e Meaning, the nephew of Iosiah: for Ichoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, and therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ichoiachin that reigned no longer,

Use: wordes of Jeremiah the sonne of Hilkiah one of the Priestes that were at Anathoth in the lande of Benjamin.

To whome the wordes of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Ammon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, vnto the ende of the thirteenth yere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, even unto the carrying away of Ierusalem capture in the fift moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordained thee to bee a Prophet unto the nations.

6 Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a child.

7 But the Lord said vnto mee, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and what so euer I commaunde thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraide of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hande borne, as I said. 49. 1. galat. 1. 15. h For Jeremiah did not onely prophetic against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites and other nations. i Considering the great judgements of God, which according to his threatnings should come vpon the worlde, hee was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pite them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmities of mans nature knowing howe harden thing it was to enterpise such a charge, Ios. 1. 11. Exod. 3. 11. and 4. 2.

14 Is Israel a seruant, or is he boyne in the house? why then is he spoiled?

15 The ypones roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his lande waste:
his cities are burnt without an inhabitant.

16 Also the children of Ephraim and Ca-hapanes haue broken thine head.

17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way?

18 And what hast thou nowe to doe in the way of Egypt? to drinke the water of Nile? or what makest thou in the way of Asshur? to drinke the water of the Euer?

19 Thine olme wickednesse shall correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall re-proue thee: know therefore and beholde, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that nup seare is not in thee, sayeth
the Lord God of hostes.

20 For of olde time I haue broken thy pole, and burst thy bondes, and thou saydest, I will no more transgresse, but like an hartoe thou runnest about vpon all the hilles, and vnder all greene trees.

21 Yet I had planted thee, a noble vine, whose plants were all naturall: howe then art thou turned vnto nix into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Though thou walke with nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine in-iquitie is marked before mee, sayeth the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neyther haue I followed Baalim:
beholde thy wapes in the valley, and know, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift ydounbarre, that runneth by his wapes:

24 And as a wilde asse, vnto the wil-dernes, that snuffeth by the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not reuerie themselves, but will finde her in her manetie.

25 Keepe thou thy feete from barenesse, and thy throte from thirst: but thou saydest desperately, No, for I haue loued an Asa thiefe, and them will I follow.

26 As the thiefe is ashamed when he is found, so is the house of Israel ashamed, when they see their kings, their princes, their iudges, and their prophets,

27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their backs their idolatrie, vnto mee, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, due to the time and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.

29 Wherefore wilt thou plead with me, that thou hast rebelled against me, sayeth
the Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in baine, they receiued no correction: your sworde hath deuoured your prophets, like a destroying lyon.

31 O generation, take heede to the worde of the Lord: haue I bene as a wil-dernes? or as a land of darkness? pen-thebe. Wherefore sayest my people then, Wee cause they are leades, wee will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maye forget her ornament, or a bypse her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without number.

33 Why dost thou prepare thy wap, to make amite: when therefore wilt I teach thee, that thy wapes are wickednesse, from my place.

34 Also in thy wings is found the blood of the sonnes of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltles, surely his wrath shall turne from mee:
seeing that you beholde, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou sayest, I haue done nothing.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy wapes? for thou shalt bee foundered of Egypt, as thou art foundered of Asshur.

37 For thou shalt go forth from thence, and thine handes vpon thine head, because the Lord hath reuered thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thertby.

38 But wil trust in our owne power and pollicie, as strangers.

39 The Prophets and the saythfull are corner of your country. For the Assyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Israel, and destroyed Iuda, euen vnto Ierusalem: and the Egyptians slewe Iosiah, and vexed the Iewes sundrie forties.

gaine vnto her: & shall not this lande be polluted: but thou hast played the harlot with many: & loiners: per: & turne as gaine to me, sayeth the Lord.

2 I sate by the river vnto the high places, & behold, where thou hast not played the harlot: thou hast sitte waiting for them in the waies, as the Arabian in the wilderness:
and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the thowes haue bene restrained, and the latter raine came not, and thou haddest a whores fo: head: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

4 Didst thou not say vnto me, Thou art
my father, & the guide of my youth:

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? will he resueve it to the end? thus hath thou spoken, but thou dost euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lord said also vnto me, in the daies of Iosiah the King, that thou seest what this rebel Israel hath done: for she hath gone by vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there played she the harlot.

7 And I sayde, when she had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Judah saith.

8 When I saw, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot,
I said: her away, and gaue her a bill of di-uorcement: yet her rebellious sister Judah was not afraid, but she went also,
and played the harlot.

9 So that for the lightnesse of her whor-dome, she hath euen desited the lande: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stockes.

10 Nevertheless for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto me with in her whole heart, but shamefully, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lord said vnto me, The rebels Ious Israel hath notified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and crye these wordes towarde
the North and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, sayeth the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But know thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, & hast scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but per wouldst not obey my voice, saith the Lord.

14 O ye disobedient children, turne againe, sayeth the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion.

15 And I will giue you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Joyner, when per be increased and multiplied in the lande, in those daies, sayeth the Lord, then shall say no more:
The North of the covenant of the Lord:
for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shall be no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Jerusalem,
The thour of the Lord, and all the nations shall bee gathered vnto it, euen to the name of the Lord in Jerusalem: and therefore shall they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those daies the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the lande of the North, into the lande, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I sayd, How did I take thee for children and giue thee a pleasant lande, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and said, Thou shalt call me, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me?

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her husbande: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, saith the Lord.

21 A voice was heard vpon the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O ye disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truly the hope of the hills is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines:
but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath denoured our fathers labour, from our youth their shepe and their bullockes, their soimes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our confusion, and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voice of the reoulesse, and the nations shall blessed in him, and shall gloie in him.

3 For thus sayth the Lorde to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem,

4 Speake vp: pour sorrow ground, & sow not among the thornes: be circumsised to the Lorde, & take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and in-habitants of Ierusalem, least my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quenche it, because of the wickednes of your inntions.

5 Declare in Iudah, and shewe forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land: cry, and gather together, and say, Assemble pour selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standart in Zion: prepare to flee, and say not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great des-truction.

7 The Lorde is come vp from his dwel-ing, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is de-parted, and gone forth of his place to lay the land waste, & the cities shall be des-troyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore gird you with sackcloth: la-ment, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lorde is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, sayth the Lorde, the heart of the king shall perish, & the heart of the princes, & the priests shall as-to-nish, and the s prophets shall wonder.

10 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast decreed this people and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sword percerth vnto the heart.

11 At that time shall it be said to this peo-ple, and to Ierusalem, A drie winde in the places of the wilderness cometh to waite the daughter of my people, but nei-ther to famie, nor to cleanse.

12 A mightie winde shall come vnto mee from those places, & now will I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, he shall come by as clouds, and his chariots shall be as a trumpet: his hoises are lighter then egles, he will be as a man dwell therein.

14 O Ierusalem, wath thine heart from wickednes, that thou mayest be saued: how long shall thy wicked thoughts re-maine within thee?

15 For a voice declareth from Dan, and pierceth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Make mention of the heathen, and publiſh in Ierusalem, Beholde, y skoutes come from a farre countrey, and cry out ag-ainst the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the ficke, because it hath plouoked me to wrath, sayth the Lorde.

18 The waers and thine inntions haue procured these things, such is thy wickednes: therefore it shall be bitter, when-foe it shall perce vnto thine heart.

19 My helpe, & my helpe, I am perished, when at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I can not be still: for my soule hath heard the sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole lande is wasted: suddnly are my tents destroyed, & my curtains in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standart, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people to scold, they haue not known me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme, & voyde: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines: and loe, they trembled, and all the hills shooke.

25 I behelde, and loe, there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were des-troyed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wilderness, and all the cities therof were broken downe at the presence of the Lorde, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lorde said, The whole land shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full ende.

28 Therefore shall the earth mourne, & the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, & will not repent, neither wil I turne backe from it.

29 The whole citie shall fire, for the people of the housemen, and bowe men: they shall goe into thicket, and clime by vpon the rocks: every citie shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt see destruction, what wilt thou doe? Though thou crossest thy selfe with scarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of gold, though thou paintest thy face with col-lours, yet shalt thou trimme thy life in vaine: for the louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noyse as of a wom-an trauieling, as one labouring of her first childe, even the voice of the daughter of Zion that sigheth and stretcheth out her handes: why is me thus: for my soule fainteth because of the murderers.

CHAPTER V.

In Iudah no righteous man founde neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Therefore Iudah is de-ferred by the Caldeans.

thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, & seeketh the truth, and I will spare it.

2 For though they say, The Lord is lieth, yet do they sweare falsely.

3 And the Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the truth? thou hast stricken them, but they haue not sorrowed: thou hast confirmed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their fascine harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

4 Therefore I said, Surely they are people, they are foolishly, for they knowe not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue know-en the way of the Lord, and the iudge-ment of their God: but these haue altogether broken y^e yoke, and burst the bonds.

6 Wherefore a lyon out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wilderness shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: enter one that goeth out thence, shall be in pieces, because their treasures are many, and their rebellions are increased.

7 Howe shouldest thoue say this? thy children haue forsaken me, and I sware by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, & assembled their fetures by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fedde horses: for euery man stepped after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not visit for these things, saith
the Lord? Shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 I will come by vpon their walled, and destroy them, but make not a full end: I take away their battlements, for they are not the Lords.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Judah haue grievously trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

12 They haue denied the Lord, and sayde,
It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall wee see sworde nor famine.

13 And the prophetes shall be as windes, & the word is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such wordes, behold, I will put my wordes into a reth-er, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

15 And I will bring a nation vpon you from farre, & house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a vugly nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither understandest what they say.

16 Whose quiter is as an open sepulchre:
they are all vber strong.

17 And they shall eate thine harvest and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy foimes and thy daughters: they shall eate by thy sheep and thy bullockes: they shall eate thy vines and thy figgetrees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou diddest trust.

18 Nevertheless at those dayes, saith the Lord, I will not make a full end of you.

19 And when ye shall say, Wherefore doth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs? then shall I thou answer them, like as ye haue forsake me, and strue strange gods in your lande, so shall ye serue strange gods in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iakob, & publish it in Iudah, saying,

21 Heare nowe this, O foolish people, and without understanding, which haue eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lord: I will not be afraid at my presence, which haue placed the lands for the boundes of the sea by the perpetuall decrees that it can not passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it.

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs nowe feare the Lord our God, that might raigne both early and late in due season:
he reuereneth vnto vs appointed wayes
of the harvest.

25 Yet your iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindered good things from you.

26 For among my people are founde de-ceitfull persons, that lay waste as he that seteth snares: they haue made a yoke to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: therefore they are de-come great and wagen rich.

28 They are waxen fat and shining: they do ouer passe y^e deeds of the wicked: they execute no iudgement, no not the iudges ment of the fatherlesse: yet they prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shall I not visit for these things, saith
the Lord: shall not my soule be auen-
ged on such a nation as this?

30 In howe vile and filthy thing is committed in the land.

31 The prophetes prophetic wordes, and the priestles receive gifts in their handes, and my people delite therein. What shall I then do in the ende thereof?

m None shalbe spared.

n Why the people beganne to feare Gods iudgements, the false prophetes comforted them by flattering, shewing that God would send peace and not warre.

o Wherin the Patriarkes and Prophets walked, directed by the word of God: signifying, that there is no true way, but that which God prescribeth.

p Prophets which should warne you of the dangers that were at hand.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to a beautifull and delicate woman.

3 The palaces with their sockets shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tentes round about by her, and euery one shall feede in his place.

4 Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs go vp toward the South: wo vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the evening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs go vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For this hath the Lord of hostes sayde, Hewe downe wood, and cast a moult against Jerusalem: this cite must be visited: all oppression is in the middes of it.

7 As a fountaine casteth out her waters, so the casteth out her mautes: & crueltie and spolie is continually heard in her before me with sorrowe and strokes.

8 Be thou instructed, O Jerusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land, that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and aduise, that they may heare? beholde, their eares are vntcircumcised, and they can not hearken: beholde, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproche: they haue no delite in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will powre it out vpon the children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assemblie of the poutingmen: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dares.

12 And their houses with their landes, and wiues also shall be turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the lande, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of them, men vnto the greatest of them, enterd one is giuen vnto couetousnes, and from the prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsely.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people by sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed adomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the name: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in a waite, and beholde, and alke for the olde wap, which is the good wap, and walke therein, and ye shall finde rest for your soules: but they said, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set watchmen ouer you, which saye, Take heede to the sounde of the trumpet: but they sayd, We will not take heede.

18 Heare therefore, ye Gentiles, & then Congregation knowe, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, beholde, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruit of their owne inmaginations: because they haue not take heede vnto my wordes, nor to my lawe, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bynged thou me in: & camest from Sheba, and sweete calams from a farre countrey? Your burne of as fringes are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the sarpers and the scorpions together shall lay vpon them: the nepphebour and his friend shall perishe.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, a people cometh from the North countrey, & a great nation shall arise from the ides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shield they be weaponed: they are cruel, and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, & our hands were feeble: sorrowe is come vpon vs, as the sorrowe of a woman in travail.

25 Go not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallowe thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, & bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer hath suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set thee for a defence and for a refuge among my people, that thou mightest knowe and trie their waies.

28 They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily: they are hyale, & pious, they all are destroyers.

29 The bellowes are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the foundrie melteth in vayne: for the wicked are not taken as wap.

30 They shall call them reprobate silver, because the Lord hath rejected them.

CHAP. VII.

Jeremiah is commanded to shew vnto the people the word of God, which traffeth in the seruants of the Temple. 1. The eate that shall come to the Jews for the despising of their Prophets. 2. Sacrifices doth not the Lord chiefly require of the Jews, but that they should obey his word.

The wordes that came to Jeremiah, from the Lord, saying,

Stand in the gate of the Lordes House and cry this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all ye of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Turne your waies and your woollens, and I will let you dwell in this place.

Chap. vii.

Believe not ¹ 4. Trust not in lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

For if you amide and rebelle your wordes and your workes: if you execute judgement betweene a man & his neighbour.

And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

Then will I let you dwell in this place in the lande that I gave unto your fathers, for ever and ever.

Schoole, you trust in lying wordes, that can not profite.

Will you steale, murder, and commit adultery and sweare falsely and burne incense unto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye knowe not?

And come and stand before me in this house, whereupon my Name is called, and saye, We are delinquent, though we have done all these abominations?

In this house become a denie of thours, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes: Schoole, even I see it, saith the Lord.

But goe ye now into my place which was in Shilo, where I set my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to it for the wickednes of my people Israel.

Therefore now because ye have done all these workes, saith the Lord, (and I rose up early and spake unto you: but when I spake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called, would ye answer)

Therefore will I doe unto this house, whereupon my Name is called, where in also ye trust, even unto the place that I gave to you & to your fathers, as I have done unto Shilo.

And I will call upon out of my sight, as I have call out all your brethren, even the whole seed of Ephraim.

Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift up crye or prayer for them neither increate mee, for I will not heare thee.

Seekest thou not what they doe in the cities of Judah and in the secretes of Jerusalem?

The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, & the women kneade the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heaven and to potize out drinke of fringes unto other gods, that they may provoke me unto anger.

Do they provoke me to anger, sayth the Lord, as I have done Ephraim, that is the temple.

To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednesse, he sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing availe them, whiles they remaine in their obduracy against God, and will not use the means that he vseth to call them to repentance, Chap. 11. 14. & 14. 11. That is, they sacrifice to the sunne, moone, and starres, which they called the Queene of heaven, Chap. 14. 17. a. King. 23. 25

Hee sheweth what is the onely remedie to redresse our fautes: to suffer God to leade vs into the way, and to obey his calling, Isa. 66. 4. g. I will send you into captivitie as I have done Ephraim, that is, the temple.

To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednesse, he sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing availe them, whiles they remaine in their obduracy against God, and will not use the means that he vseth to call them to repentance, Chap. 11. 14. & 14. 11. That is, they sacrifice to the sunne, moone, and starres, which they called the Queene of heaven, Chap. 14. 17. a. King. 23. 25

Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be poured upon this place, upon man and upon beast, and upon the tree of the felde and upon the fruite of the ground, and it shall burne and not be quenched.

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, But your burnt offerings unto your sacrifices, and care the selfe.

For I spake not unto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voice, and I will bee your God, and pee shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I have commanded you, that it may be well unto you.

But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubbornnesse of their wicked heart, & went backward and not forward.

Since the day that your fathers came up out of the lande of Egypt, unto this day, I have even sent unto you all my servants the Prophets, rising up early & tarrying day, and sending them.

Yet would they not heare mee, nor incline their eare, but hardened their necke, and had worse then their fathers.

Therefore shalt thou speake all these wordes unto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry unto them, but they will not answer thee.

But thou shalt say unto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiveth discipline: their trust is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

Cut off thine eare, O Jerusalem, and cast it away, and take up a complaint on the high places: for the Lord hath rejected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.

For the children of Judah have done evil in my sight, sayeth the Lord: they have set their abominations in a house, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

And they have built the high place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom, to burne their sons and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, & it shall no more be called the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall burne there in Topheth till there be no place.

And the carriages of this people shall be made for the foules of the heauen and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fear them away.

Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Judah and from the secretes of Jerusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bride,

Shewing that it was not his chiefe purpose and intent that they should offer sacrifices: but that they should regard, wherefore they were ordained: to wit, to be ioyned to the worde, as scales and confirmations of redemption of finnes in Christ: for without f wordes they were vaine and vnprofitable.

CHAP. VIII.

The destruction of the town. 10 The Lord mouth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the cunningness of the prophets and priests.

At that time, saith the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the justices and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem out of their graves.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whom they haue loued, & whom they haue serued, and whome they haue followed, & whom they haue sought, and whome they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as dung upon the earth.

3 And death shall be desired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked family, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt sape vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they say & not arise? shall he turne away & not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Jerusalem turned backe by a perpetual rebellion: they gaue themselves to deceit, & would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednes, saying, What haue I done? enerep one turned to their race, as the hysse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the fowle in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallowe obserue the time of their coming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord.

8 Youe doe ye sape, We are wise, and the Lawe of the Lord is with vs & we are cer- teinly in vaine made by it, the pen of the scribes is in vaine.

9 The wise men are ashamed: they are ashy and taken, for they haue rejected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them?

10 Therefore will I giue their wines vnto others, & their felices to them that shall possesse them: for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to come to nought, and from the prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsly.

11 For they haue heald the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Where they shalmed when they had committed abomination: nay, they were not ashamed, neyther coulde they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the snare: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the wast shall fade, and the thynges that I haue giuen them, shall depart from them.

14 Why doe we stay? assemblable your cities, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence and giuen vs wa- ter with gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 Wee looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of healt, and behold troubles.

16 The weping of his hostes was heard fro Dan, the whole lande trembled at the noise of the weping of his strong hostes: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the cite, & those that dwell therein.

17 For beholde, I will send serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, & they shall sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue comforted my self against sorrowe, but mine heart is deauy in me.

19 Beholde, the voice of the crye of the daughter of my people for feare of them Babylonians, of a farre countrey, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her king in her? Why haue they plouoked mee to anger with their stony stones in grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

20 The harvest is past, the summer is ended and we are not holpen.

21 I am a soye vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauie, and this the last astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balmie at Gilead? is there no physician there? Why then is not woe- der that they haue sought for the health of the daughter of my people recouered?

q The Prophet speakech this, r Meaning, that no man help or meane coulde saue them: for in Gilead was precious balm, Chap. 46. 11. or els deniding the vaine confidence of y people, who looked for helpe at their priests, who should haue bene the physicians of their soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hos. 1.

CHAP. IX.

The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we onely to reioyce. 26 The vncircumcision of the heart.

O that mine head were full of water, that I might weep day and night for the name of the daughter of my people.

2 That I had in the wilderness a cotte of weeping men, that I might haue my people, and go from them: for they be all abusers & an assemblie of rebels.

3 And they bende their tongues like their bowes for lies: but they haue no conscience for the truth vpon the earth: for they proceede from euill to worse, & they haue not knowen me, saith the Lord.

But the Loyde is God of truth: he is the liuing God, and an euertlasting king: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

Thus shall pou say vnto them, The gods s that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perih from p earth, and from vnder these heauens.

The portio of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and I- rael is the rod of his inheritance: the Loyd of hostes is his name.

For hee hath by his wares out of y land, & thou that dwellest in the strong place.

A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods com- mandments. 10 The people of Iudah follow a g the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

The woide that came to Jeremiah from the Loyd, saying,

Heare ye the woies of this comes naur, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

And say vpon vnto them, Thus saith the Loyd God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obepeth not the woies of this coun- nant,

Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, from the yron foynne, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all these things, which I commaunde pou: so shal ye be my people, and I will be your God.

That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a lande, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered I and sayd, So be it, O Loyd.

Then the Loyd said vnto me, Crp al these woies in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the woies of this couenant, and doe them.

For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them by out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, saying earlie and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

Heuertheles they would not obey, ney encline their eare: but every one walked in the stubbornesse of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the woies of this couenant, which I com- manded them to doe, but they did it not.

And the Loyd said vnto me, A confpira- cie is founde among the men of Iudah, & among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

They are turned backe to the iniqui- ties of their forefathers, which refused to heare my woies: and they went after o- ther gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

1 The word of the Lord that came unto Jeremiah, concerning the dearth.

2 Judah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they have bene brought to heaviness unto the ground, and the crye of Jerusalem goeth up.

3 And their nobles have sent their intricateurs to the water, who came to the wellies, and found no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and covered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and covered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde also calned in the field, & forsooke it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stande in the high places, and grieve in their wind like dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the saviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by to tarry for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man allowed, and as a strong man that cannot helpe: yet thou, O Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy name is called upon us: forsaake vs not.

10 Thus sayeth the Lord unto this people, Thus have they desired to wander: they have not refrained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but he will now remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes.

11 Then sayde the Lord unto mee, Thou shalt not say to do this people good.

12 When they say, I will not heare their crye, and when they offer burnt offering, as an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beseehold, the prophets say unto them, We shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come upon you, but I will give you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said unto me, The prophets prophesie lyes in my name: I have not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I unto them, but they prophesie unto you a false vision, and divination, and vanity, and decefulness of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my name, I have not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not bee in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom these prophets do prophesie, shall be cast out in streets of Jerusalem, because of the famine. And the sword, and there shall be none to burye them, both they, and their wives, & their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednes upon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word unto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, & with a sore grievous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, beholde the same with the sword; and if I enter into the citie, beholde them that are sicke for hunger also: moreover the Prophet also and the Priest goe a wandring into a land that they knowe not.

19 Hast thou directly cried? Judah, thy hath thy soule abhorred Zion: why hast thou sitten vs, that we cannot be healed? We looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and beholde trouble.

20 We acknowledge our wickednes, and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we have sinned against thee.

21 Do not abhorre vs for thy names sake, cast not blame upon the name of thy God: remember & hearken not thy covenant with us.

22 Are there any among the Gentiles, that can give raine: or can the heavens give showers? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite upon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lords word to him who prayes for the Levites, but threateneth to destroy them with sore plagues.

1 Then said the Lord unto me, Though I spake as Samuel stood before mee, yet mine affection could not bee towards this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say unto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus sayeth the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, unto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captivity, to the captivity.

3 And I will appoint over them foure kindes, sayeth the Lord, the sword to slay, and the dogs to teare in pieces, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to devour, and to destroy.

4 I will scatter them also in all kingdoms.

5 The word signifieth to runne to and fro for feare & inquietude of conscience, as did Cain.

1 The false promising the prophetes that prophesie in my name promised peace and assurance, but I have called to teares & repentance for their iniquitie, which is at hand, as Chap. 9, 11, Lam. 1, 16, & 2, 18.

2 Both he and I have led captives into Babylon.

3 Though the Prophet knewe, that God had cast off his multitude, which were hypocrites and bastards children, yet he was assured that for his promises sake hee would have still a Church, for the which he prayed.

4 He teacheth the Church a forme of prayer, to humble themselves to God by true repentance, which is the only meane to avoid this famine, which was the beginning of Gods plagues.

5 Meaning, these idoles, read Chap. 10, 13.

6 Meaning, that if there were any people, as were these two, yet he would not grant this request, forasmuch as he had determined the contrary, Ecc. 14, 14, Job. 11, 9.

16 But I have not thought in my selfe for a pasture after thee, neither haue I desired the day of miserie, thou knowest: that which came out of my lippes, was right before thee.

17 We not terrible vnto thee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraide, but let not me be afraide: bying vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destruction thyn with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go and stande in the gate of the childien of the people, wherby the kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem.

20 And say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye kings of Iudah, and all Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take heed to your soules, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bying it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Neither carpe forth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe ye any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe: & would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Therefore saith the Lord, I will heare them, saith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein.

25 Then shall the kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and shall ride vpon chaires, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for ever.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings, and sacrifices, & meate offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the House of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not heare mine voice to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden, nor to goe through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

a God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his worde. 18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Jeremiah. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

1 The woide which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 And, and go downe into the potters house, & there shalt I shew thee my worde.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and beholde, he wrought a worke with the wheel.

4 And the vessel that he made of a clay, was broken in the hande of the potter, so he returned, and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the woide of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, cannot I do with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hande, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, against a kingdome to plucke it by, and to roote it out and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it, and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euil in my sight and hate not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to do for them.

11 Spake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, & make your waies and your works good.

12 But they say, & desperately, We will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubbornnes of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, & ke now among the heathen, who hath heard such things: the virgin of Israel hath done very filthy.

14 Will a man forsake the snowe of Lebanon, which cometh from the rocke of the field? or shall the colde flowing waters, that come fro another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to banitie, and their prophetes haue caused them to stumble in their waies from the ancient waies, to walke in the paths and way that is not troden.

16 To make their lande desolate and a perpetual berison, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall astonish and wagge his head.

17 I will scatter them with an East winde before the enemy: I will shewe them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs make some deuice against Jeremiah: for the Lawe shall not perishe from vs. Priest, ought not to conuitt from the Lawe, nor the woide from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite and slaye strangers and lesse God, which was present with them. e There is the way of truth, which God had taught by his Lawe, reade Chap. 4. 1. I will shewe mine anger and not my fauour, toward them. f The argument the wicked haue euers vied against the seruants of God. The Church cannot erre as the Church, & therefore whoso euer speaketh against vs, they ought to die. g King. 23. 14. Chap. 4. and 20. 1. malac. 2. 4. and thus the false Church peruerseth the true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, and in many kinde, but is knowne by the graces of the holy Ghost.

a As the potter breaketh the clay in his hand, so will I break the people in mine hand.

b When the scripture speaketh of a nation, it is not that the nation is called to repentance, and when he speaketh of a kingdome, it is a calling to repentance, and when he speaketh of a man, it is a calling to repentance, and when he speaketh of a nation, it is a calling to repentance, and when he speaketh of a kingdome, it is a calling to repentance, and when he speaketh of a man, it is a calling to repentance.

19 Hearken unto me, O Lord, and heare the voice of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

i Seeing the obstinate malice of the adulteraries, which growe daye more and daye more, the Prophet being moued with Gods spirit, without anyearneall affection prayeth for their destruction, because he knew that it should tend to Gods glory, and praise of his Church.

21 Therefore, O deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them dyppes away by the force of the sword, and let their wives be robbed of their children, and be widowers: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their young men be slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the crye be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly upon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feet.

23 Let Ioyde thou knowest all their counsell against me tendeth to death: forguene not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thine: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

His prophesie the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

1 Thus sayeth the Lord, Go, and bye an earthen botell of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the priests,

2 And go forth into the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the East gate: and thou shalt preache there the wordes, that I shall tell thee.

3 And that I say, heare ye the wordes of the Lord, O Kinges of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem. Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague upon this place, the which whosoener heareth, his eares shall tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken me, & profaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it unto other gods, whom neither they, nor their fathers haue knownen, nor the kinges of Iudah they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the hye places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings unto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde.

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that this place shall no more be called Copheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will bring the counsel of Iudah & Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, & by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their karkasses will I giue to bee meate for the fowles of the heauen, and to the beasts of the field.

8 And I will make this citie desolate and an habitation, so that euerie one that passeth ther by, shall be astonishen and hiss because of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will seepe them with the first of their sonnes, and with the flesh of their daughters, & euery one shall rate the flesh of his friends in the siege and straitnes, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall holde them strait.

10 Then shalt thou breake the botell in the sight of the men that go with thee,

11 And shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Enen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that can not bee made whole againe, and they shall burye them in Copheth till there be no place to burye.

12 Thus will I doe unto this place, sayeth the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Copheth,

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the kinges of Iudah shall be desolied as the place of Copheth, because of all the houses upon whose roofes they haue burnt incense unto all the hostes of heauen, and haue powred out drinke of fringes into other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Copheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophesie, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

15 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring upon this citie, & upon all her towne, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my wordes.

CHAP. XX.

Jeremiah is smitten & cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 He prophesie the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaine that he is a mocking stocke for the word of God, & He is compelled by the spirit to preach the word.

1 When Balthur, the sonne of Iuimer, the which, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophesied these things,

2 Then Balthur smote Ieremiah the prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the hie gate of Benjamin which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Balthur brought Ieremiah out of the stocks. Then sayde Ieremiah unto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Balthur, but Pagot-missabib.

4 For thus sayeth the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terror to thy selfe, and to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, & thine eyes shall beholde it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall carie them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Whosoener I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, & all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kinges of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them awaye and carie them to Babel.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceived me, and I am deceived: thou art stronger then I, and hast prevailed: I am in derision dapir: euerp one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wiong, and yoclapined: desolation: therfore the woide of the Lord was made a rejoyche vnto me, and in derision dapir.

9 Then I sayd, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his name.
But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie w forbearing, & I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many, & feare on euerp side. Declare, sayd they,
& we will declare it: all my familiars wached for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is decerned: so we shal pynaple as 11 But the Lord is with me like a mighty giant: therfore my persecuters shall be ouertrowne, and shall not preuaile, & shalbe greatly confounded: for they haue done withoute, and their euilllasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 But, O Lord of hostes, that repect the righteous, & seest the repynes & the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord:
for he hath deliuered the soule of p poeple

14 Cursed bee the day wherinn I was mother bare me, be blessed.

ther, saying, A man childe is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

ning, and the shouting at noone tide.

dapes shoulde be consumed with shame?

He prophesieth that Zedekiah shalbe taken, and the

1 The woide which came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Dathur, the sonne of Balchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying, us (for Zedekiah-nessar king of Babel

the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vs from vs.

3 Then said Jeremiahs, Thus shall pou say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel,
Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherwith ye fight agaynst the king of Babel, & agaynst the Caldeans, which besiege pou without the walles, and I will allowe them into the middes of this cite.

5 And I my selfe will fight agaynst pou with an outstretched hand, and with a mightie arme, euen in anger & in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this cite, both man, and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I will drive Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this cite, from the presence, from the sword, and from the famine into the hand of Zedekiah-nessar king of Babel, & into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their lives, & he shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neyther haue pitee nor compassion.

8 And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I set before pou the way of life, and the way of death.

9 If that abideth in this cite, shall die by the sword, & by the famine, & by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans that besiege pou, he shall liue, and his life shalbe vnto him for a pray.

10 For I haue set my face agaynst this cite for euill & not for good, saith the Lord:
it shall be giuen into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, Execute iudgement in the morning, deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of p oppressors, lest my wrath go out like fire & burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednes of our workes.

13 Behold, I come agaynst thee, & I inhabitant of the valley, & rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shal come downe agaynst vs? for who shal enter into our habitations?

14 But I will visite you according to the fruit of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall deuoure round about it.

l By bribes and extortion.

m Meaning, Iosiah, who was not giuen to ambition, and superstitie, but was content with mediocritie, and did only delight in setting forth Gods glorie and to do iustice to all.

o King of Iudah, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruantes, & thy people that enter in by these gates.

Thus saith the Lord, & execute ye iudgement and righteousnes, and deliuer the oppressed from the hande of the oppressor, and beere not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the kinges siting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this house, & ride vpon charrets, and vpon horses, both he and his seruantes and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these wordes, I swear by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this house shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the kinges house of Iudah, Thou art Gilead vnto mee, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wilderness and as cities not inhabited.

7 And I will prepare destructions against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedars, and cast them in the fire.

8 And many nations shall passe by this cite, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherfore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great cite?

9 Then shall they answer, Because they haue forsaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods and serued them.

10 Weepe not for the dead, and beere not mourning for them, but weepe for him that goeth out: for hee shall returne no more, nor for his native country.

11 For thus saith the Lord, as touching I shall turne the soune of Iosiah king of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither.

12 But hee shall die in the place, whither they haue ledde him captive, and shall see this land no more.

13 Who vnto him that buildeth his house by vnicirteousnes, and his chambers without equite: hee bleth his neighbour without wages, and gnueth him not for his worke.

14 Ye saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so he will make him selfe large windowes, and seling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shall thou reigne, because thou clorest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy father eate and drinke and prosper, when hee executed indgement and iustice?

16 When hee indged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because hee knewe me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy countourlines, & for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to do this.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakin, the soune of Iosiah king of Iudah. They shall not lament him, saying, My brother, or ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, sayng, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

19 Hee shall be buried as an asse is buried, euen by a turne and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 Go vp to Lebanon, and cry: shoute in Babylon and cry by the passages: for all the louers are distressed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saidst, I will not heare: thou hast bene thy manner fro thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voice.

22 The wynde shall feede all thy pastours, and thy louers shall go into captiuitie: and then shall thou be ashamed and con-founded of all thy wickednes.

23 Then shall dwellett in Lebanon, & maketh thy nest in cedars, how beautiful shalt thou bee when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorowes of a woman in trauaile?

24 As I live, saith the Lord, though I conuise the soune of Iehoiakin king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hande, yet wouldest I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hande of them that seek thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hande of Nerbuchad-nezzar king of Babel, & into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carie thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land, wherunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a defiled and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherfore are they caried away, he and his seede, and cast out into a lande that they knowe not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Write this: man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

thought his kingdome could neuer depart from him, because he came of the stocke of Dauid, and therefore for the promise sake could not be taken from his house: but hee abused Gods promises, and therefore was iustly deprived of his kingdome. He sheweth that all posteritie shall be witnesses of this iust plague, as though it were required for perpetual memorie. Not that hee had no children (for after he begate Salathiel in captiuitie, Mat. 1. 12.) but that none should reigne after him as king.

people, he haue scattered my rocke and thrust them out, & haue not visited them: behold, I will visite you for the wickednes of your workes, saith the Lord.

And I will gather the remnant of my shepe out of all countreies, whither I had diuined them, & will bring them againe to their folds, and they shall grow & increase. And I will set up shepards ouer them, which shall feede them: & they shall breed no more nor be afraide, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous branch, and a king shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

In his dayes Iudah shall be saued, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the name wherby they shall call him, The Lord our righteoules.

Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

But, the Lord lieth, which brought up and led the seede of the house of Israel out of the youth countrey and from all countreies where I had scattered them, & they shall dwell in their owne land.

Spine heart breaketh within me, because of the prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man, (and like a man whom wine hath overcome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holy wordes.

For the lande is full of adulterers, and because of othes the lande inuourmeth, the pleasant places of wilderness are bled by, and their source is euill, and their force is not right.

For both the prophet and the priest be wicked: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine house, saith the Lord.

Wherefore their water shall be vnto them as suppetrie waves in the darkenes: they shall be diuined forth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, even the percer of their diuination, saith the Lord.

And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal & caused my people Israel to erre.

I haue seene also in the prophets of Jerusalem filthines: they commit adulterie and walke in lyes: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feede them with worme wood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophetes of Jerusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the land.

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Heare not the wordes of the prophets that prophesie vnto you, & teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne heart and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

They say till vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Pe: shall haue peace:

and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbernesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

For who hath stand in the councill of the Lord that he hath perceined & heard his word: Who hath marked his word and heard it?

Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, & a violent whirlwind shall fall down vpon the head of a wicked.

The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, & till he haue persecuted the thoughtes of his heart: in the latter dayes he shall vnderstand it plainly.

I haue not sent these prophets, saith the Lord, yet they ranne: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

But if they had stand in my councill, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they shoulde haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednes of their inuentions.

Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off?

Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord: Do not I fill heauen & earth, saith the Lord?

I haue heard what the prophets saie, that prophesie lyes in my name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

How long? Do the prophets desire to prophesie lyes, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

Thinke they to cause my people to forget my name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my name for Baal?

The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream, & he be not as a man: let him speake my word faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheat, saith the Lord?

To not as a man: euen like a fire, saith the Lord: and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steal my word euery one from his neighbour.

Behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue dreamed, and say, Peace.

Behold, I will come against them that prophesie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lyes, and by their flatteries, & I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they bring no profit vnto this people, saith the Lord.

And when this people, or the prophet, or a priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then

20 And there was also a man who prophesied in the Name of the Lord, one Vriiah sonne of Shemaiah, of Bethsai, who prophesied against this citie, and against this lande, according to all the wordes of Jeremiah.

21 Nowe when Iehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his wordes, the king sought to slay him. But when Vriiah heard it, he was afraid and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim king sent men into Egypt, even Elnathan the sonne of Achuboi, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And there set Vriiah out of Egypt, and brought him unto Iehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead body into the graues of the childen of the people.

24 But the hande of Whikan * the sonne of Shaphan was with Jeremiah that he should not give him into the hande of the people to put him to death.

Iehoziah's example is to be followed, so in this other, Iehoiakims action is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, & his household. n Which declareth that nothing could have appeared in his sinne, if God had not moved this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

and that I should call you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 I I spake also to Zedekiah King of Judah according to all these wordes, saying,
But your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, & serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the King of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophesie a lye vnto you.

15 For I haue not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesie a lye in my name, that I might call you out, & that ye might perish, both you, and the prophets that prophesie vnto you.

16 Also I spake to the priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your prophets that prophesie vnto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the house of the Lord shall come hither, be brought againe from Babel, for they prophesie a lye vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore should they thus prophesie a lye?

18 But if they be prophets, & if the wordes of the Lord be with them, let them treat the Lord of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Judah, & at Jerusalem, goe not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine
in this cite,

cerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine
in this cite,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke not, when he carried away cap-tine Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiachin King of Judah from Jerusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Judah, and at Jerusalem,

22 They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shall be vntill the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them by, and restore them vnto this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The false prophesie of Hananiah, 13. Jeremiah reproueth Hananiah, and prophesieth.

And that same yere in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah king of Judah in the fourth yere, & in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of the prophet, which was of Gibeon, came out, & spake to me in the house of the Lord, in the presence of the priests, and of all the land that was in the house, and said,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

3 Within two yeres space I will bring you into this place, all the vessels of the house, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and carried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiachin King of Judah, with all them that were carried away captine of Judah, and went into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the King of Babel.

5 Then the prophet Jeremiah sayde vnto me, thus saith the Lord, thou art a false prophet, and in the presence of all the people that stand in the house of the Lord.

6 Then the prophet Jeremiah sayde, Because I say so, the Lord confirmeth my wordes, which thou hast prophesied to restore the vessels of the houses of the Lord, and all that is carried captine from Babel, into this place.

7 But heares thou now this word that I will speake in thine eares, & in the eares of all the people.

8 The prophets that haue bene before me and before thee in time past, prophesied against many countreys, & against great kingdomes, of warres, & of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the prophet which prophesied of peace, when the word of the Lord shall come to passe, then shall the prophet be knowne, that the Lord hath truly sent him.

10 Thus Hananiah the prophet tooke the yoke from the prophet Jeremiahs neck, & brake it, & sayde,

h That is, a hard and cruell sermone. i Signifying, that al should be his, as Dan. 2. 38. k Seeing this thing was evident in the eyes of the people, and yet they returned not to the Lord, it is manifest, that miracles can not moue together the worde it selfe, except God touche the heart.

necke, and I brake it.

11 And Ynanianah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Even so will I brake the yoke of Nebuchad-nazzar king of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Jeremiaah went his way.

12 When the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiaah the Prophet, (after that Ynanianah the prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Jeremiaah) saying,

13 Goe, and tell Ynanianah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for thee yokes of iron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I have put a yoke of iron upon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nazzar king of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I have given him the beasts of the field also.

15 Then said the Prophet Jeremiaah unto the prophet Ynanianah, Heare now Ynanianah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this peece thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Ynanianah the prophet dyed the same yeere in the tenth moneth.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Jeremiaah writeth unto them that were in captivity in Babylon, 10 Hee prophesieth their returne after twentie yeeres. 16 Hee prophesieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem. 21 Hee threatneth the prophetes that seduce the people. 25 The death of She-ruach is prophesied.

1 Now these are the wordes of the booke that Jeremiaah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem unto the residue of the Elders which were carped away captiues, and to the Priestes, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nazzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel,

2 (After that Ieconiaah the king, and the eunuchs, and the eunuchs, the princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workmen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem)

3 By the hand of Eliafah sonne of Shaphan, and Gemariah the sonne of Nethaniah, (whom Nebuchad-nazzar king of Babel had caried away captiue from Ierusalem) saying,

4 Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken unto all that are carped away captiues, whom I have caused to be caried away captiues from Ierusalem unto Babel:

5 Build you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eat the fruites of them,

6 Take you wines, and beget sonnes and daughters, and take wives for your sonnes, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke ye prosperitie of the cite, whither I have caused you to be carped away captiues, and ye shall be as captiues: for it is in the peace thereof shall you have peace.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets, your soothsayers that be among you, deceive you, neither give eare to your dyables, which you dyeame.

9 For they propheticke you a lie in my name: I have not sent them, saith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after twentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promises towarde you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I knowe the thoughtes, that I have thought towards you, saith the Lord, even the thoughtes of peace, and not of trouble, to give you an ende, and your hope.

12 Then shall you crye unto mee, and ye shall goe and saye unto mee, and I will heare you.

13 And ye shall seeke mee and finde mee, because ye shall seeke mee with all your heart.

14 And I will be founde of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiues, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I have cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe unto the place, whence I caused you to be carped away captiue.

15 Because ye have said, The Lord hath rapt us up & prophets in Babel,

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the King, that stretcheth upon the thimble of David, and of all the people, that dwell in this cite, your brethren are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 Even thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will sende upon them the famine, and the pestilence, and the sword, that can not be eaten, they are so naughty.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a curse, and a rebuke, and a curse, and a astonishment, and a pulling, that there shall be a rejoyce among all the nations whither I have cast them.

19 Because they have not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I cried pointed, unto them, by my seruantes the prophets, rising up rarely, and sending the companions, whom ye would not heare, saith the Lord.

20 I heare ye therefore the wordes of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whom I have sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

The Prophet speaketh not this for the affliction that he bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest & quietnes, that their troubles might not be increased, & that they might with more patience and lesse griefe waite for the time of their deliverance, which God had appointed most certeine: for els not only the Israelites, but all the world, yea, and the insensible creatures should reioyce when these tyrantes should be destroyed, as Isa. 14. 4.

f When your oppression shall be great, & your afflictions cause you to repent your disobedience, and also when the summe yeeres of your captiuitie shall be expired, as Chro. 36. 22. extra. 1. 2. chap. 3. 12. dan. 9. 2. g As Ahab, Zedekiah, & She-maiah. h Whereby hee as a sinner, curse, and a pulling, that there shall be no hope of returning before the time appointed. i According to the companions, Chap. 24. 1. 2. k Reade Chap. 26. 6. 7. 13. & 25. 22.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, of Achab the sonne of Ahabiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Shaaliah, which prosperie I bes unto you in my name, Behold, I will deliver them into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captivitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take up this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Achab, whom the king of Babel burnt in the fire, m Because they gave the people hope of speedie returning.

n Which was adulterie, and falsifying the word of God.

o Organum.

23 Because they have committed villenie in Israel, and have committed adulterie with their neighbours wives, and have spoken lying wordes in my name, which I have not commaunded them, even I knowe it, and I will use it, saith the Lord.

24 Thou shalt also speake to SHEMAIAH the Achelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name unto all the people, that are at Jerusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Shaaliah p Priest, and to all the Divites, saying,

p SHEMAIAH the false prophete flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe priest, as though God had given him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiada to punish whoe ever trespasssed against the worde of God, of the which he would have made Ieremiah one, calling him a rauer and a false prophete.

26 The Lord hath made thee Divite, for Iehoiada the Divite, that he should be officers in the House of the Lord, for ever: p man that rauceth and maketh himselfe a prophete, to put him in prison and in the stocks.

27 Nowe therefore why hast not thou reproved Jeremiah of Anathoth, which prophesied unto you?

28 For, for this cause hee sent unto vs in Babel, saying, This captivitie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Divite read this letter in the eares of Jeremiah the Prophete.

30 Then came the worde of the Lord unto Jeremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captivitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of SHEMAIAH the Achelamite, Because that SHEMAIAH hath prophesied unto you, and I sent him not, and hee caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will visite SHEMAIAH the Achelamite, and his seede: hee shall not have a man to dwell among this people, neyther shall hee beholde the good, that I will doe for my people, saith the Lord, because hee hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The returne of the people from Babylon, 16 Her menaceth the enemies, 18 And comforteth the Church.

a Because they should be assured & their powerie confirmed in the hope of this deliverance promised.

1 The worde, that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I have spoken unto thee, in a booke.

3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captivitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them unto the lande, that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Again, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, I have heard a terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace.

6 Beniamin wowe and beholde, if man traualle with child: wherefore doe I beholde every man with his handes on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a palenesse?

7 Was, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the tyme of Jacob's trouble, yet shall hee be delivered from it.

8 For in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shall no more serue themselves of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and David their King, whome I will raise up unto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my servant Jacob, saith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for loe, I will deliver thee from a farrre country, and thy seede from the lande of their captivitie, and Jacob shall turne againe, and shall bee in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee: though I utterly destroy all the nations where I have scattered thee, yet will I not utterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not bitterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy hunting is incurable, & thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor bribe for thee.

14 All thy slanders have forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I have stricken thee with the wounde of an enemy, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why creest thou for thine affliction? thy sorrowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I have done these things unto thee.

16 Therefore all they that denounce thee, shall bee devoured, and all thine enemies: every one shall goe into captivitie: and they that spole thee, shall be spoiled, and all they that robbe thee, will I give to be robbed.

17 For I will restore health unto thee, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The wast alway, saying, This is Zion, whome no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captivitie of Jacob: and I will restore health unto thee, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The wast alway, saying, This is Zion, whome no man seeketh after.

b He bewaileth that before this deliverance shall come, the Caldeans shall be extremely afflicted by their enemies, in the which they thought to have beene secure.

c Meaning that the time of this captivitie shall be grievous.

d When I shall visite Babylon, & the King of Babylon, I will weake Iacob.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord, A voice was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weeping.

18 Thus ſaith the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weeping, & thine eyes from teares: for thy woike ſhall be rewarded, ſaith the Lord, and they ſhall come againe from the land of the enemy.

e Of the possession of the Levites, reade Lev. 15. 12.

f Which mountains of this field were the common shekel, read Gen. 23. 15. for the shekel of the Temple was of double value, and ten pieces of silver were halfe a shekel: for mercie made the shekel.

g According to the custome the instrument of evidence was sealed up with a signet stone, and a seale thereof remained, which covered the same in effect, but was not so authenticall as another, but was left open to be seen if any thing fould be called into doubt, And so to hide them in the ground, that they might be preserved as a token of their delinquency.

h Or, had Gen. 24. 7. Gen. 24. 9.

i Because the wicked are subiect to the curse of God, he sheweth, that their pollution, which by nature is vnder this malediction, shall be punished both for their owne wickednes, and that the iniquity of their fathers, which is likewise in them, shall be also reckoned on their head.

k Meaning that his miracles in delivering his people should never be forgotten.

to mee in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said unto me, Thus saith the Lord thy God, that is in Anathoth, which is in the country of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth unto thee: hee it is for thee. Then I knewe that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the felde of Hanameel, mine uncles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the silver, even silver ten shekels, and ten pieces of silver.

10 And I writ it in the booke and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the silver in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed s according to the Lawe, and custome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gave the booke of the possession unto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Nethaniah, in the sight of Hanameel mine uncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, even this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, & put them in an earthen bottle, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses & feldes, & vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

16 I shew when I had delivered the booke of the possession unto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed unto the Lord, saying,

17 O Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard unto thee.

18 O thou sweet mercie unto thousands, and recompenseth the iniquity of the fathers into the bosome of their children after them: O God the great and mighty, whose Name is the Lord of hostes,

19 Great in counsell, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open upon all the wayes of the sonnes of men, to give to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his wayes)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt unto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And hast brought the people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terror,

22 And hast given them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to give them, even a land, that floweth with milke and honie,

23 And thou came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neyther walked in thy Lawe: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the mountains, they are come! The word signified vnto the cite to take it, and the cite is given: as fight against it by means of the sword, a mount or ramme, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, part, and is also what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast said vnto mee, O Lord God, I praye thee the felde for silver, and take witnesses: for the cite shall be given into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 I Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying,

27 Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for mee?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give this cite into the hand of the Caldeans, & into the hand of Nabuchadnezzar, king of Babel, and he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this cite, and set fire on this cite and burne it, with houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and poured drinke offerings vnto other gods, to provoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before mee from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely provoked mee to anger with the wayes of their hands, with the Lord.

31 Therefore this cite hath bene vnto mee as a provocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remove it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, & of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to provoke mee to anger, euen they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee & backe and not the face: though I taught them, rising up early, & instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receive doctrine.

34 But they set their abominations in the house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it,

35 And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnon, to cause their sonnes, & their daughters to passe throughe the fire vnto Moloch, which I commanded them not, neyther came it into my minde, & they should doe such abominations, to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And now therefore, thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning this cite, whereof thou sayest, It shall be delivered into the hands of the king of Babel by the sword, & by the famine, and by the pestilence,

37 O Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

m That is, of euerie creature, who as they are his workes, so doth he gouerne & guide them as pleaseth him, whereby he sheweth that as he is the author of this their captivity for their sinnes, so will he be for his mercies be their redeemer to restore them againe to libertie.

n From the time that I brought them out of Egypt, & made them my people, and called them my first borne.

44 Then shall they be heibes for sinners, and make writings, and seale them, and take witnesses in the lande of Benjamin, and round about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, and in the cities of the mountains, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cause their captivitie to returne, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The Prophet is minded of the Lord to pray for the deliverance of the people, which the Lord promised. 8 God forgetteth sinnes, for his owne glorie. 15 Of the birth of Christ. 20 The kingdom of Christ in the Church shall never be ended.

Whereof, the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah the seconde time (while he was yet shut up in the court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker of the Lord that formed it, & established it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and shewe thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this cite, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Judah, which are destroyed by the mountains, and by the sword.

5 They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselves with the dead bodies of men, whom I have slain in mine anger and in my wrath: for I have hid my face from this cite, because of all their wickednes.

6 Beholde, I will give it health, and as merchandise: for I will cure them, and will renste unto them the abundance of peace, and truth.

7 And I will cause the captivitie of Judah, and the captivitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will cleanse them from all their iniquitie, wherby they have sinned against me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, wherby they have sinned against me, and wherby they have rebelled against me.

9 And it shall be to me a name, a hope, a whereby he praye, & an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I do unto them: and they shall feare, and tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the wealth, that I shal give unto this cite.

10 Thus saith the Lord, Again there shall be heard in this place (which ye say shall be desolate, without man, and without beast, even in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voyce of joy, and the voyce of glads, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, I praise the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercie endureth for ever, and of them that offer the sacrifice of praise in the house of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captivitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Again in this place, which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall bee dwelling for shepherds to rest their flocks.

13 In the cities of the mountains, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah shall the sheepe passe againe, under the hande of him that releth them, saith the Lord.

14 Behold, the baxes come, saith the Lord, that I will performe that good thing, which I have promised unto the house of Israel, and to the house of Judah.

15 In those dayes and at that time, will I cause a branch of righteousness to grow up unto David, & hee shall erecte iudgement, and righteousness in the land.

16 In those dayes that Iudah be saved, and Jerusalem shall dwell safely, & he that shall call me, is the Lord our righteousness.

17 For thus saith the Lord, David shall never want a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Accepter shall the Priests and Levites want a man before me to offer burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to do sacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lord, If you can breake my covenant of the day, and my covenant of the night, that there shoulde not be day, and night in their season,

21 Then may my covenant be broken with David my servant, & he should not have a sonne to reigne upon his throne, & with the Levites and Priests my ministers.

22 As the ark of heaven can not be nombred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seed of David my servant, and the Levites, that minister unto me.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Hath not truth that this cite, and the king Zedekiah shall be given into the hands of the King of Babylon.

21 Hee rebuketh their counsel towards their servants.

1 The word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, when Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel and all his hoste and all the kingdoms of the earth, that were under his power of his hand, and all people fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities thereof saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Go, and speake to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give this cite into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and delivered into his hand, and thine eyes shall behold the face of the king of Babel, & he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt go, to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Judah: thus saith the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword.

5 But thou shalt die in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers & for many kings which were before thee, so shalt they burne odours for thee, and then shall lament thee, saying, Oh Lord: for I have pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

6 Then Jeremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes unto Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem.

7 When the king of Babels hoste fought against Jerusalem, & against all the cities of Judah, that were left, even against Lachish, & against Bezek: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Judah.

8 This is the word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people, which were at Jerusalem, to procure libertie unto them.

9 That every man should let his servant goe free, and every man his handmaide, which was an Ebrew or an Ebrewesse, and that none should serve himselfe of them, as was of a Jewe his brother.

10 Nowe when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the covenant, heard that every one should let his servant goe free, and every one his handmaide, and that none should serve themselves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they repented and caused the servants and the handmaidens, whom they had let goe free to returne, and held them as their own servants and handmaidens.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a covenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants, saying,

14 At the terme of seven yeeres let ye go, every man his brother an Ebrew which hath bene solde unto thee: and when hee hath served thee six yeeres, thou shalt let him goe free for thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight in procuring libertie, every man to his neighbour, and ye had made a covenant before me in a house, whereupon my name is called.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my name: for ye have caused every man his servant, and every man his handmaide, whom ye had let at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and hold them in subjection to be unto you as servants and as handmaidens.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye have not obeyed me, in proclaiming libertie every man to his brother, and every man to his neighbour: behold, I will declare a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terror to all the kingdoms of the earth.

18 And I will give those men that have broken my covenant, and have not kept the wordes of the covenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the calves in twaine, and passed between the parties thereof.

19 The princes of Judah, & the princes of Jerusalem, the Eunuchs, & the Divites, and all the people of the land, which passed between the parties of the calves.

20 I will give them into the hand of their enemies, & into the handes of them that beke their life: and their dead bodies shall be for meat unto the fowles of the heaven, and to the beastes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Judah, and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the handes of them that beke their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels host, which are come out from you.

22 Beholde, I will come againe, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this cite, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Judah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

5 That is, I give the sword libertie to destroy you.

speake vnto them, and bing them into the house of the Lord into one of the chabers, and giue them wine to drinke.

Thenooke I Azazaniah, the sonne of Jeremiah the sonne of Habaziniyah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Manan, the sonne of Igababab a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was about the chamber of Shalalai the sonne of Shalmai, the keeper of the treasure.

And I set before them sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, & cups, and I saide vnto them, Drinke wine.

But they said, We will drinke no wine:
for I Jonadab the sonne of Rechab our father commaunded vs, saying, I shall drinke no wine, neyther you nor your sonnes for euer.

Neither shall you build house, nor sowe seed, nor plant vineparde, nor haue any, but all your dapes pe shall dwell in tents, that pe may liue a long tyme in the lande where pe be strangers.

Thus haue we obeyed the hope of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dapes, neyther we, our wives, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineparde, nor sowe seed.

But we haue remained in tents, & haue obeyed, and done according to all that Jonadab our father commaunded vs.

But when Achishad-nezar king of Babel came by into the lande, we said, Come, & let vs go to Ierusalem, from the hope of the Caldeans, and from the hope of Iram: for we shall dwell at Ierusalem.

Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying,

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Go, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord?

The commaundment of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab that he commaunded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commaundment: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising early, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

I haue sent also vnto you all my ser-uants the Prophets, rising by early, and sending them, saying, Returne hither every man from his euill way, and amend your works, and go not after other gods to seruethem, and ye shall dwell in the lande which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not hearken unto my voice, nor obey me.

I haue most diligently exhorted & warned you both by my selfe and my Prophets.

But ye the sonnes of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commaundment of their father, which he gaue them, but these people hath not obeyed me.

Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes,
the God of Israel, Behold, I will bing vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitantes of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answer.

And Jeremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commaundment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commaunded you,
Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes,
the God of Israel, Jonadab the sonne of Rechab shall not want a man, to stande before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Baruch writeth, as Jeremiah inditeth, the booke of the curse against Iudah & Israel. He is sent with the booke vnto the people and readeth it before them all. He is called before the rulers and readeth it before them also. The King calleth it in the first. There is another written at the commandment of the Lord.

And in the fourth, & sixth of Jeremiahs the sonne of Josiah King of Iudah, came this word vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen from the dapes of Josiah vnto this day.

It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determine to doe vnto them that they may returne every man from his euill way, that I may forgive their iniquitie and reigne their finnes.

Then Jeremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neria, and Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

And Jeremiah commaunded Baruch, saying, I am shut up, and cannot go vnto the house of the Lord:

Therefore goeth thou, and read the roule, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lordes house vpon the sabbidays: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that they may come out of their cities.

It may be that they will I say before the Lord, and every one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger and wrath, that the Lord hath declared against this people.

So Baruch the sonne of Neria did according vnto all, that Jeremiah the Prophet commaunded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the hearing of the people.

These by his Prophet and ministers: which showeth that it is as much as hostes the God of Israel, Because ye
haue obeyed the commaundment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commaunded you, therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Jonadab the sonne of Rechab shall continue to be in my service for euer.

Loydes House.

1 The fall was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this rule, which was a lide before that Ierusalem was first taken, & then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and his company were led away captives, & which is the last page of the Scripture.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Loyde, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretaire, in the pier court at the entrie of the newe gate of the Loydes house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Loyd,

12 Then he went downe to the kings house into the Chancellours chamber, & so, all the princes sate there, even Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achob, & Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared unto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the sonne of Seriaiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, unto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hande the rule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, & come. So Baruch the sonne of Seriaiah, took the rule in his hand, and came unto them.

15 And they layde vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Nowe when they had hearde all the wordes, they were affrayed both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We wil certifye the king of all these wordes.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, howe diddest thou wynte all these wordes at his mouth.

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then layde the princes vnto Baruch, Go, hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 And they went in to the king to the court, and they layde vpon the rule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and tode the king all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the king sent Jehudi to fet the rule, and he took it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, & Jehudi read it in the audience of the king, and in the audience of all the princes, which stood beside the king.

22 Now the king sate in the winter house, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Jehudi had read thise, as foure sides, he cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth vntill all the rule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Per they were not affrayed, nor rent their garments, neither p king, nor any of his seruantes, p heard all these wordes.

25 Nevertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the king, that he woude not burne the rule: but he would not heare them.

26 But the king commaunded Ierahmeel the sonne of Iahmieleh, and Seraiiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Proppher, but the Loyd hid them.

27 Then the wordes of the Loyde came to Ieremiah (after he the king had burnt the rule & the wordes which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe another rule and write in it all the former wordes that were in the first rule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus sayth the Loyd, Thou hast burnt this rule, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the Loyde of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, He shall haue none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & his dead bodie shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visite him and his seede, and his seruantes for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another rule, & gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Seriaiah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

C H A P. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeeded Ieremiah. 3 He sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah, going into the land of Benjamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten & put in prison.

Ab King Zedekiah p sonne of Josiah reigned for. Contain the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel made king in the lande of Iudah.

But neither hee, nor his seruantes, nor the people of the lande woude obey the wordes of the Loyd, which he spake by the ministration of the Proppher Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Iephaniah the sonne of Maasiah the Priest to the Proppher Ieremiah, saying, Wray now to the Loyd our God for vs.

4 Now Ieremiah went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

Shewing, that the wicked in steale of repentance, when they heare Gods iudgements, growe into further malice against him and his worde.

Thus we see the continuall care that God hath euer over his to preferre them from the rage of the wicked.

Though the wicked thinke to haue abolished the word of god, when they haue burnt the booke thereof: yet this declareth y God will not only raise it vp again, but also increase it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as verse 32.

These are Iehoiakims words. Though Iehoiachin his sonne succeeded him, yet because he reigned but three moneths, it was esteemed as no reigne.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Jerusalem, heard sayings of them, they departed from Jerusalem.

6 Then came the word of the Lord by the Prophet Jeremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel,
Thus shall ye say to the king of Judah,
that sent you unto me to inquire of mee, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this cite, and take it & burne it with fire.

9 Thus saith the Lord, Mercies not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shal not depart.

10 For though pee had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, & there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this cite with fire.

11 When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Jerusalem, because of Pharaohs arme,

12 Then Jeremiah went out of Jerusalem to goe into the lande of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

13 And when he was in the gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriah, the sonne of Shieles-miah, the sonne of Hananiah, & he tooke Jeremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou fleeest to the Caldeans.

14 Then sayde Jeremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but hee would not heare him: so Iriah tooke Jeremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Jeremiah, & smote him, & laid him in prison in the house of Jehonathan the scribe:
for they had made that the prison.

16 When Jeremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prison, & had remained there a long time,

17 Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke him out, and the king asked him secretly in his house, & sayde, Is there any word from the Lord? And Jeremiah sayde, Yea: for, sayd he, thou shalt bee deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Wherefore, Jeremiah sayde unto king Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, & he haue put me in prison?

19 Where are now your prophetes, which prophesied unto you, saying,
The king of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee,
O my lord the king: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause mee not to returne to the house of Jehonasthan the scribe, lest I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded, that they shoulde put Jeremiah in the court of the prison, and that they shoulde giue him day by a piece of bread out of the bakers streete vntill the bread in the cite were eaten vp. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Jeremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed melech the king commaundeth Jeremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Jeremiah sheweth the King how he might escape death.

1 Then Shephaniah the sonne of Matath, Gedaliah the sonne of Bahbur, and Iucal the sonne of Shieles-miah, and Pashhur the sonne of Matath, heard the wordes that Jeremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Ye that remaineth in this cite, shall die by the sword. By the famine & by the pestilence: but ye that goe forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he that haue his life for a price, and shall liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This cite shall surely be giuen into the hande of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the princes sayde vnto the king, We beseeche you, let this man be put to death: for thus hee weakeneth the handes of the men of warre: that re-maine in this cite, and the handes of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king sayde, Behold, hee is in your handes, for the king can denie apon nothing.

6 Then tooke they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they set downe Jeremiah with coardes: and in the dungeon there was no water but murre: so Jeremiah sticke fast in the murre.

7 Nowe when Ebed-melech the blacke Etope, one of the Eunuchs, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon (then the king sate in the gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 O lord the king, these men haue done rull in all that they haue done to Jeremiah the Prophet, whome they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the cite.

10 Then the king commaunded Ebed-melech the blacke Etope, saying, Take from hence thirtie men with thee, and take Jeremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he dye.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the king vnder the tresurie, and tooke there three rotten ragges, and olde woyme clowes, and let them downe by coardes into the dungeon to Jeremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Etope sayd vnto Jeremiah, Nowe these olde rotten ragges and woyme, vnder thine arme holes, betwene the coardes, And Jeremiah did so.

13 So they dyde by Jeremiah with coardes and tooke him by out of the dungeon.

dungeon, and Jeremiah remained in a prison.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent, & took Jeremiah the Prophet unto him, into the third citie that is in the house of the Lord, and the king saide unto Jeremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah saide to Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt not thou slay me? and if I give thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king swaie secretly unto Jeremiah, saying, As the Lord liveth, that I will not slay thee, nor give thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then saide Jeremiah unto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe soothly unto the king of Babels princes, then thy soule shall live, and this citie shall not be burnt with fire, and thou shalt live, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not goe soothly to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be given into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their handes.

19 And Zedekiah the king saide unto Jeremiah, I am careful for the Jewes that are set unto the Caldeans, lest they deliver me into their handes, and they mocke me.

20 But Jeremiah said, They shall not deliver thee: hearken unto the voyce of the Lord, I beseeche thee, which I speake unto thee: so shall it be well unto thee, and thy soule shall live.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe soothly, this is the worde that the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are left in the king of Judahs house, shall be brought soothly to the king of Babels princes: & those women shall say, Thy friends have perswaded thee, and have perswailed against thee: thy feet are fastened in the mire, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wives, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their handes, but shalt be taken by the hande of the king of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire.

24 Then saide Zedekiah unto Jeremiah, Let no man knowe of these wordes, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes understande that I have talked with thee, and they come unto thee, and say unto thee, Declare unto us now, what thou hast saide unto the king, hide it not from us, and we will not slay thee: also what the king said unto thee, then shalt thou say unto them, I humbly besought the king that hee would not cause me to returne to Jehonathans house, to die there.

27 Then came all the princes unto Jeremiah and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that the king had commanded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceived.

28 So Jeremiah abode still in the court of the prison, untill the day that Jerusalem was taken: and he was there, when Jerusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Nebuchad-nezzar besiegth Jerusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sunnet are flaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Jeremiah is provided for. 15 Ebed-melech is delivered from captivity.

1 ¶ In the ninth yeere of Zedekiah king of Judah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel and all his hoste against Jerusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleventh yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and late in the middle gate, even Nerregal, Sharezzer, Sangar-nebo, Sarlechun, Rab-laris, Nerregal, Sharezzer, Rab-mag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Judah sawe them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, & went out of the citie by night, through the kinges garden, and by the gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wilderness.

5 But the Caldeans who pursued after them, and overtooke Zedekiah in the desert of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel unto Kiblah in the lande of Hamath, where he gave iudgement upon him.

6 Then the king of Babel slew the sommers of Zedekiah in Kiblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Moreover he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bounde him in chaines, to carie him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward and caried away captivite into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen unto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward and left the poore that had nothing in the lande of Judah, and gave them vines, pardes and fildes at the same time.

11 Nowe Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel gave charge concerning Jeremiah unto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying,

12 Take him, and looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe unto him as he shall say unto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebuzar-adan, Rab-laris, and Nerregal, Sharezzer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babels princes:

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Jeremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, & hee thould carie him home: so hee dwelt among the people.

15 Nowe the word of the Lorde came vnto Jeremiah, while hee was thus vt in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Go and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke egypte, saying, Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, whoholde, I will bring my wordes vpon this cite for euill, and not for good, and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, sayth the Lorde, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a pray vnto thee, because thou shalt put thy trust in me, sayth the Lorde.

CHAPTER XL.

4 Jeremiah hath licence to goe whither he will. 6 Hee dwelleth with the people that remain with Gedaliah.

1 The word which came to Jeremiah from the Lorde after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Baniath, when hee had taken him being bounde in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 And the chiefe steward tooke Jeremiah, and said vnto him, The Lorde thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Nowe the Lorde hath brought it, and done according as he hath sayde: because ye haue sinned against the Lorde, & haue not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And nowe behold, I loose thee this day from the chappies which were on thine handes: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, & thou wilt still be holde, all the land is before thee: whither it seemeth thee good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore hee saide, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, & goe wheresoever it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gaue him vittales and arerward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Jeremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to the city of Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Nowe when all the captiues of the hoste, & which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the lande, and that hee had committed vnto him, me, and women, and children, and of the yoke of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen Ithmael the sonne of Netanah, and Johanan, and Jonathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Nechemiah, & the sonnes of Epher, & Mes-tophathite, and Zedaniah the sonne of Maachabiah, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, swore vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for mee, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah to serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and summer fruites, and ople, and put them in your vessels, & dwell in your cities, that ye haue taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Idoah, and among the Ammonites, & in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that hee had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan,

12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were diuen, and came to the lande of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruites, very much.

13 Whereouer Johanan the sonne of Kareah, & all the captiues of the hoste, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah.

14 And saide vnto him, Knowest thou not that the king of Babel the king of Ammonites hath sent Ithmael the sonne of Netanah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam belieued them not.

15 Then Johanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I will slay Ithmael the sonne of Netanah, and no man shall knowe it. Wherefore should hee kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perished?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam saide vnto Johanan the sonne of Kareah, & Thou shalt not doe this thing: for thou spakest falsely of Ithmael.

CHAPTER XL.

1 Ithmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, & many other with him. 2 Johanan followeth after Ithmael.

1 B E in the fourth month came Ithmael the sonne of Netanah, the sonne of Elishama of the seede of Iuda, and the princes of the king, and ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did eate bread together in Mizpah.

with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whome the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ithmael also slew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the e Caldeans that were founde there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the seconde day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euē fourescore men, hauing their beards shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with 4 of scings and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ithmael the sonne of Netaniah went south from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he said vnto them, Come vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the citie, Ithmael the sonne of Netaniah slew them, and cast them into the middes of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that said vnto Ithmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasure in the fieelde, of wheate, and of barley, & of oyle, and of honie: so hee feared, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Nowe the pit wherein Ithmael had cast the dead bodies of 8 men (whome he had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the king had made because of Baalha King of Israel, and Ithmael the sonne of Netaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ithmael caried away captiue all the residue of 4 people that were in Mizpah, euen the kings daughters, & all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzaradan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ithmael the sonne of Netaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the 5 captiues of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ithmael the sonne of Netaniah had done,

12 Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ithmael the sonne of Netaniah, and founde him by the great waters that are in Sibeon.

13 Nowe when all the people whom Ithmael caried away captiue, saue Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoste that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ithmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, and went vnto Johanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ithmael the sonne of Netaniah escaped from Johanan with egyptien, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then toke Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whome Ithmael the sonne of Netaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, & the women, and the children, and the euniches, whome he had brought againe from Sibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Bethlech: Chinnai, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ithmael the sonne of Netaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whome the king of Babel made gouernour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

The captiues wke counsel of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 He aduisebeth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

1 Then all the captiues of the hoste, and Johanan the sonne of Kareah, & Jezaniah the sonne of Hozaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And saide vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, Heare our prayer, we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a fewe of manie, as thine eyes doe behold) that the Lord thy God may shewe vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lord your God according to your wordes, and whatsoever thing the Lord shall answer you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they said to Ieremiah, The Lord bee a witness of truthe, and saith besworne vs, if we doe not, euen according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shall sende thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord our God, to whome we sende thee that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

8 Then called hee Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captiues of the host, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most.

9 And sayde vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whome I sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this lande, then I will plant you, and not reare you out: for I repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: hee not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand.

12 And I will graunt you mercie that hee may haue compassion vpon you, and hee shall cause you to dwell in your own land.

a This declaration sheweth the nature of hypocrites, which would knowe of Gods word what they should doe, but will not followe it, but in asmuch as it agreeth with that thing which they haue purposed to doe.

b There are none more ready to abuse the Name of God and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to colour their falsehood vfe it without all reuerence, and make it a meanes for the to deceiue the simple and the godly.

c Here is declared the vision and the occasion thereof, whereof mention was made, Cha. 40. 2. & 2. Read Chap. 18. 8.

d Because all kings hearts and wayes are in his handes, he can dispose them and please him, and therefore they neede not to feare man, but only obey God.

Proo. 21. 1. & 27. 1. & 28. 1.

4 For they thought that the Temple had not bene destroyed, and therefore came vp to the hill of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they showed these signes of sorrowe. 5 For his death was kept secret, and hee fainted that he lamented for the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple: but after hee sawe them when they seemed to saue Gedaliah. f Asa fortified Mizpah for feare of the enemy, and cast ditches and trenches. 1 King. 15. 33.

g Which had bene captiues vnder Zedekiah.

h For Baalis the king of the Ammonites was the cause of this murder.

13 But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither hear the voice of the Lord your God,
14 Saying, Nay, but we will go into the land of Egypt, where we shall be no warre, nor hear the sounde of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread, and there will we dwell,
15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Judah: thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to dwell there) f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne destruction: for they thought themselves sure in Egypt, & there Nebuchad-negar destroyed them and the Egyptians, Chap. 46. 35.

16 Then the word that ye feared, I shall take you thence in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang upon you in Egypt, and there shall ye dye.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague, that I will bring upon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene poured forth upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem: so shall my wrath be poured forth upon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a desolation, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproch, and ye shall see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Judah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Go not into Egypt: know certainly that I have admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye have dissembled in your heartes when ye sent me unto the Lord your God, saying, Wap for us unto the Lord our God, and declare unto us even according unto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will do it.

21 Therefore I have this day declared it you, but you have not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me unto you.

22 Now therefore, know certainly that ye shall dye by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to go and dwell.

C H A P. XLIII.

Jeremiah carrieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the minde of Jeremiah. & Jeremiah prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

Now when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking unto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, even all their wordes,

2 Then spake Ahariah the sonne of Joshaiah, and Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the yongue men, saying unto Jeremiah, Thou speakest falsehood: the Lord our God hath said, I will not let thee say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah propheseth against us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay us, and carie us away captives into Babel.

4 So Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaynes of the hoste, and all the wickedly of all people obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Judah.

5 But Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaynes of the hoste, and the remnant of Judah, that were returned from all nations, whither they had bene driven, to dwell in the land of Judah:

6 Even men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and every person, that Achuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, and Jeremias the seer, and Baruch the scribe, Whome the Lord had sent to be his prophets.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to the land of Egypt.

8 Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, & hide them in the clay in the brick kiln, which is at the entry of Pharao's house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Judah,

10 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Whosoever holde, I will sende and bring Nebuchad-negar the King of Babel my servant, and will set his throne upon these stones, that I have hid, and he shall spread his pavilion over them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captivity, to captivity, & such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne the carie them away captives, and he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd putteth on his garment, & shall depart from thence in peace.

13 He shall breake also the images of Beth-smeth, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

c. He seemeth to be their eyes Gods image against Judah & Jerusalem for their idolatrie, that they might beare by their example, & not with the like wickednes provoke the Lords: for then they should be doubly punished. d. He sheweth that we ought to keepe in memory Gods plagues from beginning that considering that we might live in his feare, and know, if he have not spared our fathers, yes, kings, princes & rulers, and also whole countries, and nations for their finnes, that we vile wormes cannot looke to escape punishment: for we have seen, Jer. 24. e. Which have fully set their minde, and are gone thither on purpose. Whereby he excepteth the innocents as Jeremiah & Hanan that were forced therefore the Lord sheweth, that he will be to his face against them: that a purposefully destroy them. f. Read Chap. 26. 6. & 42. 18. g. Lift up their faces. h. Meaning but a few.

3 Because of their wickednesse which they have committed, to provoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, and to serve other gods, whome they knew not, neither they nor pou nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent unto you all my servants the Prophets, rising afeele, and sending them, saying, O y do not thus abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense unto other gods.

6 Wherefore I mp wroth, and mine anger was poyred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus sape the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore countre pe this great euill against your selves, to cut off from you man & woman, childe and suckling out of Judah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that ye provoke me unto wroth with the woordes of your hautes, burning incense unto other gods in the lande of Egypt: whither ye be gone to dwell: that ye might bring defenciō vnto your selves, and that ye might be a curse & a reproche among all nations of the earth.

9 Have ye forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the Kings of Judah and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednesse and the wickednes of your wiues, which they haue committed in the lande of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem?

10 They are not humbled vnto this day, neyther haue they feared nor walked in my law nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you to ruill and to destroy all Judah,

12 And I will take the remnant of Judah, that haue set their faces to goe into the lande of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the lande of Egypt: they shall euen be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall dye from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment and a curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visite them that dwell in the lande of Egypt, as I haue visited Jerusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they shoulde returne into the land of Judah to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wiues had burne incense unto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the lande of Egypt in Watthos, answered Jeremiah, saying,

16 The woordes that thou haie spoken vnto vs in the name of the Lord, we will heare it of thee,

17 But we will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Quene of heauen, and to poyse our drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both we and our fathers, and our kings and our princes in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem: for then had we spirit of drakes and were well and felt none ruill.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Quene of heauen, and to poyse our drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had scarcenes of all things, and haue bene consumed by the sword & by the famine.

19 And whi we burnt incense to the Quene of heauen & poyse our drinke offerings vnto her, did we make her cakes to make her glad, and poyse our drinke offerings vnto her without our husbands?

20 Then sape Jeremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answer, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that ye burnt in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, both you, and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer beare, because of the wickednesse of your imuncions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therfore to your lande desolate and an astonishment, and a curse and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense and becaue ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therfore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Wherefore Jeremiah sape vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the woordes of the Lord, all Judah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We will perforce our vobers that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Quene of heauen, and to poyse our drinke offerings to her: ye will perforce your vobers and doe the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, al Judah that dwell in the lande of Egypt. Behold, I haue swoyne by my great permit their name, sape the Lord, that my name shal not assured by Gods woordes: for thereby they take an occasion to iustifie their doings, and their husbands shall giue an accompt thereof before God, reade I. 3. 25. "Ehr, ist nit camt up into h. brant? m. You haue committed double euill in making nichols vobers, and in perforceing the same.

h. This declaration sheweth how dangerous a thing it is to decline once from God & to follow our owne fantasies: for Satan euer solicite them to leave: then til he haue brought them to extreme impudencie and madness, euen to iustifie their wickednes against God & his Prophets.

was by the river Perath in Carchemish, smote in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim go forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horses, & let the horses men get vp, and stande by with your sa-lers, fourbush the speares, and put on the 5 Wherefore haue I seene them afraine, are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for feare was rounde about,

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, & fall toward the North by the river Perath.
7 Who is this, that cometh by as a flood, whose waters are moued like the rivers?
8 Egypt riseth by like the flood, and his waters are moued like the rivers, and he saith, I will go by, & will couer the earth:
I will destroy the cite with them that dwell therein.
9 Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charrets, auenge hun of his enemies: for the sword countrey by the river Perath.

11 Goe vp vnto Gilead, & take balm, for thou shalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy cry hath filled the lande: for 13 And Moab ſhall be aſhamed of Chemosh, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of Beth-el their confidence.

14 How ſhouldeſt thou ſay, We are mightie and ſtrong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed, & his cities burnt up, and his choſen young men are gone downe to ſlaughter, ſaith the king, whoſe name is, The Lord of hoſtes.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague halleth faſt.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that knowe his ſhame, ſay, Woe is the ſtrong ſtaffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

18 Thou daughter that doeſt inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and ſit in ſhirk: for the deſtroyer of Moab ſhall come up upon thee, & he ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong holdes.

19 Thou that dwelleſt in Kiro, ſtand by the way, and behold: aſke him that ſeeth and that eſcapeth, and ſay, What is done?

20 Moab is confounded: for it is deſtroyed: howe, and cry, tell ye it in Armon, that Moab is made waſte.

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine country, vpon Holon & vpon Jahazah, and vpon Aſyphath,

22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the houſe of Diblahaim,

23 And vpon Kirathaim, and vpon Beth-gammul, and vpon Beth-meon,

24 And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the land of Moab ſarre of nere.

25 The home of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, ſaith the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himſelfe againſt the Lord: Moab ſhall wallowe in his vomite, and he alſo ſhall be in deriſion.

27 For ſiddelt not thou deride Iſrael, as though he had bin ſoild among theurs: for when thou ſpeakeſt of him, thou art ſhamed.

28 As ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the dove, that maketh her neſt in the ſides of the holles mouth.

29 We haue heard the pyrde of Moab (he is exceeding ponde): his ſtoutnes, and his arrogancie, and his pride, & the haumenneſſe of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, ſaith the Lord, & but it ſhall not be ſo: and his diſſimulations, for they doe not right.

31 Therefore will I howle for Moab, & I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart ſhall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 As vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee, as I weep for Tazer: thy plants are gone over the ſea, they are come to the ſea of Tazer: the deſtroyer is fallen vpon thy ſoumer fruits, and vpon thy vineage.

33 And now, and gladnes is taken from the plentiful ſeide & from the land of Moab: and I haue cauſed wine to faile from the wine preſſe: none ſhall trade with ſhouting: their howling ſhall be no howling.

34 From the crye of Heſhbon vnto Eleiah and vnto Jahaz haue they made their noyſe: from Kioar vnto Bozonaim, the ſiſter of the ſeere olde ſhall goe lowing for the waters alſo of Jarmuth ſhall be waſted.

35 Wherefore, I will cauſe to ceaſe in Moab, ſaith the Lord, him that offered in the high places, and him that burneth incenſe to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart ſhall ſounde for Moab like a ſhawme, & mine heart ſhall ſounde like a ſhawme for the men of Kir-heres, becauſe of riches that he hath gotten, is perithed.

37 For every head ſhall be bald, and every beard ſhallick: vpon all the handes ſhall be cuttings, and vpon the topes ſhallick.

38 And mourning ſhall be vpon all the holles toppes of Moab and in all the ſtreets thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a veſſell wherein is no pleaſure, ſaith the Lord.

39 They ſhall howle, ſaying, Woe is he deſtroyed: how hath Moab turned backe with thame: to ſhall Moab be a deriſion, and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus ſaith the Lord, Beſchole, the x That is, Moab ſhall be as an eagle, and ſhall ſpread his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken & the ſtrong holdes are woime, and the mightie men hearts in Moab at that day ſhall be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

42 And Moab ſhall be deſtroyed from being a people, becauſe he hath let by him ſelfe againſt the Lord.

43 Feare, and yit & ſnare ſhall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, ſaith the Lord.

44 He that eſcapeth from the feare, ſhall fall in the pit, and he that getteth by one of the pit, ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yere of their viſitation, ſaith the Lord.

45 They that ſcedde, ſcedde vnder the ſhadowe of Heſhbon, becauſe of the ſoyce: for the fire came out of Heſhbon, and a flame from Sion, and burned the corner of Moab, and the top of the ſkyes of children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh peritheth: for thy ſonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led me to captiuitie.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter dayes, ſaith the Lord. Thus ſarre of the iudgement of Moab.

36 And upon Elam I will bring the four winds from the four quarters of heaven, and will scatter the towards all these winds, and there shall be no nation, whither fugitives of Elam shall not come.
37 For I will cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seeke their lives, & will bring upon them a plague, even by indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I will send the sword after them till I have consumed them.
38 And I will set my throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the king & the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captivitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

10 And Adra shall bee a people: all that spoyle her, I shall be satisfied, saith the Lord.
11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in despoiling mine heritage, and because ye are grown fat, as hee calmes in the grass, and as heped like strong horses,

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord it shall not bee inhabited, but shall be wholy desolate: every one that goeth by Babel, shall bee astonished, & will hiss at all her plagues.
14 ¶ But pour selnes in aray against Babel rounde about: all ye that benche the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrows: for the hath sinned against the Lord.

i When God shall deliver you by Cyrus.

1 The word that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the minister of Jeremiah the Prophet.
2 Declare among the nations, & publish it, and set by a standart, & proclaim it and conceale it not: say, Babel is taken, Babel is confounded, & Smerodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burnt in pieces.
3 For out of the North there cometh by a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee, & depart, both man & beast.
4 In those dayes, and at that time, sayeth the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping they shall go, and seeke the Lord their God.
5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleave to the Lord in a perpetual covenant that shal not be forgotten.
6 ¶ All people hath bene as lost sheepe: they they heeardes have caused them to goe astray, and have turned them away to the mountaines: they have gone from mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.
7 All that founde them, have denounced them, and their enemies said, Wee offend not, because they have turned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, even the Lord the hope of their fathers.
8 ¶ flee from the middes of Babel, and burn that handleth the sheke in the time now of harvest: because of the sword of the God, but the oppressour they shall turne every one to their owne sinne people, and they shall be every one like, and will forsake themselves.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the sheps have dispersed them: first the king of Assyria hath denounced him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath broken his bones.
18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the king of Babel, & his lande, as I have visited the king of Assyria.
19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied upon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

22 ¶ Jeroboam: destroy, and lay it waste also: & they shall bee as the land of the desert, & they shall not be solid: for I have commanded the destruction of Babel in the land, & of great destruction.
23 Now is it banuuer of the whole world destroyed, and broken: how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

24 I have the word.

24 I have snared thee, and thou art taken,
O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art founde and also caught, because thou hast strinen against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the woyke of the Lord
God of hosts in the land of the Caldane.

26 Come against her " from the utmost border : open her store houses : tread on her as on the waves, & destroy her utterly :
let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her * bullocks : let them go down to the slaughter. Woe unto them, for their day is come, & the time of their visitation.

28 The voice of them that are, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, &
the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call by the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bow, besiege it round as bont: let none thereof escape: it reuonpense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, do vnto her: for she hath bene proude against the Lord, even against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her pong men fall in the streets, And all her men of warre shalbe destroied in that day, sayth the Lord.

31 Schole, I come vnto thee, & p'onde man, saith the Lorde God of hostes: for thy day is come, even the time that I will visite thee.

32 And the pious shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him.

33 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Judah were oppressed together: & all that tooke them captives, held them, and would not let them go.

34. But their strög Kedemner, whose name is the Royde of hostes, hee shall mainteine their cause, that hee may giue rest to the lande, & and disquiet the inhabitantes of Babel.

35 A sword is vpon the Caldeans, sayeth the Lord; and vpon the inhabitantes of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wife men.

36 A sword is upon the "soothsayers, and they shall dote: a sword is upon her strong men, and they shall be afraid.

37 A sword is upon their horses and upon their charots, and upon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, & they shall be like women: a sword is upon her treasures, and they shall be spoiled.

38 N: brought is upon her waters, and they shall be dried up: for it is the land of granen images, and they dote vpon their idols.

39 Therefore the Kings with the Kings shall dwell there, and the "ostriches shall dwell therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation unto generation.

40. He God destroyed * Sodom and G-moyah with the places thereof were a hout, saith the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neyther shall the sonne of man remaine therein.

41 ¶ Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings shall be rapied by from the coastes of the earth.

42 They shall holde the bowe and the buckler: they are cruell and vnnmercifull:
their voyce shall roare like the sea, & they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell agaynst ther, daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Sabel hath heard the report of them, and his hands ^dwarded feeble: sorrow came byon him, even sorrow as of a woman in travail.

44 Scholde, hee *shall come by like a lyon from a dwelling of Jordan unto the strō habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, &
I will make thee to haile away from her:
and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her: for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? a who is the * shepherd that will stand before me?

45 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that he hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that hee hath conceived against the lande of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall bite them out:
surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noise of the winning of Babel the earth is moved, and the cry is heard among the nations.

19 The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

21 Shake bright the arrows: gather the shields: the Lord hath rayed by the spirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroye it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, & the vengeance of his Temple.

22 Set by the standard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: let by the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath both decreed, and done that which hee spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

23 When thou shalt dwellst vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, even the ende of the coilectiues.

29 The portion of Jacob is not like them: for hee is the maker of all things, and Israel is the God of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

30 Thou art mine hammer, & weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroye kingdomes.

31 And by thee will I breake horse & horseman, and by thee will I breake the charret and him that rideth therein.

32 As the also will I breake man & woman, and by thee will I breake olde and pong, and by thee will I breake the pong man and the mardie.

33 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, & by thee will I breake the husbandman & his pocke of oren, and by thee will I breake the bukes and ymbers.

35 Beholde, I come vnto thee, & destroying mountaine, sayeth the Lord, which destroyeth all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hande vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountaine. 26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for ever, sayth the Lord.

27 Set up a standard in the lande: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call by the kingdomes of Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause hostes to come up as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the bukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for the denice of the Lord shalbe performed against Babel, to make the lande of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remayned in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her battres are broken.

31 A poste shall runne to meete the poste, and a messenger to meete the messenger; to shewe the king of Babel, that his cite is taken on a side thereof,

32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the wien of warre troubled.

33 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like a threshing floor: the time of her threshing is come: yet a litle while, & the time of her haruſh shall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel hath denoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an empye vessell: hee hath loved me by like a dragon, and filled his belly wth my delicats, & hath cast me out.

35 The people of Iude, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, shall I say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will maintain the cause, & take vengeance for thee, & I will dye by the sea, and dye by her springs.

40 I will bring them downe like lambs to the slaughter, and like rammes and goates.

t Thus the Lord uttereth the iudgement done to his Church as done to himselfe, because their cause is his, When they are inflamed wth sinning & drinking, will feast with them, according to Belshazzars house, Dan. 5. v. Menem, belshazzars house, The prince of the house of Belshazzars.

43 Her cities are desolate: the lande is drie and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel, & I will bring out of his mouth, that which he hath swallowed up, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the mids of her, and deliuer ye euery man his soule from the fierce wyath of the Loyd,

46 Least your heart euen faunt, and ye feare the rumour, that shall be heard in y^e lande: the rumour that cometh thus pere, & after that in the other y^e pere shall come a rumour, and crueltie in the land, & ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shall be confounded, and all her name shall fall in the muddes of her,

48 Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for y^e destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Loyd.

49 As Babel caused the d^e name of Israel to fall, so by Babel the name of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that haue escayed the sworde, goe away, stand not still: remember the Loyd a faire off, and let Ierusalem come vnto your minde.

51 We are confounded because we haue heard rejoyche: I haue hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Loydes Houle.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Loyde, that I will visite her grauen images, & through all her land the woundes shall growe.

53 Though Babel shoulde mount vp to heauen, and though she should defende her strongly on the, yet from me shall her destroyers come, saith the Loyd.

54 A sound of a crye cometh from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldreans.

55 Because the Loyde hath lapde Babel waste, and destroyed from her the great voyce, & her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sounde was made by their people:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Loyd God that recompenseth, shall surely recompense.

57 And I will make dunke her princes, & her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the king, whose name is the Loyde of hostes.

58 Thus saith the Loyd of hostes, The thicke wall of Babel shall be broken, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be wari.

59 The woordes which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the sonne of k^e This was not Sheraiah, the sonne of Shasariah, when he in the time of his captiuitie, but to Babel, in the fourth pere of his reigne: & this Sheraiah was a peaceable ymce.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things, that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah said to Sheraiah, When thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these wordes, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Loyde, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither ind nor breast, but y^e it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an end of readeing this booke, thou shalt binde a stone to it, & cast it in the mids of Euphrates.

64 And shalt saye, Thus shall Babel be drownded, & shall not rise from the euill, & I will bring vpon her: & they shall be wari. Thus saith the Loyd of hostes, Ieremiah.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken, 10 Zedekiahs sinnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Ioiachin is brought forth of prison, and sed like a king.

1 Zedekiah was one and twentie yeres old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleven yeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Ribah.

2 And he did euill in the eyes of the Loyd, according to all that Jehoiachin had done.

3 Wherefore because the wyath of the Loyd was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till hee had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

4 But in the ninth pere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, he and all his hoste against Ierusalem, & pitched against it, and built fortres against it round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleventh pere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Nowe in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken by and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the way of the gate betwene y^e two walles, which was by the kings garden: (nowe the Caldreans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wilderness.

8 But the armie of the Caldreans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his hoste was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king and caried him by vnto the king of Babel to Ribah in the land of Hamath, where hee gaue iudgement vpon him.

10 And the king of Babel selue the somes of Zedekiah, before his eyes: he saw also all the princes of Iudah in Ribah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah,

And hee put out the eyes of Zedekiah.

This was not Sheraiah, the sonne of Shasariah, when he in the time of his captiuitie, but to Babel, in the fourth pere of his reigne: & this Sheraiah was a peaceable ymce. So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things, that are written against Babel. a That is, his gift & presents which he had received as part of the spoyle of other nations, and which the idolaters brought vnto him from all countries. b Meaning, that Babylon should be destroyed all at once, by little and little should be brought to nothing: for the full yere came the tidings, the new yere the siege, and in the third yere it was taken: yet this is not that horrible destruction which the Prophets threatened in many places: for that was after this, when they rebelled, and Darius came then by the policy of Zopyrus, and hanged three thousand gentlemen besides the common people. c All creatures in heauē & earth shall reioyce & praise God for the destruction of Babylon the great enemy of his Church. d Babylon did not onely destroy Israel, but many other nations. e Ye there are now captiues in Babylon, I he beweech how they should remember Ierusalem by lamenting the miserable affliction thereof. f For the walles were two hundred foorthe high. h I will so afflict them by afflictions, that they shall not know which way to turne them. i The thicknes of the wall was fiftie foorthe thick.

and the king of Babel bound him in 12. Showe in the fifth moneth in the 4. tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth peere of the king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Arbuzar-aban chief steward which stood before the king of Babel in Jerusalem.

13. And burnt the house of the Royde, and the kings house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14. And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake down all the walles of Jerusalem round about.

15. Then Arbuzar-aban the chiefe steward caried away captive certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the cite, and those that were heb, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16. But Arbuzar-aban the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the lande, to bryll the vines, and to till the land.

17. Also the pillars of brasie that were in the house of the Royde, and the bases, and the brasen sea, that was in the house of the Royde, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasie of them to Babel.

18. The pottes also and the 3. besowes, and the instruments of musike, & the balins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasie wherewith they ministered, took they away.

19. And the bowes, & the ashpikes, and the balins, and the pottes, and the candles sticks, & the incense dishes, & the cypres, and all that was of golde, and that was of silver, took the chiefe steward away.

20. With the two pillars, one sea, and twelve brasen dishes, that were under the bases, which king Salomon had made in the house of the Royde: the brasie of all these vessels was twelveth 1. weight.

21. And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eightene cubites, and a threede of twelue cubites did compass it, and the thickenesse thereof was foure silgers: it was holow.

22. And a chapter of brasie was upon it, and the height of one chapter was five cu-bites with networke, and pomegranates upon the chapters rounde about, all of brasie: the second pillar also, & the pomegranates were like unto these.

23. And there were ninetie and sixe pomegranates on a side: and all the pome-granates upon the networke were an hundred round about.

24. And the chiefe steward took Scharaiah the chiefe priest, and Zephaniah the second priest, & the three keepers of the doore.

25. He took also out of the cite an Eunuch which had the oversight of the men of warre, and 7. seven men that were in the kings presence, which were founde in the cite, and Sopher captaine of the holte who mustred the people of the lande, and thre score men of the people of the lande, that were found in the midde of the cite.

26. Arbuzar-aban the chiefe steward took them, & brought them to the king of Babel to Babilay.

27. And the king of Babel smote them, and slew them in Babilay, in the lande of Ma-math: thus Judah was carped away captiue out of his owne land.

28. ¶ This is the people, whom Arbuchadnezzar caried away captiue, in the 7. seuenth peere, even thre thousand Iewes, and thre and twentie.

29. In the eightieth peere of Nebuchad-nezzar he caried away captiue from Jerusalem eight hundred, thre & two persons.

30. In the thre and twentieth peere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Arbuzar-aban the chiefe steward caried away captiue of 3. Iewes seven hundred fourtie and sixe persons:
all the persons were foure thousande and sixe hundred.

31. And in the seuen & thirtieth peere of the captiue of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth moneth, in the five & twentieth day of the moneth, Evil-merodach king of Babel, in the first peere of his reigne, lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him out of prison.

32. And spake kindly unto him, and let his throne about the throne of the kings, that were with him in Babel.

33. And changed his prison 4. garnitures, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34. His portion was a continual portion given him of the king of Babel, euer-

5 Her aduersaries for are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her transgressions, & her children are gone into captiuities before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her ynnies are become like hartes that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Ierusalem remembred the daies of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things: that she had in times past, when her people fell into the hande of the enemy, and none did helpe her: the aduersaries saue her, & did mocke at her Sabbaths.

8 Ierusalem hath grieuouly sinned, therefore she is in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filchusnes: yea, the sycchery and turneth backward.

9 Her sickness is in her skirts: she re-membred not her last end, therefore she came downe wonderfull: she had no cosforter: O Lord, despoil mine affliction: for the enemy is in ynnies.

10 The enemy hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whome thou diddest command, that they should not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people sigh and seeke their head:
they haue giuen their pleasant things for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Yane pe no regarde, all that passe by this way: beholde, and see, if there be any that will like vnto my sorrow, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboue hath he sent fire into my bones, which persuaie against them: he hath spied a net for my feete, and turned me backe: he hath made me desolate, and darely in heauinesse.

14 The yoke of my transgressions is bounde vpon his hande: they are wrapped, and come by vpon my necke: he hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath delivered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise by.

15 The Lord hath troben vnder foote all my ballant men in the midwes of smere: he hath called an assemlie against me to destroy my pong men: the Lord hath troben the wome preles vpon the virgins the daughter of Iudah.

16 For these things I weep: mine eye, even mine eye casteth out water, because the cosforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy persuaied.

17 Zion stretcheth out her handes, & there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iacob round about him: Ierusalem is as a menstrus woman in the midwes of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his commandment: heare,
I pray you, all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins and my pong men are gone into captiuities.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my widdowes and mine Elders perisshed in the citie while they sought their meate to refresh their soules.

20 Beholde, O Lord, howe I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heauinesse: the sworde spoylth aboads, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast promised, and they shall be like vnto me.

22 Let all their wickedness come before me, doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, as mine heart is heauie.

CHAP. II.

1 Owe hath the Lord darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath: and hath cast downe from heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and re-membred not his yach!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iacob, and not spared: he hath thowen downe in his wrath the strong holdes of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the ynnies thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the hoine of Israel: he hath brawne backe his right hand from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Iacob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 He hath bent his bowe like an enemy:
his right hand was stretched by as an ad-uersary, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of his daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: he hath denoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Judah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath destroyed his tabernacle, as a garden, he hath destroyed his congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the king and the ynnies.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hath giuen into the hande of the enemy the walles of her palaces: they haue made a noise in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

the wall of the daughter of Zion: he stretched out a line: he hath not withheld

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion sit upon the ground, and kepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heades: they haue girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground.

11 Mine eyes do faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liver is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children & sucklings & women in the streets of the cite.

12 They haue said to their mothers, Where is "head and dynt" when they were as the wounded in the streets of the cite, and when they "gaue by the ghost in their mothers bosome."

13 What thing shall I take to witness for thee: what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 The prophets haue looked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discovered thine iniquitie, to turne as wasp the captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false prophecies, and causes of banishment.

15 What passe by the way, clappe their hands at thee: they hiss and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, To this the cite that men call, The perfection of beautes, and the top of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hiss and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we haue found and seene it.

17 The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his word that he had determined of olde time: he hath thowne downe, and not spared: he hath caused thine enemies to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp by the house of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart cried vnto the Lord, O wail of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches poure out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine handes towards him for the life of thy pong children, that faue for hunger in the corners of all the streets.

20 Behold, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done this: that the women eate their fruit, and children of a "paine long": shall the Priest and the Prophet be saue in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

22 Thou hast called as in a solemn day my "terrors" round about, so that in the dape of the Lordes wrauth none escaped: my remembrance: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemy consumed.

CHAP. III.

1 But the man, that hath seene affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darkness, but not to fight.

3 Surely he is turned against me: he turned his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my kinne hath he caused to ware olde, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath "bumped" against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 He hath set me in dark places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath hedged about me, that I can not get out: hee hath made my chapnes beset me.

8 Also when I cry and shoute, he hath turned my prayer.

9 He hath "stopped" my wayes with heuen done, and turned away my pathes.

10 He was vnto me as a brace lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bowle and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused "the arrows of his quiner" to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitterness, and made me dinne with "woe" and "woe."

16 He hath also broken my teeth in stones, and hath covered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was far off from peace: I forgate prosperitie.

18 And I said, My strength and mine hope is perished from the Lord.

19 Remembering mine affliction, and my mourning, the woe newe and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lordes mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renewed euery morning: great is thy faithfulness.

24 The Lord is my "portion", saith my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

3 We are fatherles, even without father, and our mothers are as widows.

4 We have drunken our water for money, and our wood is sold unto vs.

5 Our neckes are under persecution: we are weary, and haue no rest.

Ezekiel.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that Ichoiachim by the counsel of Jeremiah and Ezekiel had yielded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captivity with his mother and sisters of his princes and of the people: certaiue began to repine and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, in thogh the thing which they had prophesied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Chaldeans. By reason whereof he confirmed his former prophecies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the cite should most certainly be destroyed, and the people grievously tormented by Gods plagues, in so much that they that remained, should be brought into cruell bondage. And lest the godly should despair in these great troubles, he assured them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and will destroy their enemies which eyther afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke we haue notable promises, and in whom the glorie of the new Temple should perfectly be shewed. He prophesied these things in Chaldea at the same time that Ieremias prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the sixtieth yeere of Ichoiachims captivity.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were straight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calves foot, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the haundes of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure partes of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were s topped by their wings one to another, and when they went south, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lion on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two covered their bodies.

12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whether their spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coles of fire, & like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ran among the beasts, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ran, and returned like vnto lightning.

15 I shew as I beheld the beasts, beholde, a whelke appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The facion of the whelkes and their woorkes was like vnto a chapsolier: and they foure had one fouine, and their facion, and their woorkes was as one whelke in another whelke.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also rings, and bright, and were ferefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, rounde about them foure.

19 And when the beasts went, the whelkes went with them: and when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the whelkes were lift vp.

20 Whether their spirit ledde them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the whelkes lead them, and the whelkes were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the whelkes.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stoode, they stoode, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the whelkes were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the whelkes.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beasts was wonderfull, like vnto chynall, spied ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which covered them, and euery one had two, which covered their bodies.

24 And when they went south, I heard the noise of their wings, like the noise of great waters, and as the boipe of the Alinghrie, euen the boipe of Israhel, as the noise of an host: and when they stoode, they let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stood, & had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the facion of a throne like vnto a sappir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man as home vpon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of Amber, and as the similitude of fire rounde about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes bywarde: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downeward, I saw toward the as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse rounde about it.

28 As the likenesse of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the gloie of the Loyd: and when I saw it, I fell vpon my face, & I heard a voyce of one that spak.

- 20 He had also set the brantle of his mouth in manifest: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idols therein: therefore have I set it farre from them.
- 21 And I will give it into the hands of the strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, & they shall pollute it.
- 22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.
- 23 I spake a chaine: for the land is full of indignement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie.
- 24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possess their houses: I will also make a pompe of the mightie to cease, and their places shall be desolate.
- 25 When destruction cometh, they shall seeke peace, and shall not have it.
- 26 Calamities shall come upon Calamities, and rumour shall be upon rumour: their shall they seeke a vision of the soothsayers: but the Law shall perish from the wise, and counsell from the Ancient.
- 27 The King shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people in the land shall be troubled: I will doe unto them according to their wages, and according to their indignities will I judge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

1 And as I looked, behold, in the * firmanent that was above the head of the Cherubims, there appeared upon them like unto the similitude of a throne, as it were a sapphire stone.

2 And he spake unto the man clothed with linnen, and sayde, Goe in betweene the wheels, even under the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coales of fire fro betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer the cite. And he went in in my sight.

3 Nowe the Cherubims stood upon the right side of the house wher the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court.

4 Then the glorie of the Lorde went up from the Cherub, & stood ouer the dawe of the house, & the house was filled with the cloude, and the court was filled with the brightness of the Lords glorie.

5 And the sound of the Cherubims wings was heard unto the utter court, as the voce of the Almighty God, when hee spaketh.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, & from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in & stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims unto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and took thereof, and put it into his hands of him that was clothed with linnen:
who took it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hand under their wings.

9 And when I looked up, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one where by one Cherub, and an other where by an other Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a chrysolite stone.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11 When they went forth, they went by on their foure sides, & they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, then went after it, and they turned not as they went.

12 And their whole body, and their rings, and their handes, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes rounde about, even in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a leop, and the fourth the face of an eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted by:
this is the beast that I sawe at the riuer Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift by their wings to moue by from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood:

and when they were lifted by, they lifted them selves up also: for the spirit of the beast was in them.

18 Then the glorie of the Lorde departed from about the doore of the house, & stood upon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift by their wings, and mounted up from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were beside them: and euery one stood at the entry of the gate of the Lodes house at the East side, & the glorie of the God of Israel was upon them on his.

20 This is the * beast that I sawe under the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, & the likenesse of mans handes was under their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the ri-uer Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, & they went euery one strait forwarde.

15 Sonne of man, thy s brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, wholy are they unto whom I inhabitans of Jerusalem have sayde, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is given us in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I have cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I have scattered them among the countreys, yet will I be to them as a little Sanctuary in the countreys where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from people, and assemblen you out of the countreys where ye have bene scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, & they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: and I will take the sonne heart out of their bodies, and will give them an heart of flesh,

20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my judgments, and execute them: and then shall beny people, and I will be their God.

21 But upon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way upon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

22 And then did the Cherubims lift up their wings, & the wherles besides them, and the glory of the God of Israel was upon them on his.

23 And the glory of the Lord went by from the mids of the cite, and stoode upon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the cite.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke me up, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were ledde away captives: so the vision that I had seen, went by from me.

25 Then I declared unto them that were led away captives, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

The parable of the captivity, 18 Another parable whereby his distress of hunger and thirst is signified.

1 The word of the Lord also came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the mids of a rebellious house, which have eyes to see, and see not: they have eares to heare, and heare not: for they are rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy selfe to go into captivity, and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Therefore thou being forth thy selfe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captivity: and thou shalt goe forth at even in their sight, as they that goe forth into captivity.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and carpe out there by.

6 In their sight shalt thou breake it upon thy shoulders, and carie it forth in the darke: thou shalt cover thy face, & thou shalt see not the earth: for I have set thee as a signe unto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captivity: and by night I digged through the wall in mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it upon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayd unto thee, What dost thou?

10 But say thou unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This burden concerneth you, the chiefe in Jerusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I have done, so shall it be done unto them: they shall go into bondage and captivity.

12 And the chiefe that is among them, shall beare upon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge through the wall, to carpe out there by: he shall cover his face, that hee see not the ground with his eyes.

13 They yet also will I spread upon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, & I will king shall bring him to Babel to the lande of the Caldeans, per shall be not for it, though hee shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward every winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garbions, and I will draw out the sword before them.

15 And then shall I know by I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, & disperse them in the countreys.

16 But I will leave a little number of the from the twy, from the sammar, a from the penitence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

17 Therefore I shew the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

19 And say unto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitanes of Jerusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eat their bread with

21 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

22 Some of man, what is that promise that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged and all visions false?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this promise to cease, & they shall no more say it as a promise in Israel: but say unto them, The dayes are at hand and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall any more in vision, neither shall there be any flattering vision within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

27 Some of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for a many dayes to come, and his propheticth of the things that are farre off.

28 Therefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, All my wordes shall no longer be declared, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

The words of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their own hearts.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, propheticth against the prophets of Israel, that propheticth, and say thou unto them, that propheticth out of their own hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Who unto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, the prophets are like the foxes in the waste places.

5 They haue not risen by in the gappes, neither made up the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the wrath.

6 They haue seene vanities, and lying visions, saying, Peace, saith the Lord, and the Lord hath said, and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their propheticth.

7 Haue ye not seene a vain vision? & haue ye not spoken a lying divination? & ye say, The Lord hath said, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanities, & haue seene lies, therefore beholde, I am against you, saith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall be upon the eyes of them that see vanities, and they shall not be on the foundations of my people: neither shall they be to them in the day of wrath, for the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: & ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceived my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one built up a wall, and beholde, the others daubed it with untemperd morer.

11 Say unto them which daube it with untemperd morer, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great storme, and I will scrib hailestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a storme winde shall breake it.

12 So, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said unto you, Where is the daubing which ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a storme winde to arise, which shall be in my wrath, and a great storme shall be in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with untemperd morer, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the midst thereof, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath by the wall, and upon them that haue daubed it with untemperd morer, and will say unto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof.

16 To wit, the prophets of Israel, which propheticth upon Jerusalem, and bidde ones of peace for it, and there was no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou some of man, set thy face against a daughter of the people, which propheticth out of their owne heart: and propheticth thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Who unto the women that sew pillows under all arme holes, and make haire vpon the head of euery one that standeth up, to hunt foules: will ye hunt the foules of my people, & will ye give life to the foules that come unto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handiwork of a harp, and for piers of bread to slay the foules of them that should not dye, and to give life to the foules that should not live, in saying to my people that heare you? I say.

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to doe with you that are prophets, wherewith ye haue said, Peace, to make them to sleepe, & I will tear them from your armes, and will let the foules goe, even the foules that ye pur to make them to sleepe.

21 Your haire also will I teare, & deliver my people out of your hands, & they shall should depart be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

22 Because with you I say, ye haue made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold,
I will bring vpon Tyne Shebna king of 8 He shall lay with the sword the daugh-

9 He shall set engines of warre before him

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheelers, and of the chariots, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the en-trie of a cite that is broken downe.

11 With the heones of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streets: he shall slap thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the 12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoil thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destrope thy stones and thy timber and thy dust

13 Thus will I cause the sounde of thy

14 I will lay thee like the toppe of a rocke:
thou shalt be for a spreading of nettes:
thou shalt be built no more: for I the 15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyne, Shall not the ples tremble at the sounde of thy fall? & at the cry of the wounded, when they shall haue and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their byshopped garments, and shall clothe themselves with almon: thus saith the Lord God, I will make thee as every moment, and be made at thee.

17 And they shall take up a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renowned cite which was strong in the sea, both the and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all her hautes there.

18 How shall the ples be astonied in the day of thy fall: yea, the ples that are in the sea shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate cite, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, & great waters shall couer thee.

the Egyptians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldst not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreover multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan unto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How wake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, even the works of a presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine high place in the corner of every way, and makest thine high place in every street, and hast not been as an harlot: that desirest a reward, as an harlot: that playeth the harlot, & taketh others for her husband:

32 They give gifts to all other whorers, but thou givest gifts unto all thy lovers, and rewardest them, that they may come unto thee on every side for thy fornication.

33 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall be after thee: for in that thou givest a reward, and no reward is given unto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

34 Therefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

35 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy shame was poured out, and thy filthiness discovered through thy fornications with thy lovers, and with all the idols of thy abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer unto them,

36 Behold, therefore I will gather all thy lovers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loved, with all them that thou hast hated: I will even gather them round about as against thee, & will discover thy filthiness unto the world by thee as all thy filthiness.

37 And I will judge thee after the manner of them that are harlots, and of them that tread blood, and I will give thee the blood of thy wrath and jealousy.

38 I will also give thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine high place, and shall break down thine high places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire jewels, and leave thee naked and bare.

39 They shall also bring by a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

40 And they shall burn by thine houses with fire, & exercise judgments upon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, & thou shalt give no reward any more.

41 So will I make my way toward thee to rest, and my jealousy shall depart from thee, and I will cease, and be no more angry.

42 Because thou hast not remembered the days of thy youth, but hast provoked me with all these things, behold, therefore I also make up to thee: I will bring thee up by thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

43 Behold, all that be your brethren, shall be this power against thee, saying, This is the mother, so is her daughter.

44 Thou art the mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband & her children: & thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsake their husbands and their children: your mother is an harlot, & your father an Amorite.

45 And thine elder sister is Samaria, & her daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, & thy younger sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, & her daughters.

46 Yet hast thou not walked after their ways, nor done after their abominations: but as it had been a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy ways.

47 As I live, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

48 Behold, this was the iniquity of thy sister Sodom: pride, fulness of bread, & abundance of idleness was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor, nor feed the needy.

49 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I took them away, as pleased me.

50 Repher hath Samaria committed half of thy iniquities, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, & hast justified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

51 Therefore thou which hast justified thy sisters, bear thine own shame for thy sins, that thou hast committed more incommittable, then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, & bear thy shame, seeing that thou hast justified thy sisters.

52 Therefore I will bring againe their captivity with the captivity of Sodom, & her daughters, & with the captivity of Samaria, and her daughters: even the captivity of thy captives in the midst of them.

53 That thou mayest bear thine own shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast justified them.

54 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

55 For thy sister Sodom was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride, before thy wickedness was discovered, as in that same time of the reproach of the daughters of Assur, and of all the daughters of the Chaldeans round about her which despise thee on all sides.

King. 24. 13 And hath taken one of the kings seede, and made a covenant with him, and hath taken an othe of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel. 14 That the kingdome might be in subjection, and not lift it self up, but keepe their covenant, and stand to it. 15 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadors into Egypt, that they might give him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the covenant, and be delivered? 16 No, I thus saith the Lord God, he shall die in the muddes of Babel, in the place of the king, that had made him king, whose othe he despised, and whose covenant made with him, he brake. 17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mighty hoste, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they shall be cast by multitude, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons. 18 For he hath despised the oth, and broken the covenant (per lor, he had given me his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape. 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As I live, I will surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my covenant that he hath broken, upon his owne head. 20 And I will spread up nette upon him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into judgment with him there for his trespasses that he hath committed against me. 21 And all that flee from him with all his host, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shall be scattered toward all the windes: and ye shall knowe that I the Lord have spoken it. 22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the toppe of this his cedar, and will set it, and cut off the toppe of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it upon an high mountaine and great. 23 Even in the high mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughes and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and under it shall remaine all birds, and every foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof. 24 And all the trees of the field shall knowe that I the Lord have brought downe the high tree, and exalted the lowe tree: that I have dyed up the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord have spoken it, and have done it.

Isa. 37. 31 To him that amurdelh, is saluation promised. 34. Death is prophesied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

1 The wordes of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

2 What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers haue eaten sowte grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, ye shall die this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, & also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull, and right,

6 And hath not eaten vpon the mountaine, neither hath life vpon his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath liuen with a meretricious woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his detour: hee that hath spoiled none by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen sough vpon vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withhelden his hand from iniquity, and hath executed true iudgement betwene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, he shall surely liue, sayeth the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he doe any one of these things,

11 Though he doe not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaine, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needie, or hath spoiled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath life vpon his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen sough vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that doeth all his fathers sinnes, which hee hath done, and feareth neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaine, neither hath life vpon his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withhelden the pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment,

17 Neyther hath withhelden his hande from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely liue.

18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, lo, euery he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say ye, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 ¶ The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousness of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall be vpon him selfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and do that which is lawfull and right, hee shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not be mentioned vnto him, but in his righteousness shall hee be had done, he shall liue.

23 ¶ I desire that the wicked should die, sayth the Lord God: if he shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, and do according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his righteousnesses that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet say ye, The way of the Lord is not equal: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equal? or are not your wayes vnequal?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euery die for the same, he shall euery die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

27 Again, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednesse that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall save his soule alure.

28 Because he considereth, & turneth away from all his transgressions, & he hath committed, he shall surely liue & shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equal? or are not your wayes vnequal?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, sayth the Lord God: returne therefore and cast others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, where by ye haue transgressed, and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, sayth the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted the selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, & thou hast caused thy daies to distill nere, and art come vnto the terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproche to the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.

5 Those that be netre, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vaine in name and ioye in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel euerp one in thee was readie to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the muddes of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they derided the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carry tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate, vpon the mountains: in the muddes of thee they commit abomination.

10 In thee haue they discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vnder her that was polluted in her foules.

11 And euery one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man sowed his owne sister, even his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken blurre and the encrease, & thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I haue smitten mine

handes vpon the countenies, that thou shalt bleed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the muddes of thee.

14 Canst thou heart endure, canst thou handes be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will bee it.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in the selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt knowe, that I am the Lord.

17 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, Becausen they are all as dysside, behold, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather filth and blasphemous, and lead, and time into the muddes of the foyname, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so wil I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there, and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall be melted in the muddes thereof.

27 Her princes in the mids thereof are the wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, & to destroy soules for their owne covetous lucre.

28 And her prophets haue daubed them with untimpered mortar, setting banisters, & building lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling & robbing, & haue bereed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, & stand in the breach, & say, I will be a hedge for thee, & thou shalt not be destroyed.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ieruſalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

1 The word of the Lord came again vnto me, ſaying,

2 Some of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother.

3 And they committed fornication in Egypt, they committed fornication in their pouth: there were their breſts pyeſſed, and there they buyled the teates of their virginities.

4 And the names of them were Aholah, the elder, and Aholibah her ſiſter: & they were mine, & they bare ſonnes & daughters: thus were their names. Samaria is Aholah, and Ieruſalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot when ſhe was mine, and ſhe was ſet on fire with her lovers, to wit, with the Aſſyrians her neighbours.

6 Which were clothed with blew ſilke, both captaynes and princes: they were all pleaſant pong men, and poſſible men riding vpon horſes.

7 Thus ſhe committed her whoydom with them, even with all them that were the choſen men of Aſſhur, and with all on whom the doted, and deſiled her ſelfe with all their idoles.

8 And ſhe left her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: ſay in her pouth thy ſay with her, and they buyled the breſts of her virginities, & polluted their whoydom vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her lovers, even into the hands of the Aſſyrians, vpon whom the doted.

10 Theſe diſcovered her ſhame: theyooke away her ſonnes and her daughters, and ſlew her with the ſwoorde, and ſhe had an euill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her ſiſter Aholibah ſaw this, ſhe married her ſelfe with inordinate loue, more then ſhe, and with her fornications more then her ſiſter: with her fornications.

12 She doted vpon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, both captaynes and princes clothed with diuers ſutes, hoſeymen riding vpon horſes: they were all pleaſant pong men.

13 Then I ſawe that ſhe was deſiled, and that they were both after one loit.

14 And that ſhe increaſed her fornications: for when the ſaw men & painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion.

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attire vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea the land of their nativity)

16 Amongſt I ſay, as the ſaw them, ſhe doted vpon them, and ſent meſſengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Nowe when the Babylonians came to her into the bedde of loue, they deſiled her with their fornication, and ſhe was polluted with them, and her luſt departed from them.

18 So ſhe diſcovered her fornication, and diſcloſed her ſhame: then mine heart forſooke her, like as mine heart had forſaken her ſiſter.

19 Yet ſhe increaſed her whoydom more, and railed to remembrance the daies of her youth, wherein ſhe had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For ſhe doted vpon their ſeruants, whole members are as the members of aſſes, and whole ſkin is like the ſkin of horſes.

21 Then called I to remembrance the wickedenes of thy pouth, when thy teates were buyled by the Egyptians: therefore the paynes of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus ſayth the Lord God, Behold, I will raiſe vp thy lovers againſt thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them againſt thee on every ſide.

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, & Iſachar, and Sſhoah, and Roa, and all the Aſſyrians with them: they were all pleaſant pong men, captaynes, and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horſes.

24 Even theſe ſhall come againſt thee with charrets, wagons, and with ſhield, and helmet round about: and I will leave thy ſonnes ment vnto them, and they ſhall ſurge thee according to thy iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they ſhall deale cruelly with thee: they ſhall cut off thy noſe & thine eares, and thy remnant ſhall fall by the ſwoorde: they ſhall carie away thy ſonnes and thy daughters, and thy remnant ſhall be deſtroyed by the ſire.

26 They ſhall alſo ſtrippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire ciuels.

27 Thus ſaith I make thy wickedneſſe to ceale from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: ſo that thou ſhalt not liſt by thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus ſayth the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them, whom thou haſt deſtroyed into the hands of them fro whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they ſhall handle thee deſpitefully, and ſhall take away all thy labour, & ſhall leave thee naked & bare, and the ſhame of thy fornications I ſhall diſcover, both thy wickedneſſe, and thy whoydom.

30 I will do theſe things vnto thee, becauſe thou haſt gone a whoying after the ſtrangers, and becauſe thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou haſt walked in the way of thy ſiſter: therefore ſay I will give her & ſcupper into thine hand.

h Theſe were the names of certaine Princes & captaynes vnder Nebuchadnezzar.

Or, lawe.

i They ſhall deſtroy thy princes, and prielts with the reſt of thy people.

k All thy ſures and riches, which thou haſt gotte by labour, ſhall I all the world ſhall ſee thy ſhamefull forſaking of God to ſerue idoles. I will execute the ſame iudgements and vengeance againſt thee, and thau with greater ſhame.

32 Thus ſaith.

a Meaning Iſrael and Iuſaſ, which came both out of one ſemle.

b They became idolaters after the manner of the Egyptians, c Aholah ſignifieth a man who dwelling in her ſelf, meaning Samaria which was the capital cite of Iſrael: And Aholibah ſignifieth my manſour in her pouth: is meant Ieruſalem where Gods Temple was.

d When the Iſraelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, & forſoke God, & put their truſt in the Aſſyrians, e The holy phariſes theſe were which ſeeme ſtrange to chaffe eares, to caſt this wicked vice of idolatry ſo to be abhorred, I ſay, my ſhould abſole to haue the ſame thereof executed.

f Meaning the Aſſyrians, g This declaration that no wordes are able ſufficiently to expreſſe the rage of idolaters, i they ſhall haue compariſon thou to thoſe which in their reſpect loue and they luſt doſe vpon the images and paintings of them after what they haue.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of the filthie cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

34 Thou shalt be filled with drunkennes and sorrow, even with the cuppe of destruction, and of desolation, with the cup of the filthie Samaritan.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behind thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare the cuppe of wickednes and the whorers drinke.

36 ¶ The Lord sayde moreover unto me, Sonne of man, visit thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah: and visit thou declare to them their abominations.

37 For they have played the whorers, and blood is in their handes, and with their idoles have they committed adulterie, and have also caused their sonnes, whom they bare unto me, to passe by the fire to be their meate.

38 Wherefore thus haue they done unto me: they haue defiled my sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sababaths.

39 For when they had slain their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and for this haue they done in the middest of mine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for them to come from farre, unto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whom thou diddest wash thy selfe, & paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And satest upon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, wherupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a booke of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the companie great were brought in of Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets upon their heads, and beautiful crownes upon their heads.

43 Then I sayd unto her, that was old in adulteries, How shall thy and her fornications come to an ende.

44 And they went in unto her as they goe to a common bawle: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them, after the manner of harlots, & after the manner of murderers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude upon them, & will give them unto the tumult, & to the spoile.

47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cutte them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne up their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the lande, that all women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse.

49 And they shall laye your wickednesse upon you, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seedling pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiel vsi being dead.

1 A Gaine in the ninth yeere, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the moneth came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the king of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable unto the rebellious house, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, as the thigh & the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the bones under it, & make it doyle well, and sette the bones of it therein,

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, I do so the bloodie citie, even to the potte, whose skinnie is therein, and whose skinnie is not gone out of it: bring it out a piece by piece: let no lot fall upon it.

7 For her blood is in the middest of her: thus set it upon an high rocke, and powred it not upon the grounde to couer it with dust,

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: even I haue set her blood upon an high rocke that it should not be covered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I do so the bloodie citie, for I will make it burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then let it empty upon the coles thereof, that the brasie of it may be hotter, and may burne, and that the skinnie of it may be molten in it, and that the skinnie of it may be consumed.

12 She hath wearied her selfe with lyes, and her great skinnie went not out of her: therefore her skinnie shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy skinnie, and wilt be knowne: because I would not haue punished thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy skinnie, till I haue caused my wrath to light upon thee.

14 ¶ The Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will do it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy works shall shee iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

¶ Or, betterme. 1 The citie hath scattered her selfe in vanities, I laboured by sending my Prophets to call thee in repentance, but thou wouldest not. n That is, the Babylonians.

15 ¶ Also the voyde of the Royd came vnto me, saying,

16 Some of man, behold, I take away fro the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shalt thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyze of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shoes vpon thy fete, and coner not thy lippes, and eate not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the moynng, and at euen my wife dyed: and I did in the moynng, as I was commaunded.

19 And the people said vnto me, While thou not tell vs what these thynges meane toward vs, that thou dost so?

20 Then I answered them, The voyde of the Royd came vnto me, saying,

21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Royd God, Behold, I will pollute my Sanctuarie, euen the pride of your golde, the pleasure of your eyes, a your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And ye shall do as I haue done: ye shall not coner your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tyze shall be vpon your heads, and your shoes vpon your fete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, & mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall do: when this cometh, ye shall knowe that I am the Royd God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shal it not be in the day when I take fro them their power, the top of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, & the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters,

26 That he that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, and be no more dumme, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall knowe that I am the Royd.

1 The words of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Syri, Idumea and the Philistines.

¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, & prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Royd God, Thus saith the Royd God, Because thou hast despised me, ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the lande of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a shepheard, and ye shall knowe that I am the Royd.

6 For thus saith the Royd God, Because thou hast clapped the handes, and stamped with the fete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the lande of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hande vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will rote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Royd.

8 Thus saith the Royd God, Because that Moab and Syri doe saye, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities of his cities, say, in his frontiers with pleasant countrey, Beth-ichimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriat-haim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, & will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations,

11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Royd.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Royd God, Because that Edom hath done euil by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, & hath committed great offence, and reneged himselfe vpon them,

13 Therefore thus saith the Royd God, I will also stretch out mine hande vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Medan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, & they shall knowe my vengeance, saith the Royd God.

15 Thus saith the Royd God, Because the Philistines haue executed vengeance, and reneged their selues with a despitefull heart, to destroye it for the olde hatred,

16 Therefore thus saith the Royd God, Beholde, I will stretch out mine hande vpon the Philistines, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroye remnant of the sea coast,

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Royd, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He referreth a small portion for his Church.

a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the idolaters, who will dissemble to hear the Prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meanes or other, God doth discover them.

b They are not only idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which lead them in blindness, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not hear them when they call vnto him, reade Iere. 10. 15.

When came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and sate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Some of you, these men have set vp their idoles in their heart, & put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answer them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, & say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Every man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, I the Lord will answer him that commeth, according to the multitude of his idoles:

5 That I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraue your idoles, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For every one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departed from me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answer him for my selfe.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prowerbe, and I will cut him off from the middes of my people, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

9 And if the prophet be deceived, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord have deceived that prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the middes of my people of Israel.

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of off prophet shall be such as the punishment of him that doeth.

11 That the house of Israel may goe no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Some of man, when the lande flourish against me by committing a trespass, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, and I will break the staffe of the bread thereof, 4. 16. & 17. and will send famine vpon it, and I will kill it.

24 And they shall comfort you, when ye see their way and their enterprises: and ye shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

At the vnpresurable word of the vine tree is cast into the fire, in Jerusalem shall be burnt.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

¶ Some of man, what commeth of a Which bringeth forth the vine tree about all other trees: and of the vine branch, which is among the trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe any rees of I will worke? or will men take a pinne of it to demanish with hang any bridle thereon?

4 Beholde, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the ends his Church, of it, and the middes of it to burne. As it not bring forth more for any woike?

where for no wayke: how much lesse shall it be mine for any wayke: when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I have given to the fire to be consumed, so will I give the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them.

1 Again, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

Some of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations,

And say, Thus saith the Lord God unto Ierusalem, Thyne habitation & thy kindred is of S land: of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

2 And in thy nativitie when thou wast a boye, thy navel was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swabbed in clouters.

3 None ever pitied thee to doe any of these unto thee, for to haue compassion upon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast boye.

4 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine owne blood, and I said unto thee, when thou wast in the blood, Thou shalt live: even when I wast in the blood, I said unto thee, Thou shalt live.

5 I have caused thee to multiply, as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waeren great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fenced, thyne heare is grown, where as thou wast naked and bare.

6 Nowe when I passed by thee, and looked upon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spied my skirts over thee, and covered thy filthines: yea, I swore unto thee, and entered into a covenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

7 Then washed I thee with water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oyle.

8 I clothed thee also with byoidjed work, and thob thee with badgers skin: and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I covered thee with silke.

9 That thou shouldest be a chaste wife, and that I shoulde maintaine thee and endue thee with all graces. I washed away thy sinnes. g I sanctified thee with my body spirit.

10 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets upon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

11 And I put a frontlet upon thy face, and earrings in thine eares, and a beautiful crowne upon thine head.

12 Thus wast thou deckt with golde and silver, and thy raiment was of fine linnen, and silke, and byoidjed work: thou diddest eate fine floure, and home & oyle, and thou wast very beautiful, and thou diddest growe up into a kingdome.

13 And thy name was spred among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was persite through my beautie which I had set upon thee, saith the Lord God.

14 Nowe thou diddest trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renoume, and hast polluted thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

15 And thou diddest take thy garments, & deckedst thine bre places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: as the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

16 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my gold & of my silver, which I had given thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, & diddest commit whoredome with them.

17 And tookest thy byoidjed garments, and coveredst them: as thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before thee.

18 My meat also, which I gave thee, as fine floure, oyle, & home, wherewith I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before the for a sweete savour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

19 Whoeuere thou hast taken thy soures and thy daughters, whome thou hast borne unto me, and these hast thou sacrificed unto them, to be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

20 That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them?

21 And in all thine abominations & whoredomes thou hast not remembered thy dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked, and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

22 And beside all thy wickednesse (wo, wo) unto thee, saith the Lord God.

23 Thou hast also built unto thee an high place, and hast made thee an high place in euery streete.

24 Thou hast built thine place at euery corner of the wap, and hast made thy brautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy seete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

25 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast increased thy whoredome to provoke me.

26 Beholde, therefore I did stretch out mine hande over thee, and will diminish thyne ordinarie, and deliuer thee unto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistines, which are ashamed of thy wicked wap.

11 Whereouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the King of Tyus, and saye vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou shalt be by the sunne, and art ful of wises dome and perfect in beautie.

13 Thou shalt bene in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze and the diamond, the chrysolite, hyacinth, the iasper, the saphire, emeraude and the carbuncle and golde: the workmanship of thy tym brels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the holy ingutaine of God: thou hast walked in the muddes of the stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy waies from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the muddes of thee with crnelitie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will despoile thee, O couering Cherub, from the mids of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of the brightness: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, & by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that beholde thee.

19 All they that knowe thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 Again, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Tydon, and prophesie against it.

22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tydon, & I will be glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her trees, & I shall fall in the mids of her: the enemy shall come against her with the sword on every side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a picking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor a grieuous thorne of all that are rounde about thee, and despoiled them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus sayeth the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and haue sanctified in them in sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the lande, that I haue giuen to my seruant Yaahob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, & plant vineyards: they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all rounde about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXXI.

He prophesieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promitteth that hee will restore Egypt after fouente yeres. 18 Egypt is the rewards of King Nechoad: the reward for the labour, which hee seeketh against Tyus.

1 I the tenth pere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me:

2 Saying,

3 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

4 Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Pharaoh King of Egypt, the great dragon, that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

5 But I will put hooks in thy shawles, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will diuise thee out of the mids of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

6 And I will leaue thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for prete to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

7 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall knowe that I am the Lord, because they haue bene a staffe of reede to the house of Israel.

8 When they tooke hold of thee with their handes, thou diddest breake, & rent all thine shoulde: and when they leane vpon thee, thou wast broken: thou wast broken, and madest all their loynes to stand vpright.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

10 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate, and waste, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord: because he hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it.

11 Beholde, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate, from in the midst of the moneth came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

of Babel caused his armie to seme a great service against Tyus: every head was made bald, and every shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, nor his armie for Tyus, for the service that he served against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will give the land of Egypt unto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoele her spoole, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages of his armie.

20 I have given him the land of Egypt for his labour, he served against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord God.

the house of Israel to growe, and I will give thee an open mouth in the middes of them, and they shall knowe that I am
the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

1 The word of the Lord came againe unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, prophetic, & say,
Thus saith the Lord God, Woele and cry,
Woe be unto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, & it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come upon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the flame shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 Ethiopia, and Phur, and Lub, and all the common people, & Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pike of her power shall come downe: from the towne of Beemeth shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the middes of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the middes of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I have set a fire in Egypt, &
when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that daye shall there messengers goe forth from me in shippes, to make the carelesse Spoyes asprad, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt:
for loe, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, even the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall burne these swaydes against Egypt, and sit the land with the flayne.

12 And I will make the rivers drie, and set the land into the handes of the wicked, &
I will make the lande waste, and all that therein is, by the handes of strangers: I the Lord have spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroye idoles, & I will cause their idoles to cease out of Egypt, and there shall be no more a prince of the lande of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the lande of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in Ao.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of Ao.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall have great sorow, & Ao shall be destroyed, and Aoph shall have sorowes daye.

17 The pong men of Auen, and of Abbis desert shall fall by the sword: & and these cities shall go into captivitie.

18 At Caphnephaz the dape shall res-streine his light, when I shall breake there the barres of Egypt: & when the pinge of her power shall cease in her, the cloude shall couer her, and her daughters shall go into captivitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall knowe that I am
the Lord.

20 And in the eleuenth pere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth daye of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto
me, saying,

21 Some of man, I have broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and lo, it shall not be bound vnto to be healed, neither shall they put a royle to binde it, and so make it strong, to holde the sword.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall put up sword into the hande of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out upon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countries, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He prophesieth a like destruction to them both.

1 In the eleventh pere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, speake unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou? like in thy greatness?

3 Behold, I shew like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot up very high, and his topp was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on his with her rivers running rounde about his plannes, and sent out her little riuers unto all the trees of the felde.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the felde, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, & under the branches did all the beastes of the felde bring forth their pong, and under his shadowe dwelt all mingrie nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatness, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no fire tree was like his branches, and the chestnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like unto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by his multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because he is lift up on high, and hath shot up his top among thicke boughes, and his heart is lift up in his height,

11 I have therefore delivered him into the handes of the mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I have cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, even the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaine, and in all the balles his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the rivers of the land, and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shal all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the felde shalbe vpon his branches,

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoot by their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand up in their height, which drinke to much water: for they are all delivered unto death in the nether partes of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the daye when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, & I covered the deepe for him, & I did restraime the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and at the trees of the felde saptied.

16 I made the nations to shake at his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, I caused with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, & the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether partes of the earth.

17 They all went downe to hel with him, unto them that be saue with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwelt under his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whome I art thou thus like in glory and in greatness among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cut downe with the trees of Eden unto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the uncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh, and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

4 Then will I leave thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open felde, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill with a cloude, and the moone shall not

8 All the lightes of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring a darkenesse vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hartes of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, & vpon the coun-treis which thou hast not known.

10 Pea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shalbe astonied with feare for thee, when I shall make up swoord to glitter against their faces, & they shall be affraide at euery moment: euery man for his owne liue in a day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The swoorde of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swoordes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall despoil the * yongue of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I will despoil also all the beastes thereof from the great water sides, neither shall the foete of man trouble them any more, nor the bones of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their rivers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the lande of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shalbe layde waste: when I shall smite all them, which dwell therein, then shall they know, that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 In the twelfth yeere also in the fiftenth day of the moneth, came the woide of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Some of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and I will cast them downe, euen them & the daughters of the mightie nations into the nether partes of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

cised.

uered to the swoord: draw her downe, and 23 Whose granes are made in the side of the pit, & his multitude are round about the swoord, which caused feare to be in the land of the lining.

24 There is * Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the swoord, which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether partes of the earth, which caused themselves to be feared in the land of the lining, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to a pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with all his multitude: their granes are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by a swoord: though they haue caused their feare in the lands multitude, their granes are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the swoord, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the lining.

27 And they shall not lye with the balane of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue layde their swoordes vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall be vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mightie in the land of the lining.

the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the swoord.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which by their strength are layde

they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised,

30 There be all the princes of the * Moath, with all the Edomians, which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare:
they are ashamed of their strength, & the vncircumcised sleepe with them that bee slaine by the swoord, & beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall bee comforted ouer all his multitude: Phas raoh, and all his armie shalbe slaine by the swoord, saith the Lord God.

32 For I haue caused up * feare to be in the land of the lining: and he shalbe layde

CHAP. xxxiiii.

¶ Against the shepherdes that despised the flocke of Christ, & seek their owne gain. 7 The Lord saith that he will visite his disperfed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promysith the true shepherd Christ, and with him peace.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, p[ro]pheticke against the shepherdes of Israel, p[ro]pheticke and say unto them, Thus saith y^e Lord God vnto the shepherdes, * Woe vnto the shepherdes of Israel, that feede themselves: should not the shepherdes feede the flocke? 3 Ye eate the f^eat, and ye clothe you with the wolle: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe.

4 The weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bound by the broken, nor brought againe that which was binen awaie, neyther haue ye sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepherd: and when they were disperfed, they were deuoured of all the beastes of the field.

6 They were wandred through all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered through all the earth, & none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepherdes, heare the voyde of the Lord.

8 As I liue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, & my sheepe were deuoured of all the beastes of the field, hauing no shepherd, neither did my shepherdes seeke my sheepe, but the shepherdes fed themselves, and fed not my sheepe,

9 Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepherdes,

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepherdes, and will requite my sheepe at their handes, & cause the to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherdes feede themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, & seeke them out.

12 As a shepherd searcheth out his docke, when he hath bene amidg his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreies, and will bring them to their owne land, & feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riners, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde be: there shall they lie in a good folde, and in fatte pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was binen awaie, & will strengthe the weake, but I will destroy the fatte and the strong, and I will feede them with indignement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I iudge betwene sheepe, and sheepe, betwene the rammers and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eate vpon good pasture, but ye must treade downe with your fete the residue of your pasture: & to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your fete?

19 And my sheepe rate that which ye haue troden with your fete, and binke that which ye haue troubled with your fete.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, even I will iudge betwene the fatte sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because ye haue thirst with sibe and with shoulde, and pist all the weake with your hoines, til ye haue scattered them abroade,

22 Therefore wil I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoiled, and I will iudge betwene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set by a shepherd ouer them, and he shall seeke them, even my seruante Dauid, he shall seeke them, and he shall be their shepherd.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruante Dauid shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I wil make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause the euill beastes to cease out of the land: and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen round about my mountaie: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall be rapure of blessing.

27 And the tree of the field shall geue her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruit, & they shall be safe in their land, & shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cogdes of their pole, & deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoiled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise up for them a plant of rymone, & they shall no more be consumed with hunger in the land, neyther beare the reioyce of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord be their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

g Meaning, such as lift vp them selues aboue their brethren, and thinke they haue no neede to be governed by me.

h That is, by putting difference betweene the good and the bad, and so giue to either as they deserve.

i By good pasture and deepe waters, is meant a pure word of God, and the administration of iustice, which they did not distribute to the poore till they had corrupted it.

k Meaning Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure, Ier. 30.9. hof. 3.5.

l This declareth, that vnder Christ the flocke should be truly deliuered from sinne, & hel, and so be safely preserved in the Church where they should neuer perishe. m The fruites of gods graces shall appear in great abundance in his Church.

n That is, the rod that shall come out of the roote of Dauid, Ier. 23.5.

C H A P. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

1 Mount Seir, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, a Where the Idumeans dwell, 2 Some of man, let thy face against mount Seir, and prophetic against it.

3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, & thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquitie had an end,

6 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou hate blood, even blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate & waste, & cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his flame men: in thine hills, and in thy valleys and in all thy rivers shall they fall, that are flaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countries shall be mine, and we will possess them (seeing the Lord was with thee)

11 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will even do according to thy wrath, & according to thine indignation which thou hast used in thine hatred against them: and I will make up self known among them when I have judged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord have heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are given to be devoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye have boasted against me, and have multiplied your words against me: I have heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou diddest reioyce in the inheritance of house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, I mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

C H A P. XXXVI.

8 He transmitteth to deliver Israel from the Gentiles. 23 The benefites done unto the Levites, are to be considered to the mercy of God, & not unto their deservings. 26 God reneweth our hearts, that we may walk in his commandments.

1 Also thou fount of man, prophetic unto the mountaines of Israel, & say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the words of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the enemy hath said against you, Ah, that is the enemy the place of the waste are Idumean.

3 Therefore prophetic, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they have made you desolate, and swallowed you the chief by on every side, that ye might be a possession unto the residues of the heathen, & ye are come unto the lips and tongues of men, & unto the reproch of the people, and derision to all the world.

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, and heare the words of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, and to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation have I spoke against residue of the heathen, & against all Idumea, which have taken my land for their possession, with the top of all their heart, and with despite full mindes to cast it out for a prey.

6 Prophetic therefore upon the land of Israel, and say unto the mountaines, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I have spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye have suffered the shame of the heathen.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I have lifted up mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall shoot forth your branches, & bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come unto you, and I will turne unto you, and ye shall be tilled and sown.

10 And I will multiply the men by you, even at the house of Israel whole, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply increase upon you man and beast, and they shall increase, & bring fruit, & I will cause you to dwell after your old estate, and I will bestowe benefites upon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke by you, & they shall possess their inheritance, & ye shall no more be derisive despite them of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they have said unto you, Thou lande deservest by men, and hast bene a waste of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt devour men no more: neither waste thy people hereafter, saith the Lord God.

15 Neither will I cause men to beare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of thy people any more, neither shalt cause thy folk to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

 17 Some of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne waues, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.
 18 Wherefore I powred my wrath upon them, for the blood that they had shed in the lande, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.
 19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countreis: for according to their waues, & according to their deedes, I iudged them.

 22 Therefore I said vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lorde God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine: a holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.
 23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whome you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lorde, sayth the Lorde God, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.
 24 For I will take you from among the heathen, & gather you out of all countreies, and will bring you into your owne land.

 29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthines, and I will call you by my name, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.
 30 For I will multiply the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the fieldes, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.
 31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked waues, and your deedes that were not good, and shall ingrow your selues wothie to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.
 32 Be it known vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, sayth the Lorde God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne waues.
 33 Thus saith the Lorde God, What time as I shall haue clenfed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, & the desolate places shall be builded.

 34 And the desolate lande shall be tilled, whereas it laye waste in the sight of all that passed by.

- 35 For they sayde, This waste lande was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.
 36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall knowe that I the Lorde build the ruinous places, & plant the desolate places: I the Lorde haue spoken it, and will doe it.
 37 Thus saith the Lorde God, I will pet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.
 38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feasts, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of when he maketh men, & they shall knowe, that I am the Lorde.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophesieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captiuitie. 16 He sheweth the union of the ten tribes with the two.

- The hand of the Lorde was vpon me, and caried me out in the Spirit of the Lorde, & set me downe in the mids of the felde, which was full of bones.
 2 And he ledde me rounde about by them, and beholde, there were verie many in the open felde, and so, they were verie drye.
 3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lorde God, thou knowest.
 4 Again he said vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones and say vnto them, O ye drye bones, heare the word of the Lorde.
 5 Thus saith the Lorde God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.
 6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make fleische growe vpon you, and couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.
 7 So I prophesied, as I was commanded: as I prophesied, there was a noise, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.
 8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and aboute, the skinnie couered them, but there was no breath in them.
 9 Then saide he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lorde God, Come from the four: O winde, O breath, and breathe vpon these flaine, that they may liue.
 10 So I prophesied as he had commanded: and the breath came vnto them, and they liued, and stood by vpon their feet, an exceeding great armie.
 11 Then he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are of the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, & our hope is gone, & we are cleane cut off.

thyself, of whom I have spoken in olde time, as by the hand of my seruantes the prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those dayes & peres, that I would bring thee upon them?

18 At the same time also will I Gog that come against the land of Israel, sayth the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath have I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be much shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, & the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the field and all that moue and creepe upon the earth, and all the men that are upon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall bee ouerthrowen, & the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him: o thou through all my mountaines, sayth the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will plead against him with pe-silence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine upon him and upon his bandes, and upon the great people, that are with him, a foye raine, and hailstones, fire and burningstone.

23 Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall knowe, that I am
the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11
The graues of Gog and his host. 17 They shall be dismayed of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captive. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

1 Therefore, thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee: and leane but the first part of thee, and will cause thee to come up from the North partes & will bring thee upon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will limite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall upon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bandes, & the people that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto
the birdes and to euery feathered fowle and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall upon the open field: for
I have spoken it, sayth the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Meshech, and among them that dwell safely in the place, they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holp mine knowe:
en in the middest of my people Israel, & I will not suffer them to pollute mine holp mine any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, the holp one of Israel.

8 Behold, it is come, and it is done, sayth
the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall go forth, and shall burne & set fire vpon the weapons, & on the shields, & bucklers, upon the bowes, & upon the arrowes, & upon the staves in their hands, and vpon the speares, & they shall burne them with fire seven peres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forestes: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoiled them, sayth the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I give vnto Gog a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley where they may go towarde the East part of the Sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their noises, and there shall they burie Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog.

12 And leue moneths long shall the house of Israel be burping of them, that they may cleanse the land,

13 For all the people of the land shall burp them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, sayth the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to go continually through the land with them that traualle, to burie those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the ende of seven moneths.

15 And the trauallers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set up a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the cite shall be monah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered fowle, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice:
for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eat flesh, and drinke blood.

18 Ye shall eat the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambs, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fatte beastes of Bashan.

19 And ye shall eate fat till you be full, and drinke

- 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue potoyed out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

C H A P. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

- I In the five and twentieth peece of our being in captiuitie in the beginning of the peece, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth peece after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hande of the Lord was vpon me, and brought me thither.
- 2 Into the lande of Israel brought he me by a diuine vision, & set me vpon a very high mountaine, where vpon was as h building of a citie, toward the South.
- 3 And he brought me thither, and beholds, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like balse, with a linen thread in his hande, & a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.
- 4 And the man sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, & set thine heart vpon al that I shal shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.
- 5 And beholde, I sawe a wall on the outside of the house rounde about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of five cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

- 6 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, & went by the staires thereof, and measured the p oste of the gate, which was one reede ^{Or, threshold,} broad, and p the other p oste of the gate, ^{Or, upper part,} which was one reede broad.
- 7 And every chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betweene the chambers were five cubites: p the p oste of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.
- 8 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.
- 9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubites, and the p ostes thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.
- 10 And the chambers of h gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the p ostes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.
- 11 And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, & the height of the gate thirreene cubites.
- 12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, & the chambers were five cubites on this side and five cubites on that side.
- 13 He measured then the gate from the route of a chamber to the toppe of the gate: the breadth was five and twentie cubites, doore against doore.
- 14 He made also p ostes of threeteene cubites, and the p ostes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.
- 15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were five cubites.
- 16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their p ostes within the gate rounde about, and likewise to the arches: & the windowes were round about within: and vpon the p ostes were palme trees.
- 17 Then brought he me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court rounde about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pavement.
- 18 And the pavement was by the side of the gates ouer against the legth of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.
- 19 Then he measured the breadth fro the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubites Eastward and Southward.
- 20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the South, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.
- 21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the p ostes thereof and the arches thereof

- 22 And their windowes, and their arches with their pailne trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp into it had seven steps, & the arches thereof were before the.
- 23 And the gate of the inner court stood over against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.
- 24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.
- 25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth nine and twenty cubites.
- 26 And there were seven steps to go vp to it, & the arches thereof were before them: & it had pailne trees, one on this side, and another on that side vnder the post thereof.
- 27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.
- 28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and hee measured the South gate according to these measures.
- 29 And the chambers thereof, & the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, & there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long and nine and twenty cubites broad.
- 30 And the arches round about were nine and twenty cubites long, and nine cubites broad.
- 31 And the arches thereof were toward the bitter court, and pailne trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.
- 32 And againe he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.
- 33 And the chambers thereof, and the post thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, & in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and nine and twenty cubites broad.
- 34 And the arches thereof were toward the bitter court, & pailne trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side & on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.
- 35 After, he brought me to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures.
- 36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth nine and twenty cubites.
- 37 And the postes thereof were toward the bitter court, and pailne trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, & the going vp to it had eight steps.
- 38 And every chamber, & the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, & two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, & the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, & four tables on that side by the side of the gate, even eight tables wherupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And four tables were of hewn stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite high: wherupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hande broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the fingers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: & their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And he sayde vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the priests that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Levi which may come nere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad, even four square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, & measured the postes of the porch, nine cubites on this side, and nine cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleven cubites, and he brought me by the steeppes wherby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

1 Afterward, he brought me to the Temple, and measured the postes, six cubites broad on the one side, and six cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourty cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes

poſes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie ſixe cubites, and the breadyth of the entrie ſeven cubites.

4 So he meaſured þ length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadyth twenty cubites befoze the Temple. And hee ſayde vnto me, This is the moſt holy place.

5 After, he meaſured the wal of the houſe, ſixe cubites, and the breadyth of euery chamber foure cubits round about the houſe, on euery ſide.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, thre & thirtie foote high, & they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the houſe, þ the poſes might be faſtened therein, and not be faſtened in the wal of the houſe.

7 And it was large, & went round mounting vpwarde to the chambers: for the ſtaire of the houſe was moiſting vpward, rounde about the houſe: therefore the houſe was larger vpward: ſo they went vp from the loweſt chamber to the higheſt by the middes.

8 I ſawe alſo the houſe þie round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of ſixe great cubites.

9 The thickneſſe of the wal which was for the chamber without, was ſixe cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chamber: that were within.

10 And betwene the chambers was the wideſſe of twenty cubites rounde about the Houſe on euery ſide.

11 And the dooyes of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one dooye toward the ſouth, and another dooye toward the ſouth, and the breadyth of the place that remained, was ſixe cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was befoze the ſeparate place toward the Weſt corner, was ſeuentie cubites bwoade, and the wall of the building was ſixe cubites thicke, round about, & the length ninety cubites.

13 So he meaſured the houſe an hundred cubites long, and the ſeparate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundred cubites long.

14 Alſo the breadyth of the ſoyefront of the houſe and of the ſeparate place toward the Eaſt, was an hundred cubites.

15 And he meaſured the length of the building, ouer againſt the ſeparate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one ſide and on the other ſide an hundred cubites in the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The poſes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on the ſides ouer againſt the poſes, ſieled with cedar wood round about, and from the grounde vp to the windowes, and the windowes were ſieled.

17 And from about the dooye vnto the inner houſe & without, and by al the wall round about within and without it was ſieled according to the meaſure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, ſo that a palme tree was betwene a Cherub and a Cherub: and eue-ry Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the plaine tree on the one ſide, & the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other ſide: thus was it made through all the houſe round about.

20 From the ground vnto about the dooye were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The poſes of the Temple were ſquared, and thus to looke vnto was the ſimilitude, and ſoyne of the Sanctuary.

22 The altar of wood was thre cubites þie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the ſides thereof were of wood. And he ſayde vnto me, This is the table that ſhalbe befoze the Lozd.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two dooyes.

24 And the dooyes had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one dooye, and two wickets for another dooye.

25 And vpon þ dooyes of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planchers vpon the ſoyes front of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one ſide, and on the other ſide, by the ſides of the porch, and vpon the ſides of the houſe, & thicke planks.

C H A P. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

1 Then brought he me into the bitter court by the way toward the ſouth, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer againſt the ſeparate place, and which was befoze the building toward the ſouth.

2 Befoze the length of an hundred cubites was the ſouth dooye, and it was ſixe cubites bwoade.

3 Ouere againſt the twenty cubites which were of the inner court, and ouer againſt the pavement, which was for the bitter court, was chamber againſt chamber in thre rowes.

4 And befoze the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their dooyes toward the ſouth.

5 Now the chambers aboue were narrower: for thoſe chambers ſeemed to eate vp theſe, to wit, the lower, & thoſe that were in the middes of the building.

6 For they were in thre rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference ſet them beneath and from the middlemoſt, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer againſt the chambers, toward the bitter court on the ſoyefront of the chambers, was ſixe cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the bitter court, was ſixe cubites: and loe, befoze the Temple were an hundred cubites,

9 And under these chambers was the entry, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court toward the East, out against the separate place, and out against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to the facions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entereth.

13 Then sayd he unto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priestes that appoche unto the Lorde, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priestes enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the bitter court, but there they shall lase their garments: wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall appoche to those things, which are for the people.

15 Nowe when he had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rodde, five hundredth reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured also the North side, five hundredth reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

^{Or, south.} 18 And he measured the South side five hundredth reedes with the measuring reede.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured five hundredth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 He measured it by the four sides: it had a wall round about, five hundredth reedes long, and five hundredth broad to make a separation betweene the Sanctuary, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He sheweth the glorie of God going into the Temple from whence he had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel for the which they were punished and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

1 Afterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glorie of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, & the earth was made light with his glorie.

3 And the vision which I saw was like the vision, even as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the citie: & the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar: & I fell upon my face.

4 And the glorie of the Lorde came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me up and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glorie of the Lorde filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking unto me out of the house: & there stood a man by me.

7 Which said unto me, Some of man, this place is my throne, & the place of my feet, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for ever, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holp name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkelles of their kings in their sieges.

8 When they let their thesholdes by my thesholdes, and their posts by my postes (for there was a wall betwene me and them) yet have they desired mine holp name with their abominations, that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkelles of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 Thou some of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, shew them the forme of the house, and the paterne thereof, & the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole faction thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof, & write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole faction thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do therein.

12 This is the description of the house, which shall be upon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Beholde, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, and an hand breadth, even the bottom shall be a cubite, & the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about shall be a spanne: and this shall be the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottom which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubites, & the breadth one cubite, & from the little piece to the great piece shall be four cubites, & the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shall be four cubites, & from the altar upward shall be four joynts.

16 And the altar shall be twelve cubites long, and twelve broad, & four square in the four corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall be fourteene cubits long, and fourteene broad in the four square corners thereof, & the border about it shall be half a cubite, and the bottom thereof shall be a cubite about, and the steps thereof shall be turned toward the East.

18 And

18 ¶ And he said unto me, Sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt give to the Priests, and to the Levites, that be of the seed of Zadok, which approach unto me, to minister unto me, saith the Lord God, a pong bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four hoines of it, & on the four corners of the frame, & upon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goate without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou shalt make an ende of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a pong bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt upon them, & they shall offer them for a burnt offering unto the Lord.

25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare ever day an hee goate for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a pong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seven dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, upon the eighth day & so forth, the Priests shall make pour burnt offerings upon the altar, and pour peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIII.

Here proceeth the people for their offence. 7 The uncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 VVho are to be admitted to the service of the Temple, and who to be refused.

1 ¶ When he brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, & it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord unto me, This gate shall be shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ He brought me toward the South gate before the House: & when I looked, behold, a glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell upon my face.

5 And the Lord sayde unto me, Sonne of man, mark well, & behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say unto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entering in of the house with every going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt save to the rebellions, even to the house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, a house of Israel, ye have enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that ye have brought into my Sanctuary strangers, uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, even fat, & blood: and they have broken my covenant, because of all your abominations.

8 For ye have not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selves have set other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger uncircumcised in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 Neither yet the Levites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idols, but they shall bear their iniquity,

11 And they shall serve in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the House, & minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serve them.

12 Because they served before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore have I lift up mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall bear their iniquity,

13 And they shall not come neere unto me to do the office of the Priest unto me, neither shall they come neere unto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall bear their shame & their abominations, which they have committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Levites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serve me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table, to serve me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, and no wool shall come upon them, while they serve in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall have linen bonnets upon their heads, and shall have linen breeches upon their loynes: they shall not gird themselves in the wearing places.

19 But when they go forth into the utter court, even to the utter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not take

- C H A P. XLV.
- 1 Out of the lands of promise are there separate four persons, of which the first ingim to the priests and to the Levites, the second to the Levites, the third to the Levites, the fourth to the priests. 9 An inheritance unto the heads of Israel. 10 Of just weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.
- Moreover when ye shall divide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation unto the Lord an holy portion of the land, five and twenty thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.
- 2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuarie five hundredth in length with five hundredth in breadth, all square round about, and five cubites round about for the suburbs thereof.
- 3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, & the breadth of ten thousand: & in it shall be the Sanctuarie, & the most holy place.

- 4 The holy portion of the lande shall be the priestes, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which came neere to serve the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, & an holy place for the Sanctuarie.
- 5 And in the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Levites that minister in the house, have their possession for twenty chambers.
- 6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie, five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.
- 7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the west border unto the East border.
- 8 In this lande shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppress my people, and the rest of the land shall they give to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.
- 9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: leave off cruelty and oppression, & execute iudgement and justice: take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.
- 10 Ye shall have iust balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath.
- 11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be as equal: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Ephah, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Ephah: the equallnes thereof shall be after the Ephah.

- 14 Concerning the oblation of the oyle, even of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Oyle (ten Baths are an Ephah): for ten Baths fill make an Ephah.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath & of the new moones.
2 Therewe which doores they must go in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the six working daies: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moone it shall be opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the poste of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall go forth, but the gate shall not be shut til the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meate offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambs: a gift of his hande, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moone it shall be a pong bullocke without blemish, and six lambs and a ramme: they shall bee without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offering, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambs: according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of the gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemn feastes, hee that entred in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entred by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall go forth out against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the middes of them: he shall go in when they go in, and when they go forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feastes, & in the solemnities the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, & an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambs, the gift of his hande, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a fre burnt offering of peace offerings fre vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate that turneth toward the East, and hee shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings as hee did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall go forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one peece without blemish: thou shalt doe it euer morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euer morning, the first part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oyle euer morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 Thus saith the Lord God, If a prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruantes, then it shall be his to the peece of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for euer.

18 Whoeuer the prince shall take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but hee shall cause that God hath his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

19 After, he brought me through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said he vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shall seethe the trese: where the burnt offering and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, they shall not beare them into the inner court, & to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the outer court, and caused me to goe by the four corners

CHAP. XLVII.

The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 23 The coastes of the land of promise, and the division thereof by tribes.

Afterward he brought me vnto the domes of the house: and behold, waters issued out from under the thirtie sholes of the house Eastward: for the fountaine of the house stode towards the East, and the waters ranne downe from under the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the brer gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites: and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: again he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a river, that I could not passe over: for the waters were risen, and the waters did floue, as a river that could not be passed over.

6 And hee sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then hee brought me, & caused me to returne to the bynke of the river.

7 Nowe when I returned, beholde, at the bynke of the river were verie many trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then sayde hee vnto mee, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plains, & shal go into to one sea: they shal runne into another sea, and the waters shal be wholesome.

9 And every thing that lieth, which moeth, whersoever the rivers shal come, shal liue, and there shal be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shal come thither: for they shal be wholesome, and every thing shal liue whither the river cometh.

10 And then the Elders shall stand vpon it, & from En-gedi enen vnto En-eglain, they shal speeke out their nettes: for their fish shal be according to their kindes, as the fish of the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But the marie places thereof, and the maries thereof shal not be wholesome: they shal be made salt pittes.

12 And by this river vpon the bynke thereof, on this side, and on that side shal grow all fruitfull trees, whose leafe shal not fade, neither shal the fruits thereof faile: it shal bring forth newe fruite according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuare: and the fruite thereof shal be meate, and the leafe thereof shal be for medicine.

13 I Thus sayeth the Lord God, This shal be the border, wherby ye shall inherit the land according to the twelue tribes of Israel: Joseph shal haue two portions.

14 And ye shal inherit it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to give it vnto your fathers, & this land shal fall vnto you by inheritance.

15 And this shal be the border of the land toward the Northside, from the maine sea toward Hermon as men go to Kedabab: sieth the spiritus.

16 Hamath, Berotah, Shoban, which is all land wherof betwene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hamath.

17 And the border from the sea shal be Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, & the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shal be the North part.

18 But the East side shal be measure from Hamath, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Jordan, & from the border vnto the East sea: and so shal be the East part.

19 And the Southside shal be toward the man from Tamar to the waters of Shebith in Kadesh, & the river to the maine sea: so shal be the South part toward the man.

20 The west part also shal be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Hamath: this shal be the West part.

21 So shall pee divide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shal divide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall begitt children among you, & they shal be vnto you, as home in the countrey among the children of Israel, they shal part inheritance with you in the midst of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall hee give him his inheritance, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

- 22 Moreover, from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the civic, that which is in the middes shall be the prince: between the border of Judah, and between the border of Benjamin shall be the prince.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his singular mercie towards his Church are most lively here set forth, who never leaveth his deservite, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whome he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel above all other had most special revelations of such things as should come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captivitie, to the last end of the world, and to the general resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romans. Also of the certaine number of the times even unto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should bee the accomplishment thereof: moreover he sheweth Christes office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring everlasting life. And as from the beginning God ever exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leave this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, & Christ gather his into his kingdom in the heavens.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The captivitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The king chooseth certain young men of the Iewes to learne his lawe. 5 They haue the kings ordinarie appointed, 8 But they abstaine from it.

IN the thirde yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babel vnto Ierusalem, and besieged it. And the lord gave Iehoiakim King of Iudah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the House of God, which hee caried into the lande of Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasure.

3 And the king spake vnto e Nipnazar the master of his Eunuches, that he should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the kings seed, and of the yunges:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well favoured, and instructed in all wises, and able to stande in the kings palace, and whome they might teach the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them poysoned every day of a poyson of kings meat, and of the wine which hee drinke, so none risking them these yeere, that at the ende thereof, they might stand before the king. Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, a Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, and Azariah, Asaferne at the table, as in other offices.

8 But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which hee drinke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Nowe God had brought Daniel into their childrens fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayde vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate & your drinke: therefore if hee see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the king.

11 Then said Daniel to Asaferne, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Whome thou seruantes. I beseeche thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs poyson to eat, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances drinke (for of the children that eat of the poyson of afterward hee because the king should not enuise him by this sweete poyson, to forget his religion and accustomed sobriety, and that in his meate and drinke he might daily remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shewe howe God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to bee a Prophet. Hee supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrarie to the Babylonians, and therefore herein hee representeth them, which are of no religion: for neither hee would condemne theirs nor mainteine his owne. Meaning, that within this space he might haue the tryall, and that no man should be able to discern it: and thus hee spake, being moued by the Spirit of God. Not that it was a thing abominable to eat deintie meates and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby bene wonne to the king and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed;

q This bare feeding and that also of Moises, when he fledde from the court of Egypt, declareth that we must live in such sobriety as God cloeth call vs unto, seeing he will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all delicacies: for his blessing only sufficeth.

the kings meate: and as thou seest, deate with thy seruants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and pined them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking then all the chibdrens, which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Belshazzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 So for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning: and wise dome: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuchs broughed them before Nebuchad-nazzar.

19 And the king communed with them: & among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wise dome, and vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, he founde them ten times better then all the enchanterers and astrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto the first pete of king of Babilus.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nazzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slaine because they could not interpret his dreames. 16 Daniel requesteth time to solve the question. 24 Daniel brought vnto the king, and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the enuiling kingdoms of Christ.

1 And in the second yere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nazzar, Nebuchad-nazzar dreamed dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the enchanterers, and the astrologians and the sojourners, and the Caldians for to shewe the king his dreames: so they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king sayde vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldians to the king in the Aramites language, O king, lue for euer: shewe thy seruants thy dreame, and we shall shewe the interpretation.

5 And the king answered and sayde to the Caldians, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstande the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be drawen in pieces, and pour houses shall be made a iake.

6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receive of me giftes and rewardes, and great honour: therefore shewe me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayde, Let the king shew his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation of it.

8 Then the king answered, and sayde, I knowe certainly that ye would gaue the time, because ye see the thing to come from me.

9 But if ye will not declare me the dreame, there is to be no indignment for you: for ye haue prepared lying & corrupt words, to speake before me all the time be chaunge: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may knowe, if ye can declare mee the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldians answered before the king, & said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare thy kings matter: for there is neither king, nor prince, nor lord that asked such things at an enchanter of astrologian of Caldian.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requirith, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angrie and in great furie, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they sought Daniel & his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wise dome to Arioch the kings chief steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, he answered and said vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leave, and that he would shew him the king the interpretation thereof.

17 Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseeche the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuelled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, The name of God be praised for euer: for for wise dome and strength are his.

21 And he chaunged the times and seasons: he taketh away kingdoms: he stretcheth kingdoms: he giveth wise dome vnto the wise, a The father and the sonne were both called by this name: for that this is meant of the sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort w his father. b Not that he had many dreames, but because many matters were contained in this dreame. c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame that he had not had the like. d Hee was so heauie with sleepe that he began to sleepe againe. Some reade, and his sleepe was broken from him. e For all these astrologers and sojourners called them selves by this name of honour, as though all the wise dome and knowledge of the countrey depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were voyde of the same. f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldians, saue it seemed to bee more eloquent, and therefore the learned vied to speake it: as the Iew Writers doe to this day.

This is the reward of their arrogance (which vained of themselves that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be proued fooles, and thus to their perpetuall shame and confusion. h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their bragging they were not able to tell the dreame, which he caused them into the want, and therefore they would not be able to knowe longer when they were wanted, and by their delusions of the people, they were worshipping. i Which declared that God would not lose his seruants in the company of these foregers and astrologers, whole men were wicked, & therefore they ought to be, though the king did it upon a rage, and so zeale. k For the reuelation of the gods.

God of my fathers, that thou hast gi-uen me wisdom and strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared unto vs the kings matter.

24 Therefore Daniel went unto Arioch, whome the king had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and said thus unto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring mee before the king, and I will declare unto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, & said thus unto him, I haue found a mak of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare unto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said unto Daniel, whose name was Belshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dream which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the enchanters, nor the sooth-sayers declare unto the king.

28 But there is a God in heauen that reueileth secrets, and sheweth the king Belshazzar what shall bee in the latter daies. Thy dream, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head upon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bedde, thoughts came into thy minde, what shoulde come to passe hereafter, and he that reueileth secrets, telleth thee, what shall come.

30 As for mee, this secret is not shewed me for any wisdom that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shew the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and beholdest, there was a great image: this great image whose glorie was so excellent, stood before thee, & the foune thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine & golde, his breast and his armes of silver, his belly and his thighs of brasse,

33 His legges of yron, and his feet were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image, and broke it in pieces, and the four windes carried away the four partes thereof, and the remnant of the stone became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

without hands, which smote the image upon his feet, that were of yron & clay, and brake them in pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the silver and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the sawyer holwen, and the winde carped them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dream, and we will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 O king, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, & glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the felde, and the fowles of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, & hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art this head of golde.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferior to thee, of silver, and another, third kingdome shall be of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall be strong, and as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron break-eth all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and breake all.

b Though this humbling of the king seemed to delivie commendation, yet because he joyed Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be rejoyced, and Daniel herein erred if he suffered it but it is credible y Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 37, 38. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward. d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this means he might relieve his poore brethren which were grievously oppressed in this their captivitie, and also hee received them, least he should offend this cruell king, which willingly gave them. e Hee did not this for their private profit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might have some release and ease, by this benefite. f Meaning, that either hee was a iudge, or that hee had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The King setteth up a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandment, and are put into a burning oven. 25 By belife in God they are delivered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

2 Nebuchad-nezzar the king made an image of golde, whose height was threescore cubites, and the breadth thereof sixe cubites: hee set it up in the plaine of Bura, in the poynt of Babel.

3 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the recepours, the counsellors, the officers, and all the governours of the poyntes, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set up.

4 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the recepours, the counsellors, as the wicked, when they are overcome with the greatnesse of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eighteene yeeres after the dreame, and as may appear, the king feared lest the loves by their religion should have altered the state of his comon wealth, & therefore he ment to bring all to one kind of religion, & so rather sought his own quietnes, the Gods glory, b Shewing, y the idole is not knowne for an idole so long as hee is with the workemans: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and used, and the content of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they have made a god. c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approve their religion, if the Kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

the officers, and all the governours of the poyntes were assembled unto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set up: & they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set up.

4 Then an herald cryed aloud, See it d These are the knownen to you, O people, 4 nations, and two dangerous languages, That when pee heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, pee fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set up.

5 And whosoever shall not bowe and worshipper, shall the same honre be cast into the mids of an hore fire furnace.

6 Therefore alosome as all the people heard the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set up.

7 At that season wherof at that same time worshipped, came men of the Caldeans, and grievous by accused the Jewes,

8 For they spake and sapde to the king, Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, time for ever.

9 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that their true worshipper man that shall heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image,

10 And whosoever shall not bowe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hore fire furnace.

11 There are certaine Jewes whom thou hast let out of the charge of the poynt of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, have not regarded thy commandment, neither wil they serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set up.

12 Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: to these men were brought before the king.

13 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said unto them, What disorder will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: for ye have not worshipped the golden image, that I have set up?

14 Now therefore are ye ready when pee heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I have made: for if pee worship it not, pee shall be cast immediately into the mids of an hore fire furnace: for who is that God, that can deliver you out of mine hands?

15 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and sapde to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not carefull to answer thee in this matter.

16 Beholde, our God whom wee serve, is able to deliver us, O king.

g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepech, but is euer ready to doe Gods will, and is not infect with mans corruption, but is euer holy: & in that that he comaundeth to cut downe this tree, he knewe that it should not be cut downe by man but by God. h Hereby he meaneth y Nebuchad-nezzar should not only for a time lose his kingdom, but be like a beast. i God hath decreed this iudgement, & y whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp their selues against God. k He was troubled for y great iudgement of God which he sawe ordeined against the king: and for the Prophets vpon the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory & on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if hee did not regard them with pittie. l Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeres. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth hee meaneth yeres.

10 fowles of the heauen dwelt in þ boughes thereof, and all flesh fedde of it.
 11 I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a watchman & an holp one came downe from heauen.
 12 And cryed aloud, and said thus, Hewe downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, & scatter his fruite, that the brailles may see from vnder it, and the fowles from his branches.
 13 Hewerthelasse leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a bande of pyon & byasse binde it among the grasse of the felde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the field.
 14 Let his heart bee changed from mans nature, and let a beastes heart be giue vnto him, & let seuen times be passed ouer him.
 15 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holp ones: the drimande was answered, to the intent that liuing men may know, that the most high hath power ouer the kingdom of men, & giueth it to whomsoever hee will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.
 16 This is the dreame, that I king Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: I therefore thou, Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wisemen of my kingdom are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holp gods is in thee.
 17 Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) helde his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughtes troubled him, and the king spake and saide, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that haue thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.
 18 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the light thereof through all the world.
 19 Whose leaues were faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beastes of the felde dwelt, and vpon whose branches the fowles of the heauen did sit.
 20 It is thou, O king, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, & reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.
 21 Whereas the king sawe a watchman, and an holp one, that came downe from heauen, and sawe, Hewe downe the tree and destrop it, yet leaue þ stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, & with a bande of pyon & byasse binde it among the grasse of the felde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the felde, till seuen times passe ouer him.
 22 This is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the most high, which is come vpon my lord the king.
 23 That thep shal brynne thee from men, and the dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the felde: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oren, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowe that the most high beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, & giueth it to whomsoever hee will.

 24 Whereas thep saide, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, the kingdom shal remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the beaues haue the rule.
 25 Wherefore, O king, let my counsell bee acceptable vnto thee, & breake off thy finnes by righteousness, & thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: for, let there be an healing of thine enour.
 26 All these things shal come vpon y king Nebuchad-nezzar.
 27 At the ende of twelue moneths, he walked in the coppas place of Babel.
 28 And the king spake & saide, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdom by y might of my power, & for the honour of my maiestie?
 29 While the word was in the kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, The kingdom is departed from thee.
 30 And thep shal brynne thee from men, and the dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the felde: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oren, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, until thou knowest, that the most high beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoever hee will.
 31 The verp same honre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was druen from men, and did eate grasse as the oren, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his heares were growen as eagles feathers, & his napples like birdes clawes.
 32 And at the ende of these dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, & I gaue thanks vnto the most high, and I praised & honoured him that liueth for euer, whose power of the most high is an everlasting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.
 33 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen: yea, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What dost thou?
 34 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdom: my glorie and my beaurtie was restored vnto me, and my counsellors: and my princes sought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdom, and my glorie was augmented toward me.
 35 Nowe therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar stand content therewith and giue him the glorie, seemeth that he had bene put from his kingdom before.

Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but he was either stricken mad, and so avoided mans company, or was call out for his tyrannie, and so wandered among the beastes, and ate herbes and grasse.
 Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him.
 Cease from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy finnes, that he may mitigate his punishments, if thou desire by thine wysdom life that thou shalt haue.
 Suffice thy errors of thy former life to be reuelled.
 After y Daniel had declared this vision: and his pride declared that it is not in man to consent to God except his might exceed him, saying that these terrible threatenings could not move him to repent.
 When I sawe of these few yeres was accomplished.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the King, can not expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slain. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdom.

King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his pyncers, & byake wme before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar whyles he tasted þ wine, commanded to bring him the golden and silver vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Jerusalem, that the king and his pyncers, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the koydes house at Jerusalem, and the king and his pyncers, his wiues, and his con-cubines dranke in them.

4 They drinke wme & pynced the gods of golde, and of silver, of hyasse, of pyon, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wal of the kings palace, and the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughtes troubled him, so that the sopytes of his lynes were loosed, and his kynes smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the king cryed loude, þ they shoud bring the astrologians, the Cal-deans and the soothsayers. And the king spake, and said to the wisesmen of Babel, Whosoever can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came all þ kings wisesmen, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the king the interpretation.

9 Then was king Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his pyncers were alonied.

10 Nowe the Quene by reason of the talke of the king and his pyncers, came into the banquet house, and the Quene spake, and saide, O king, line for ture; let not thy thoughtes trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom, in whome is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisdom like the wise-dome of the gods, was founde in him:
whom þ king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the king, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Calde-ans, and soothsayers,

12 Because a more excellent spirite, and knowledge, and understanding (for he did expound dreames, & declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubtis) were found in him, even in Daniel, whome the king named Belshazzar: nowe let Daniel be called, & he will declare the interpretatio.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake, and sayde vnto Daniel. Art thou that Daniel, which art of the chyldren of the captiuitie of Iudah, whome my father the king brought out of Tewye?

14 Nowe I haue heard of thee, that the spirite of the holy gods is in thee, & that light and understanding and excellent wisdom is founde in thee.

15 Nowe therefore wise men, & astrologians haue bene brought before me, þ they shoud reade this writing, & shewe me the interpretation thereof: but they coulde not declare the interpretation of þ thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, & dissolue doubtis; nowe if thou canst reade the writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, & shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdom.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayde before the king, Kepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy giftes to another: yet
I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shewe him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou. The most high God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdom, and maiestie and honour and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations and languages trembled, and feared before him: hee put to ward God, who death without he would: he smote whom he woude: whome he woude he set vp, and whome he woude he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed vp, and his minde hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingship throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was diuinen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beastes, and his dwelling was with the wild beasts: they fedde him with grasse like oren, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till he knewe that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whosoever he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all this, O king, ingratitude to-could not be moved to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful work sheweth, that he doeth not sinne

23 But hast lift thy selfe up against the loide of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wives and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast played the gods of siluer and golde, of brasse, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vn-derstand: and the God in whose hande thy breath is, and all thy wayes, humbly thou hast not glorified.

24 Then was the palme of the hande sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written: MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHAKSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in a balance, and art found to be light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is deuised, and given to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of gold about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Chaldeans slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore & two yere old.

mour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel was made ruler over the gouernours. 5 An oath against Daniel. 16 His input into a denne of lyons by the commandement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels ascensers are put vnto the lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifies the God of Daniel.

1 I pleased Darius to set over the kingdome: an hundred and twentie gouernours, which should bee over the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, thre rulers (of whome Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accomptes vnto them, and the king should haue no damage.

3 Nowe this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the king thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they coulde finde none occasion nor fault: for hee was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault founde in him.

5 Then said these men, We shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the lawe of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the king, and sayde thus vnto him, King Darius, thus saye we.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king and to establish a statute, that whosoformer shall ac-ke a petition of any god or man for thirte dayes saue of the, O King, he shall be cast into the denne of lions.

8 Nowe, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel vnderstande that hee had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber towards Ierusalem, hee knelt vpon his knees thre times a day, and prayed and prayed his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and founde
Daniel praying, and making supplicatioon vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the king concerning the kings decree. Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any god or man within thirte dayes, saue to the, O King, shall be cast into the denne of lions? The king answered, & said, The thing is true,
according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and saide vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not the, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition thre times a day.

14 When the king heard these wordes, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: & he laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and saide vnto the king, vnderstand, O king, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be altered.

16 Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: nowe the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whome thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and laped vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, & remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cry-ed with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel,

g This declaration that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

h My iust cause and vengingnes in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approved of God. i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandment to obey God, and he did so much to the king, who ought to command no thing, whereby God should be dishonoured. k Because he committed himself wholly vnto God whose cause he did defende, he was suffering, that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Heb. 11. 33.

l This is a terrible example a punishment all wicked which do a.

gnaill their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes howe to punish such, when their wickednesse is come to light: though not in every point, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them. m This proueth not that Darius did worshippinge God right: for he was conuerted: for then he would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatrie, and not only giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to bee honoured according to his worlde: but this was a certayne confession of his power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. n Which hath not only life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beastes was shewed vnto Daniel.

8 The foure beastes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euill lasting kingdomes of this world.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnes after their leu-ty, as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliverance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore encouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vntoiled & reueiled, by whom they should haue a spiritual deliverance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonical kingdom.

1 In the first peece of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: then he wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake & said, I sawe in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon the great sea: And foure great beastes came by from the sea one euiler from another.

3 The first was as a lyon, and had rygles wings: I beholde, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted by from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

4 And beholde, another beast which was the seconde, was like a beare and stood vpon the one side: and hee had thre ribs in his mouth betwene his teeth, and they saide thus vnto him, Rise and deuoure much flesh.

5 After this I beholde, and lo, there was another like a leopard, which had vpon his backe foure winges of a foule: the beast had also foure paces, and doubtlesome came to their authori-

6 After this I saw in the visions by night, and beholde, the fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong: I had great pson recty: it deuoured and brake yet their wings in pieces and stamped the residue vnder his feete: and it was unlike to the Persians, beastes that were before it: for it had tenne hoines.

8 As I considered the hoines, behold, there came vpon among the another little hoine, before whome there were three of the first hoines pluckt away: and beholde, mean by mans heart.

d Meaning the Persians, which were barbarous & cruel. e They were small in the beginning, and were shut vp in their mountaines and had no brute. f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, & was insatiable. g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this means punished the ingratitude of the world. h Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonie. i That is, his foure chief captaiues, which had the empire among the after his death, Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander, and after him Antipater was king of Macedonie, and Ptolemey had Egypt.

k It was not of himselfe nor of his owne power that he gate all these countries: for his armie contended but thirty thousand men, and he ouercame in one battell Darius, which had ten hundred thousand, when he was so haue with sleepe that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. l That is, the Romane empire which was as a monster & could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying the tyranny and greedines of the Romanes. n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countries, they would giue it to other kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete. o That is, sundry & diuers provinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof every one might be compared to a king. p Which is meant, of Iulius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little home.

For Mahomet came not of the Romane empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment: therefore this cannot bee applied vnto them, and also in this prophetic the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole bodie of Antichrist. q Meaning, a certaine portion of the ten homes: that is, a part from the whole estate was plucked away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the liberty of choosing the deputies to send into the provinces, & tooke the gouernment of certaine countreys to himselfe.

1 These Ro-mane Emperors at the first vied a certaine humanities and gentleness, and were content that others, as the Cosuls and Senate should beare the name of dignity, so that they might haue the prifice, & therefore in elections and counsels would beuaue themselves according as did other Senators:
yet against their enemies & those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruel, which is here meant by the proud mouth.

f Meaning the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these monar-chies, which iudgement should begin at the first comming of Christ.
t That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandement. x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly reueyled by his Gospell. y Meaning, that he was astonished, when hee sawe these Emperours in such dignitie, and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the comming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to men of other nations. z As the three former Monar-chies had an ende at the time that God appoynted, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enjoy the promises. a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of Dauid according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie. b Towit, when hee ascended into the heauens, and his diuine maiestie appeared, and all power was gi-uen vnto him in respect of that that hee was our Mediatour.
c This is meant of the beginning of Christes Kingdome when God the father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that hee shoulde gouerne here his Church in earth continually till the time that hee brought them to eternall life.
d Through the strangeness of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as vers. 10.

in this home were: epos like the epos of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I behelde, till the r'chones were set vp, and the r' Ancient of dayes did sit, whole garment was white as snowe, and the heare of his head like the pure woul: his r'chone was like the fire flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 26 fire streame issued, and came forth from before him: thousandes thousandes minutred vnto him, and cent thousande thousandes stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the r' bookes opened.

11 Then I behelde, 7 because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the home spake: I behelde, euen till the brast was flaine, and his body destroied, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As concerning the other beastes, they had ran away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 As I behelde in visions by night, be-holde, a one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of daies, & they brought him before him.

14 And hee gaue him dominion, and po-uour, and a Kingdome, that all people, nations and languages shoulde serue him: his dominion is an euertlasting dominion, which shall neuer bee taken away: and his Kingdome shall neuer bee destroied.

15 I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto a one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so hee tolde mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are four, are four Kinges, which shall arise out of the earth,

18 And they shall take the Kingdome of the Saintes of the most high, & possesse the Kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this, I would knowe the truth of the fourth beast, which was so unlike to all the others, very fearful, whole body were of pyon, and his naipes of brasse:
which deuoured, brake in piere, and stamp-ped the residue vnder his feete.

20 Also to knowe of the ten hornes which were in his head, and of the other which came by, before whome they fell, & of the home that had eyes, & of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose looke was more stout then his fellows.

21 I behelde, and the same home made barrell against the Saintes, yea, and preuailed against them,

22 Untill the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saintes of troubles, the their affliction the most high: and the time approached, that the Saintes possessed the Kingdome.

23 Then he saide, The fourth beast shalbe the fourth Kingdome in the earth, which shall be unlike to all the Kingdomes, & shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in piere.

chies and lawes, and they shall be giuen shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the ende.

their Monarchies retained the for terme of life: also the Romans were the strongest of all other, & were neuer quiet among themperors, who were most cruel agaynst the Church of God both of the

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate.

20 The understanding of the vision.

1 In the thirde parte of the reigne of king Belthassar, a vision appeared unto me, even unto mine Daniel, after that which appeared unto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, & when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shulhan, which is in the pounce of Elam; and ma vision me thought I was by the river of Wlat.

3 Then I looked up and saw, and beholde; there stood before the river a ramme, which had two homes: and thier two homes were hie: but one was higher then another, and the hieft came by last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, & against the South: so that no branches might stand before him, nor could deliver out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, beholde, a goate came from the West over the whole earth, and touched not the ground: & this goate had an home that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came unto the ramme that had the two homes, whom I had seene standing by the river, and ranne unto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come unto the ramme, and being moved against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two homes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped upon him, and there was none that could deliver the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great home was broken: and for it came by foure that appeared towards the foure windes of the hearen.

9 And out of one of them came forth a little ribbed to him, which is ment by this home. h Alexander overcame Darius in two sundry battels, & so had the two kingdoms of the Medes & Persians.

i Alexander's great power was broke: for when he had overcome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them: y there had rebelled, & so died by the way. k That is, they were famous for almost in the space of fiftene yere there were fiftene diuers successours before this monarchie was decayed to the foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, & Ptolemeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a feruile & flattering nature, & also there were other betweene him & the kingdomes, & therefore where called a little home, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obtaine this kingdomes.

home, which waxed very great towards the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

10 Then it grew by unto the home of heaven, & it cast downe some of the hostes of heaven, & it cast downe some of the hostes of the earth, & it trode upon them.

11 And extolled himself against the prince of the hostes from whom the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And a time shall be given him over the daily sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall be cast downe the truth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the Saints speake unto the king, and one of the Saints spake unto a certain one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, & the mis who governeth quite of the desolation to tread both the sanctuary and the temple under foules feet?

14 And he answered me, Unto the times, & the times, & the morning, two thousand and three hundred: then shall the sanctuary be cleansed.

15 I know when Daniel had seene the vision, & sought for the meaning, beholde, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the banks of Wlat, which called and said, Gabriel, make this man to understand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood, and when he came, I was afraid, and fell upon my face: but he said unto me, Understand, & I will shew thee the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking unto me, I being a sleep fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me up in my place.

19 And he said, Beholde, I will shew thee what shall be in the last day: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest having two homes, are the kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goate is the king of Grecia, and the great home that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

22 And that that is broken, & foure homes by foure, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand up of that nation, but not in his strength.

23 And in the end of their kingdomes, when the rebellious shall be continued, a king of fierce countenance, and understanding his secret one, or a marvellous one.

x That is, the Jewes sinne, which were cause of this destruction. y That is, which superseth Gods religion, & his people. A Christ answered me for the comfort of the Church. a That is, until so many natural dayes be past, which make six yeres, three moneths and an halfe: for so long under Antiochus was the Temple profaned. b Which was Christ, who in this manner declared himselfe to old fathers how he would be God manifested in flesh. c This power to command the Angel, declared that he was God. d The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after.

e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should have against the Church. f That is, of Grecia. g They shall not have like power as had Alexander. h Noting that Antiochus was impudent and cruel, and also ascribe that he could not be deceived.

21 Pea, while I was speaking in paper, even I man Gabriel, whom I had seen before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give thee knowledge and understanding.

23 At the beginning of the supplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art great: be thou therefore understanding and understanding the vision.

24 Seventie weeks are determined upon thy people, & upon thyne holy city, to finish the week: distress, and to seal up the vision, and to reconcile the iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most holy.

25 Know therefore & understand, that from the going forth of the commandment to build againe the people, & to build Jerusalem, unto the Messiah the prince, shall be seven weeks, and three scores and two weeks, and the street shall be built againe, and the wall risen in a troublous time.

26 And after these two weeks, shall Messiah be slain, and shall have nothing, and the people of the prince that shall come, shall destroy the city and the sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood: and unto the end of the days tell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he shall confirm the covenant with many for one week: and in the midst of the week he shall cause the sacrifice & the oblation to cease, & for the overspreading of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, even until the consummation, wherein shall be poured upon the desolate.

28 There shall be the building of the Temple, are 62 weeks which make 434 years, which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple, unto the Baptism of Christ. 1. In the first week of the Temple, unto the Baptism of Christ. 2. In this last week of the sevenie shall Christ come and preach & suffer death. 3. He shall come to have no beauty, nor to be any estimation, as Isa. 53. 2. 4. Meaning, Titus, Vespasianus, who should come & destroy both the Temple & the people without all hope of recovery. 5. By the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promises, first to the Jews, & after to the Gentiles. 6. Christ accomplished this by his death & resurrection. 7. Meaning, that Jerusalem & the Sanctuary should be utterly destroyed, for their rebellion against God and their idolatry: or as some read, that the plague should be so great, that they shall all be alienated from it.

CHAP. X.

There appeared unto Daniel a man clothed in linen,

11 Which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

12 A third part of the king of Persia, a thing was revealed unto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) the word was true, but the time appointed was long, & he understood the thing, and had understanding of the vision.

2 He the same time, I Daniel was in Jerusalem for those weeks of days.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till those weeks of days were fulfilled.

4 And in the four & twentieth day of the first month, as I was by the side of that great river, even the Tigris,

5 And I lift up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man clothed in linen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of Byblos.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, & his face (to look upon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his arms and his feet were like in colour to polished brass, & the voice of his words as was like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare set upon them, so that they fled away and hid their faces.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, & there remained no strength in me: for my strength was turned in me into corruption, & I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, I fell on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand touched me, which set me up upon my knees & upon the palms of mine hands.

11 And hee said unto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak unto thee, and stand in thy place: for unto thee all this shall come. And when he had said this word unto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he unto me, Feare not, Daniel: for the first part that thou diddest see, thine heart hath understood, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the prince of the kingdom of Persia hath withstood me one and twenty days: but Michael one of the chief princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shew thee what shall come to thy people in the latter days: for the vision is for many days.

15 And when hee spake these words unto me, I set my face toward the ground, and heide my tongue.

16 And behold, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then was Michael, & I opened my mouth, and spake, and said Christ Iesus the unto him I stood before me, & my knees, head of Angels.

17 For the vision my sorowes are returned, & I have retained no strength.

18 For how can the servant of this my Lord stand with my knees being such one? for I am as for me, straightway there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

c Called Abdi, which cōteineth part of March & part of April.

d Being carried by the spirit of prophesie to have the sight of this vision.

e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophesie that followeth.

f The word also signifieth comelines, or beautes, so for feare he was like a dead man, for desolation.

g Which declareth that when we are stricken downe with the maile of God, we cannot rise, except the almighty hand of God be with us.

h Meaning Cambyses, who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not only for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would have farther rather, if God had, not sent me to resist him, and therefore have I stayed for the promise of the Church.

i Though God could by one angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children of his love, hee sendeth forth of his Church. 1 This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man, 2 I was overcome with feare and sorrow, when I saw the vision.

n He declareth hereby that god would be mercifull vnto the people of Israel.

o Which declareth that when God smiteth down his children, he doth not immediately lift them vp at once (for nowe the Angel had touched him twice) but by little and little.

p Meaning, that he would not onely himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyfes, but also ſ other kings of Persia by Alexander the king of Macedonia.

q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me.

19 And said, O man, greatly beloned, feare not: * peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto mee, I was strengthened, and sayde, Let my voyce speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then sayd he, Knowest thou wherefores I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: & when I am gone forth, loe, the prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: & there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your prince.

CHAP. XI.

A prophesie of the kingdoms, which shall be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 38 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romans.

Also I, in the first parte of Marius of the Hebrews, euen I, I stowe to incourage and to strengthen him.

2 And nowe will I shew thee the tenneth. Beholde, there shall stande vpon thee three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches hee shall stirre vp all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a mightie king shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when he shall stand vp, his kingdome shall be broken, and shall be deuised toward the foure winde of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdome shall be plucked vp, euen to be for others besides his.

5 And the king of the South shall be mightie, and one of his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and bear rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the ende of yeeres they shall be lopped together: for the Kings * daughters vp all the East countries to fight against the Grecians: & albeit he had in his armie nine hundred thousand me, yet in foure battels he was discomfited and fled away with shame. d That is, Alexander the great. e For when his estate was most flourishing, he ouercame himselfe with drinke, & so fell into a discafeor as some write, was poisoned by Cassander. f For his twelve chief princes first decided his kingdome among themselves. g After this his Monarchie was deuised into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdom of Macedonia, & Ptolemus Egypt. h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition & crueltie in causing his posteritie to be murdered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, & partly one of another. i None of these foure shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander. k That is, his posteritie hauing no part thereof. l To wit, Ptolemus king of Egypt. m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall be more mightie: for he should haue both Asia & Syria. n That is, Bernice the daughter of Ptolemus Philadelphus shall be giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this officine that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.

ter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but the strength that he shall not retaine the power of the * armie, continue: neither shall he continue, nor his armie: soon after hee but they shall be deliuered to death, and rice & her say they that brought her, and he: that brag some after her, and hee that comforted her in their husbands deaths.

7 But out of the budde of her * rootes shall Arscian Seleucus one stande vp in his trade, * which shall Calpinius * come with an armie, and shall enter into the * of Laodice, the fortress of the king of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile, Antiochus, but put away for this woman sake.

8 And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of silver and of golde, and he shall continue * nor perre then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his * sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one * shall come, and ouerflow, and passe through: then shall he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortress.

11 And the king of the South shall be angry, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: which brought for the shall set forth a great * multitude, her vp to the hand, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be poynde, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall resist downe thousandes: but hee shall not fall preuaile.

13 For the king of the North * shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come fourth (also father Philadelphus, should succeede in the)

14 And at the same time there shall * many stande vp against the king of the South: of some haue also the rebellious children of the * people: Bernice was, ple shall exalt themselves to establish the: To reuenge his sisters death.

15 So the king of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armie of the South shall of Syria. * not resist, neither his chosen people, n For this Prolemus reigned fixe and foure

16 But hee that shall come, shall doe vnto him as hee list, and none shall stande as * a Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus.

Antiochus * Great, the sonnes of Calpinius shall make warre against Ptolemus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus. y For his brother Seleucus dyed, or was slaine whyles the warres were preparing. z That is, Philopater when he shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also graue to invade Egypt. a For Antiochus had fixe thousand horsemen and three score thousand footemen. b After the death of Ptolemus Philopater, who left Ptolemus Epiphanes his sonne, but not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philippe King of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them. d For vnder Onias which falsly alledged that place of Isaiah, certaine of the Iewes retired with him into Egypt. e In this prophesie: also the Angell sheweth that all their enemies which are in the Church, are by the providence and counsel of God. f The Egyptians were not able to resist Seleucus his

7 Whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romans, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Attilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight & caused his shame to turne on his owne head. n By his wicked life and obeying of foolish counsell.
o For feare of the Romans he shall flee to his holdes. p For what is vnder the pretence of poutrie he would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, y countrey men slew him. q That is, Seleucus shall succcede his father Antiochus. r Not by forreine enemies, or battell, but by reason. f Which was Antiochus Epi-phanes, who as is thought, was y occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, & was of a vile, cruell & flattering nature, & defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, & vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people. t He sheweth y great forreine powers shall come to helpe the yong Iannes of Seleucus against his vnkle Antiochus, and yet shalbe ouerthrowen. u Meaning, Ptolemeus Philometor Philopatris sone, who was this childes cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the couenant, because hee was the chiefe, & all other followed his conduict. x For after the battell Philometor & his vnkle Antiochus made a league. y For he came practise against him.

26 Hea, thep that fed of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie shall ouerflowe: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these kings hearts shall be to do much chiefe, and thep shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auaple:
foj per the ende shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall he returne into his land with gainst the holy couenant: so shall hee doe and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

returne, and treat against the holy couenant: so shall hee doe, he shall euen returne and haue intelligence with them that foj take the holy couenant.

31 And Arimes shall stande on his parte, and thep shall pollute the Sanctuarie of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and thep shall set by the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly breake the couenant, shall hee cause to sinne by flatterie:
but the people that do knowe their God, shall ymenale and prosper.

knowing that all things are done by Gods providence. h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage he came against the people of God the secol time. i With the Iewes which shall forsake the couenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the high Priest, and this second time by Menelaus. k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall holde with Antiochus. l So called, because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant let vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympus, & so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God. m Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were nothing lesse: for they soule their soules, & betrayed their brethren for gaine. n They that remaine constant among the people, shall teach others by their example, & edifie many in the true religion. o Whereby he exhortheth the godly to constancie, although they should perish thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long. p As God will not leauise his Church destitute, veruill hee not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as he did in the time of the Maccabees whereof he here prophesie-
th. q That is, there shall be euen of this small number many hypocrites. r To wit, of them that feare God and will lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also, that the Church must continually be tryed and purged, & ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time:
therefore we must obey.

f Because the Angels purpose is to shewe the whole course of the persecutions of Christ, he now speaketh of the monarchy of the Romanes, which he noteth by the name of a king, who were without all religion and contemned the true God, e So long the tyrants shall preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time. u The Romanes shall obserue no certaine forme of religion another nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them & persecute them felues to their gods. x Signifying, y they should be without all humanity: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26. y That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power above all their gods, & worship it. z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their cite with y most precious iewels of al the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods & worshipped them in their temples, least they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame & riches: & when they gate any country, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profit euer came to y Romanes. b That is, both the Egyptians & Syrians shal at the length fight against y Romans, but they shal be overcome. c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes, that whē they should see the Romanes invade them, & that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but y all this was done by Gods providence, for as much as he warned them of it so long afore, & therefore he would still preferue them. d Hearing that Crassus was slaine & Antonius discomfited. e For Augustus overcame the Parthians, & recovered that which Antonius had lost. f The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countreys, and from sea to sea, & in Iudea: but at length for their crueltie God shall destroy them.

C H A P. XII.

1 Of the dislurance of the Church by Christ.

- 36 And the king shal do what him list: he shal exalt himselfe, & magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, & shal speake many wicked things against the God of gods, & shal prosper, till the wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.
- 37 Neither shal he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any god: for he shal magnifie himselfe above all.
- 38 But in his place shal hee honour the y god of Shazim, and the god whome his fathers knowe not, shal he honour with golde & with silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.
- 39 Thus shal he do in the holdes of Shazim with a strange god whom he shal acknowledge: he shal increase his glory, and shal cause them to rule over many, and shal dwindle the land for gaine.
- 40 And at the ende of time shal the king of the South pish at him, and the king of the North shal come against him like a whitelinde with chariots, & with hofesmen, and with many hippes, and he shal enter into the countreys, and shal ouerflowe and passe through.
- 41 He shal enter also into the pleasant lande, and many countreys shal be ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom & Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Minnon.
- 42 He shal stretch forth his hands also vpon the countreys, and the lande of Egypt shal not escape.
- 43 But he shal haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of silver, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libians, and of the blacke Moyes where he shal passe.
- 44 But the tpynges out of the East and the North shal trouble him: therefore he shal goe forth with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.
- 45 And he shal plant the tabernacles of his palace betwene the seas in the glorious & holp mountaine, yet he shal come to his ende, and none shal helpe him.

- 1 And at that time shal Michael stand a by, the great prince, which standeth for the children of the people, and there shal be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time the people shall be deliuered, eueri one that shal be found written in the booke.
- 2 And many of them that sleepe in dust of the earth, shal awake, some to euermaking life, & some to shame & perpetual conceit.
- 3 And they that be wise, shal shine, as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteousnesse, shal shine as the starrs, for euer and euer.
- 4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the words, & seale the booke: till the ende of the time: many shall runne to and fro, & knowledge shal be increased.
- 5 Then I Daniel looked, & beholde, there stood other two, the one on this side of the binke of the river, and the other on that side of the binke of the river.
- 6 And one saide vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the river, When shalbe the end of these wordes?
- 7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the river, whē he held vp his right hand, & his left hand vnto heauen, & sware by him that lieth vpon euer, y it shall vary for a time, two times & an halfe: & when he shal haue accomplished to scatter the power of y hostly people, all these things shal be finished.
- 8 Then I heard it, but I understood it not: then said I, O my lord, what shalbe the end of these things?
- 9 And he sate, & he said, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.
- 10 And I shal be purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shal do wickedly, & none of the wicked shal haue vnderstanding: but the wise shal vnderstand.
- 11 And from the time that the day of sacrifice shal be taken away, & the abominable desolation set vp, there shall be a thow yet keepe thou land, two hundred and thirtie dayes.
- 12 Blessed is he that waiteth and cometh to the thousand, thye hundredeth and five: till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things, and then many shall be saved.

Hosea.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtilie counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in steade of his true seruice commaunded by his worde worshipped him according to their owne fantasies & traditions of men, giuing themselves to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lorde from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefites. Therefore nowe when their prospectiue was at the height vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioath, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Iudaiees (as hee did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselves to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them baflards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of tenente yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse, & derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings only, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweetnesse of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall partes of the Lawe, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whome onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, he vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, & this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, eather by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Lawe containe these two poyntes, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements, and the manner.

CHAPTER I.

- 1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatry of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

He woyde of the Loyde that came into Golea þe sonne of Beer, in the dayes of a Wessiah, Jerham, Ihas, and Wessiah kings of Judah, and in the dayes of Jeroboam the sonne of Joash king of Isral.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said unto Hosea, Go, take unto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the Lord.

3 So he went, and tooke^d Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name ^o Israel: for yet a litle, and I will visit the blood of Israel upon the house of Iehū, and wil cause to cease the kings dome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the halles of Israel.

6 Shee conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, & God sayde vnto him, Call her name^b Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more have pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I will utterly i take them away.

But I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and will ^ksaue them by the Lord their God, & will not saue them by holwe, nor by sword nor by battel, by hoyses, nor by hoysenmen.

Nowe when she had waigned Io-rubas-mah, she conceived, and bare a sonne.

Then sayd God, Call his name I Io-ammi : for pe are not imp people : therefore will I not be pour.

¶ Per the number of the ^m children of Israel shall be as the sands of the sea, which cannot be measured nor told: and in the place where it was sayde unto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be sayde unto them, Ye are the sons of the living God. ¶ Then shall the children of Judah, & the children of Israel be ⁿ gathered together, and appoint themselves one heade, and they shall come by out of the lande: for great is the ^d day of Israel.

h That is, not obtaining mercie : whereby he signifieth, that Gods fauour was departed from them.

in his promises except he had preferred them, hee declareth, that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the fionnes of the promises, should be without nũber, which stand both of the Iewes and the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 26. n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored : but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles. o The calamitie & destruction of Iſrael shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

Diblaim cluſters of figs, declaring, that they were all corrupt like rotten figges. e Meaning, that they should be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did presently be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreal, which was y chief citie of y ten tribes vnder Abah, where Ishubalee so much blood, 2. King. 10. 8, 11. f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood, that hee shedde in Izreal: for albeith God f freed him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the ende declared: for he buylt up that idolatrie, which he had destroyed.
g Where the measure of their iniquitie is full, and, 1. I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force,

c Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16. 25.

d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparel & dowrie and certain signes of his fauour, but if they continued still, he would vterly destroy them.

e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16. 4.

f That is, bastards, & begotten in adulterie. g Meaning, the idoles which they serued and by whome they thought they had wealth and abundance.

h I will punish thee that then thou mayest trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such streightnes, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.

i This he speaketh of y^e faithfull which are truly conuer- ted, and also sheweth the vse and profite of Gods rods.

k This declar- eth that idola- ters defraude God of his ho- nour, when they attribute his benefites to their idoles. l Signify- ing that God will take away his benefites whē man by his ingrati- tude doth abuse them. m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies & inuentions whereby she worshipped her idoles. n I will punish her for her idolatrie. o By shewing how harlots trim themselves to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselves on their holy- dayes. p By my benefites in offering her grace and mercie, euen in that place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort. q Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderness, as Iosh. 7. 26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life. r She shall then pray, se God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

with her: for shee is not my wife, neyther am I her husband; but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries: & from betwene her breasts, & from betwene her thighs, and let her as in the day that shee was borne, and make her as a wilderness, and leaue her like a drye land, and slap her for thyrt.

4 And I will haue no pittie vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications. 5 For their mother hath played the harlot: she that couered them, hath done shame fully: for shee sayde, I will goe after my louers that giue mee my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore beholde, I will stoppe her way with thornes, and make an hedge, that she shall not finde her pathes.

7 Though she followe after her louers, yet shall they not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall they not finde them: then shall she say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Nowe shee did not knowe that I gaue her coine, and wine, and oyle, and multi- plied her siluer and golde, which they be- stowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, and take as way my coine in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent, to cou- ner her shame.

10 And nowe will I discouer her lewd- nes in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will also came all her mirch to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feastes.

12 And I will destroye her vines and her figge trees, whereof shee hath made, these are my rewardes that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a for- rest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them.

13 And I will visite vpon her the dapes of Baalim, wherein shee burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her earrings & her iewels, and shee followed her louers, and forgaue me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore beholde, I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendship vnto her.

15 And I will giue her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall say, I sing there as in the dapes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me 'My', and shalt call mee no more 'Baal'.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, & they shall no more be remembered by their names.

18 And in that day will I make a cove- nant for them, with the wilde beasts, and with the fowles of the heauen, & with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bow, and the sword, and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marrie thee vnto me for euer: pea, I will marrie thee vnto me in righteousness, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion.

20 I will euen marrie thee vnto me in faithfulness, & thou shalt know I am the Lord.

21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare the heauens, and they shall heare the earth,

22 And the earth shall heare the coigne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Israel.

23 And I will sow her vnto me in flax, & I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pittie, and I will say to them which were not my people, 'Thou art my people.' And they shall say, 'Thou art my God.'

CHAP. III.

1 The Lewes shall cast off their idolatrie. 2 Af- terward they shall returne to the Lord.

1 Then said the Lord to me, 'Goe pet, & loue a woman (beloued of her hus- band, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord towards the chil- dren of Israel: pet they looked to other gods, and I loued the wine bottles.'

2 So I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barlie and an halfe homer of barlie.

3 And I sayde vnto her, 'Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be to thee.'

4 For the children of Israel shall remaine many dayes without a king, & without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, & without an Ephod and without Teraphim.

5 Afterwardes shall the children of Israel conuert, & seke the Lord their God, and Dauid their king, & they shall feare the Lord, and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

1 Of the vices and wantonnes of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

1 When I woulde haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednes of Samaria: for they haue belied salp:

and ^a the thafe cometh in, and the robbet spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their heartes, that I remember all their wickednes: now their owne inuentions haue deler them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the ^b king glad wth their wickednes, and the princes with their impietie: they are all adulterers, and as a bery open heate by the baker, which cracketh from rapsing by, and from kneading the dough until it be leauened.

4 This is the ^c day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to strangers.

5 For they haue made reddie their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth at the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

6 They are all hore as an ouen, and haue deuoured their indiges: all their kinges are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

7 Ephraim hath ^d mist him selfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

8 Strangers haue denoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: pea, a grap beares are here & there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

9 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they do not returne to the Lord their God, nor seke him for all this.

10 Ephraim also is like a doue decremed, without ^e heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Asihur.

11 But when they shal goe, I will spread my nette vpon them, and drawe their downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as their ^f congregation hath heard.

13 And they haue not crept vnto me with their heartes, wher they howled vnto their beds: they assemble theiuelus for coine and wine, and they rebel against me.

14 Though I haue bound, & strengthened their arme, yet do they imagine mischief against me.

they ſhall reape the whirlwinde: it hath no ſtalke: the budde ſhall bring forth no meales: if ſo be it dying forth, the ſtrangers ſhall denoure it.

Iſrael to denounce, nowe ſhall they be among the Gentiles as a veſſell wherein is no pleaſure.

For they are gone by to Aſhur: they are as a wilde aſſe alone by himſelfe: Ephai-m hath hired louers.

Yet though they haue hired among the nations, nowe will I gather them, and they ſhall ſorrow a little, for the burden of the king, and the princes.

Becauſe Ephaiim hath made many altars to ſinne, his altars ſhall be ſinne.

I haue written to them the great things of my lawe: but they were counted as a ſtrange thing.

Theſe ſacrifices fleſh for the ſacrifices of wine offerings, and eate it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and viſite their ſinnes:
they ſhall returne to Egypt.

For Iſrael hath forgotten his maker, and buſied himſelfe in temples, and Iudah hath increaſed ſtrong cities: but I will ſend a fire vpon his cities, and it ſhall denoure the palaces thereof.

Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no ſervice, which he himſelfe hath not appointed.

C H A P. I X.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Iſrael.

Reioyce not, O Iſrael for ſop, as other people: for thou haſt gone a whoring from thy God: thou haſt loued a reward vpon every come floore.

The haue, and the womeneſſe ſhall not ſee them, & the new wine ſhall faile in her.

They will not dwell in the Iordans land, but Ephaiim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Aſhur.

They ſhall not offer wine to the Lord, neither ſhall theſe ſacrifices be pleaſant vnto him: but they ſhall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eat thereof, ſhall be polluted: for the bread for their ſoules ſhall not come into the houſe

of the Lord.

What will he doe then in the ſolemn day, & in the day of the feaſt of the Lord?

For ſo, they are gone from deſtruction:
but Egypt ſhall gather them vp, & Ephai-m ſhall burie them: the nettles ſhall poſſeſſe the pleaſant places of their ſiluer, and the thorne ſhall be in their tabernacles.

The dayes of viſitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Iſrael ſhall knowe it: the prophet is a ſoule: the ſpiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

The watchman of Ephaiim ſhould be wary vnto God: but the prophet is the ſnare of a ſouler in all his wayes, and hated in the houſe of his God.

They are deſperet: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will viſite their ſinnes.

I found Iſrael like graves in the wilderneſſe: I ſaw pour fathers as the fiſt ripe in the figge tree at her fiſt time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and ſeparated themſelves vnto that ſhame, and their abominations were according to their loners.

Ephaiim their glory ſhall ſle away like a bird: from the birth, and from the wombe, and from the conception.

Though they bring up their children,
yet I will deſpise them from being men:
yea, wo to them, when I depart from them.

Ephaiim, as I ſaw, is as a tree: in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephaiim ſhall bring forth his children to the muſether.

Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a barren wombe and dry breaſts.

All their wickedneſſe is in Gilgal: for there do I hate them: for the wickedneſſe of their inventions, I will caſt them out of mine houſe: I will loue them no more:
all their princes are rebels.

Ephaiim is ſmitten, their roote is dried by: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I ſlay enen the beareſt of their bodyes.

God will caſt them away, becauſe they did not obey him: and they ſhall wander among the nations, ſundry meanes, & ſo conſume them by little and little. o As they kept tender plants in their houſes in Tyrus to preſerue the from the colde ayre of the ſea, ſo was Ephraim at the fiſt vnto me, but nowe I will giue him to the ſlaughter. p The Prophet ſeeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren rather then that this great ſlaughter ſhould come vpon their children. q The chiefe cauſe of their deſtruction is, that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

2 Their heart is deubred: now shall they be founde faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, We haue no king because we feared not the Lord: and what should a king do to vs?

4 They haue spoken wordes, swearing falsely in making a covenant: thus iudgement groweth as woiuewood in the furrowes of the field.

Ioel.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly he threatneth greater plagues, because they grewe dayly to a more hardnes of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, & proceede from the heart because they had grievously offended God. And so doing, he promitteth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his covenant that he made with their fathers: but will sende his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life, and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A propheticall against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting, for the miserie that was at hand.

3 He worde of the Loyde that came to Ioel the sonne of Phethuel.

4 Heare ye this, O Elders, & hearken ye all inhabitants of the lande, whether such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

5 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shewe to their children, and their children to another generation.

6 That which is left of p palmers woyme, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of the grasshopper hath the canker woyme eaten, and the residue of the canker woyme hath the caterpillar eaten.

7 Awake ye drunkards, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

8 Behold, a nation cometh vpon my land, mightie, & without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the talues of a great lion.

9 He maketh my vine waste, and pulleth off the barks of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

10 He poureth like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.

11 The meate offering, and the drinke offering to cut off from the house of the Loyde: the priests the Loyds ministers mourne.

12 The felde is wasted: the lande mourneth: for the coyne is destroyed: & the newe wine is dried up, and the ople is decayed.

13 We be ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers for the winter, and for the barley, because the harner of the felde is perished.

14 The vine is dried up, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palm tree, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the felde are withered: surely the hope is withered away from the sonnes of men.

15 O woe your selues & lament, ye priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

16 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the lande into the house of the Loyde your God, & cry vnto the Loyde.

17 Alas for the day, for the day of the Loyde is at hand, and it cometh as a destruction from the Almighty.

18 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and is not the gladness from the house of our God?

19 The seed is rotten under their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the coyne is withered.

20 How did the beasts mourne: the herds of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

21 O Loyde, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt up all the trees of the felde.

22 The beasts of the felde crie also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried up, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness.

CHAP. II.

He prophesieth of the coming and crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moue them to contrite. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

1 Blowe the trumpet in Zion, & shout in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Loyde is come: for it is at hand.

2 A day of darkness, and of blacknesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spied vpon the mountaines, so and trouble is there: a great people, and a mightie: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, vnto the last of many generations.

3 A fire denoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the lande is as the garden of Eden before him, and behind him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of hoyses, and like the hoysen men, so shall they runne.

5 Like the noise of charrets in the toppes of the mountaynes shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that denoureth the stubble, and as a nightie people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blacknesse.

7 They shall runne like the strong men, and go vp to the wall like men of warre, & euery man shall go forward in his waies, and they shall not flap in their paths.

8 Neither shall one trust another, but euery one that walk in his path: and when they fall vpon the swoorde, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall runne to and fro in the citie: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the boules, and enter in at the windowes like the thiefe.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shall be darke, and the starres shall withhold their shining.

11 And the Lord shall utter his voyce before his host: for his host is very great: for he is strong that doeth his woordes: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now the Lord sape, turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning,

13 And in your heart, & not pour clothes: and tume vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repeneth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth, if he will returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, even a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blowe the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the elders: assemble the children, & those that sucke the breasts: let the hydecome go forth of his chamber, and the hyde out of her hyde chamber.

17 Let the priests, the ministers of the Lord worke betwix the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, & giue not thine heritage into reproche that the heathen shoulde rule ouer them. Wherefore shouldest thou say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be ielous ouer his land and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answer & say vnto his people, Beholde, I will send pou coyre, and twine, and oyle, and pou shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make pou a reproche among the heathen.

20 But I will remoue farre off from pou

the Assyrien army, and I will visite him into a lande, barren and desolate with his Syrians, your enemies toward the sea, and his end to mics.

21 The vniuersall sea, & his smoke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he sea, or Persian hath exalted him selfe to do this.

22 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

23 Be not afraid, ye dealers of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figtree and the vine doe giue their foyle.

24 We glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for he hath giuen pou the raine of righteousness, and he will cause to come downe pou the raine, even the first raine, & the latter raine in the first moneth.

25 And the barnes shall be full of wheat, and the vyeses shall abound with wine and oyle.

26 And I will render pou as piers that the grasshopper hath eaten, the cater wouine, & the caterpillar and the palmer wouine, in great host which I sent among pou.

27 So pou shall eate, and be satisfied and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt maruailously with pou: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 For I shall also knowe, that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

29 And afterward will I poure out my Spirit vnto all flesh: and your sonnes & your daughters shall prophete: your old men shall dreame dreames, and your young men shall see visions.

30 And also vpon the seruantes, and vpon the maides in those dayes will I poure out my Spirit.

31 And I will shewe wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

32 The sunne shall be turned into darkness, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

33 But whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord, shall be saved: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem shall be deliuerance, as the Lord hath sayd, and in the remnant, whome the Lord shall call.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his a While I shall deliuer my church,

1 I shall beshold in those daies and in that which I shall deliuer the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem, of the Gentiles.

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into the valley of that beareth great victory of Iehoshaphat, when as God wout mans help destroyed the enemies, 2. Chron. 20. 26. also he hath respect to this worde Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge his enemies of his Church as he did there,

5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bethath-aurim: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-edon, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saierh the Lord, For thine transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut the vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I sende a fire vpon the walles of Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Aihelon, and him that holdeth the scepter from Aihelon, and turne mine hande to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 I thus saith the Lord, For thine transgressions of Cyprus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut h whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not redeemed the brotherly covenant.

10 Therefore will I sende a fire vpon the walles of Cyprus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 I thus saith the Lord, For thine transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast off all pitie, and his anger spoiled him euermore, a his wrath watched him alway.

12 Therefore will I sende a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 I thus saith the Lord, For thine transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue ript vp h women with childe of Seilah, that they might enlarge their boyer.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Kabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a trumpet in the day of the whirlewinde.

15 And their king shall goe into captiuitie, hee and his princes together, saierh the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Judah, and Israel.

1 Thus saith the Lord, For thine transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burne the bones of h king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sounde of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 I thus saith the Lord, For thine transgressions of Judah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the lawe of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandments, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Judah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 I thus saith the Lord, For thine transgressions of Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they sold h righteous for silver, and the poore for thores.

7 They gaue ouer the head of the poore in the buik of the eare, and peruert the wapes of the iurke: and a man and his father will goe in to a maide to dishonour mine holy name.

8 And they lye downe vpon clothes layde to pledge by euery altar: a they binke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I h Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oke: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruite from above, and his roote from beneath, sacrificing, and

10 Also I brought you vp from the lande of Egypt, and led you fourtie paces this altar, they may rouse the wilbernesse, to possesse the lande of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of pour somes for Moab, and of pour poungurs for Moab, rites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to binke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Beholde, I am perssed vnder you as a cart is perssed that is full of heaues.

14 Therefore the right that perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen h his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

15 Moab hee that handleth the bowe, shall stande, and he that is swift of foot, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the boyle, saue his life.

16 And hee that is of a mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

my benefites and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets. k You haue wearied me with your finnes, Isa. 1. 14. l None shall bee deliuered by any means.

CHAP. III.

Against the house of Israel of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will pu with them.

1 Hence this woide that the Lord pronounced against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the lande of Egypt, saying,

2 You onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they bee agreed?

4 Will a lion roare in the forest, when he hath no pray? or will a lions whelp cry guideth and moueth him, which is called h agreement betweene God and his Prophets. e Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

c. If he spare not Judah vnto who his promises were made,

much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdom.

d. They esteemed most vile the bribes more then mens liues.

e. When they haue spoyled him and throwe him to y ground, they gaue for his life.

f. Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrifices, and being nere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickedness.

g. They spoyled others and offered thereof vnto God, thinking, that he will dispence with the, when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

h. The destruction of their enemies, and his mercie to haue them, he should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue towards him.

i. Ye continued to be disobedient to me, and ye did not hearken to my voice, saith the Lord.

k. You haue wearied me with your finnes, Isa. 1. 14.

l. None shall bee deliuered by any means.

a. I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, & yet you haue forsaken me.

b. Hereby the Prophet signifieth h he speake-theth not of him selfe, but as God guideth and moueth him, which is called h agreement betweene God and his Prophets. e. Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

d Can any thing come without Gods providence? e Shall his threatenings be in vain? f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods judgments and the people not be afraid? g Doth any aduersitie come without Gods appointment? Isa. 45. 7. h God dealeth not with the Israelites as hee doth with other people: for hee euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets. i Because y people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth y Gods Spirit moued them so to speak as they did. k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistines & Egyptians to be witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their crueltye and oppression. l The fruites of their crueltye & theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses. m When the lyon hath faciate his hunger, the shephearder findeth a legge or a tippie of an eare, to shewe that the sheepe haue bene woned. n Where they thought to haue had a sure holde, and to haue bene in safetie.

CHAP. III.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

a Thus he calleth y princes & gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with y great abundance of Gods benefites, forgate God, & therefore he calleth them by the name of beastes and not of men. b They incourage such as haue authoritie ouer y people, to poule them, in so y they may haue profit by it. c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes & thornes. d He speaketh this in contempt of them which reformed to these places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intention had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them.

1 H Eare this worde, ye kine of Basan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppress the poore, and destroy the iustice, and then say to their masters, y Bazing and let vs drinke. 2 The Lord God hath swayne by his holines, that lo, y daies shall come vpon you, y he will take you away with y thornes, and pour posteritie with fish hookes. 3 And ye shall go out at the breaches euery kowe forwarde: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord. 4 Come to Beth-el, and transgresse: to haue authoritie ouer y people, to poule them, in so y they may haue profit by it. c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes & thornes. d He speaketh this in contempt of them which reformed to these places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intention had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them.

Basan, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and pour tithes after the y peres. 5 And offer a thanksgiving of leauen, publicly and vproclaime the free offerings for this slieth you. 6 And therefore haue I giuen you y cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenes of bread in all your places, ye haue pee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. 7 And also I haue withholden the rayne from you, when there were yet tithes y moneths to y harvest, & I caused it to raine vpon one cite, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another cite: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered. 8 So two or three cities wandied vnto one cite to drinke water, but they were not satisfied: ye haue pee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. 9 I haue smitten you with blasting & mildew: your great gardens and your vineyardes, & your figge trees, and your olive trees did y palmer woynie decaure: ye haue pee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. 10 Perillence haue I sent among you, after the manner of Egypt: your pong mir haue I flaine with the sword, and haue taken away your holies: & I haue made the stinke of your tentes to come by euery into your nostrils: ye haue pee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. 11 I haue overthiowen you, as God ouerthiowen Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a fire brand pluckt out of the burning: ye haue pee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. 12 Therefore, thus will I doe vnto the, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto the, prepare to meete the God, O Israel. 13 For loe, hee y foymeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declarerth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, & walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his name.

CHAP. V.

Alamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

1 H Eare ye this worde, which I lift by you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel. 2 The virgine Israel is fallen, and shal no more rise: she is left vpon her lande, and there is none to raise her vp. 3 For thus saith the Lord God, The cite which went out by a thousand, shall leaue forth by an hundred, & that which went forth by an hundred, shall leaue reme to the house of Israel. 4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, I haue pe me, and ye shall lue. 5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captiuitie, & Beth-el shall come to nought. 6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shall lue, leaue ye breakes faue them.

e Reade Deut. 14. 28. f As Leuit. 23. 10. g You only drinke in the countie in the countie. h That is, lacke of bread and meate. i I stande y raine till the fruites of the earth were destroyed with drought, & ye you would me consider it to me to me by repentance. k They could not finde water. l Your yongh, where they had bene. m You would most all commed, and a first fully premed. n Turne to him by repentance. o He so collecteth the because they so boalled of the felices, or because they were past to wantonnesse and decauence. b Meaning that the tenth part should scarce be faued. c In their places they worshipped newe idoles, which afferent ferued for the true honour of God: therefore he sayeth that these shall not be faue them.

cisful vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

Lord sayeth thus, spourning shall be in nes, and not light: euen darkenes and not light in it?

and I will not smelle in þour solenne as-semblies.

and meate offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of þour fat beastes.

tude of thy songs: for I will not heare the melodie of thy vioules.

ters, & righteousnes as a mightie riuier.

house of Israel came to them.

1 Threatnings against the Temple, 2 And against Ierusalem. 11 The restoring of the Church.

a Which was at Ierusalem: for he appeared not in the holocaust place of Israel. b Both i chiefs of them and also the common people. c He sheweth that God will declare himselfe enemy vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shall be enemies to destroy them. d He declareth the wonderfull power of God, by the making of the heauens & the Elements, that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he punisheth.

2 And though they digge into the hell, thence shall mine hand take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe. 3 And though they hide their selues in the toppes of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottomes of the sea, thence will I commaund the serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie befoe their enemies, thence will I commaund the sworde, and it shall slay them: and I will set mines eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lorde God of hostes shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein, shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholp like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his spheres in the heauen, & hath layde the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the sea, & pouereth them out vpon the open earth: the Lorde is his name.

7 Hee pe not as the Ethiopians vnto me, blacke Mores? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefites.

8 Children of Israel, saith the Lorde, haue not I brought vp Israel out of the lande of Egypt? and the Philistines from Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

9 Beholde, the eyes of the Lorde God, are vpon the sinnersfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuer thelesse I will not utterly destroy the house of Iacob, saith the Lorde.

10 For so, I will commaund & I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the least stone fall vpon the earth.

11 But all the sinners of my people shall die by the sworde, which say, The euill shall not come, nor haften for vs.

12 In that day will I raise vp the tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and shoulde perish in close vpon the breaches thereof, and I will raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of olde.

Obadiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Idumeans, which came of Esau, were mortal enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iacob, and therefore did not onely vex them continually with sundrie kindes of cruelty, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had nowe determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vex them, and to sende them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

1 The vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lorde God against Edom, We haue heard a rumour from the Lorde, and an ambassador is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battel.

2 Behold, I haue made thee final among the heathen: thou art utterly despised.

3 Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

4 The pride of thine heart hath deceined thee: thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rocks, whose habitation is high, that sayest, I will not be moued, for I haue said, I will not be brought downe to the ground.

5 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, & shalt make thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lorde.

6 Come thence to thee o robbers by night of world. d God will so destroy them, he will leave none, though they come, when they come, take but til they haue ynough, and they that gather grapes euer leave some behinde them, Iere. 49.9.

k Meaning, that the plowman shall i touche the very enemy-mower, and the treader of grapes him, as were the that soweth seede: and the mountaines Edomites and shall be dioppe swete wine, and all the hills shall melt.

a God hath certainly reuiled to his Prophets that he will raise vp the heathen to destroy the Idumeans, where- of the rumor is now published, Iere. 49.14. b Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

e They in whom thou diddest trust, for to have helpe & friendship of them, shalbe thine enemies and destroy thee.

 8 Shall not I in that day, sayth the Lord, enen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?
 9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall bee afraide, because eury one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter.
 10 For thy crueltie against thy brother Iacob, thine shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

 13 Thou shouldst not haue entered into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldst thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layd hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

15 For the day of the Lords is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue drunk vpon mine holp Pountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallowe vp, and they shall be as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shalbe deliuerance, and it shalbe holp, and the house of Iacob shall possess their possession.

18 And the house of Iacob shalbe as a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kinde in them and deuoure them, and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they that possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistines: and they that possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, & the fieldes of Samaria, and Benjamin shall haue Ierusalem.

20 And the captiuitie of this holle of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Asraphath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

Ionah.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Ionah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little profited, God gaue him expresse charge to go, and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe cite of the Assyrians, because he had appointed, that they which were of the heathen should conuert by the mightie power of his worde, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lorde for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Iosh, and Ieroboam, as a King. 14. 25.

3 Ionah fledde when hee was sent to preach, 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

I The word of the Lord came also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying, Arise, and go to Nineueh.

¶ After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had prophesied in Iuda, hee had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1. 1. b For seeing the great oblation of the Israelites, he sent his prophet to the Gentiles, that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe cite of the Assyrians.

Chap. 4. 1. d Whereby he declared his weakness, that would not promptly follow the Lords calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which perswaded him, y he should nothing at all profite there, seeing he had done so little good among his owne people. 10 And God sawe their workes that they turned from their euil wayes: and God repented of the euil he had said he would do vnto them, & he did it not.

CHAP. III.

The great goodness of God toward his creatures.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God which he preached, should be blasphemed.
b Reade Chap. 1.3.
c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods name by this forgiveness might bee blasphemed, as though he sent his Prophetes forth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.
d Wilt thou be iudge when I do things for my glory, and when I do not?

Therefore it displeased a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry.
And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I prevented it to flee vnto Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euil.
3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseeche thee, my life: from mee: for it is better for me to die then to liue.
4 Then said the Lord, Dost thou well to be angry?
5 As though he sent his Prophetes forth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.
d Wilt thou be iudge when I do things for my glory, and when I do not?

So Ionah went out of the citie and late on the East side of the citie, & there made him a boote, and late vnder it in the shadow: till he might see what shoulde be done in the citie.
6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, & made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a shadow ouer his head, & belittle him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.
7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd, that it withered.
8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, that he fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to dye, then to liue.
9 And God smote vnto Ionah, Dost thou well to be angry for a gourd? And he said, I do well to be angry vnto the death.
10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pittie on the gourd for which thou hast not laboured, neyther madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night.
11 And shoulde I not spare Ninineh that great citie, wherein are five score thousand persons, that I cannot discern to God, betwene their right hands, and their left hands, and also much cattell?
12 Wherein would pittie himselfe and this people, and would refrain God to shewe his compassion to so many thousand people.

Micah.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah serued in the worke of the Lorde, concerning Iudah and Israel, at the least thirtie yeeres: at what time Isaiah prophesied. Hee declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednesse, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this ende he noteth the wickednes of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the false prophetes, & the delighting in them. Then he setteth forth the comming of Christ, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisteth Ahab, & all his false prophetes, as 1 king. 22.8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatrie.

a Some in Mes-siah a citie of Iudah.
b Because of the malice, and obstinacie of the people whome he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he stimulated them to gods iudgements: taking all creatures, and God him selfe to witness, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abused, shall be reuenged.
c Meaning hereby that God will come to iudgment against the strong cities and holdes.

1 The word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the Bethlethite in the daies of Iotham, Ahaz, & Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which he sawe concerning Samaria & Jerusalem.
2 Heare, O all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord be witnesse against you, euen the Lord from his holie Temple.
3 For behold, the Lord cometh out of his place, & will come: downe, & treade vpon the hye places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleaue) as ware before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downeward.
5 For the wickednes of Iacob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iacob? Is not Samaria? and which are the hye places of Iudah? Is not Jerusalem?
6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vinegarde, and I will cause the stones thereof to rumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.
7 And all the graven images thereof shall be broken, and all the gyfts thereof shall be euil practises, and thought that their idoles had enricht them therewith for their seruice vnto them, burnt.

1 The gains that came by their idols, shall be counted as a thing of naught: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.

2 Least the Philistines our enemies rejoice at our destruction, i Which was a dire secret to Jerusalem, Jeru. xl. 22, these called Ophrah, and signified dust: therefore he willeth them to mourn, and route themselves in the dust, for their dustie cite.

3 Their were slain whereby Iemie should pisse in he came to Iudah, 1 He shall none depart before he hath overcome you, and so you shall pay for his trying.

4 For Babylonek had shut vp Jerusalem, that they could not fend to succour them. n To flee away: for Saneherib laide fire first to that cite, and remained therein when he sent his captaines, and armie against Jerusalem. o Thou first receyvedst the idolatrie of Ieroboaum, and so didst infect Jerusalem. p Thou shalt brybe the Philistines thy neighbours, who they shall decieve thee, as well as they of Jerusalem. q He prophecieth against his owne cite, and because it signified an heritage, he saith that God would sende an heire to possesse it. r For so they thought themselves for the strength of their cite.

burst with the fyre, & all the doores thereof of will I destroy: for he gathered it of the type of an harlot, and they shall returne s to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will go without clothes, & naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemy is come unto the gate of my people, unto Jerusalem.

10 Declare ye it not at Gath, neither weep ye: for the house of Ephraim roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at Shaphir, go together naked with shame: he that dwelleth at Raanan, shall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-el: the enemy shall receive of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Sparoth wept for good, but will come from the joye unto the gate of Jerusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Achish, bynde the chariot to the beasts: of pyce: the beginning of the shame to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou give presentes to Spaheth: Gath: the houses of Achish shall be as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an hepe unto thee, O inhabitant of Sparoth, he shall come unto Buzian, the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee bald: and shane thy for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the eagle, for they are gone into captivity from thee.

17 For Babylonek had shut vp Jerusalem, that they could not fend to succour them. n To flee away: for Saneherib laide fire first to that cite, and remained therein when he sent his captaines, and armie against Jerusalem. o Thou first receyvedst the idolatrie of Ieroboaum, and so didst infect Jerusalem. p Thou shalt brybe the Philistines thy neighbours, who they shall decieve thee, as well as they of Jerusalem. q He prophecieth against his owne cite, and because it signified an heritage, he saith that God would sende an heire to possesse it. r For so they thought themselves for the strength of their cite.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatning against the wanton and deintie people, 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

1 W unto the, that imagine misquitie, & worke wickednes vps on their beddes: when the morning in light they practise it because their hande hath power.

2 And they cover fildes, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, even man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this familie have I devised a plague, wherout ye shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not go so proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take by a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and saye, We be utterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: howe hath he taken it away to resioie it unto one? he hath deuinded our fildes.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall call a coser by lot in the Congregation of the Lord.

6 They that prophesied, prophesie prenot. They shall not prophesie to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iacob, is the Spirit of the Lord shone? are these his workes? are not my wayes good vnto him? that walketh by right?

8 But he that was better day my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemy: they spole the beautiful garment from the that passe by peaceably, as though they returned fro the warre.

9 The women of my people haue pee call out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue pe taken away my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, even with a voyce destruction.

11 If a man walke in the Spirit, and would speake softly, saying, I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, hee shall euen bee the prophete of this people.

12 I will surely gather the wholly, & time. Iacob: I will surely gather p remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, even as the flocke in the muddes of their folde: the oxies shall be full of butyre of the morn.

13 The breaker vp shall come by despite: they shall breake out, and passe mics, by the gate, & go out by it, and their king shall go before them, and the joye shall be vpon their heades.

as it were, part of his glory. 1 Jerusalem shall not be your safeguard: but the cause of your destruction. m That is, how himselfe to be a Prophet. n He sheweth what prophets they desire in that is, in flatterers, which tel them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities. o To destroy thee. p The enemy shall breake their gates and walles, and leade them into Caldea, q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrants of princes and false prophets.

1 Ad I sayde, Heare, I sayd pou, O heads of Iacob, and pe princes of the house of Israel: shoulde not ye know i iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and lone the euill: they plucke off their skinned from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they rate also the flesh of my people, and flap of their skinned from them, and they brake their bones, and choppe them in peeces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then shall they cry vnto the Lord, but he will not heare them: hee will euen hide their face from them at that time, des ther, but because they haue done wickedly in their teeth them to wolves, lions, & most cruel beasts. e That is, whē I shall visite their wickednes: for though I heare i godly before they cry, Isa 65. 24, yet I will not heare thes though they cry, Isa. 1. 15, ezek 8. 1, ier. 23. 3, 1 pet. 3. 11, 12.

5 That thing is lawful, both to gouerne my people angir, & also to discharge your owne conscience. b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernours, not onely of couetousnes, but also of theft and murder, but because they haue done wickedly in their teeth them to wolves, lions, & most cruel beasts. e That is, whē I shall visite their wickednes: for though I heare i godly before they cry, Isa 65. 24, yet I will not heare thes though they cry, Isa. 1. 15, ezek 8. 1, ier. 23. 3, 1 pet. 3. 11, 12.

both gaue him giftes, habilitie and knowledge to discern betweene good, and euill, and also constancie to reprove the finnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They build them houses shall bee exalted above the hills, and people shall flowe vnto it.

3 And hee shall iudge among many peo-off, and they shall bryake their swoydes into mattocks, and their speares into sickles: nation shall not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it,

5 For all people will walke & euery one

6 At the same day, sayth the Lord, will I that shee was afflicted.

thee shall it come, & thou shalt be ruined, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Jerusalem.

9 Nowe why dost thou cry out with lamentation? is there no king in thee? is thy counsell perished? for thou hast taken thee, as a woman in traualle.

10 Sowoe and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in traualle: for thou shalt thou goe forth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and thou shalt goe into Babel, there shalt thou bee deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

against thee, saying, Zion shall bee condemned, & our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

of the Lord: they vnderstande not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheafe in the barn.

I will make thee home pson, and I will make thee house by house, and thou shalt bryake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto ruler of the whole

CHAP. VII.

- 1 A complaint for the ſmall number of the righteous.
4 The wickednes of thoſe times. 14 The proſperitie of the Church.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the perſon of the earth, which complained that all her fruites are gone, ſo that none is left: that is, if there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to crueltie & deceit, ſo that none ſpareth his owne brother.

b He ſheweth the prince, the iudge, & the rich man are linked together, all to doe euil and to cloke the doings one of another. c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abſteineth from no wickednes nor iniurie. d Theſe men agree among theſe ſcels and conſpire with one conſent to doe euil.

e They that are of moſt eſtimation & are counted moſt honeſt among them, are but thornes and bryers to prick.

f Meaning, of the Prophets & gouernours. g The Prophet ſheweth that the only remedie for the godly in deſperate euils, is to flee vnto God for ſuccour. h This is ſpoken in perſon of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemy.

Wid is mee, for I am as a ſonne in gathering, & as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my ſoule deſired the firſt ripe fruites.

2 The good man is periſhed out of the earth, & there is none righteous among men: they all lye in waite for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good ſay & euill of their handes, the prince aſked, and the iudge iudgeth for a rewarde: therefore the great man hee ſpeaketh out the corruption of his ſoule: ſo they way lay it vp.

4 The beſt of them is as a byper, and the moſt righteous of them is tharper then a thorne hedge: the dape of the watchmen and the viſitation cometh: then ſhall be their confuſion.

5 Truſt ye not in a friende, neyther put ye confidence in a counſeller: keepe the doyes of thy mouth from her that ſpeeth in thy boſome.

6 For the ſonne rentlieth the father: the daughter reſteth vp againſt the mother: the daughter in lawe againſt her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne houſe.

7 Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my ſauour: my God will heare me.

8 Keiope not againſt me, mine enemies: though I fall, I ſhall ariſe: when I ſhall lie in darkeneſſe, the Lord ſhall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord becauſe I haue ſinned againſt him, vntill he plead my cauſe, & execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I ſhall ſee his righteousnes.

10 Then ſhall hee that is myne enemy, ſhall

looke vpon it, and ſhame ſhall couer her, which ſaid vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? mine eyes ſhall beholde her: himſelfe a deſpoile ſhall hee be troden downe as the ſerue of his miſſe of the ſtreets.

11 This is the dape, that thy walles ſhall deſtroyer of his be built: this day ſhall thine ſacre away be the decre.

12 In this day alſo they ſhall come vnto thee from Aſhur, and from the ſtrong cities, and from the ſtrong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from ſea to ſea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithſtanding, the lande ſhall be ſolate becauſe of them that dwell therein, & for the fruites of their inventions.

14 Feede the people with the rod, the ſtocke of thine heritage (which dwell ſo ſolitarie in the wood) as in the middeſ of theyr holdes, Carmel: let them feede in Baſhan and Gilead, as in olde time.

15 According to the daſes of the conſuming out of the lande of Egypt, will I ſhewe vnto him marvellous things.

16 The nations ſhall ſee, and be confounded for all their power: they ſhall lap their hande vpon their mouth: their eares ſhall be deeke.

17 They ſhall like the duſt like a ſerpent: they ſhall moue out of their holes like wyomes: they ſhall be afraid of the Lord thy God, and ſhall feare becauſe of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that takeſt away iniquitie, and paſſeſt by the tranſgreſſion of the remnant of his heritage? He retrieth not his wrath for ever, becauſe mercie pleaſeth him.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compaſſion vpon vs: he will ſubdue our iniquities, and caſt all their finnes into the bottome of the ſea.

20 Thou wilt performe thy truth to Jacob, & mercie to Abraham: as thou ſhalt ſwoyne vnto our fathers in olde time.

be beneficiall vnto them as in time paſt. o God promiſeth to be fauourable to his people as he had bin aforetime. p They ſhall be as dumme men and dare bragge no more. q They ſhall be ſtoniſhed, and aſtaye to heare men ſpeake, leaſt they ſhall heare of their deſtruction. r They ſhall fall far on the ground for feare. ſ As though hee woulde not ſee it, but woulde ſee it. t Meaning, of his elect. u The Church is aſſured, that God will declare in effect the truth of his mercie all promiſed, which he had made of olde to Abraham, and to all that ſhould appoynt the promes by faith.

Nahum.

THE ARGUMENT.

As they of Nineueh ſhewed themſelues prompt and ready to receyue the worde of God at Iohns preaching, and ſo turned to the Lord by repentance: ſo after a certaine time rather giuing themſelues to worldly meanes to increaſe their dominion, then ſeeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begonne, they caſt off the care of religion, and returned to their vomite, and provoked Gods iuſt iudgement againſt them, in aſſaſſinating his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was deſtroyed, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as ſome thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the Empire of the Aſſyrians. But becauſe God hath continually care of his Church, he ſtirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, ſhewing that the deſtruction of their enemies ſhould be for their conſolation. And as it ſeemeth, he prophesied about the time of Hezekiah and not in the time of Manaſſeh his ſonne, as the Iewes write.

they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoothe like the lightning.

5 He shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shalbe prepared.

6 The gates of the river shall be opened,
and the palace shall melt.

7 And Gizzab the Queene shalbe led away captive, and her maydes shall leade her as with the voice of doves, flitting vpon their beakles.

8 But Nineueh is as of olde like a poole men: the gates of thy land shall be opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire shall deuoure thy battres.

thy strong holdes: goe into the clay, and temper the mortar: make strong buicks.

15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee by like the locusts, though thou be multiplied like the locusts, & multiplied like the grasshopper.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy marchantes about the starres of heauen: the locust spoyleth and speth away.

17 Thy princes are as the grasshoppers, & thy captaiues as the great grasshoppers: they which remaine in the hedges in the colde then-day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away & their place is not knowne where they are.

18 Thy shepherdes doe sleepe, & sing f Thy prisoners of Affliction: thy strong men lie downe: thy counsellers people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grievous: all that heare the bruite of thee, shall clap the handes ouer thee: for vpon ^e whome hath not thy malice passed continually?

Habakkuk.

THE ARGVMENT.

The Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kind of affliction & cruelty, and yet can see none end. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbornnes & rebellio against the Lord. And lest the godly should despair, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth the by this that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crackle shall be at height: wherefore he exhortheth the faithful to patience by his owne example, & sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselves.

2 A vision, & Against pride, courtoisies, drunkennes, and idolatrie.

1 I will renouice mine ouerjudgement, and onely depende on God to be instructed what I shall answer them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all temptations.

2 And the Ioye answered me, & said, Write the vision, & make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne & what readeth it.

3 For the vision is pet for an appointed time, but at the last it shall speake, & not lye: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not lye.

transgresseth by wine: therefore shall hee not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hel, & is as death, & can not be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heareth vnto him al people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parrable against him, and a taunting pauerb against him, and say, Wo, hee that increaseth that which is not his? how long? and hee that laberth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall they not rise vp suddenly, that shall burre thee: and awake, that shall stirre thee: and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, al the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the city, and vnto all that dwell therein.

15 Wo vnto him that gineth his neighbours drinke: thou iopnest thine heare, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their ymities.

16 Thou art filled with shame: for thyne drinke thou also, and be made naked: the city of the Lords right had hath turned vnto thee, and shameful spilling shall bee for thyne gloyp.

17 For the cruelty of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beasts which made thee afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the city, and vnto all that dwell therein.

g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians?

h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his own house, when as hee thinketh to enrich himselfe by crueltye and oppression.

i The stones of the house shall cry, and say that they are builte of blood, and the wood shall answer and say the same of it selfe.

k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come, and destroy all their labours, as though they were consumed with fire.

l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appear, though roughal the world.

m He repro- beth thus the King of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetousnes and crueltye, so hee prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the end brought them to shame.

THE ARGVMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hande, shewing that their country shoulde be vterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull hee prophecied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistines, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked shoulde be punished for their finnes and transgressions: so hee exhorted the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promes of God made vnto Abraham:
therefore quietly to abide till God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the ende they shoulde be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatri.

1 I E worde of the Lojbe, which came unto Zephaniah the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of ^a Josiah, the sonne of ^b Ammon king of Iudah,

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lojd.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the fowles of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lojd.

4 I will also stretch out mine hande upon Iudah, and upon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the ^c Chemarims with the priests,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heaven upon the house tops, and them that worshippe and swear by the Lojbe, and swear by ^d Malcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lojbe, and those that have not sought the Lojd, nor inquired for him.

7 We will at the presence of the Lojd God: for the day of the Lojd is at hande: for the Lojd hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghesites.

8 And it shalbe in the day of the Lojbs sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with ^e strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that ^f dance upon ^g thejsholde so proudly, which fly their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lojbe, there shall be a noise, and crye from the ^h filhe gate, and an howling from the seconde gate, and a great destruction from the hills.

11 I will visite the inhabitants of the lowe place: for ⁱ the companie of the marchants is destroyed: all they that beare silver, are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with ^j lightes, and visite the men that are froten: in their dreges, and sap in their heartes. The Lojbe will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shall be spoyled, and their houses waste: ^k they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lojbe is nere: it is nere, and hasteth greatly, even the voyce of the day of the Lojbe: ^l the strong man k shall cry there bitterly.

15 ^m That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauines, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenes, a day of cloudes and blacknes, God.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme ⁿ against the strong cities, & against the high towres.

17 And I will bying distresse upon men, that they shall walke like blinde men, because they haue sinned against the Lojbe, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dongs.

18 ^o Neither their silver nor their golde shall be able to deliuer them in the day of the Lojbes wrath, but the ^p whole lande shall be deuoured by the fire of his ielousie: for he shall make euen a speedy ride bance of all them that dwell in the lande.

8 Therefore I waite vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise up to the pray: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the Kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, even all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my ielousie.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the seventy yeres captiuitie prophecied by Ieremiah, was expired, God rayled vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spiritual Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, so far as much as the Lord wil finish the worke that he hath begonne, and sende Christ whome he hath promised, and by whome they should attaine to perfit joy and glory.

CHAP. I.

The time of the prophesie of Haggai, 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

In the second pere of King Darius, in þe first moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lorde (by the ministration of þe Prophet Haggai) vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,

1 Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lordes house should be builded.

2 Then came the word of the Lorde by the ministration of the Prophet Haggai, saying, Is it time for your felices to dwell in your ayled houses, and this house lie waste?

3 Now therefore thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Consider your own wayes in your heartes.

4 Ye haue soluen much, & bring in little: ye eate, but ye haue not enough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: & see that earnestly wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

5 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your heartes.

6 Goe vnto the mountaine: and bring wood, and build this house, and I will be fauourable in it, and I will be glorified, saith the Lorde.

7 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little: and when ye brought it home, I did blow vpon it. And why, saith the Lorde of hostes? Because of mine house that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

8 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from drue, and the earth stayed her fruite.

9 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the come, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oile, vpon all that the ground brings forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the handes.

10 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lorde their God, (as the Lorde their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lorde.

11 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in þe Lordes message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lorde.

12 And the Lorde stirred vp the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lorde of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

He sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

1 In the foure and twentieth daye of the first moneth, in the second pere of King Darius,

2 In the seventh moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lorde by the ministration of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that sawe this house in her first glory, and how do pen see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lorde, and be of good courage, saith Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the Lorde, and do it: for I am with you, saith the Lorde of hostes.

6 According to the word that I councelled with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my spirit shall remaine among you, saith the Lorde.

7 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes, & yet Temple so glorious as the first, and the earth, and the sea, & the vpr land, should be renewed.

k This declared that God was the author of þe doctrine, & that he was but the minister, as Exodus 14. 31. Iudg. 7. 20 Acts. 1. 5. 8.

l Which declareth ymen are vnapt & dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his worde or his messengers before God reforme their heartes and giue the newe spirits, Iohn. 6. 44.

a For the people, according to Isa. 32. 11. and Ezek. 41. 1. had prophesied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets ment the spiritual Temple, the church of Christ

b That is, glorious in building the Temple. c He exhorteth them to patience though they see not as yet this ould be accomplished in Christ by whome all things should be renewed.

d Meaning, Christ whom all ought to looke for and desire: for by desire, he may signifie all precious things, as riches & such like. e Therefore when he came time commeth, he can make all treasures of the world to serve his purpose: but the glory of this second Temple doeth not stand in material things, neither can be built. f Meaning, all spiritual blessings & felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil. 4. 7. g That is, the flesh of the sacrifices: whereby he signifieth that thing, which of itself is good, can not make another thing for and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselves by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary he that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doeth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God, which els are good and godly. h Consider howe God did plague you with famine afore you began to buld the Temple.

8 And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will sit in this house with glorie, sayth the Lord of hostes.
9 These silver is mine, and the gold is mine, sayth the Lord of hostes.
10 The glorie of this last house shall be greater then the first, sayth the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue peace, sayth the Lord of hostes.
11 In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth month, in the seconde yeere of Darius, came the woide of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,
12 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Aske nowe the Priests concerning the lawe and say,
13 If one beare a holp fleshe in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch the bread, or the portage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shall it be holp? and the Priests answered and sayd, No.
14 Then sayd Haggai, if a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the Priests answered and sayd, It shall be vncleane.
15 Then answered Haggai, and sayd, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, sayth the Lord: and so are all the woikes of their hands and that which they offer here, is vncleane.
16 And nowe, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this day, and afore, even afore a stone was layed vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to p wine they began to pisse for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the pisse, there were but twentie.
18 I smote you with blasting and with mildew, & with paille in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, albeit as yet I saith the Lord.
19 Consider I pray you, in your mindes, from this day & afore from the foure & twentieth day of the ninth month, euen from the day the foundation of the house was layd: consider it in your mindes.
20 Is the seed sate in the barn: as yet the vine, and the figtree, & the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.
21 And againe the woide of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the month, saying,
22 Speake to Zerubbabel the pyncer of Iudah, and say, I will shake the heavens and the earth,
23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, & I will destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charers, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, enter one by the swoyd of his brother.
24 In that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my servant, the sonne of Shealtiel, sayth the Lord, and will make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lord of hostes, most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

Zechariah.

THE ARGUMENT.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begunne to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore hee putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had so fore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they wil repent vnfeignedly, and not abuse this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithful should haue, from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remayned in their wickednesse, and coldnes to see forth Gods glorie, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promise of grace, if they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to eschue the wickednes of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

a Whowas the sonne of Hysai-pis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 1. Chro. 24. 20 but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because hee came of these progenitors, as of Iosia cr Berechiah and Iddo.

IN the eight moneth of the seconde yeere of Darius, came the woide of the Lord vnto Zechariah, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene sore displeased with your fathers.
3 Therefore sape thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne ye vnto me, sayth the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, sayth the Lord of hostes.
4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom I done, whom I punished, & let your fruites declare, that you are Gods people and that he hath wrought in you by his Spirit and word: for else man hath no power to returne to God, he must conuert him, as Ierem. 31. 18. Iamen. 5. 31. 22. 1. and 45. 21.

k Ye are so deare unto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psal. 17. 8.

l Upon the heaven your enemies.

m They shall be your servants as you have bene theirs.

n This must necessarily be vnderstand of Christ, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as he was Mediator to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

pon, toucheth the apple of his eye, 9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hande vpon them: and they shall be a people to those that serued them, and ye shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me. 10 Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for lo, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, sayth the Lord. 11 And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, & thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee. 12 And the Lord shall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy land, and shall chooseth Jerusalem againe. 13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is rapied by out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophetic of Christ and of his kingdom.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church.

b Which declareth that the fowls have not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesses, Ephes. 6. 12.

c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: & here he sheweth himselfe to bee the continuall preserver of his Church.

d Meaning, that Iehoshua was wonderfully preserved in the captiuitie, and nowe Satan sought to afflicke and trouble him when he was doing his office. e In respect of the glorious garments, and precious stones that the Priestles did weare before the captiuitie: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should bee made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church. f He sheweth of what apparell he speaketh, which is when our filthy finnes are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution. g The Prophet prayeth, that besides the rayment the Priest might also haue tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and I here all such are condemned that can content themselves with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obtaineth it. h That is, haue rule and gouernement in my Church as thy predecessours haue had. i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and ministration of the Church.

1 And he shewed me Iehoshua the high priest, standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the Lord said vnto Satan: The Lord reuivou thee, O Satan: reuue the Lord that hath chosen Jerusalem, reuivou thee. Is not this a bande taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And hee answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him he said, Beholde, I haue caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of rayment. And I said, Let them s let a faire diadem be vpon his head. So they let a sayre diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, & the Angel of the Lord stood by.

5 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

6 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my ways, and keepe my watche, then shalt also iudge mine house, and shalt also keepe my courts, and I will giue thee place among the high priests.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the high Priest, thou and thy brethren that sit before thee: for they are monstrous persons: but beholde, I will bring forth the man Branch my servant.

9 For lo the stone that I haue layde before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall be seven eyes: beholde, I will cut out the grasse thereof, sayth the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnsure: yee vine, and vnder the figge tree.

Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not onely he became the servant of God, but also the servant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 12. 1. ier. 23. 5. & 33. 14. 15. h He sheweth that the ministers cannot buye, before e God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because he giueth light vnto others, & that all ought to becke light at him, Chap. 4. 10. o This is, I will make it perfect in all poyntes, as a thing wrought by the hand of God. p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and visite their finnes no more. q Ye shall then lue in peace and quietnes, that is, in the kingdom of Christ, Isa. 2. 3. micah 4. 4. hag. 2. 10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

1 And the Angel that talked with me, came againe & waked me, as a man that is rapied out of his sleepe.

2 And said vnto me, What seest thou? & I said, I haue looked, & beholde, a candlestick all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seven lampes there in, & seven pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two olive trees one it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with mee, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and sayde vnto mee, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto mee, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Further by an armie noy strength, but by my spirit, sayth the Lord of hostes.

7 Who art thou? & great mountaine, sayth Zerubbabel: thou shalt be a plaine, though he had no helpe of man.

e Who was a figure of Christ, & therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members. f He sheweth y Gods power only is sufficient to prelerue his Church, though he vse not mans help thereunto. g He copareth the power of aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought y Iewes nothing in respect of the, & would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom y enemies daily labour to let in y building of a spirituall Temple, but all in vaine. h Though the enemies shall flay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay y highest stone thereof, bringing it to perfection. i yal y godly shall reioyce, & pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple thereof.

g Meaning, the Prophet, that I an Christ sent away father for the building, and perfection of my spiritual Temple.

h Signifying, that all were discouraged as the small and poore beginnings of the Temple.

i Whereby he signifieth the summer & line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented

Christ, should go forward with his building to the joy and comfort of the godly, though I worlde be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye.

k That is, God hath seven eyes: meaning a continuall providence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can go about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his work.

l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that all they poured forth oyle into the lampes: signifying, that God will continually maintaine and preserve his Church, & indue it with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of a flying booke, signifying the curse of them, and such as abuse the name of God.

2 By the vision of the measure v signified the bringing of Iudaht afflictions into Babylon.

3 When I turned me, & lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and beholde, a flying booke.

4 And he sayde vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

5 Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth forth from the whole earth: for every one that sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that: and every one that sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that.

6 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsly sweareth by my name: and it shall remaigne in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

7 Then the Angell that talked with me, went forth, and sayde vnto mee, Lift vp nowe thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

8 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an Epyah that goeth forth. He sayde thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

9 Moreover, the voyde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

10 The hands of Zerubbabel haue layd the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, & thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

11 For who hath despised the daye of the Lord? shall they not see that I will come, and shall see the stone of mine in the hande of Zerubbabel? these seven are the eyes of the Lord, which see thow the whole worlde.

12 Then answered I, and sayde vnto him, What are these two olive trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

13 And I spake moreouer, and sayde vnto him, What be these two olive byan:es, which thow two golden pipes empye themselves into the golde?

14 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I sayd, No, my Lord.

15 Then said he, These are the two olive byan:es, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

16 And though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye.

25 Then the Angell that talked with me, went forth, and sayde vnto mee, Lift vp nowe thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

26 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an Epyah that goeth forth. He sayde moreouer, This is the sight of them, that is, all the through all the earth.

27 And behold, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the middes of the Epyah.

28 And he sayd, This is wickednesse, and he cast it into the middes of the Epyah, and he call the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

29 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two measures, and the winde was in their wings (for which they had wings like wings of a fowle) senteth iniquitie, and they lift by the Epyah betwene the earth and the heauen.

30 Then sayde I to the Angell that talked with me, Whether do these beate the Epyah?

31 And he sayde vnto me, To buyde it an against Iewes house in the land of Shinar, and it shalbe to tempe them, established and set there vpon her olme as he had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquitie in a measure as in a prison.

32 Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes.

CHAP. VI.

By the four charrets he describeth the four min:sters.

1 Again, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came four charrets out from betwene two mountaines, & the mountaines were mountaines of basse.

2 In the first charet were red horses, and in the second charet blacke horses, and in the third charet white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of diuers colours, and reddish.

3 Then I answered and said vnto the Angell that talked with me, What are these, my Lord?

4 And the Angell answered, and sayd vnto me, These are the four spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

5 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the South countrey.

6 And the reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe through the waye, and he said, Goe passe through the waye, so they went thorowout the waye.

Lord of hostes, the holy mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, There shall per olde men and olde women, dwell in the streets of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hande for verp age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shalbe full of babes and gurlcs, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be impossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in the dayes, shoulde it therfore be impossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bryng them, and they shall dwell in the middes of Ierusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God in truth and in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these wordes by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the daye, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hostes was layde, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for a man nor any hire for a beast, neyther was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not increate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruit, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the prauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, so house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your handes be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers prouoked me unto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not.

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes, to do well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall doe. Speake ye euery man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute indgement truly and vprightly in your gates.

17 And let none of you imagine evil in your heartes against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the first, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah daye and gladnesse, and prosperous be their festiues: they shalbe loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall go to another, saying, Woe is it us go to pray before the Lord, and seke the Lord of hostes: I will go also.

22 Yea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of nations, euen take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jew, and saye, We will go with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which shoulde be in the kingdome of Christ. I. 12. 2. 3. 4. 5.

5 Bithkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be verp sorrowful, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be albaned, and the king shall perishe from Azzah, and Bithkelon shall not be inhabited.

C H A P. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the justfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grievous vision against Jerusalem and Judah.

1 O wendest thou, O Lebanon, and the fire shall devour thee cedars: thoue, three trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: thoue pine, O ones of Bashan, for ye defended yourself is cut downe.

3 There is the voice of the howling of the shepheard: for their flock is destroyed: the voice of the roaring of lions: for the pride of Jordan is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, feede the sheepe of the slaughter.

5 They that possess them, slay them: and slaine not: they that sell them, say, Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheardes spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in land, saith the Lord: but I will deliver the men euery one into his neighbours hand, & into the hand of his king: and they shall slaine the land, and out of their hands I will not deliver them.

7 For I feede the sheepe of slaughter, euen the voice of the flocke, and I toke vnto me two statutes: the one I called Beantie, and the other I called Bandes, and I feede the sheepe.

8 As the shepheardes also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule loathed them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then saide I, I will not feede you: that that dieth, let it die: that that perishest, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I toke up staffe, euen Beantie, & I haile it, that I might disannull my covenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the voice of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knewe that it was the voice of the Lord.

12 And I spake vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my wages: & if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of silver.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the porter: a goodly price, that I was 14 Then saide I vnto other staffe, euen the Bandes, that I might disannull the covenant betweene Judah and Israel.

15 And the Lord spake vnto me, Take to thee yet the instruments of a smithy they heard.

16 For loe, I will rappe by a shepheard in the lande, which shall not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambe, nor heale that that is hurt, nor seeke that that standeth by: but he shall eate the flesh of the fatted, and reare their clawes in pierces.

C H A P. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Jerusalem.

1 The burden of the voyce of the Lord vpon Israel, saith the Lord, which neglected Gods benefice in delirion of the earth, and sojourned the spirit of man within him.

2 Beholde, I will make Jerusalem a cup of poison vnto all the people round about: and also with Judah will be he, in dunge against Jerusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Jerusalem an haire stone for all people: all that hit it, shall be rone, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I will smite euery house with slaughter, & his ruder with madnesse, & I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Judah, and will smite euery house of the people with blindness.

5 And the voyces of Judah shall lape in their hearts, The inhabitants of Jerusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the printers of Judah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a fire brande in the sheaf, & they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Jerusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Jerusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preferre the tents of Judah, as aforetime: therefore the glorie of the house of David shall not be as the glorie of the inhabitants of Jerusalem against Judah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defende the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as David: and the house of David shall be as Gods house, and as the Angell of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I take to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

10 And I will power vpon the house of David.

Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outwarde shewe of gouernment: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be as wolues, and deuouring beastes in stead of shep- And is in health and sound.

Euery captaine that had many vnder him afore, shall nowe thinke that the small power of Jerusalem shall be sufficient to defende the against all enemies, because the Lord is among them. The people which are now as it were disposed by the fields, and lye open to their enemies, shall be preferred by my power, then if they were vnder their Kings, (which is meant by the house of David) or in their defended citie.

THE ARGVMENT.

THIS Prophet was one of the three, which God rayed vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more seruent desires looke for the coming of Messiah. Hee confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly he reproveth the Priestes for their euertoulesse, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the precept of his worde. He also noteth certaine peculiar finnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wites, murmuring against God, impatience, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forger his promes made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the covenant should be accomplished, whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel and chiefly the Priestes.

Ye are burdened with the woide of the Lord to Israel by the mis-derite of Malachi.

I haue loned you, sayeth the Lord: yet ye say, Where in hast thou loned vs? Was not Esau Iacob's brother, sayeth the Lord: yet I loned Iacob.

3 And I hated Esau, I made his mountains waste, and his heritage a wildernes for dragons.

4 Though Esau say, We are impourished, but we will returne and builde the desolate places. yet sayeth the Lord of hostes, they shall builde, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The bojers of wickednesse, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for euer.
5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the bojers of Israel.

6 As some honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? And if I be a master, where is my feare, sayeth the Lord of hostes vnto you. 4 And Priestes, their grosse hy-pocricie, which their faultes, but troy it, and they shall call them, The

with whom the Lord is angry for euer.

evils came upon
the people.

k Will God consider your office and stare, seeing you are so covetous and wicked? l Because the Levites who kept the doores, did not trye whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God wisteth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receive such as were not perfect. m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true service shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles; and here the Prophet that was under the Lawe, framed his wordes to the capacitee of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice he meaneth the spiritual service of God; which should bee vnder the Gospell, when an ende should be made to all these legall ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice. n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was aswell content with the leane as with the fatted: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and so committed both impietie, & also shewed their contempt of God, and countenance. o The Priests and people were both wearie with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and service they gave to God, for that which was least profitable was thought good enough for the Lord.
p That is, hath abilitye to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will serve him according to his covetous mnde.

7. Pe offer: bulcaine bread upon mine altar, and pou the wheymen haue we pollute ed thee: In that ye sape the table of the holines not to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it nowe vnto the p^rince: will he be content with thee, or accept the person, sayth the Lorde of hostes?

9 And nowe, I praye you, I praye before God, that he may haue mercie vpon vs:
this hath bene by your meanes: will he regarde your persons, sayth the Lorde
of hostes?

10 Who is there enen among you, that would shut the doores, and kinde not fire on mine altar in vayne? I haue no pleasure in you, sayth the Lorde of hostes, nether will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the Sunne vnto the going downe of the same, in p^raise is great among the Gentiles, and in eu-ery place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye sape, the Table of the Lorde is polluted, and the fruite thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye sayd also, Beholde, it is a wearines, and ye haue sinned at it, sayth the Lorde of hostes, and ye offered that which was foine, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, sayth the Lorde?

14 But curbed be the decepter, which hath in his flocke a male, and bogeth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lorde a corrupt thing:
for I am a great King, sayth the Lorde of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

1 And nowe, O ye Priests, this commandment is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glosp vnto my Name, sayth the Lorde of hostes, I will enueil a curse vpon you, and will curse your blessings: yea, I haue cursed thym already, because ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Beholde, I will conu^rt your saide, c and cast downe vpon your faces, euen the doing of your seruice fraines, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And ye shall knowe, that I haue sent this com^rmandment vnto you, that my covenant, which I made to Is^rael, might stand, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

5 My covenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and he feared mee, and was asfraid before my Name.

6 The lawe of trust was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests' lips should keepe knowledge, and they should seeke the lawe at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lorde of hostes.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: ye haue broken the covenant of Is^rael, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Lawe.

10 Haue we not all a one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the covenant of a one fathers?

11 Judah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Is^rael and in Ierusalem: for Judah hath desired the daughters of the Lorde, which he loued, & hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lorde will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Is^rael, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lorde
of hostes.

13 And this haue ye done againe, and con-uerred the altar of the Lorde with weaues, with wapping and with mourning:

Leui a certaine lawe to serve me. i He served me my glory with all humilitie and submissioⁿ. k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lorde. l He is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their needfullie, and not to relesene it for himselfe. In shewing, that whosoever doeth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger, and Priest. m The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes towards God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abrah^a, & God had elected the to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren. n Whereby they had bound them selfe to God to be an holy people. p They haue ioyned themselves in marriage with them y are of another religion. q That is, Priests.

1 Ye cause the people to lament, because that God doeth not regarde their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord John Baptist, and of Christes life.

Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: & the Lord whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his Temple: euen the messenger of the covenant whom ye desire: behold, he shall come, saith the Lord of hostes.
2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And he shall sitte downe to trie and fine the sinner: he shall euen fine the sonnes of Leui, and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto
the Lord in righteousness.

4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah & Jerusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olden time and in the yeres afore.

5 And I will come nere to you to iudge-ment, & I will be a swift witness against the faithles, & against the adulterers, & against false swearers, & against those that wrongfully keepe back the hirelings wages, and vex the widow & the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.

haue we spoken against thee?

14 Ye haue sayd, It is in vaine to serue
God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his commandement, & that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore will count the yowde blessed:
euen they that worke wickednesse are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are deliuered.

16 Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord brake and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written, before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shalbe to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that daye that I shall doe this, for a flock, and I will spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then sal you returne, and discern betwene the righteous & wicked, betwene him that serueth God, & him that serueth him not.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

THeſe bookes that ſollow in order after the Prophets vnto the New Teſtament, are called APOCRYPHA, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common conſent to be read and expounded publickly in the Church, neither yet ſerued to proue any poynne of Chriſtian religion, ſave in ſmuch as they had the conſent of the other Scriptures called Canonick to confirme the ſame, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the hiltorie, and for the inſtruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an eſpeciall care of his Church, and leſt them not vnterly deſtitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promiſed Meſſiah, and alſo witneſſe that thoſe calamities that God ſent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both ſo threatened by his Prophetes, and ſo brought it to paſſe for the deſtruction of their enemies, and for the tryall of his children.

1. Eſdras.

CHAP. I.

1 Ieſai appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Paſſeouer.
7 Offerings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Levites. 23 The upright life of Ieſai. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioſachaz, appointed king. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

1 AND Ieſai kept the Paſſeouer to his Royde in Ierusalem, and offered the Paſſeouer in þ fourteenth day of the firſt moneth,

2 And appointed þ Priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Royde.

3 And he ſpoke to the Levites the holy ministers of Iſrael, that they ſhoulde ſanctifie themſelves to the Royde, to ſer the holy Ark of the Royde in the Houſe, which Salomon the ſonne of King Dauid had built.

4 And ſaid, Ye ſhall no moze beare the Arke vpon your ſhoulders: nowe therfore ſerue the Royde pour God, and take the charge of his people of Iſrael, & prepare according to pour families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Iſrael, and according to the maiestie of Salomon his ſonne, & ſtand in the temple (according to the order of the dignitie of pour fathers the Levites) which were appointed beſore pour brethren the children of Iſrael.

6 Offer in order the Paſſeouer, and make ready the ſacrifices for pour brethren, and keepe the Paſſeouer after the Roydes com mandement giuen to Moſes.

7 And Ieſai gave to the people that was preſent, thirte thouſand ſambes and kids with thye thouſand calves.

8 Theſe were giuen of the kings poſſeſſions according to the promiſe, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. They gave Helkias & Zacharias & Sprins the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Paſſeouer two thouſande ſixe hundred ſhepe, and thye hundredeth calves.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Athanael his brethren, and Sabias, and Chelcias, and Joſai captaiues gave to the Levites for the Paſſeouer ſixe thouſand ſhepe, and ſeven hundredeth calves.

10 And when theſe thinges were done, the Priests and the Levites ſtoode in order, hauing unleavened bread according to the tribes.

11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, beſore the people to offer to the Royde, as it is written in the bookes of Moſes: and thus they did in the mooring.

12 And they roſted the Paſſeouer with fire as appertained, & they ſod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pottes.

13 And ſet it beſore all them that were of the people, and afterwarde they prepared for themſelves, and for the Priests their byes then the ſonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the evening, and the Levites did make ready for themſelves, and for the Priests their brethren the ſonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy ſingers, the ſonnes of Aſaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinares of Dauid, to wit, Aſaph, and Harias, & Cedunus, which was of the kings appointment.

16 And the porters were at every gate, ſo that it was not lawfull, that any ſhoulde paſſe his ordinarie watche: for their byes then the Levites made ready for them.

17 And in that day thoſe thinges which appertained to the ſacrifice of the Royde, were accompliſhed, that they might offer the Paſſeouer.

18 And offer ſacrifices vpon the altar of the Royde, according to the commandement of King Ieſai.

19 So the childre of Iſrael, which were preſent at that time, kept the Paſſeouer, & the feaſt of unleavened bread ſeven dayes.

20 And there was not ſuch a Paſſeouer kept in Iſrael ſince the time of Samuel the Prophete.

21 And all the kings of Iſrael did not offer ſuch a Paſſeouer, as did Ieſai, and the Priests, and the Levites, & the Levites, and all Iſrael, which were ſound to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yere of þ reigne of Ieſai was this Paſſeouer kept.

23 The woakes of Iosias were bypight bes foze his Loyd with a heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the thinges which came to passe in his time, they are wrytten bes foze, to wit, of those that sinned and did wice keely against the Loyd, aboute euery nation and kingdome, and grieved him with vniuersitable thinges, so that the woakes of the Loyd sloode by against Israel.

25 ¶ Nowe after all these actes of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaos king of Egypt came to moone warre at Carchas-mis vpon Euphiates, Iosias went out as gainst him.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Loyde God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphiates, and nowe the Loyde is with mee, and the Loyde hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Loyd.

28 But Iosias woulde not turne backe his chariot: but my warre is vpon Euphiates, and nowe the Loyde is with mee, and the Loyde hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Loyd.

29 But he set himselfe in battell array against him in the field of Megiddo, and the Phari-sians came downe to King Iosias.

30 And the King said to his seruantes, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by & by his seruantes brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gate up on his second chariot, & being come againe to Ierusalem hee changed his life, & was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Jeremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, & the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this daye: and this was ordeined in al the kynghed of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these thinges are wrytten in the booke of the Royes of the kings of Iudea, & euery
one of his actes that Iosias did, & his glorie, and his knowledge in the law of the Loyde, and the thinges which he did besoze, & the thinges nowe rehearsed are registred in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then the people of the nation tooke Joachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in steade of his father Iosias, when hee was thre and twentie yere olde.

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem thre monethes: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He tarred also the people of an hundred talents of silver, and one talent of golde.

37 And the king of Egypt made Joachim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And he bounde Joachaz and his gouer-nours: but when hee had taken Taraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fower yere olde was Joachim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Loyd.

40 Wherefore against him came by Nabu-chodonosor king of Babilon, who whē he had bound him with a chayne of byasse, led him away into Babilon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor took of the holp bricks of the Loyd, and caried them away, and set them in his Temple at Babilon.

42 But all his actes, and his piospation, and his reproch are wrytten in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 And Joachim his sonne reigned for him:
and when he was made king, hee was eightene yere olde.

44 And he reigned thre monethes, and thre dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Loyd.

45 ¶ So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babilon with the holy vessels of the Loyd.

46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea & Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yere olde, and he reigned eleuen yeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Loyde, neither did hee feare the woakes spoken by Im. 31. 11
Jeremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Loyd.

48 For after that hee was sworne to King Nabuchodonosor, hee swore himselfe by the name of the Loyd and set away, & hard-ned his necke & his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Loyd God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, & the Priestes committed many thinges against the lawes, and passed al the pollutions of al nations, and polluted the Temple of the Loyd, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Nevertheless the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because hee spared them and his owne Ceteruacke.

51 But they derided his messenger, & in the day that the Loyd spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that hee, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commanded the kings of the Chaldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their pong men in the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare pong man nor maiden, neither olde man, nor childe among them.

54 But hee deliuered them al into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Loyde, both great and small, & the vessels of the Arke of God: and theyooke, and caried away
the kings treasures vnto Babilon.

55 And then set fire in the house of the Loyd, and brake down the walles of Ierusalem,
and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also al the precious thinges thereof, & brought them to nought, & thot that were left by the sword, they caried away vnto Babilon.

57 And they were seruantes to him, & to his chidren til the Persians reigned to fulfill the word of the Loyd by the mouth of Jeremias, Im. 25. 11

58 And that the land might enjoy her Sabbaths all the time, that it was desolate, till seuentie yeres were accomplished.

2 The Joye rayled by the Spirit of Cygnus King of the Persians, and he made proclamation throughout all his kingdom, even by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cygnus King of the Persians, The Joye of Israel, even the most high Joye, hath made me King over the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea,

5 If there be any the Joye of son of his people, let the Joye, and his Joye be with him, and let him goe up to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and build the house of the Joye of Israel: he is the Joye which dwelleth in Jerusalem.

6 All thep then that dwell in places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with golde and silver,

7 With giftes, with houses and cattell, and other things, which I haile brought, according to the vowes, into the Temple of the Joye, which is in Jerusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Judea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, & the Priests and Levites, and all whose minde the Joye had moued to goe up, and build an house to the Joye in Jerusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helpe them in all things with silver and gold, houses and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose minde were stirred by.

10 Also king Cygnus brought out a holp vessels of the Joye, which Nabuchodonosor had carped out of Jerusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Nowe when Cygnus king of the Persians had brought them out, he deliuered them to Githidates his treasurer,

12 To whome they were giuen to Abassar the gouernour of Judea.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cuppes, and a thousand siluer cuppes, basins of silver for the sacrifices, nine and twentie vials, of gold thirty, and of silver two thousand, foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels,

14 So all the vessels of gold and silver, which then caried away, were five thousand, foure hundred, three score and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babilon to Jerusalem.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerxes King of the Persians, Belshazzar, and Githidates, and Cabellus, and Kathumus, and Belettrinus, and Semellus the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this epistle here following against them, that dwell in Judea and Jerusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD,

17 The seruants, Kathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellus the secretarie, and the rest of their counsell, and the Iudges which are in Coelospia and Phenice.

18 Be it nowe therefore knowne to our lord the King, that the Jewes which came by Campan, are come to vs into Jerusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make by the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the walles be finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, goe forwarde, we thought it not meete to passe over such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the King, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt knowe that this citie did alwayes rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And that the Jewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Nowe therefore, O lord the King, we declare it, that if this citie be built, and the walles thereof repaired, thou shalt haue no more passage into Coelospia, nor Phenice,

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Kathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Belettrinus, and to Semellus the secretarie, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Spia and Phenice, these things that followe.

26 I haue read the epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, & it was found, that this citie hath alwayes persecuted against kings,

27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, & howe that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Jerusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelospia, & Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to those that these men to build up the citie, and that it be taken heere that no more be done.

29 And that those wicked things, which should moue the King, goe not forward.

30 Then when Kathumus, and Semellus the secretarie and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they moored their tents with speede to Jerusalem with horses and men in aray.

31 And began to let them which build, so that the building of the Temple in Jerusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius King of the Persians.

Nowe when Darius reigned, he made a great feast to all his subiects, and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernours and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundred and thirtie and twentie provinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, & King Darius went into his chamber, and slept, till he wakened againe.

the garde, keepers of the Kings body, saide one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shall ouercome, and whole sentence that appeare wisser then the others, Darius the King shall giue him great gifts, & great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare purple, & to drinke in golde, and to sleepe in golde, and a chariot with byldes of golde, an head rype of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke,

7 And he that sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shalbe called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of King Darius,

9 And saide, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whole sentence the King and the thir Princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victorie be giuen, as it was appointed,

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The King is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but truely ouercommeth all things.

13 And when the King rose, they rooke the writings, and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the counsils,

15 And saide him downe in the Counsell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he saide, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he saide vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first bega, which had spoken of the strength of wine,

18 And saide on this maner, O ye men, how strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the King and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bonde man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioye and gladnesse, so that one remembereth no maner of sorow, nor dette.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembereth neither King nor gouernour, & causeth to speake all things by "talents."

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue either friends or birthren, and a hile after they diuoe out swoydes.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which compellereth to do such things? and he helde his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 23 Of the strength of women.

34. Of the strength of truely, which sentence is approved, 47 And his petition granted.

1 Then the second which had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the King is yet greater: for he ruleth al things, and is Lord of them, so that they do all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if he sende them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines & walles and towres,

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandment of the King: if they ouercome, they bring all to the King, alowed the peoples as all other things,

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but til the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the King, and compell one another to pay tribute to the King.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the mirae while hee sitteth downe, he eateth, & drinketh and sleeperh.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one go and doe his owne business, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, howe should not the King be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed! So he helde his tongue.

13 Then the third which had spoken of women and of the truely (this was Roxobabel) began to speake,

14 O ye men, neither the mightie King, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who thin ruleth them? of hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King, and adde the people which beare rule by sea & by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them: which plamed the vmes, of which the wine is made,

17 They also make mens garments & make men honourable, neither can men be with out woman.

18 And if they haue gathered together golde and siluer, or any goodly thing, do they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things & gine themselves wholy vnto her, and gaze, and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then golde or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueh his owne father which hath nourished him, & his owne countrey, and is ioynded with his wife.

21 And for the woman he leaueh his life, and neither remembereth father nor mother nor countrey.

22 Therefore by this ye may knowe that the women beare rule ouer pon: doe ye not labour and trauell, and gine and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sworde and goeth forth to kill and to strale, and to laie vpon the sea, and vpon riuers,

24 And he seeth a lion and goeth in darkness, and when hee hath stolen, ransomed and spoiled, hee bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many have runne mad for women, and haue bene seruantes for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and thined for women,

28 Howe therefore doe you not desire more is not the king great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I sawe him, and he came, the kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bactarus, sitting on the right hand of the king.

30 And shee took the crowne off the kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the king with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the king gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: & if she were angrie with him, he did flatter her that hee might be reconciled with her.

32 Howe then, O pre men, are not women more strong, seeing they do thus?

33 ¶ Then the kinge and the Princes locked one vpon another, and hee began to speake of the truth.

34 ¶ O pre men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is he, and the sunne is twise in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not he great that maketh these things? therefore the truth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for truth, and the heauen blesteth it: and all thinges are shaken & tremble, neither is there any vniuersall thinge with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the king is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, & all their wicked workes are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perishe in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, and is stronge for ever, and liueth & reigneth for ever & ever.

39 With her there is no receiving of persones nor difference: but shee doeth þ things which are iust, & abstermeth from vniuersall and wicked thinges, and all men saunse her workes.

40 Neither is there any vniuersall thing in her iudgement, and shee is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So he ceased to speake, and then all þ people cryed & sayde, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the king saide vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and we will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by me, & shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he saide to the king, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to builde Jerusalem, in the day that thou tookst the kingdome,

44 And to sende againe all the vessels that were taken out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vowe to cutte off Babylon, and vowed to sende them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to builde the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudreas destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And now, I bid the king, this is þ which I desire and require of thee: & this is ð magificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplishe the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 Their king Sarius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the lieutenants and lieutenantes, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went by to builde Jerusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria, & Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Jerusalem; and builde the citie with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went by out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doyes,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they helde,

51 And that euery peere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were built.

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings by on the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuentie) other ten talents euery peere,

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to builde the citie, should haue libertie, aswell they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges, & the Priestes garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And he wrote that they should giue the Levites their charges vntill the house were finished, and Jerusalem built.

56 Also he wrote that they should graunt pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And hee sent awaye all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoever Cyrus had commanded to do, he also commanded to doe it, and to sende to Jerusalem.

58 And when the pounge man was gone forth, he lift vp his face to heauen towards Jerusalem, and gaue thanks to the Kinge of heauen,

59 Saying, of thee is the victorie, and of thee is wisdom, and of thee is gloie, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen me wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So heooke the letters, & went out and came to Babylon, and tolde all his brethren.

62 And then blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedom and libertie.

63 To goe by & to builde Jerusalem, and the Temple, where his name is renowned, and they reioiced with instruments of musicks and ioie, seuen daies.

had bene sought in the register, and coulde

the holy things, till there arose an hye Priest

besides that bare the yoke, five thousande, five hundredth, twentie and five.

44 And there were of the gouernours after their families, which when they were come to the Temple in Ierusalem, bowed to build the house in his owne place according to their power.

45 And to giue to the treasure of the workes, a thousand pound in golde, and five thousand pound in silver, and an hundred priestes by garments.

46 And the Priestes and the Levites and the people dwelt in Ierusalem and in the countrey, and the holy singers and the porters and all Israel in their villages.

47 ¶ But when the seventh moneth was nere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into an open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedec and his brethren the Priestes, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising up, made ready an altar of the God of Israel.

49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it, according as it is written in the booke of Moses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the lande: but they blessed an altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the lande were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and evening.

51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles, as it is ordained in the Law, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requisite.

52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths and of the newe moneths and of all holy feastes.

53 ¶ And all they which had made anp voto to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seventh month, although the Temple of God was not yet build.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meat and drinke with gladnesse.

55 And charrets to the Hydomans & to those of Cyprus to bring cedar wood out of Liba-nus, which shoulde be brought by flotes to the haven of Ioppe, according to the commandement giue vnto them by Cyprus king of Persia.

56 And in the second yeere & second moneth came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, & Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, and their brethren, and the priestes and Levites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem.

57 And layde the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the seconde moneth of the second yeere, after their returne into Iudea and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed the Levites from twentie yeere old ouer the workes of the Lord, & Iesus & his sonne, & his brethren, and his brother Gabniel, and the sonnes of Gabiadon with the sonnes of Ioda, the sonne of Yeliadun, with their sonnes and brethren, even all the Levites with one accord did followe after the woorage, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workes men built the temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priestes doode clothed with their long garments, with muscical instruments and trumpets, and the Levites the sonnes of Naphy with cymbales,

60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid King of Israel.

61 And they sung with loude voyce songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and and gloie is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cried with loude voyce, praising the Lord for the raising up of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priestes & Levites, and chefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had sene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, & many with trumpets, and they cried with loude voyce,

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people:
yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what people of trumpets it was.

67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they coming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families,
sayd vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obeye your Lord, as you do, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of Asa sareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

70 ¶ Then Zorobabel, and Iesus, & the chiefe of the families of Israel sayde to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an house to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will build it to the Lord God

Nehem. 1. 1.

1 But in the ſecond peece of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the ſonne of Aſodo the Prophets prophesied to the Jewes, euen vnto them that were in Iudea and Ieruſalem, in the name of the Lord God of Iſrael, which they called "yſb. 2 Then Toſobabel ſonne of Salathiel, and Jeſus the ſonne of Joſedec ſtood vp, and began to builde the houſe of the Lord, which is in Ieruſalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 In that time Siſines the gouernour of Syria, and Phenicie, and Sathabouſances with his companions came vnto them,

4 And ſaide vnto them, By whole commandement build you this houſe and this building, and enterpriſe all theſe other things? and who are the builders, that enterpriſe ſuch things?

5 But the Ancients of the Jewes had grace of the Lord, after that hee had viſited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted to builde, vntill it was ſignified vnto Darius of theſe matters, and an anſwere was receiued.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epistle, which hee did write and ſend to Darius, Siſines gouernour of Syria and Phenicie, and Sathabouſances, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenicie, ſalute king Darius.

8 It may pleaſe the king our maſter plainly to vnderſtande, that when we came to the countrey of Iudea, and entered into the city of Ieruſalem, we found in the cite of Ieruſalem the Ancients of the Jewes that were of the captiuitie,

9 Building an houſe to the Lord, great & new of hewen ſtones, & of great pyce, & the timber all ready layd vpon the walles.

10 And theſe woorkes are done with great ſpede, pea, and the worke hath good ſucceſſe in their hands, ſo that it will be finiſhed with all glorie and diligence.

11 Then we asked them Ancients, ſaying, By whole commandement, builde you this houſe, & lay the foundation of theſe woorkes?

12 We asked them theſe things to the intent to notiſie them to thee, & to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore we demaunded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, ſaying, Wee are the ſeruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And * this houſe was built by many peeres agoe by a king of Iſrael, great and ſtrong, and was finiſhed.

15 But when our fathers, propoking God to wrath, ſetied againſt the Lord of Iſrael, which is in heauen, * hee deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 16 Who brake downe the houſe and burnt it, and carped the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the firſt peece of the reigne of Cypus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cypus wrote that this houſe ſhoulde be built by,

18 And the holp veſſels of golde and of ſilver, which Nabuchodonosor had carped out of the houſe at Ieruſalem, and had dedicated them in his owne temple. Cypus the king tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Toſobabel, and to Sathabouſances ruler.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he ſhoulde carpe away thoſe veſſels, and put them in the Temple at Ieruſalem, and that this Temple of the Lord ſhoulde be built in this place.

20 Then the ſame Sathabouſances, being come hither, layed the foundations of the houſe of the Lord at Ieruſalem, and ſince that time till now, it is in building, and is not finiſhed.

21 Now therefore if it pleaſe the king, let it be ſought by in the kings libraries concerning Cypus.

22 And if it be found that the building of the houſe of the Lord at Ieruſalem, hath bene done by the conſent of king Cypus, and it ſeeme good to the Lord our king, let him make vs anſwere concerning theſe things.

23 Then king Darius commanded to ſearch in the kings libraries, that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a towne in a region of Media, a place where ſuch things were layd by for memoire.

24 In the firſt peece of the reigne of Cypus, king Cypus commanded the houſe of the Lord at Ieruſalem to be builded, where they did ſacrifice with the continual fire.

25 Of the which the height ſhoulde be of three ſcore cubites, the breadth of three ſcore cubites with three rowes of hewen ſtones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the coſte ſhoulde be payed out of the houſe of king Cypus.

26 And that the holp veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, as well thoſe of golde as of ſilver, which Nabuchodonosor had carped out of the houſe in Ieruſalem, and brought into Babylon, ſhoulde be reſtozed to the houſe, which is in Ieruſalem, and ſet in the place where they were afore.

27 Alſo hee commanded that Siſines gouernour of Syria and Phenicie, and Sathabouſances, and their companions, and thoſe which were conſtitute capitaines in Syria and Phenicie, ſhoulde take hede to reſtaine from that place, and to ſuffer Toſobabel the ſeruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the elders of the Jewes to builde that houſe of the Lord in that place.

28 And I alſo haue commanded to builde it cleane by againe, & that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Jewes, till the houſe of the Lord be finiſhed.

29 And that ſome part of the tribute of Cy-

30 Also rogne, and salt, & wine, and oyle continually euery pēre without faile, as the Priestes, which are in Iherusalem shall testifie to be spent euery day, 31 That offerings may be made to the hie God for the king, and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commaunded that whoso euer should transgresse any thing aforesayen or written: or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession: and he be hanged thereon, & that his gods should be the kinges.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose name is there called upon, bestow euery king and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or do nill to that house of the Lord which is in Iherusalem.

34 * I Darius the king haue ordeined that it should be diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sofonias and his companions followe the kinges commandment, and helpe the Leuites to build the Temple, & the time that it was built. 10. They keepe the Passouer.

1 Then Darius the gouernour of Egipt Iofia and Ithenice, & Bathabouzan, & their companions, obeying king Darius commaundement,

2 Assisted diligently the holy workes, working with the ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuary.

3 And the holy workes prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophetes which prophesied.

4 So they finished all thinges by the commandment of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kinges of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy house was finished in the thirte and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the fift pēre of Darius king of the Persians.

6 And the children of Israel, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the thinges written in the booke of Esopias.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambes,

8 And twelue goats for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priestes and the Leuites stood according to their kindreds, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Esopias, and also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered a Passouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priestes and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priestes, and for themselves.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept a feast of unleaured bread seauen daies, crying out before the Lord,

15 Because he had turned the counsell of the king of the Assyrians towardes them to strengthen their handes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Esdra cometh from Babylon to Iherusalem. 10. The copie of the commission, giuen by Artaxerxes. 29. Esdra giueth thanks to the Lord. 32. The number of the heades of the people that came with him. 36. His prayer and confession.

1 And after these thinges whē Artaxerxes king of the Persians reigned, Esdras the sonne of Baraias, the sonne of Esdras, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salu,

2 The sonne of Sador, the sonne of Achitob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Esdras, the sonne of Immeroth, the sonne of Zaratias, the sonne of Sanaas, the sonne of Boccaas, the sonne of Abisum, the sonne of Phineas, the sonne of Elcasar, the sonne of Aaron was the hie Priest.

3 Thus Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a scribe well taught in the law of Moses, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the king gaue him great honour, and he founde grace in his sight in all his requestes.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priestes & Leuites, and of the holy singers, & of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Iherusalem,

6 In the seventh pēre of the reigne of king Artaxerxes, and in the fift moneth: this was the seventh pēre of the king (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Iherusalem according as the Lord gaue them speche in their iourney)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledg, so that he would let nothing passe that was in the lawe of the Lord, and in the commandementes, and he taught all Israel all the ordinance and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by king Artaxerxes was giuen Esdras the Priest and reader of the lawe of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, & reader of the lawe of the Lord, Salutation.

11 For as much as I consider thinges within, I haue commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priestes and Leuites, which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friends the counsellors.

13 That they may vnto the thinges that are

gard against our enemies,

51 Because we had saide to the king, that the power of our Loyde should be with them that fought him, to direct them in all things:

52 Therefore we prayd our Loyde againe, according to these things, whom we founde fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, * Elebias and Sallanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed the silver and the gold, and the holy vessels of the House of our Loyd, which the king and his counsellors, and his ymmes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, six hundred & fiftie talents of silver, and silver vessels of an hundred talents, & an hundred talents of gold, 56 And twentie golden basins, & twelue vessels of brass, of fine brass shining like gold.

57 And I sayde to them, You are also holy to the Loyde, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the silver is a vowe to the Loyd of our fathers.

58 Watch and keepe them, till that you giue the to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Levites, and captains of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Levites tooke the silver and the golde, & the vessels, and caried them to Jerusalem to the Temple of the Loyd.

60 And we departed from the flood Euphrates, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Jerusalem, according to the mightie power of our Loyde with vs: and the Loyde deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Jerusalem.

61 And these dayes being past there, in the fourth day the silver that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the house of our Loyde to * Sparnath the Priest, the sonne of Jouri,

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of the Priests: and there were with them, Josabab the sonne of Jezus, and * Jotham sonne of Sabsbanus, Levites: all was deliuered the by mumber and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Loyde God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes four score and sixtine,

65 Lambes threescore & twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Loyd.

66 And they presented the commandements of the king to the kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Mesopotamia & Phenice, who honoured the people, & the Temple of God.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Priests and the Levites, and the Levites haue not separated from them the strange people of the lande, 68 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, and Chetites, and Hittites, and Jebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Ioumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their dangh-

ters, both they and their sonnes, and the house of the lande, with the strange people of the lande, and the gouernours & rulers haue bene partakers of their wickednes from the beginning of the thing.

70 And alcome as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the heare off mine head, and off my beards, and sate me downe sorrowfull and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Loyd God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the evening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine handes to the Loyd, 73 And sayde, * O Loyde, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our finnes are increased about our heads, and our ignorances are sited by reason.

75 Yea, men from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our finnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our Kings and Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword, & to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercy bene, O Loyde, that there should be left vs a roote, & name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldst reuile to vs a light in the house of the Loyde our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate,

80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Loyd, and rapse by them that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Jerusalem.

81 And now, O Loyd, what shall we say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruantes the Prophets, saying,

82 * Because the lande, which ye goe to inhabit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse.

83 Therefore now ye shall not sowe their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes,

84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eate the good things of the lande, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked woordes, and for our great finnes: yet, O Loyde, thou hast forborne our finnes,

86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but we as gaue haue turned backe to transgress thy lawe, and to mixe vs with the uncleannesse of the people of the lande.

87 Righteist thou not bee angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldst neither keane vs rote, noj lide, noj name?

 83 But, O Loyde of Israel, thou art true: for there is a rote left, even unto this day.
 89 Beholde, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neyther can wee endure besojethed for their thyns.
 90 ¶ And as * Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, & lay upon the ground before the temple, a very great multitude was gathred unto him out of Jerusalem of men and women, and pong chyliden: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.
 91 Then Jechonias the sonne of * Jeel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out sayd, O Esdras, wee have sinned against the Loyde God: wee have taken in marriage strange women of the nations of the land.
 92 And nowe all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Loyd to put away all our wyues, which are strangers, with their chyliden.
 93 If it seeme good to the, and to all them that obey the lawe of the Loyde, rise up and put it in execution.
 94 For to the doeth it apperteyne, and wee are with thee to make the strong.
 95 Then Esdras arose, & made all the chiefe of the families of the * Priestes and Levites of al Israel to sweare, that they would do thus:
 and they swore.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the lawe for the strange wyues,
 10 They promys to put them away.
 1 Then * Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Joannan the sonne of Chabib.
 2 And being lodged there, he did eate no bread nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.
 3 And there was a proclamation in all Judea and Jerusalem, to all them that were of the captivitee, that they shoulde be gathred to Jerusalem.
 4 And that all they which shoulde not mete there within two or thre dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, shoulde have their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and bee cast out from among them of the captivitee.
 5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Juda & Benjamin, came together within thre dayes into Jerusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.
 6 And all the multitude late in the broade place of the Temple shakynge, because of the extreme winter.
 7 Then Esdras arose and sayde to them, We have sinned: for we have married strange wyues, so that we have augmented þ sinnes
 of Israel.
 8 Nowe therefore confesse and glorify þ Loyd
 God of our fathers,
 9 And doe his will, and separate your selves from the people of the lande, and from the strange wyues.
 10 Then all the multitude cryed out and sayd with a loud voyce, We will doe so as thou hast sayd.
 11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we can not stand without, and the woolye is not of one day noj of two, seeing that many of us have sinned in this matter.

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which have strange wyues of our families, carrie:
 13 And let the * Priestes and iudges come out of all places at the day appoynted, till they have appealed the warty of the Loyde againt vs for this matter.
 14 Then Jonathas * Helaes sonne, and * Eze-cias sonne of * Jecan were appoynted considering these things, and * Josolam & Sabbattens did helpe them.
 15 And they which were of the captivitee, did after all these things.
 16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they late together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.
 17 And they made an ende of the things pertaining to them that had married strange wyues in the first day of the first moneth.
 18 And there were founde of the Priestes, which had married strange wyues, 19 Of the sonnes of * Jelus, the sonne of * Joses-der, and of his byethen, * Parhelas, and * Eleazar, and * Josibus, and * Jonadan.

 their wyues, and offered a ramme for their res-conciliation in their purgation.

- Num. 20. 11. 20 * When pe were thirſtie, bid not I cleane the ſtone, and waters did flowe out to ſatiſſie pou: from the heate I couered pou with the leaues of the trees,
- 1fa. 5. 4. 21 And I gaue pou fat countreyes: I caſt out the Canaanites, the Hheretites, and Philistines beſore pou: * what ſhall I doe moze ſoy pou, ſaith the Lord?
- Exod. 5. 23. 22 Thus ſaith the almighty Lord, * When pe were in the wildernes at the bitter waters, being a thirſt, and blaſpheming my Name,
- 23 I gaue pou not ſire ſoy the blaſphemies, but caſt a tree into the water, and made the river ſweete,
- Exod. 32. 8. 24 What ſhall I do vnto the, O Jacob: thou * Iuda wouldeſt not obey: I will turne mee to other nations, and vnto thoſe will I giue my name, that they may keepe my Lawes,
- 25 Seeing pe haue forſaken me, I will alſo forſake pou: when pe aſke mercy of mee, I will not haue pittie vpon pou,

- 27 Although pe haue not forſaken me, but poue owne ſelues, ſaith the Lord.
- 28 Thus ſaith the almighty Loide, Vaine I not played pou, as a father his ſonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurce her pong babes,
- 29 That pe woulde be my people, as I am pour God, and that pe woulde be my childre, as I am pour father?
- Mat. 23. 37. 30 * I gathered you together as an henne gaſt hererh her chickens vnder her wings: but now what ſhall I doe vnto pou?, I will caſt pou out from my ſight,

- 38 Nowe therefore brother, beholde what great gloire, & ſee the people that come from the Eaſt,
- 39 Vnto whom I will giue ſoy leaders, Abiaſham, Iſaac, Jacob, Deſas, Amos, Michras, Joel, Abdias, Jonas,

40 Naum, Nabarne, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is called alſo the * meſſenger of the Loide.)

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue ſendeth ſauls with her owne children. 18
The Gentiles are called.

- 1 Thus ſaith & Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them alſo my commandements by my ſervants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but deſpised my counſels,
- 2 The mother that bare them, ſapeth vnto them, Doe pou away, O children: ſoy I am a widowe and forſaken,
- 3 I brought pou up with gladneſſe, but with ſorrowe and heauineſſe haue I loſt pou: ſoy pe haue ſinned againſt the Lord your God, & done the thing that diſpleaſeth him,
- 4 But what ſhall I nowe doe vnto pou? I am a widow and forſaken go pe, O my children, and aſke mercy of the Lord,
- 5 And the, O Father, I call ſoy a witneſſe ſoy the mother of theſe children, which woulde not keepe my covenant,
- 6 That thou bing them to conſuſion, & their mother to a ſpoile, that their kindred be not continued,
- 7 Let their names be ſcattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, ſoy they haue deſpised my covenant,
- 8 Doe vnto the, Aſſur: ſoy thou hideſt the righteous in there: O wicked people, trinit her * what I did vnto Sodo & Gomorrah,
- 9 Whoſe land is mixed with cloudes of pitch and heapes of aſhes: ſo will I do vnto them, that beare me not, ſaith the almighty Loide,
- 10 I Thus ſaith the Loide vnto Eſaias, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ieruſalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Iſrael,
- 11 And I will get me gloze by them, and giue them the euerlaſting tabernacles, which I had prepared ſoy thoſe,
- 12 They ſhall haue as will the tree of life, ſineling of opunt: they ſhall neither labour nor be wearp,
- 13 Doe pe, and pe ſhal receive it: vray that the time, which is long, may be ſhortened: the kingdome is alreedy prepared ſoy pou: watch,
- 14 Take heauen and earth to witneſſe: ſoy I haue aboliſhed the euil, and created the good: ſoy I ſine, ſaith the Lord,
- 15 Mother, embrace thy children, & bing them vp w gladneſſe: make their ſeete as ſaſt as a pillar: ſoy I haue choſen thee, ſaith the Lord,
- 16 And thoſe that be dead, will I raiſe vp from their places, & bing them out of the graues: ſoy I haue known my name in Iſrael,
- 17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: ſoy I haue choſen thee, ſapeth the Lord,
- 18 I will ſende thee my ſervants Eſaie and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whoſe counſell I haue ſanctified and prepared ſoy thee ewelue trees laden with diuers fruites,
- 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke & hony, & ſeuene mightie mountaines, whereupon there grow roſes & lilies, wherby I will fill thy children with ioy,
- 20 Execute iuſtice ſoy the widowe: iudge the cauſe of the fatherleſſe: giue to the poore: deſend the fatherleſſe: clothe the naked.

Tab. 1. 17.

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a laine man to scorn: defend the creeple, a let the blind come into the light of my clemens.
22 keepe the old and the pong that are with in thy walles.
23 * Wherefore thou findest the dead, take them and burie them, and I will give thee
the first place in my resurrection.
24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnes shall come.
25 Nourish thy childzen, O thou good nurse:
nourish their teete.
26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.
27 Be not wearie: for when the day of trouble & heauensse cometh, other shall weepe and be sorrowfull, but thou shalt be mery, and haue abundance.
28 The heathen shall enue thee, and shall doe nothing aganist thee, saith the Lord.
29 Shine handes shall couer thee, so that thy childzen shall not see hell.
30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will beuere thee, saith the Lord.
31 Remember thy childzen that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almighty.
32 Embrace thy childzen, vntill I come and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.
33 I Elias receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.
34 And therefore I sape vnto you, O pe hea-ren, that heare and vnderstand, Waite for your thepheard, who shall giue you euerlasting rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the ende of the world.
35 Be reddie to the reuward of the kingdome:
for the eueralting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.
36 Flee the shadowe of this world: receiue the top of your gloyp: I testifie my Sauour openly.
37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thanks vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.
38 Arise, & stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord.
39 Which are departed from the shadowe of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.
40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp the that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the lawe of the Lord.
41 The number of thy childzen whome thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.
42 * I Elias saide vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.
43 And in the middes of them there was a pong man higher in stature then the al, & vpon euery one of their heades he set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much maruelled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and saide, Who are these, my Lord?
45 Who answered, and said vnto me, These be they that haue put off the moitali clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue co-fessed the name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.
46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What pong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their handes?
47 And he answered, and said vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whome they haue confessed in the world. Then beganne I greatly to commend them, that had stande so strongly for the name of the Lord.
48 Then the Angel said vnto me, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, & how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

C H A P. I I I.

4 The wonderous workes, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Esdras marvelleth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

I In the thirtieth peere after the fall of the cite, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came by to mine heart,

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was sore mooued, so that I began to speake fearefull wordes to the most high, and said,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 * And a body vnto Adam, without soule, Gen. 2. 7.
who was also the workmanship of thine handes, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee.

6 And leddest him into Paradise, which thy right hande had planted, or encre the earth brought forth.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediatly thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kindreds out of number.

8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, & did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandements.

9 * But at the time appointed, thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them,

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery
one of them, which came by death vnto Ad.

11 Yet thou leuest one, euen * Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men,

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of children, people, & many nations were increased,

13 thou beganst to be more vngodly then first.
14 Nowe when they liued wickedly before thee, thou diddest choose thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham.

15 Whom thou lovedst, and vnto whom ones thou shewedst thy will.

16 And madest an eueralting conenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede.

17 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob & Esau, * and 17 And wpe ſledeſt his ſeede out of Egypt, & thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, 18 And includeſt the heauens and bowedſt downe the earth, & diddeſt moue the ground, and cauſe the depths to ſhake, and diddeſt aſtoniſh the world.

19 And the gloſſe went theſe foure gates of fire, with earthquake, winde and colde, that thou mighteſt giue the lawe vnto the ſeede of Jacob, and that which the generati- on of Iſrael ſhould diligently obſerue.

20 Yet lookeſt thou not away from them the wicked heart, that the law might bring forth fruit in them.

Gen. 3. 6.

21 For Adam firſt hauing a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquiſhed, and all theſe that are bozne of him.

22 Thus remayned weakeneſſe iopned with the lawe in the hearts of the people, with the wickedneſſe of the roote: ſo that the good de- parted away, and the euill abode ſtill.

24 * Whome thou commandeſt to builde a citie vnto thy name, to call vpon theſe rites in with incenſe and ſacrifice.

25 When this was done many peeres, the in- habitants ſoſooke theſe, 26 Following the waies of Adam and all his generation: for theſe alſo had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gaueſt thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe theſe that dwell at Babylon, any better, that theſe ſhould haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and ſawe theſe wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth peere that I ſee many treſpaſ- ſing) I was diſcouraged,

30 For I ſawe, how thou ſuffereſt them that ſinne, and ſpareſt the wicked doers, where- as thou haſt deſtroyed thine owne people, & preſerued thine enemies, and thou haſt not ſhewed it.

31 I can not perceine howe this cometh to paſſe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then theſe of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth theſe thinges Iſrael: or what generation hath ſo beleued thy teſtimonies, as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruite: for I haue gone here and there throughout the heathens, and I ſee them ſlothy, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou theſe our wickednes now in the balance, and theſe alſo that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee ſhall be found but in Iſrael.

35 Or when is it that theſe that dwell on the earth, haue not ſinned in thy ſight: or what people hath ſo kept thy commandements?

36 Thou ſhalt ſurely ſaie that Iſrael by name hath kept thy preceptes, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angell reſpoundeth Eſdras, becauſe he ſeemed to en- ter into the profound iudgements of God.

And the Angell that was ſent vnto me, whoſe name was Uriel, answered,
And ſaid, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, & thou thinkeſt to comprehend the waies of the world.

3 Then answered I, Yea, my Lord. And he an- ſwered me, and ſaid, I am ſent to ſhewe thee theſe waies, and to ſet forth theſe ſimili- tudes befoze thee,

4 Wherefoze if thou canſt declare me one, I will ſhewe thee alſo the way, that thou deſi- reſt to ſee, & I will ſhewe thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I ſaid, Tell on, my Lord. Then ſapde he vnto me, Goe thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or meaſure me the blaſt of the winde, or call me againe the day that is paſt.

6 Then answered I, and ſapde, What man is he, that can do that, which thou requireſt me, concerning theſe things?

7 And he ſaide vnto me, If I ſhould aſke theſe howe deepe dwellings are in the winds of the ſea, or howe great ſpyngs are in the begi- ning of the depth, or howe great ſpyngs are in the ſtretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradiſe,

8 Peradventure thou wouldeſt ſap vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor pet to the hel, neither did I euer climbe vp to heauē,

9 But now haue I aſked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou haſt paſſed, & from the which things thou canſt not be ſeparated, and pet canſt thou giue me none anſwere of them.

10 He ſaide mozeouer vnto me, Thine owne thinges, and ſuch as are growen by waie theſe, canſt thou not knowe:

11 How ſhould thy beſell then be able to com- prehend the waies of the world, & now out- wardly in the corrupt world, to vnderſtande the corruption, that is euident in my ſight?

12 Then ſaid I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we ſhould liue in wickednes, & to ſuffer, and not to knowe wherefoze.

13 And he answered me, and ſaide, * I came to a fozeſt in the plaine where the trees helde a counſell,

14 And ſaide, Come, let vs go fight againſt the ſea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the ſeaooke counſell and ſaide, Come, let vs goe up and fight a- gainſt the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrie for vs.

16 But the purpoſe of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and conſumed it.

17 Likewise alſo the purpoſe of the floods of the ſea: for the ſand ſtood by & ſtopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betwene theſe two, to whome wouldeſt thou iuſtifie: or of whome wouldeſt thou condemne?

19 I answered and ſapde, Verily it is a fooliſh purpoſe, that theſe both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the ſea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and ſaid, Thou haſt giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgeſt thou not thy ſelfe alſo?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the

the wood, and the sea for his foodes, so * they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstande nothing, but that which is vpon earth: & they that are in the heauens, the thinges that are aboue the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and said, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine private thinges, but of such as we daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproche to the heathen, and for what cause the people, whome thou hast loved, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, & why the lawe of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world as the grasshoppers, and our life is a vper feare, and we are not thought worthy to obtaine mercie.

25 But what wilt thou do to his shame, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these thinges haue I asked thee question.

26 Then answered he me, and said, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt maruile: for the world hasterly shall to passe away,

27 And can not comprehend the thinges, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrightheousnesse and weaknesse.

28 But to declare thee the thinges wherof thou askest, the euill is sowne, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill nowe that is sowne, be not turned vpon downe, and if the place where the euill is sowne, passe not away, then can not the thing come, that is sowne with good.

30 For the come of euill seede hath bene sowne in the heart of Mann from the beginning, and how much vngodlines hath be brought by vnto this time? And howe much shall be bring forth vntill the harvest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruite of wickednesse the come of euill seede bringeth forth.

32 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe, which are without number, howe great an harvest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and said, Howe & when shall these thinges come to passe? wherefore are our peeres sene and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Hast not to be aboue the most high: for thou labourst in vaine to be aboue him, though thou endeavour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these thinges in their chambers, saying, Howe long shall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremie the Archangel answered, and said, When the number of the seedes is filled in pou: for he hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be vnder of spoken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne.

39 And for our sake peradventure the harvest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me, and saide, goe, and aske a woman with child, when the hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then saide I, No, Lord, she can not. And he saide vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with child, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauell, so doe these places haile to deliuer those thinges that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desiredst to see, shall be shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and saide, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete thereto, 45 Shewe me whether there be more to come then to past, of more thinges past then are to come.

46 What is past, I knowe, but what is to come, I knowe not.

47 And he saide vnto me, Stande on the right side, & I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed befoze me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholde, a smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed befoze me a watry cloude, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the storme raine was past, the dyoppes came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the dyops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the position that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the dyoppes and the smoke were much.

51 Then I played, and said, What I line, thinkest thou vntill that time? Or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me, and saide, Of the tokens wherof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shewe thee of thy life: for I do not knowe it.

CHAP. V.

In the latter times truth shall be hid. 10 Vnrightheousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is reuelled, & God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all thing in season.

Notwithstanding concerning the tokens, beholde, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall be taken in a great murther, and the war of the trued shall be hid, and the lande shall be barren from faith,

2 And * iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast sene now, or hast heard in time past. Mat. 24. 12.

3 And it shall come to passe, that one shall see in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which nowe reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the same shall suddenly shine againe in the night, and the spoone three times a day.

5 Blood shall dyoppe out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be moued.

6 And he shall ruse, of whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the soules shall change place.

- 7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a people in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.
- 8 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, & the wilde beastes shall change their places, & many women shall beare monsters,
- 9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.
- 10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall unrighteousnesse & voluptuousnesse haue the upper hand vpon earth.
- 11 One lande also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thowow thee? And it shall say, No.
- 12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterpryses shall not prosper.
- 13 To shewe thee such tokens I haue leane, and if thou wilt pray againe, and weepe as now, and fast seven dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then the se.
- 14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearfulness went thowow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainte.
- 15 But the Angell that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted me, and set me vp vpon my feete.
- 16 And in the second night, Salarhiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bene? And why is thy countenance so beaute?
- 17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the lande of their captiuitie?
- 18 Up then and eate, and forlake vs not, as the they heard that leaust his stocke in the hands of the cruel women.
- 19 The saide I vnto him, So thy waies from me, and couie not nere me: and when hee heard it, he went from me.
- 20 And I fasted seven dayes, mourning and weeping, as whiel the Angel had commaunded me.
- 21 And after seven dayes the thoughtes of mine heart were very grievous vnto me as gaine.
- 22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I beganne to talke with the most High as gaine.
- 23 And saide, O Loyde, Loyde: of euery foresse of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vinepard.
- 24 And of all landes of the woilde thou hast chosen thee one pitte, and of all the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lile.
- 25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one river, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.
- 26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cattel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.
- 27 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gorten thee one people, and vnto this people whome thou touchest, thou gauest a law, that is proued of all.
- 28 And now, O Loyde, why hast thou giuen this our people oner vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.
- 29 They tread the downe which haue wither, and the promises, and belenus not thy truth in omies.
- 30 And if thou biddest so much hate thy people, they shoulde haue bene punished with thine owne hands.
- 31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angell that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me,
- 32 And saide vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.
- 33 And I sayde, Speake on, my Loyde. Then sayde he vnto me, Thou art soze berred and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better, then he doeth that made them?
- 34 And I said, No, Loyde: but of very sorowe haue I spoken: for my retires paine me & uery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seke out part of his iudgement.
- 35 And hee sayde vnto mee, Thou canst not. And I sayde, Wherefore, Loyde, wherefore was I bozne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not sene the trouble of Jacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.
- 36 And he saide vnto me, Number vnto me things that are not yet come, or gather me the byops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowres greene againe.
- 37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me forth the windes that are shut vp therein: shewe me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and laboured to knowe.
- 38 And I sayde, O Loyde, Loyde, who can knowe these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?
- 39 But I that am ignorant, howe can I speake of these things, wherof thou askest me?
- 40 Then saide he vnto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.
- 41 Then I sayde, Beholde, O Loyde, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that that shall come after vs?
- 42 And he saide vnto me, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slackenesse of the last, so is there no slackenesse of the first.
- 43 Then I answered, and sayde, Coudest thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shewe thy iudgement the sooner?
- 44 Then answered he me, The creature sayde he, can not preuent the creator, neither can the woilde holde them at once, that shall be created therein.
- 45 And he saide, As thou hast taught thy servant, that thou, which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the woike created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might I notes also contains all men at once.

 46 And he said unto me, like the wounde of a woman, and say unto her, why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? requite her: to bring forth ere at once.
 47 And I said, surely she can not, but by distance of time.
 48 Then said he unto me, so haue I denided the number of the earth by times when seeds is sown vpon it.
 49 For as a pining child begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordered the time which I haue created.
 50 I asked againe, and sayde, seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceed to speake before thee: for my mother, whom thou hast tolde me to poynt, sheweth the nere vnto age?
 51 He answered me, and sayd, like a woman that traualleth, and she will tell thee.
 52 Saye vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whome thou hast now brought forth) like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?
 53 And hee shall answer thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombes faile.
 54 Consider now thy selfe, howe that thou art lesse of stature, then those that were before you.
 55 And to are they that come after you, lesse then you, as the creatures which now begin to be old, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.
 56 Then sayde I, Ioyde, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shew the seruant, by whome dost thou governe thy workmanship?
 CHAP. VI.
 God hath foretold all things in his secret vntil, and is answered thee, and hath created them for his children.
 The secret of the age is come.
 1 And he said vnto me, In the beginning when the round world was made, and before the boyders of the world were set, and before the wendes betwe one against another:
 2 Before the noyse of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were layed:
 3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:
 4 Before the heightes of the aire were lifted vp, before the measures of heavens were named, before the chunnels in Zion were bore:
 5 Before the pient piers were sought out, before the affections of the that nowe shine, were turned away, and they that haue laied by the treasure of faith, were sealed,
 6 Then did I purpoe these things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me also they shall be ended, and by none other.
 7 Then answered I, and sayde, What shall be the vision of times? or when shall be the end of the age, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he said vnto me, From Abraham began Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, Jacobs hande helde first the peak of Esau.
 9 For Esau is the ende of this world, & Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.
 10 The hand of man is to fetter the heale and the hande, other thing: Esau, alke thou not.
 11 I answered then, and sayde, O Ioyde, Ioyde, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an ende to shewe thy seruant thy tokens, wherof thou shewedst me part the last night.
 13 So he answered me, and sayde, Stande by vpon thy feet, and heare a night sounding voyce.
 14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be moued.
 15 And therefore when he speaketh, be not as feare: for of the ende shall be the woodyd, and of the foundation of the earth shall it be vnderstand.
 16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the ende.
 17 And when I had heard it, I stood vpon my feet, and hearkened; and beholde, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:
 18 And it said, behold, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth.
 19 And when I began to inquire of them, who by their vngiftedness haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,
 20 And the world, that shall banish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the bookes that be opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.
 21 And the children of a peere olde shall speake with their voyces: the women with childe shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall see that are rapied by.
 22 Then suddenly shall the sown places appeare as the widowen, & the full storghouses shall suddenly be found empty.
 23 And the trumpet shall sound, and alle they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.
 24 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, and the earth shall feare with them: the spijges of the welles shall stand still, and in the pones they shall not runne.
 25 Whosoever remaineth from all these things that I haue tolde thee, shall be saved and see my saluation, and the ende of our world.
 26 And the men that are receined, shall see it: they that haue not called dearely from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants, shall be changed, and turned to another meaning.
 27 For evil shall be put out, and deuite shall be quenched.
 28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shall be overcome, and the truth which hath bene so long without fruit, shall come forth.
 29 And

29. And when he talked with me, behold, I looked a little upon him before I spoke.
 30. And these words saide he unto me, I am come to shewe thee the time of the night to come.
 31. If thou wilt stay againe, I will shewe thee more things, & greater then these, which I have heard in the day.
 32. For the voyce is heard before the highest: surely the mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing: hee hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.
 33. Therefore hath he sent mee to shewe thee all these things, & to say vnto thee, See of good comfort, and feare not.
 34. And haile not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make hast to the latter times.
 35. And after this I wept againe & fasted seue daies in like manner, that I might fulfill the thre weekes, which he had appointed me.
 36. And in the eight night was mine heart vered within me againe, and I began to speake before the most High.
 37. For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in desire.
 38. And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (even the first day) and commandedst that the heauen and the earth should be made, and the wayes followed thy word.
 39. And then was there the spirit, & the darkness was on euerie side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.
 40. Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of the treasures, & it might giue light to the woike.
 41. Upon the second day thou createdst the heauens aye, and commandedst it, that going betweene, it should make a diuision betwene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.
 42. Upon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should be gathered together in the lowest part of the earth: the parties diddest thou drye, & kept them to the intent that of these things shouldest thou be called true, being seruant of God and ruled.
 43. As soone as thy word went forth, & woike was incontinently made.
 44. For immediately great and innumerable fruite did spring up, and many diuers pleasures for the tast, & flowres of vchangeable colour, & odours of a most wonderful smell, and these things were created the third day.
 45. * Upon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the Starres.
 46. And gauest them a charge, to do seruice vnto man that was for to be made.
 47. And vpon the fift day thou saidst vnto the seventh parte * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beastes, as foules and fishes: and it was so.
 48. For the domine waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commandment of God, & the nations might praise thy wonderful woikes.
 49. Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, & the other thou calledst Leviathan.

 50. And diddest separate the one from the other: for the seventh part, where the water was gathered, could not holde them.
 51. Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was bared by the third day, that he should dwell in the same place, wherein are a thousand hilles.
 52. But vnto Leviathan thou gauest the seventh parte, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.
 53. Vpon the sixte day thou gauest commandment vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beastes, cattell and creeping things.
 54. And besides this Adam, whome thou madest Lord ouer all the woikes which thou hast created, of him came wee all, and the people also, whome thou hast chosen.
 55. Tell this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the woikes for our sakes.
 56. As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but he like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a dreg that saileth from a vessel.
 57. And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, & to deuoure vs.
 58. And we the people whome thou hast called the first borne, the only begotten, and thy seruient sonne, are giuen into their hands.
 59. If the world then be created for our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance that cometh in possession: as how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

VVithout tribulation none can come to felicitie. 13 God aduertise all in time. 28 The coming and death of Christ. 33 The resurrection and last iudgement. 43 After the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fall in Adam. 59 The true life. 65 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

1. And when I had made an ende of these words, there was sent vnto me an angel, which had bene sent downe to me the night before.
 2. And he saide vnto me, My brother, I haue the wordes that I am come to tell thee.
 3. And I said, Speake on, my God. Then said he vnto mee, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.
 4. But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the rivers,
 5. Who could goe into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? If he went not throught the narrow, how could he come into the head?
 6. There is also another thing: a cite is builded, and set vpon a byade fild, and is full of all good things:
 7. The entrance thereof is narrowe and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,
 8. And there is but one path betwene them, men betwixt the fire and the water, so that there coulde but one man goe there.
 9. If this cite were giue vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thout a path before it, how could he receive his inheritance?

Job. 40.

10 And I sayd, It is so, sayd. Then sayd he,
 11 What is the portion of Israel?
 12 I sayd, For their sakes haue I made the 13 lawes: and when Adam transgressed my 14 statutes, then came death vnto all men.
 15 When were the entrance of the lawe
 16 made narrow, full of lawes and statutes:
 17 there are but fewe and small, and full of lawes,
 18 and very painfull.
 19 For the entrance of these lawes were 20 made and sure, and brought in most of fruit.
 21 If then they that are living, and are not 22 entered in the straight and narrow way, 23 they cannot attaine to those things: are they 24 who then disquieted thou thy selfe, seeing 25 thou art corruptible? And why art thou 26 mouch, seeing thou art incorruptible?
 27 And why hast thou not considered in 28 the world the things to come, rather then them
 29 that are present?
 30 Then sayd I, O sayd, sayd, * seeing thou 31 hast ordeined in the lawe, that the righte-32 ous should be inherite these things, and that 33 the vngodly should perill.
 34 Should the righteous suffer straightnes in 35 hoping for large things? yet they that haue 36 been vngodly and suffered straitnes, shall not 37 see the large things.
 38 Then he saide vnto me, There is no lodge-39 ment with God, and there is none more 40 with then the most High.
 41 For many perill in this life, because they 42 despise the lawe of God that is appointed.
 43 For God hath diligently admonished such 44 as came, so oft as they came, what they 45 should do to haue life, and what they should 46 observe, to auoide punishment.
 47 Nevertheless, they were not obedient vnto
 48 him, but spake against him, and imagined
 49 damnable things.
 50 And decried themselves by their wicked
 51 doers, and denied the power of the most 52 High, and regarded not his waies.
 53 But they despised his lawe, and refused
 54 his promises: they haue vnfaithfully dyo-55 uen his ordinances, and haue not persou-56 red his woordes.
 57 And therefore, I sayd, vnto the emptye are 58 empty things, and to the full, full things.
 59 Wherefore, the time shall come, that these 60 tokens which I haue tolde the, shall come 61 to passe, and the vyde shall appeare, and the 62 shall come forth, and be seene that now is 63 vnder the earth.
 64 And whosoever shall escape these ends, he 65 shall see my wonders.
 66 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with 67 those that be with him, & they that remaine,
 68 shall reioice with him foure hundred peeres.
 69 After these same peeres shall my sonne
 70 Christ die, and all men that haue life.
 71 And the world shall be turned into the olde
 72 silence for seven dayes, as in the foye iudge-73 ments, so that no man shall remaine.
 74 But after seven dayes, the world that is 75 set a sleepe, shall be raised up: and that shall 76 be, that is corrupt.
 77 Then the earth shall restore those, that haue 78 slept in her, and so shall the dust those that 79 dwell therein in silence, and the secret plamitted into them. It shall be said, as it was Woe faces be blacker than ſinners.

64 For while the land, we did not remember when we did bring her into, that we should suffer after death.

65 Then answered he me, and ſayde, This is the manner of theſe dayes, why man, that is borne in the earth, ſhall ſight.

66 That if hee be overcome, he ſhould ſuffer as thou haſt ſaide: but if hee get the victory, he ſhould receive the thing that I ſaid.

Deut. 30. 19.

67 For this is the life, whereof God ſhake into the people while he lieth ſleeping, of hile the life that thou ſayeſt this.

68 Afterwards, they ſhewed him that they theſe the Prophets after him, ſay ſure alſo which have ſaid unto them,

69 That heauenly ſhould not ſo be to their deſtruction, as hope ſhould come unto them, to whome ſalvation is perſeuered.

70 I answered then and ſayde, I knowe, Lord, that the moſt high is called merciful, in that he hath mercy upon them, which are not yet come to that woyle.

71 And that he hath pitie on thoſe that walke in his Lawe,

Rom. 1. 4.

72 And that he is patient: for he long ſuffereth thoſe that have ſinned as his creatures,

73 And that he is liberrall: for he will give as much as needeth,

74 And that he is of great mercie: for he overcommeth in mercie thoſe that are patient, & that are paſt, and them which are to come.

75 For if he were not abundant in his mercie, the world could not continue, nor they that have the poſſeſſion thereof.

76 He pardoneth alſo: for if he gave not of his goodneſſe, that they, which have done evil might be relieved from their wickedneſſe, & then ſhould part of men ſhould not remaine alive.

77 And if hee, being iudge, forgaue not thoſe that hee healed with his woyle, and took away the multitude of ſinnes, 78 There ſhould peradventure be very few left in an unnumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is ſmall. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Eſdras prayes for him and for his people. 39 The promiſe of ſalvation to the iuſt. 55 The deſtruction of the unjuſt.

1 And he answered me, ſaying, The moſt high made this world for man, but for woyle to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a ſimilitude, O Eſdras. As when thou aſkeſt the earth, it ſhall ſay unto thee, that it giveth much earthely matter to make pots, but ſitteth buſt that golde cometh of, ſo is it with the woyle of this world.

Mat. 26. 26.

3 * There be many created, but few ſhall be ſaved.

4 Then answered I, and ſaide, then ſwallow by the wit, O my ſoule, and devour unbelſtanding.

5 For thou haſt promiſed to heare, and thou wilt prophetic: for thou haſt no longer ſpace, but the life given thee.

6 O Lord, if thou ſuffer not thy ſervant, that we may increaſe thee, that thou mayeſt give ſeede unto our heart, and prepare our unbelſtanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereof every one which is corrupt, may live, who can be ſimile for man?

7 For thou art alone, & we all are one together in the hands of thy hands, as thou haſt ſaide.

8 For when the body is ſhadowed now in the woyle, and thou haſt given it members, the creature is preſerved by fire and water, and the woyle created by thee, they ſuffer one member of the creature, which is ſhadowed in it.

9 But the thing that contineth, and that which is in it, ſhall both be preſerved, and which thing is come, & woyle, being ſhadowed, delivereth the things that grow in it.

10 For thou haſt commanded the members, even the beaſtes, to give milke unto ſ beasts appointed to the beaſtes,

11 That the things, which are created, may be nourished for a time, till thou diſpoſeſt it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringeſt it by with thy righteouſneſſe, nouriſh it in thy Lawe, and reſtoreſt it with thy iudgment.

13 Thou ſayeſt it as thy creature, and giveſt it life as thy woyle.

14 Being then that thou deſtroyeſt him, which woyle to great labours is ſhadowed, it is a ſeale thing to appoint by thy commandement, that the things alſo which are made, might be deſtroyed.

15 Nowheretofore, O Lord, I will ſpeak (as touching men in general thou haſt rather woyle) but concerning thy people, ſay whole ſake I am ſay.

16 And for thy inheritance, for whoſe cauſe I mourne: for Iſrael, for whoſe I am ſad, and for Jacob, for whoſe ſake I am grieved.

17 For them will I praye beſore thee, ſhall for my ſelfe, as for them: for I ſee our ſaueth that dwell in the land.

18 But I have heard the ſudden coming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voice, and underſtand my woyle, which I will ſpeak beſore thee. The beginning of the woyle of Eſdras, beſore he was taken up:

20 O Lord, that liueſt for ever, which deſpoſeſt from above that which is below, and in the ayre,

21 Whoſe thyne is inestimable, and his glorie incomprehenſible, beſore whom the poſt of the Angels ſtand with trembling,

22 Whoſe keeping is turned in wine and fire, whoſe woyle is true, & ſayings ſeek ſaith, whoſe commandement is ſtrong, and government terrible.

23 Whoſe looke diſteth by the depths, and whoſe maketh the mountains to melt as wax as the thing beareth witness,

24 Heare the prayer of thy ſervant, & receive into thine care the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I live, I will ſpeak, and ſo long as I have underſtanding, I will answer.

26 Look not upon the ſinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithful ſervants.

27 Have not reſpect unto the wicked deeds of men, rather then to them that have thy ſinnes in afflictions.

28 Think not upon thoſe that have walked ſainedly beſore thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will,

29 Let it not be thy will to destroy them which have lived like beasts, but looke upon them that have cleary taught thy lawe.
30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beasts, but love them, that alway put their trust in thy righteous-nesse and gloie.
31 For we and our fathers haue all the same sickenesse: but because of us that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.
32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt be called mercifull towards vs which haue no workes of righteousness.
33 For the righteous, which haue labored by many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.
34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so griued towards it?
35 For verily there is no man among them that be boyne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doeth confesse this, which hath not done amiss.
36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness and thy goodnesse shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto the, which haue not the substance of good workes.
37 Then answered he me, and sayde, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy wordes it shall be.
38 For I will not verily consider the workes of them, before the death, before the iudge-ment, before destruction:
39 But I will reioyce in the wordes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation & the rewards that they shall haue.
40 Likewise I haue spoken now, so shall it come to pass.
41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, so yet alway the thinge is sowne, cometh not vp in tyme, neyther yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neyther shall they all that are brought into the world, be saved.
42 I answered then and sayd, If I haue found grace, let me speake.
43 Like as the husbandman (as he perissheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not rayne in due season, as if it be destroyed with too much rayne:
44 So perissheth man, which is created with thine handes, and thou art called his pater-ne, because he is created to thine image, so whose sake thou hast made all things, and turned him vnto the husbandmans seede.
45 Be not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare the people, and haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.
46 Then answered he me, & saide, The things meint are for thy present, and the things to come for such as be to come.
47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature about me: but I haue oft times visited here, vnto thee and vnto it, according to thy magnificence.
48 To this also art thou mercifull, before they are judged.
49 In that thou hast punished thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to looke thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them that shall live in the latter tyme, because they shall walke in great vyde.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the gloie for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto pou is Paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the tyme to come is prepared, plenteousnesse made ready: the cite is builded, and rest is prepared, perfite goodnes and absolute wisdom.

53 The roote of euill is lealed by from pou: the weaknes and moth is destroyed from pou, and into hell sleeth corruption to be foggote.

54 Joyowes are banished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortallitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions: becerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his lawe and forsooke his wordes.

57 Moreover, they haue troben downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, that there was no
God, though they knewe that they shoulde die.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for pou: so is thirt and payne prepared for them: for God woulde not that man shoulde perish:

60 But they, after as they were created, haue desied the name of him that made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgment is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a fewe like the:
then I answered, and sayde,

63 Beholde now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last tyme, but in what tyme, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

1 All things in this world haue a beginning and an ende.
2 Torment for the wicked after this life. 3 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 4 The lesse magnitude. 5 Therefore they perishe. 6 The vision of a woman lamenting.

1 I answered me then, and sayde, When I was the tyme with it selfe, & when thou kest that one part of the tokens come to passe which I haue tolde thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstande, that it is the tyme whererin the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when they shall see an earthquake in the world, and an vssion of the people.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstande that the most High spake of those things, from the daies p were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an ende, & the end is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most High haue beginnings in wonders and signes, and ende in iudgement and visitation.

7 And surer yet that shall escape safe, & shall be deliuered by his wordes, and by the faith wherewith they haue beleued.

8 Salve

- 8 Shall be persecuted from the last perils and shall see my salvation in my land: and touch in my borders: for I have kept his soul from the world.
- 9 Then shall they have pity of their wives, which now have abused me to weep: & they that have cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in papies.
- 10 For such as in their life have received benefits, and have not known me,
- 11 But have abhorred my lawe, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had got lease of amendment, and would not understand, but despised it,
- 12 They shall be taught it after death by paine.
- 13 And therefore be thou no more careless, to knowe howe the wordly shall be punished, but inquire howe the righteous shall be saved, and whose the wordly is, and for whom it is, and when.
- 14 Then answered I, and said,
- 15 I have also saped that which I sawe now: & will speake it hereafter, that there be no more of them which perish, then of them that shalbe saved.
- 16 As the seed is greater then a hyop.
- 17 And he answered me, saying. As the seld is, so is the seed: as the sowes be, so are the colours also: such as the woman is, such is the worke: & as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.
- 18 Surely when I spered the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now live, no man spake against me.
- 19 For then every one obeyed, but now the manners of them are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seede, and by a lawe, whereof they can not ridde themselves.
- 20 As I considered the world, & beholds, there was perill, because of the devices, that were sprung up into it.
- 21 Yet when I sawe it, I spared it greatly, and have kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.
- 22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I have dressed with great labour.
- 23 I sowed the seed, if thou wilt reape seven dapes more: but thou shalt not fall in them.
- 24 But shalt goe into a sayre seld, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the sowes of the seld, & eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the sowes onely.
- 25 And pray unto the most high continually, that he will come, and take with thee.
- 26 As I went my way, as he had committed me into the seld, which is called the barth, and there I sate among the hollies, and did eate of the herbes of the seld, and the meate of the same sanctified me.
- 27 And after seven dapes, as I sate upon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore.
- 28 I opened my mouth, and began to eate before the most high, and to see.
- 29 As I sate, when thou wouldst have thy selfe unto vs, thou desiredst the selfe unto our fathers in the wilderness, in a place

- where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt.
- 30 And suddenly spakest unto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and marke my wordes, thou seede of Jacob.
- 31 For behold, I sowe my lawe in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for ever.
- 32 But our fathers, which received the lawe, kept it not, neyther observed thine ordinances, neyther did the fruite of the lawe appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.
- 33 For they that received it, perished because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.
- 34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiveth seede, as the sea a ship, as a vessel meate and drinke, if that perill wherein a thing is sown, as wherein any thing is put,
- 35 Likewise the thing that is sown, as is put therein, and the things that are receaved, must perish: so the things that are receaved, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it cometh not so to passe.
- 36 For we that have received the lawe, perish in shame, and our heart also which receiveth it.
- 37 But the lawe perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.
- 38 I And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, and upon the right side, I sawe a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voyce, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes upon her head.
- 39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me unto her.
- 40 And saide unto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?
- 41 And she saide unto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorrow: for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought very lowe.
- 42 Then I said unto her, What apleth that tell me.
- 43 And she saide unto me, I thy servant have bene barren, and have had no child, having an husband thirte yeres.
- 44 And every houre, & every day these thirte yeres I pray to the most high day and night.
- 45 And after thirte yeres God heard me, thine handmaide, & looked upon my misery, considered my trouble, & gave me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my country, & we gave great honour unto the Almighty.
- 46 And I nourished him with great trouble.
- 47 So when he grew up, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeared unto him, continue together.

- 1 When my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.
- 2 Then we all observed the lightes, and with us in our chambers rose up to count out the lightes.
- 3 I rested until the second day at night.
- 4 And when they had all left off to count out, I thought that I should be quiet, then I rose up by night, and seld, and am come into this seld.

saide as thou saidst.

4 And as yet purposed to returne into the cite, but to remaine here, & neuer to see my kinne, but continually to mourne and fast, until I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, & came to her angrily, and sadde.

6 Thou foolish woman about all other, least thou hast not hearkned, and wast commonly vnto vs?

7 For thou our mother is all woeful and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Bring to be all now in heauennes, & make our mowes (for we be all sorrowfull) as thou saiest for one sinner?

9 Denynde the earth, and she shall tell thee that it is she which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that growe vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are bozne of her, and other shall come, & depoyde, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shalbe destroyed.

11 Wilt thou bidde thou rather mourne, the that hath so great a multitude, as thou which art lone but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto mee, Why mournings is not like the mourninge of the earth? for I haue lost þ fruites of my wombe, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes.

13 But the earth is according to the manner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came.

14 Then say I vnto the, As thou hast bozne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboureth her.

15 Nowe therefore withholde thy sorowes in thy life, and beare constantly that which cometh vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in mine, thou shalt be comforted therein.

17 Goe thy wepe then into the cite to thine husband.

18 & Then she saide vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the cite, but here wil I die.

19 So I continued to speake moze with her, & saide.

20 Do not so, but be comforted: for holwe man saies hath sion? What of good comforts because of the sorowes of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is laid waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our Sanctuary sainteth, and the song ceaseth, & our myrris is banished away, and the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the Arche of our covenant is taken away, & our holy things are defiled, and the name that is called vpon our vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Whettes are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgines are defiled, and our wiues ransomed, and our righteous men spoiled, and our children destroyed, & our yong men are brought in bonds, & our strong men are become weak.

23 And, which is the greater of all, sion the hole hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate her.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the slaughter may be mercede fall vnto thee, and that the most high may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And whil I was talking with her, her face and beauty shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her and wiled what it might be.

26 And behold, immediately she cast out a great voyce, very fearfull, so that the earth shooke at the noise of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a curie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cried with a loud voyce, & saide,

28 Where is Thiel the Angell? which came to me at the first: for he hath caused me to come into many and depe considerations, & mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lap as one drab, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he took me by the right hand and comforted me, and set me vpon my feet, and said vnto me,

31 What apleth thee? and wher is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sope?

32 And I saide, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done according vnto thy wordes: I went into the field, and there haue I sene things, and se that I am not able to expell.

33 Then saide he vnto me, Stand by manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my lord, & forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue sene that I knowe not, and beare that I do not knowe, 36 As is mine vnderstanding deceived, as doth my minde, being haunte, erre?

37 As we therefore I desired thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, & said, Heare me, & I wil informe thee, and tel thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most high hath reueiled mann secretes things vnto thee.

39 He hath sene thy good purpose, that thou art soile continually for thy people, & maketh great lamentation for sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a litte while ago.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganest to comforte her:

42 But now seest thou the like of þ woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded, 43 And where as theretoe the of the death of her sone, this is the solution.

44 This woman, which thou sawest, (she is sion: and where as she tobe the (turne she which then seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that she saide vnto thee, that she was barren thirrie yeres, this was concerning that, there was enen thirrie yeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirrie yeres, Salomon baptizeth

 riſhed him with labour, that was the inha-biring of Jeruſalem.
- 48 But whereas ſhe tolde the ſonne, as his chaine was, ſhe ſaid when ſhe came into her chamber, that is ſhe ſhall that is come to Jeruſalem.
- 49 And when thou ſawest her like one that mourned for her ſonne, thou beganneſt to comfort her: of theſe things, which haue chaunced, theſe are to be opened vnto the.
- 50 For nowe the moſt high ſeeth, that thou art ſoyern in the minde, and becauſe thou liſt freſt with all thine heart for her, he ſheweth thee the clearnes of her glory, & the fairnes of her beautie.
- 51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the ſeide where no houſe was built.
- 52 For I knewe that the moſt high woulde ſhewe theſe things vnto thee.
- 53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the ſeide, where no foundation nor building is.
- 54 For the woeke of mans building can not ſtand in that place where the citie of the moſt high ſhould be ſhewed.
- 55 And therefore feare not, neyther let thine heart be aſtrayd, but go in, and ſee the beau-tie and greatneſſe of the building as much as thou art able to ſee with thine eyes.
- 56 And after this ſhalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend.
- 57 For thou art bleſſed above many, and art called with the moſt high among the ſeue,
- 58 But to morrowe at night thou ſhalt re-maine here.
- 59 And the moſt high ſhall ſhewe thee viſions of high things, which the moſt high wil do vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the laſt dayes. So I kept the ſame night and another, as he had commanded me.
- CHAP. XI.
- 1 The viſion of an eagle coming forth of the ſea, and of her feathers. 2 Of a lyon coming out of the foreſt.
- 1 Then ſawe I a dreame, and beholde, there came vp from the ſea an eagle, which had twelue feathered winges, and thre heades.
- 2 And I ſawe, & beholde ſhe ſpread her winges ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blew vpon her, and gathered themſelues.
- 3 And I behelde, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became lile feathers and ſmall.
- 4 But her head remained ſtill, and the head in the middes was greater then the other heades, yet reſted it with them.
- 5 Whereafter, I ſawe that the eagle ſetle both his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.
- 6 And I ſawe that all things vnder heauen were ſubiect vnto her, and no man ſpake a-gainſt her, nor not one creature vpon earth.
- 7 I ſawe alſo that the eagle ſtoode vpon her clawes, and ſpake to her feathers, ſaying,
- 8 Waite me all together: ſeepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by courſe.
- 9 But let the heades be preferred for the laſt.
- 10 neuertheleſſe, I ſawe that the voyce went not out of her heades, but from the middes of her bodie.
- 11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, &
 beholde, there were egipt of them.
- 12 And I looked, and beholde, vpon the right ſide there aroſe one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.
- 13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next ſtoode by, and reigned: it continued a long time.
- 14 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came alſo, and as the firſt, ſo it appeared no more.
- 15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and ſape, Heare thou that haſt kept the earth ſo long:
 this I ſay vnto thee, beſore thou beganneſt to appeare no more.
- 17 There ſhall none after thee attaine vnto the time, neither to the half thereof.
- 18 Then aroſe the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more alſo.
- 19 So came it to all the others one after other, ſo that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.
- 20 Then I looked, and beholde, in proceſſe of time the feathers that followed, ſtoode vpon the right ſide, that they might rule alſo, and ſome of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.
- 21 For ſome of the were let by, but ruled not.
- 22 After this I looked, and beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two winges.
- 23 And there was no more vpon the eagles body, but two heades remained, and ſix winges.
- 24 Then ſawe I alſo that two winges deinde them ſelues from the ſide, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right ſide: for the ſoules continued in their place.
- 25 So I looked, and beholde, the undertwinges thought to ſet by themſelues, and to haue the rule.
- 26 Then was there one let by, but ſhortly it appeared no more.
- 27 And the ſeconde were ſoner gone then the firſt.
- 28 Then I beheld, and ſo, the two that rema-ned, thought alſo in themſelues to reigne.
- 29 And when they ſo thought, beholde, there awoke one of the heades that were at reſt, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.
- 30 And then I ſawe, that the two heades were loqued therewith.
- 31 And beholde, the head was turned with the that were with it, and did eat by the two vnder-winges that would haue reigned.
- 32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule vnto it, ouer all thole that dwell vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the worldes, more then all the winges that had bene.
- 33 After this I looked, and beholde, the head that was in the middes, ſuddenly appeared no more, as did the winges.
- 34 But the two heades remained, which alſo ruled the whole vpon earth, & ouer thole that dwell therein.
- 35 And I behelde, and ſo, the head vpon the right

might be denouced it that was vpon the left 35. ¶ Then I heard a voyce which sayde vnto me, Come before this, & consider the thing that thou seest.
 36. So I saue, and beholde, as it were a lion that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saue that he leue out a mans voyce into the Eagle, and spake, and sayde, 37. Feare thou. I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee.
 38. Art not thou þ that of the foure beasts re-mainest, wch I made to reigne in my world, that by then the ende of times might come.
 39. And the fourth is comē, & hath overcome all the beasts that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great feartfulness, and ouer the whole compass of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with desire.
 40. For thou hast not iudged the world with truth.
 41. Seeing þ hast troubled þ meke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, & thou hast toued spers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruite, and hast cast downe the bulwarks of such as did thee no harme.
 42. Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come up vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Highste.
 43. The most High also hath looked vpon the yownde times, and beholde, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.
 44. Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, nor thine horrible winges, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked claws, nor all thy vaine body.
 45. That al the earth may be refreshed, & come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, and that the map hope for thy iudgement & mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

1. And when the Lion spake these wordes to the Eagle, I saue,
 2. And beholde, the head that had þ vps-per hand, appeared no more, neither vpd the foure wings appeare any more, & came to it, and set vp themselves to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproyes.
 3. And I saue, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare.
 ¶ Then I awaked out of þ trouble & traunce of my minde, and from the great feare, and saide vnto my spirit,
 4. Doe, this hast thou done vnto me in þ thou searchest out the waies of the most High.
 5. Doe, per am I wearie in my minde, and very weak in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.
 6. Therefore now will I beseech þ most High that he will comfort me vnto the ende.
 7. And I saide, O Lord, sayd, if I haue founde grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede be come vp before thy face, 8. Comfort me, and shewe me thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou inapest perfectly com-foye my soule,

 9. Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthy to shewe me the last times.
 10. ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision.
 11. The eagle, whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the * kingdom which was scene, Dan. 7.
 in the vision of thy brother Daniel.
 12. But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.
 13. Beholde, the dapes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdom vpon the earth, and it shall bee feared aboue all kingdoms that were before it.
 14. In it shall twelue kings reigne one after an other.
 15. Whereof the seconde shall begin to reigne, and shall haue moie time then the twelue.
 16. And this do þ twelue wings signifye which thou sawest.
 17. As for the voyce that thou hearest speake, & that thou sawest not go out from þ heads, but fro the middes of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,
 18. That after the time of that kingdom there shall arise great strife, and it shalbe in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shal be restoyed againe to his beginning.
 19. Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou sawest hang vnto her winges, this is the interpretation,
 20. In him shall arise eight kings, whose time shalbe but small, and their peres short, & two of them shall perishe.
 21. But when the midde time cometh, there shalbe foure kept a time, whyles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shalbe kept vnto the ende.
 22. And whereas thou sawest thy heads re-ring, this is the interpretation,
 23. In his last dapes shall the most High rapie vp these kingdoms, and shall call agayne many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth.
 24. And of those that dwel therein, with much griefe aboue all those that were before them:
 therefore are they called the heades of the Eagle.
 25. For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last ende.
 26. And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifyeth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with payne.
 27. For the two that remaine, the sword shall denoure them.
 28. For the sword of the one shall denoure the other: but at the last shall he fall by the sword himselfe.
 29. And whereas þ sawest two vnderwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30. These are they whom the most High hath welterned for their ende, whose kingdom is litle, and full of trouble as thou sawest.
 31. And the Lion whom thou sawest rising by out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vni-righteousness with all the wordes that thou hast heard, 32. This is the vnde which the most High hath hath kept for them, and for their wickedness unto the ende, and he shall reprove them, and cast beside them their scories.

33 For he shall let them alive in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For he will deliver the residue of my people by affliction, which are preferred upon my borders, & he shall make the ioyful, untill the coming of a day of iudgement, whereof
I have spoken unto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the meaning that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast bene more to knowe this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast sene in a booke, and hide them.

38 And teache them the wile of the people, whose heartes thou knowest map compession and kepe these secretes.

39 But waite thou here yet seven dayes mor, that it may be shewed thee what so euer it pleaseth the most High to declare unto thee:
and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceived, that the seven dayes were past, and I not come again into the cite, they gathered them all together, from the least unto the most, and came unto me, and spake unto me, saying,

41 What have we offended thee, or what evil have we done against thee, that thou forsake st us, and sitest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left us as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as an haire of thy plecter used from the tempest.

43 Are not the evils which are come unto us, sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake us, howe much better had it bene for us, & we had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For we are no better then they that dyed
there: and they wept with a loud voice.
Then answered I them, and sayde,

46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heavie, thou house of Jacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotte you in temptation.

48 As for me I have not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to piap for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the lowe estate of your sanctuarie.

49 And now go your way home euery man, & after these dayes will I come unto you.

50 So the people went their way into the ci-tie, as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the felde seven dayes, as he had commanded me, and dyd eate onely of the flowes of the felde, and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a winde coming forth of the sea, 3 VVhich became a man. 5 His properties and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

1 And after the seven dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it moued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, & beholde, there was a nightie man in the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were sene vnder him.

4 And when a voyce went out of his mouth, all the burnes heard his voyce, as a peare saileth when it saileth the fire.

5 After these things I sawe, and beholde, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the four windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and beholde, he graued him
selfe a great mountaine, and slew up vpon it.

7 But I would haue sene the countrey of place wherout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I sawe after these things, and beholde, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraid, and yet they burnt fight.

9 Nevertheless, when he sawe the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, he lifted not up his hand: for he sene no sword, nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely, as I sawe, he sent out of his mouth as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mist together, even this blast of fire, the winde of the floure, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them by all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing sene, but onely dust and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 Afterwards sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some in ioyful countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bounde, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and said,

14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to see me in prayer.

15 Shewe me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine understanding, Wo vnto them that haue left in those dayes, and much more wo vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heaui-nesse.

18 Now understand I the things that are laide by in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, & to those that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils & many necessities, as these dayes declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that he that is in danger, should fall into these, and forseeke the things to come hereafter, then to passe alway as a cloud out of the world.

21 I Then answered he me, and sayde, The interpretation of the vision which I shew thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation,

23 He that shall beare the danger in that time, he shall kepe him selfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue wooken and sayd saies toward the most high.

- 24 Know therefore, that they which be left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.
- 25 These are the meanings of the vision, whereas thou sawest a man coming up from the mides of the sea.
- 26 The same is he whom the most high hath kept a great season, who by his owne self shall deliver his creature, and he shall order them that are left behind.
- 27 And whereas thou sawest that out of his mouth there came as a blast of fire, & flame,
- 28 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his strength he destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,
- 29 Behold, the dayes come that the most high will begin to deliver them that are upon the earth.
- 30 And he shall astonish the heartes of them that dwell upon the earth:
- 31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, cite against cite, and place against place, & nation against nation, & realme against realme.
- 32 When this cometh to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my people be rescued, whom thou sawest go up as a man.
- 33 And when all the people hear his voice, every man shall in their owne land leave the hatred that they have one against another.
- 34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him.
- 35 But he shall stand upon the top of mount Sion.
- 36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shined to all, being gathered and numbered, as thou sawest the hill growen foorth without any daubes.
- 37 And this my people shall counte the wicked intentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest.
- 38 And men counten to come to Sion, whereby they shall be comforted: and without any labour will he destroy them, even by the lawe, which is compared unto the fire.
- 39 And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people unto him,
- 40 Those are the ten tribes which were carried away captives out of their owne lande, in the time of Sennacherib, whom Salsanassar king of the Assyrians tooke captive, and carried them beyond the river: so were they brought into another land.
- 41 But they tooke this counsel to the selves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further countrey, where never mankinde dwelt,
- 42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they never kept in their owne land.
- 43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the river Euphrates.
- 44 For the most high then shewed them signes, and shewed the things of the flood till they were passed over.
- 45 For thowise of the countrey there was a great journey, even of a yere and a halfe, and the same region is called Belacethy.

- 46 Then dwelt they there until the latter time: and when they came forth againe,
- 47 The most high then shewed them the springs of the river againe, that they might goe thence: therefore dwelt they in the multitude peaceable.
- 48 But they that be left behind of the people, are those that be found within the borders.
- 49 Some when he destroyed the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall overcome the people that remaine.
- 50 And then shall my people great wonders and signes see.
- 51 Then saide I, O Lord, say, how many wonders thou hast I see the man continually up from the mides of the sea.
- 52 And he said unto me, No thou canst neither seeke out, nor knowe these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, lo come thou upon earth see my holme, at that time when I will give it in the time of that day.
- 53 This is the interpretation of the vision which thou sawest, and whereby thou shalt be lightened.
- 54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne land, and applied thy diligence unto mine, and sought it.
- 55 The life hath thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called understanding to thy rescue.
- 56 Therefore saide I, I would that the captives with thee might see: and after that other dayes I will shewe other things unto thee, and will declare unto thee great and wonderous things.
- 57 Then went I fowth unto the field, glorifying and praising the most high for the wonders which he did in time.
- 58 Which he wondereth, and such things as come in their lawell: and there I sawe other dayes.

CHAP. XLIII.

- Howe God appeared to Moses in the bush, to shew him his will. 15 The latter times which shall come. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and judgement.
- 1 Upon the thirde day I sawe under an oke, and beheld, there came foorth a voice unto me out of the bush, & saide, Elias, Elias.
- 2 And I sayd, Here am I, Lord, and stood by upon my feet.
- 3 Then said he unto me, * In the bush I revealed my selfe, and spake unto thy people, who my people served in Egypt:
- 4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him upon the mount Sinai, & I held him with me a long season.
- 5 And I told him many wonders, and shewed him the secrets of the times and the ende, and commanded him, saying,
- 6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou doe.
- 7 And now I say unto thee, that thou lay by in thine heart signes that I have shewed, and the meanings that thou hast seene, & the interpretations which thou hast heard.
- 8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine henceforth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, untill the times be ended.
- 9 For the world hath lost his pouty, and the times times beginne to worne older.

10 For the wayde, is shadowed into shadowe parts, and can partes of it are gone already, and halfe of the new heart.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore let thine house in order, and reforme the people, & comfort such of them, as be in trouble, & woe, remoune & conception.

13 Let goe from thee the burden of woe, and put off now the weary nature.

14 And let aside thy most grievous thoughts, and haile thee to depart from their cruelties.

15 For greater evils then those, which thou hast sente now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the woide is by reason of age, the more shall the evils be increased upon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and there are at hande: for none haileth the wisdom to come, that thou hast sente.

18 & Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Behold, & I sayd, I will goe as thou hast commaunded mee, and reforme the people, which are present: but they shall be boyne afterwarde, who shall admonish them.

20 Thus the woide is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For the Lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things, which are done of thee, or the woikes that shall be done.

22 But if I have found grace before thee, send the holp of thine hande unto me, and I will write all that hath bene done in the woide since the beginning, which was written in thy lawe, that men may see the path, and that they which dwell in the latter dayes, may know.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe, and gather the people, and say unto them, that they seeke thee not for fourty dayes.

24 But prepare thee many booke tables, and take with thee these five, Seara, Dabja, Seremia, & Camis, and Misel, which are ready to write swifely.

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of understanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the things be performed, which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly unto the perfite men, and some things shall thou thewe secretly unto the wise: to increase thou shalt thou beginne to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commaunded me, and gathered all the people together, & sayde, 28 Heare these wordes, O Israel.

29 Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were delivered.

30 And received the Lawe of life, which they kept not, which ye also have transgressed after them.

31 Then was the lande, even the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also have done unrighteously, and have not kept the wayes, which the most high commaunded you.

32 And for so much as he is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had given you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore it is so, that ye will labour your owne understanding, & reforme your heart, ye shall be kept alive, and after death shall ye obtaine mercy.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall live againe: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, & the woikes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore cause name unto me, nor seek me these fourty dayes.

37 So I tooke the five men, as he commaunded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, beholde, a vopce called me, saying, Efdas, open thy mouth, and drinke that I give thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached me a full cuppe, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it and dranke, and when I had drunk it, mine heart had understanding, and wisdom grew in my brest: for my spirit was strengthened in me in meroie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most high gave understanding unto the five men, that they might see the rhyones of the iudg, which they understode not.

43 But in the night they did eat bread, but I spake by day, & held not my tongue by night.

44 In fourty dayes, they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And when the fourty dayes were fulfilled, the most high spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the most high and I may be made knowne.

46 But keepe the seculent last, that thou mayest give them to the wise among the people.

47 For in them is the verie of understanding, and the fountaine of wisdom, and the fount of knowledge: and I did so.

C H A P. XV.

The prophet of Efdas is certaine. 5 The evils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lords will avenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition, 20 And punishment upon the Kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warre upon the whole earth. 33 God is the rememer of his elect.

BEhold, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth, sayeth the Lord: And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithful and true.

2 Fear not the imaginations against thee: let not the unfaithfulness of the speakers trouble thee, that spake against thee.

3 For every unfaithfull shall die in his unfaithfulness.

4 Beholde, sayeth the Lord, I will bring plagues upon all the world, the sword, famine, death, and destruction.

5 Because iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, & their wicked woikes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, sayeth the Lord, I will hold my tongue no more for their wickedness, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things, that they do wickedly.

8 Behold,

- 49 I will sende plagues vpon thee, with holie pests, pannes, and famines, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.
- 50 And the glass of the golden shalbe dyed by, as a stone when the pestilence shall be sent vpon thee.
- 51 Thou shalt be like as a pome hille that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the nights and the towers shall not be able to rescue thee.
- 52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord.
- 53 If I haddeit not, alwaye stans my choise, exalting the stroke of thine handes, and laid ouer their heads, when thou wast quier.
- 54 Yet for thy beauty of thy countenance.
- 55 The rewards of thy wisdom shall be in thy bolome: therefore shall thou receive a reward.
- 56 As thou hast bene vnto my choise, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.
- 57 And thy chynem shall be of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.
- 58 And they that be in the mountaine shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread & spirit of water.
- 59 And thou, as with apple, shalt come thow
the sea, and receive plagues againe.
- 60 In the passage they shall cast downe the stone cities, and shall close out one part of the lands, and consume the portion of thy glass, and shall retorne to her that was desolate.
- 61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as a snail, and they shall be to thee as fire.
- 62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy lands, and thy monuments: all the trees and all the fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.
- 63 Thy children shall they carry away cap-tine, and shall smale thy substance, & marre
the beauty of thy face.

C H A P. XVI.

- 1 Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt and Syria. 16. 38
Of the cast that shall come vpon the world, with admo-nition howe to gouerne them selves in affliction. 5. 1. To acknowledge their sinnes, and to returne them selves to the Lord. 5. 5. Vnto the righte promission and comfort to be returned.
- 1 W ILL to thee, Babylon and Asia: two to thee, Egypt and Syria.
- 2 Verbe thou, sines with sacke and heare cloth, and moue poue children, and be sad: for poue destruction is at hand.
- 3 He sword is sent vnto poue, and who will turne backe: a fire is sent among poue, and who will quench it.
- 4 Plagues are sent vnto poue, and who can dime them away.
- 5 As a man by me away an hunger, as on in the wood: of quene the fire on subsiste when it hath once begunne to burne:
maye one turne againe the arrowe, that is shot of a strong archer.
- 6 The vengeance will sende the plagues, and who can by me them away: the fire is gone though in his way, and who can quench it.

- 7 Hee shall cast lightnings, and who shall not fear: he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid.
- 8 The Lord shall open, and who shall not close: he shall open in waters at his pleasure:
the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof:
the sea ariseth by his waves from the deep, & the waves thereof are troubled, & the mountains thereof, before the Lord, and the glory of his power.
- 9 For strong is his right hand, that deneth the bowe: his arrows that be thowert, are sharp, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot: and the endes of the world.
- 10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, all they come by me.
- 11 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundatioun of the earth.
- 12 As an arrowe which is shot of a strong archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne again.
- 13 Who is me, who is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes.
- 14 The beginning of sorowes is great mourning:
the beginning of famine, and great dearth: the beginning of warres, and the yolours shall seare: the beginning of milis, & all shall tremble. What shall I do in these things, when the plagues come.
- 15 The holie, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment: and they shall not turne backe.
- 16 But for all these things, they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor be alwaye mind-full of the scourges.
- 17 Behold, I will sende thee to good cheape vpon earth, & they shall thinke them felis:
to be in good case: but then shall a rule be sent vnto earth, when the sword, the famine, and great confusion.
- 18 For me, of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perill with famine, and the other that are in the sea, shall the sword destroy.
- 19 And the dead shall be cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wastid, and the ciues shall be cast downe.
- 20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them.
- 21 The grapes shall be ripe, but who shall reade them: for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.
- 22 For of one cite there shall be ten left, & two of a field, which shall be the remaine in the thicke woods, and in the cleftes of rocks.
- 23 As when there remaine chace of foure or fives in the place where vines grow, as a mong other trees.
- 24 As as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought through the vineyard.
- 25 So in those dayes there shall be three or four left by them that search their houses with the sword.
- 26 And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof shall waie old, and her waters and all her paths shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauele there through.

27 The virgin shall mourne, hauing no bydes groomes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bydegroomes be deserted, and their husbands shall perishe with famine.

29 But ye seruants of the Lorde, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Beholde, the woide of the Lorde, receiue it:
heere not the goddess of whome the Lorde speakeh: beholde, the plagues shal come,
and are not slacke.

31 As a traouailing woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the childe cometh to the birth, they say not a word:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the woide shall mourne, and sorowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my woide: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 Ye that selleth, let him be as he that sleeth his wape: and hee that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as he that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as hee that shall not dwell therein:

36 Ye that soweth, as one that shall not reape:
he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spolie their goods, and ouertrowe their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with conetousnesse, the more they deere their cities, their houses, their possessions, & their owne persons.

41 So much more will I be angry agaynst them for their sinnes, saith the Lorde.

42 As a whooe enuieus an honest and vertuous woman.

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when he bracheth her selfe, & shall accuse her openly, when he shall come that shall byde the anoy of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like them, noy to the woies thereof: for of euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth,
and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the inner lap, that be hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lorde God and his shoo.

46 Beholde, the Lorde: knoweth all the thoughtes of men, their imaginations, their conceits, and their heartes.

47 For as soon as he sayeth, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made,
and it was created.

48 As his word were the floures established, and he knoweth the number of them.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 He hath put the sea in the middes of the waters, and with his woide hath he hangd
the earth vpon the waters.

51 He speaketh out the heauen like a bature:
vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springes of water, and pooles vpon the top of the moun-taines, to poure out floudes from the high rockes to water the earth.

53 He made man, and put his heart in the niddes of the body, and gaue him breath, life and understanding.

54 And the Spirite of the Almighty God, which made all thinges, and hath searched all the hid thinges in the secrets of the earth.

55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lorde searched & sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before me, ye shalbe comforted, and your owne sinnes shall stand as pont accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, O howe will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angles?

59 Beholde, God him selfe is the Judge:
feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and ineede no more from henceforth with them: so shall God redeem you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heate of a great multitude is kindled agaynst you, and they shall take a wey certaine of you, and shall slay you for meate to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision, and in reproche, and troden vnder foot.

62 For in euery place and cities that are here, there shalbe great insurrection agaynst those that feare the Lorde.

63 They shalbe like madde men: they shall spare none: they shall spolie, and waite such as yet feare the Lorde.

64 For they then shall waite and spolie their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the cry of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tryed by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lorde: Beholde, the dayes of trouble are at hande, but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandments and precepts, saith the Lorde God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift them selues vp.

68 I doe vnto them that are bounde with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a hedge is hedged in with bulles, and the parth thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may passe: it is thus vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

Tobit.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobias' parentage. 3 His godliness. 6 His equitie. 8 His charity and piety. 23 He fleeth, and his goods are confiscated. 25 And after restored.

Tobias being captiue amongst the Assyrians, did not leaue the way of truth.

Or, Salma-nazar.

2. King. 17. 3.

Tobias was mercifull.

The books of the wordes of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Abiel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seede of Israel, & of the tribe of Naphtalim,

2 Who in the time of Enemessar, King of the Assyrians was * led away captiue out of Chalde, which is at the right hand of that cite, which is called properly Nephtalim, in Galilee above Nisr.

3 Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of truth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the byethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to Sinene into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the lande of Israel, being but young, all the tribe of Nephtalim my father fell from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built up for all ages.

5 How all the tribes, which fell from God, pees, and my father Nephtalim house of seed to the heifer called Baal.

6 But I (as it was ordained to all Israel by an euertlasting decree) went alone often to Jerusalem, at the feastes, * bringing the first frutes, and the tenthes of beastes, with that which was first shorne, & offered them at the altar to the Highpriests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Highpriests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministered in Jerusalem: the other tenth part I sold, and came and bestowed it euery yeere at Jerusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whome it was meete, as Deboia my father's mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupil.

9 Furthermore when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 But when I was led captiue to Sinene, all my byethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating, because I remember God with all mine heart.

12 Therefore the most High gaue me grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purpoore.

13 And I went into Media, and I deliuered ten talents of silver to Gabael the brother of Gabias in the land of Media.

14 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead, whose state, because it was troubled, I could not go into Media.

15 But in the time of * Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my byethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry,

16 And my clothes to the naked: and if I sawe any of my kinred dead, or cast about the walles of Sinene, I buried him. 18 And if the King Sennacherib had slain any, when he * was come and fledde from Assur, I buried them quietly (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the King.

19 Therefore when a certaine Sineneite had accused me to the King, because I did burye them, I hid my selfe: and because I knewe that I was sought to be slain, I withdrew me selfe for feare.

20 Then all my goods were spoiled, neither was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

21 Sennacherib * within five and fiftie daies, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Arrarath, and Sarchedonius his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed out his fathers accomps, and ouer all his domesticall affayres, Aschiacharius my brother Annels sonne.

22 And when Aschiacharius had made a request for me, I came againe to Sinene: now Aschiacharius was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and afterwards, and ouerlaue the accomps: so Sarchedonius appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

CHAP. II.

Tobit calleth his faithful to his table. 3 He leaueh the feast to burye the dead. 10 How he became blind. 13 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 She reprobeth him bitterly.

Now when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto me with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Wintercock, which is the holy feast of the seven weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I ate downe to eate.

2 And when I sawe abundance of meate, I said to my sonne, Sor, and bing what pouce bidst dinner me to erie thou shalt finde of our byethren those which which doeth remember God, and loe, I will feare God earp for thee.

3 But he came againe, & saide, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I went by, and brought him into mine house, vntill the going downe of the sunne.

5 Then I returned and walshed, and ate my meate in heavynesse.

6 Remembyng that prophete of * Amos, into his which had sayde, Your solemn feastes shall be turned into mourning, and your ioyes into weeping.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the sunne I went & made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and sayd, Doeth he not feare to die for this cause, who * fled away, and per loe, he burpeth the dead againe?

9 The same night also when I returned fro the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and hauing my face incouered,

10. And this thing

10 And I knowe not that sparrowes were in the wall, and as mine eyes were open, the sparrowes cast downe warlike dongue into mine eyes, and a tubenelle came in mine eyes, and I went to the physicians, but they helped me not. Whoyrouer Schacharus did nourish me, untill I went into Helmais.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens waykes to doe.

12 And when they had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gave a kid.

13 Which when it was at mine house, I began to bleat. I saide unto her, from whence is this kid? is it not stolen? render it to the owners: for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stolen.

14 But she sayd, It was given for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleue, I bad her to render it to the owners, & I did blush, because of her. Furthermore she sayde, Where are thine almes, & thy righteousnesse? behold, they all now appeare in thee.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguel's daughter, and the things that came unto her: 12 Her prayer heard. 29 The Angel Raphael sent.

1 Then I being sorrowfull, did weepe, & in my sorrowe prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and al thy wayes and al thy wayes are mercie and trueth, and thou ingest trueth and iustity for ever.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my finnes, or mine ignorances of my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandmentes, wherefore thou hast deliuered us for a spoile, and unto captiuitie, & to death, and for a yonger of a reproche to all them among whom we are disperfed, and now thou hast man and iust causes.

5 To doe with me according to my finnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy commandmentes, neither haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Nowe therefore deale with me as seemeth best unto thee, and commande my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to be thine to live, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorrowfull: commande therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the everlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 As it came to passe the same day, that in Eccliaie a cite of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maides.

8 Because she had bene married to seven husbundes, whome Minodens the euill spirit had killed, before that they had iuen with her. Worth thou not knowest, sayde they, that thou hast strangled thine husbundes: thou hast had now seven husbundes, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore dost thou? beat us for them? if they be dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee epther sonne or daughter.

10 When he heard these thynges, she was ver-

ry sorrowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And she sayde, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the grave with sorrow.

11 Then they prayed toward the window and saide, We lifted art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious name is blessed, and honorable for ever: let all thy wayes praise thee for ever.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee.

13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproche.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any man childe to bee his heire, neither any: were kinman or child borne of him, to whome I may kepe my selfe for a wife: my seven husbundes are now dead, and why should I live? But if it please not thee that I should die, commande to looke on me, and to pittie me that I doe no more heare reproche.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, & to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Minodens the euill spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, & entered into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. II.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

1 In that day Tobit remembred * the siner, which he had deliuered to Gabael in Raguel a cite of Media.

2 And sayde with himselfe, I haue withed for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias, that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And when he had called him, he sayde, My sonne, after that I am dead, burie me, and despise not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and do that which shall please her, and anger her not.

4 Remember, my sonne, howe many dangers she sustained when thou wast in her wombe. The mother is to be reuerenced.

5 And when she dyeth, burie her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne: or to transgresse the commandmentes of God. Doe by night all thy life long, and be in our followe not the wayes of unrighteousnesse: heares, for if thou deale trueth, thy doings shall prosperously succede to thee, and to all them which live iustly.

7 Give * almes of thy substance: and when thou givest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Give almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraid to giue a litle almes.

Sarra prayeth and saith, that she may be deliuered from shame.

The innocencie of Sarra, Her chastitie.

The prayers of Tobit, & Sarra are heard both at a time.

 10 Because that almes dooeth deliuer from death, & suffereth not to come into darkness.
 11 For almes is a good gifte before the face of him that seeth it.
 Admonitic.
 12 Beware of all whoredome, my sonne, and 13 Take not a wife of the seede of thy fathers, for take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for wee are the children of the Prophets. Now, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember, my sonne, that they married wives of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherite the land.
 Pride.
 13 Nowe therefore, my sonne, love thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, & in fiercenesse is scaritie and great pouertie: for 14 Herkenesse is the mother of famine.
 14 Let not þ wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, carrie with thee, but give him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conuersation.
 15 Doe that to no man which thou hatest:
 drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neyther let drunkennesse goe with thee in thy iourney.
 16 Goe of thy bread to the hungry, & of thy garments to them that are naked, and of all thine abundance give almes, and let not thine eye be enuious, when þ ginest almes.
 17 Avenge out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but give nothing to the wicked.
 18 Aske counsell alway of the wise, & despise nor any counsell that is profitable.
 19 Bless the Lord God alway, and beseech him that thy waies may be made straight, and that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for every nation hath not counsell:
 but the Lord giveth all good things, and he humblyeth whome he will, as he will: knowe therefore, my sonne, remember my commandments, neyther let them at any time bee put out of thy minde.
 20 Furthermoze I signifie this to thee, that I delivered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabyas at Ragas in Media.
 21 And feare not, my sonne, for as much as we are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, and do þ thing which is acceptable vnto him.
 C H A P. V.
 1 Tobias sent to Ragas, 4 He meeteth with the Angel
 Raphael, which did conduct him.
 Tobias sent by his father to Ragas, se-keth a companion, and meeteth w Raphael, whom he bringeth to his father.
 2 But howe can I requite the silver, seeing I know him not?
 3 Then he gave him the handwritting, & said vnto him, Seeketh a man, which may goe with thee, whither I see him, and I will give him wages, and goe and receive the money.
 4 Therefore when he was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

But he knew not, and said vnto him, Whom I go with thee into the land of Media? and knowest thou those places well?
 6 To whom the Angel said, I will go with thee: for I have remained with our brother Gabael.
 7 Then Tobias said to him, Tarry for me, till
 I tell my father.
 8 Then he said vnto him, Goe, and tarry not:
 so he went in a layde to his father, & saide,
 I have found one, which will goe with me.
 Then he said, Call him vnto me, that I may knowe of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thee.
 9 So he called him, and he came in, and the father asked one another.
 10 Then Tobias said vnto him, Brother, shewe me of what tribe and familie thou art.
 11 To whom he said, Dooest thou seeke a stocke of familie, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne? Then Tobias said vnto him, I would knowe, brother, thy kindred and thy name.
 12 Then he saide, I am of the kindred of Na-rias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.
 13 Then Tobias said, Thou art welcome, brother: be not nowe angry with me, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kindred, and thy familie: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knowe Ananias and Jonathan, sonnes of that great Sa-maias: for we went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenthes of the fruites, and they were not deceived with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.
 14 Tell me, what wages shall I give thee? wilt thou a great a day and things necessarie, as to mine owne sonne?
 15 Yea, moreover if ye returne last, I will adde some thing to the wages.
 16 So they agreed. Then saide he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe you on Gods name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father saide, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you companie. So they went forth both and departed, and the dogge of the young man with them.
 17 But Anna his mother wept, and saide to Tobias, Whom hast thou sent away our sonne?
 is he not the staffe of our hande to minister vnto vs?
 18 Would to God we had not laped money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.
 19 For that which God hath giuen vs to live with, doeth suffice vs.
 20 Then saide Tobias, Be not carefull, my father: he shall returne in safetie, and thine eyes shall see him.
 21 For the good Angel doeth keepe him com-panie, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne last.
 22 Then he made an ende of weeping.
 C H A P. VI.
 1 Tobias delivered from the fish, 7 Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines, 10 He conducteth him toward Sarra.

As as they went on their journey, they came at night to the Red Sea, and there abode.

2 And when the young man was awake himself, he understood one of the things, and would have dreamed more.

3 Then the young man said unto him, What the thing is, which thou hast dreamed, and what it signifies.

4 To whom the Angel said, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liver, and the gall, and put them by himself.

5 So the young man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had cooked a fish, they ate it then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 Then the young man said to the Angel, Brother Sarras, what meaneth the heart, and the liver, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he said unto him, Touching the heart and the liver, it is a sign of an evil spirit, trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man in the woman, and we shall be made free.

8 As for the gall, among a man's teeth, whiteness in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

9 And when they were come near to Ecbatane, the Angel said to the young man, Whosoever, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is the cousin: he also hath one only daughter, named Sarra: I will make for her that she may be given thee for a wife.

10 For to thee hath the spirit of her parents, saying, Your sons are the transgressors of her times.

11 And the maide is faire and wise: notes therefore hear me, I will speak to her father, that we may make the marriage, when we are returned from Raguel: for I knowe that Raguel cannot marrie her to another according to a law of Moyses: he should have a death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

12 Then the young man answered the Angel, I have heard, brother Sarras, that this maide hath been given to seven men, who all died in the marriage chamber.

13 And I am a onely begotten sonne of my father, & I am afraid, lest I goe into her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit troubleth her, which hurteth no body, but those which come into her: therefore I also feare lest I die, & bring my fathers name into this life because of me to be grasse to sow: for they have no other sonne to burye them.

14 Then the Angel said unto him, Dost thou not remember & perceive why the father gave thee, that thou shouldst marrie a wife of thine alone kindred? wherefore hear me, & my brother: for she shall be thy wife, neyther be thou careful of a evil spirit: for this same might shall she be given thee in marriage.

15 And when thou shalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of a hore toles for perhumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liver of the fish.

16 Which if the spirit doe smell, he will flee away, and never come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise up doly of you, and praye to God which is mercifull, who will have pittie on you, and save you:

feare not, for he is appointed unto thee, from the beginning, & thou shalt have her: & I will go with thee into the chamber, I suppose that thou shalt beate the thornier: now when Tobias had heard these things, he loved her, & his heart was effectually turned to her.

CHAP. VII.

As when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had lodged one another, she brought them into the house.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Edna my cousin?

3 And Raguel answered, Where are ye, my daughter? To whom they said, that they were of the wife of Asaphthalim, and of the captives that dwelt as slaves.

4 Then he said to them, Doe ye knowe Edna our kinsman? And they said, We knowe him: then said he, Is he in good health? And they said, He is both alive, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

5 Then Raguel wept, & kissed him, & wept, and blessed him, and said unto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he heard that Tobias was blinde, he was sorrowfull and wept.

6 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept: therefore they drew him with a ready hand, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meat on the table. Then said Tobias to Raguel, Brother Sarras, put forth those things wherof thou hast in the way, that this business may be dispatched.

7 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat, and drink, and make merry.

8 For it is meete that thou shouldst marrie up daughter: nevertheless, I will beate with thee the truth.

9 I have given up daughter in marriage to seven men, who dyed that night when they came in unto her: nevertheless, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I will eat nothing here, until I be bring her hither, and marry her to me.

10 Raguel said to them, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, & he is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

11 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and she came to her father, and he took her by Raguel the hande, and gave her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the lawe of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: Sarra and he blessed them.

12 And called his wife Edna, and he took a ewe and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

13 Then they began to eat.

14 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said unto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

15 Which when she had done, as he had bid den her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, & her mother wiped away her teares.

16 And said unto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heaven and earth

Tobias awoke after the euill sleep. ¹ He prayeth to God for his wife. ² Raguel cometh to him for his soul in lawe. ³ Raguel prayeth the Lords.

1 And wher they had layed, they brought Tobias in unto her.

2 And as he went, he remembered the wordes of Raphael, and took colles for perfumes, and put the heart and liver of the fish thereupon and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the euill spirites had smelled, he fled into the burning wastes of Egypt, wherin the Angell bound.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Ra-phael rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise and let vs praye, that God would haue

5 Then beganne Tobias to say, Blessed art God, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thyng holy and glorious name forever; let the heavens bless thee, and all the creatures.

Gen. 2. 7.
28. 22.

6 Thou hast said, I knowe, and gauest him a wife to be by his helpe, and say: of them come mankind: thou hast said, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let vs make him to be an ayde like unto himselfe.

7 And nowe, O Lord, I take not this my selfe for fornication, but for thy glory: therefore grant me mercie, that we may become as one together.

8 And he said with him, Amen.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue.

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He said to his wife, Edna, Sende one of the maides, and let them see whether he be alivie or not: that I may burye him, and make him a grave.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both a sleepe.

14 And came forth, and tolde them that hee was alivie.

Raguel
prayeth
God for Tobias.

15 Then Raguel prayed God, and sayde, O
God, thou art worthy to be praised with al praise, and help people: therefore let thy laus praise thee in all thy creatures, and let all thine
Angels and thine elect praise thee forever.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me to live, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast deale with us according to great mercie.

17 Thou art to be praised because thou hast had mercie of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: graunte them mercie, O Lord, and finish their life in health with us and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruantes to fill the grave.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast foure or fifte daies.

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods towards the marriage of his daughter to Tobias.

20 For Raguel had said unto him by an orde, that he should not depart before the fourteene daies of the marriage were expired.

21 And then hee should take the halfe of his goods, and returne in safety to his father, and should haue the rest, when he & his wife were dead.

1 Then Tobias called Raphael, and sayde unto him,

2 Brother Raphael, I take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Raguel of the Medes to whom I haue my wife, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sayde that I shall not depart.

4 But my father commeth to the daye, and if I tarry long, he will be wroth with me.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Raguel, and gaue him his hande, with which he had brought fourteene bagges which were filled with a good thing to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth, both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias began his wife with child.

Tobias and his wife tarry long for their sonne. ¹ Ra-guel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

1 And Tobias his father counted euer day, and when the dayes of the sonne were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobias sayd, Are they not married? as is not Sarra dead, & there is no man to giue him the moneys?

3 Therefore he was very sorry.

4 Then his wife sayde to him, My sonne is dead, saying he carreyeth and he beganne to beweyle him, and crye.

5 And he care for nothing, my sonne, since
I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whome Tobias sayd, Hold the peace:
be not carefull, for he is alive.

7 But she sayd, Hold the peace, and decrie my not: my sonne is dead, and he went out euery day by the way, which then went neither his horse, nor meate on the day time, nor did continue whole nightes in bewailing her sonne Tobias, until the fourteene daies of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sayde, that he should tarry there. Then Tobias sayd to Raguel, Let me go: for my father & my mother looke no more to me.

8 But his father in lawe said unto him, Tarry with me, and I will sende to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me go to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruantes, and cattell, and money.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in lawe, which are thy parentes, that I may heare good report of thee: and he kissed them. And he so said to Tobias, the Loide of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and graunt that I maye see thy children of my daughter
Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Loide.

13 And now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not intreat her euill.

- 2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, thou mother, brother, howe thou biddest leave thy father.
- 3 Let us haste befoze thy wife, and prepare the house.
- 4 And take in thine hande the gail of the ass, and laye thy waye; and thy dogge followed them.
- 5 And when he was in the waye looking for her sonne,
- 6 He went to her the daye following; she said to his father, Behold, thy sonne cometh, and the man that went with him.
- 7 Then said Raphael, I knowe, Tobias, that thy father shall receive his sight.
- 8 Therefore I brought his eyes with the gail, and heing picked thereunto, he shall see, and make his business to fall awaye, and shall be whole.
- 9 Then Anna came forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and calde him with teares, saying, I have seene thee, my sonne, from hence forth thou shalt cometh to mee, and they went both gladly.
- 10 Tobias also went forth to meete the dogge, and called him, but his name was not knowne.
- 11 And when he hold of his father and smiteth of the gail on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.
- 12 And when his eyes began to see, he subbed them.
- 13 And the whiteresse pilled awaye from the eyes of his eyes, and when he sawe his sonne he fell upon his necke.
- 14 And he was glad, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blest be thy name for ever, and blessed be all thy holie Angels.
- 15 For thou hast brought me and my wife to this on our feet, for before I sawe some Tobias: and his sonne, being glad went in, and tolde his father the great things that had cometh to pass in Media.
- 16 Then Tobias went out to meete his daughter in lawe, receiving and praising God to the gate of Ninive: they which sawe him, got, marvelling, because he had received his sight.
- 17 But Tobias testified befoze the all, that God had put life on him. And when he came nere to Sarra his daughter in lawe, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be blessed, which hath brought thee unto us, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Ninive.
- 18 And Raphael and Raguel and Anna his wife were glad.
- 19 And Tobias marriage was kept seven dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

1 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him. 2 The which he would accompanie. 3 Raphael sheweth that he is an Angel sent of God.

- 1 Then Tobias called his sonne Tobias, and said unto him, I praye, my sonne, was not for the man, which went with thee,

- and thou must give him money.
- 2 And he said unto him, O father, it shall not grieve me to give him halfe of those things which I have brought.
- 3 For he hath brought me againe to this in lawe, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath like wife healed thee.
- 4 Then the olde man sayde, It is due unto him.
- 5 So he called the Angel, and said unto him, Take halfe of all that he have brought, and goe away in lawe.
- 6 But he took them both apart, and sayde unto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and give him the glory, and praise him for the things which he hath done unto you befoze all them that live. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his name, and to shewe forth his eminent workes with honour: these things becometh to confesse him.
- 7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honourable to reveale the workes of God: for that which is good, and no evil shall touch you.
- 8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteousness. A litle with righteousnesse is better then much with unrighteousnesse: it is better to give almes then to lay up golde.
- 9 For almes both deliver from death, and doth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousness shall be filled with life.
- 10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.
- 11 Surely I will keepe close nothing fro you: nevertheless, I sayde it was good to keepe close the secrete of a King, but that it was honourable to reveale the workes of God.
- 12 Nowe therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to minde you: praye befoze the Holy one, and when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.
- 13 And when thou wast not grieved to rise up, and leave thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good dede was not hid from me: but I was with thee.
- 14 And nowe God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe.
- 15 I am Raphael, one of the seve holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which go forth befoze his holy maieste.
- 16 Then they were both troubled, and fel byd their face: for they feared.
- 17 But he said unto them, Feare not, for I shall go wel with you: praise God therefore.
- 18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of our God: to preserve you in all ages.
- 19 All these dayes I byd appeare unto you, but I byd nept her rate nor drinke, but you sawe it in vision.
- 20 Nowe therefore give God thanks: for I go by to him I sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.
- 21 And when they rose, they sawe him no more.

He that will be acceptable to God, must be produced with contrition.

- 5 But againe God will haue pite on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shal be: because in the Temple, but not where the first, bright shewines of that age shall be led, which being finished, they shall reioice: from euery place out of captiuitie, and shall by Jerusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be build in it for euer with a glorious building, as the prophets haue spoken thereof.

 14 And he dyed at Ecbatane in Media, being ing an hundred and seven and twentie yere olde.

- 15 But before he dyed, he heard of the destruction of Ninue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Sennacherib, and before his death he rejoyced for Ninue.

Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The building of Ecbatane. 2 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad and overcame him. 13 He threateth them that would not helpe him.

In the twelfth yere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Ninue, the great cite in the dapes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles rounde about, of hewen stone, the cubites broad, and the cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites.

3 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it of an hundred cubites, and the breadth thereof in the foundation thyscore cubites.

4 And made the gates thereof, seven gates that were lifted up on his, seuentie cubites, and the breadth of them fourty cubites, for the going forth of his mightie armies, and for the setting in arap of his footemen.

5 Euen in those dapes, king Nabuchodonosor made warre with king Arphaxad in the great field, which is the helde in the coastes of Kagan.

6 Then came unto him all they that dwelt in the mountains, and all that dwelt by Euphrates and Egypt, and Hydaspes, & the countrey of Arioch the king of the Elimeans, & very many nations assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians sent unto all that dwelt in Persia: and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt upon the sea coast.

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the hies of Galile, and the great helde of Euphrat.

9 And to all that were in Hamaria, and the cities thereof, and beyned Iorden unto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chelias, & Cedres, and the river of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Kameisse, and all the land of Gessen.

10 Unto one come to Canis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and to one come to the mountains of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commaundement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: for he was before them as one man: therefore they were awaie his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, and swore by his thron and kingdom, that he would surely be avenged upon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Egypt, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudra, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battell arap with his power against king Arphaxad in the thirtieth yere, and he prevailed in his battell: for he overthrew al the power of Arphaxad, and all his howsemen, and all his charres.

14 And he waine his cities, and came unto Ecbatane, and toke the towres, & spoiled the riches thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into thashe.

15 He tooke also Arphaxad in the mountains of Kagan, and smote him through with his darts, and destroyed him utterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Ninue, both he and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, & there he passed the time, and banketed, both he, and his armie, an hundred and thient dapes.

CHAP. II.

- 1 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people should be brought in subjection. 6 And to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

And in the eighteenth yere, the two and thientyeth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should avenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called unto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and he before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all these, that had not obeyed the commaundement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chief captaine, and which was next unto him, and said unto him,

5 Thus saith the great king, the lord of the whole earth, Beholde, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footemen, an hundred and thient thousande, and the number of howes with their riders, twelve thousande.

6 And thou shalt goe against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commaundement.

- 7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will goe forth in my way against them, and will conuer the whole face of the earth with the sette of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoile vnto them.
- 8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and their rivers, and the flood shall overflowe, being filled with their dead.
- 9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost partes of all the earth.
- 10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, & take by force me all their countrey: & if they peeuie vnto thee, thou shalt reuerse them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.
- 11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them wheresoener thou goest.
- 12 For as I live, and the power of my kings doine, whatesoener I haue spoken, that will I do by mine hand.
- 13 And take thou heed that thou transgresse not any of the commandementes of thy loyde, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commaunded thee, and deferre not to do them.
- 14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his loyd, and called all the gouernours, and capitaines, and officers of the armie of Assur.
- 15 And he mustred the chosen men for the battle, as his loyd had commaunded him, vnto an hundred and threentie thousand, & twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.
- 16 And he set them in aray according to the manner of setting a great armie in aray.
- 17 And he tooke camels and asses for their burdens a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their provision.
- 18 And vitaille for every man of the armie, and verp much golde and siluer out of the kings house.
- 19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe beseye in the biage of King Nabuchodonosor, and to coner all the face of the earth Westward, with their charrets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen.
- 20 A great multitude also of sundrie sortes came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.
- 21 And they went forth of Ainiene thre dayes iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth nere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.
- 22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footmen, and horsemen, and charrets, and went from thence into the mountaines.
- 23 And he desloped Iddub and Iud, & spoiled all the children of Asses, and the children of Imael, which were toward the wildernesses at the South of the Chelians.
- 24 Then he went our Euphrates, and went through Adelopotamia, and destroied all the cite cities that were vpon the river of Arbonai, vntill one come to the sea.
- 25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroied all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Tappeth, which were toward the South and ouer against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Spanian, and burnt by their tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheate harvest, and burnt by all their feldest, and destroied their rockes and the heards: hee robbed their cities, and spoiled their countrey, and smote all their pong men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Hozan, and Hiscalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subied to Olofernes. 8 He destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might only be worshipped.

1 And they sent ambassadors to him with Smeilages of peace, saying,

2 Beholde, we are the seruantes of Nabuchodonosor the great King: we lie downe before thee: be vs as shalbe good in thy sight.

3 Beholde, our houses and all our places, and all our feldest of wheate, and our rockes, & our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: be them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Beholde, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruantes: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this manner.

6 Ther came he downe toward the sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisons in his cities, and tooke out of therein chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey ranne about reuenced them, with crownes and hautes, & with timbels.

8 Perhee brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was inuolued him to destroie all the gods of the lands, that all nations should worshippe Nabuchodonosor onely, and that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Edjarsion, nere vnto Judea, ouer against the great straits of Judea,

10 And hee pitched betwene Geda, and a cite of the Scythians, and there he tarped a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were affrayed and defended their countrey. 6 Ioachim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should forsake themselves. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

1 Nowe the children of Israel that dwelt in Judea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and howe hee had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled assembled in Iudra, and the bests and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Berchoja, and Bethien, and Jericho, and to Choba, & Eschoja, and to the valley of Salen,

5 And tooke all the tops of hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, & put in vitales for the provision of warre: for their felides were of late reaped.

6 Also Joacim the high Priest which was in those daies in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Esdojarion towards the open countrey nere to Dorhaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entrie into Iudra, and it was easie to let them that woulde come by, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Joacim the hie Priest had commanded them with the Ancientes of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Jerusalem.

9 Then crept every man of Israel to God with great fervencie, and their sonles with great affection.

10 Both they and their wives, and their children, and their cattell, and every stranger, & hiring, and their bought servants put sackcloth upon their lornes.

11 Thus every man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes upon their heads, and shed out their sackcloth before the face of the Loyde: also they put sackcloth about the altar,

12 And crept to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that he woulde not give their children for a pray, and their wives for a spoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and unto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked upon their affliction: for the people fasted many daies in all Iudra and Jerusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord almightie.

14 And Joacim the hie Priest, and all the Priests that stood before the Loyde, & ministers into the Loyde, had their lornes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayers & the fre gifts of the people,

15 And had alies on their imptres, and crept unto hie Loyde with all their power for grace, and that he woulde looke upon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Which the Ammonites death declares to Olofernes of the mercy of the Israelites.

1 Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaynes, and had walled all the topes of the hie hills, and had lapt imptrements in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angry, & called all the yingnes of Moab, & hie captaines of Nin-

mon, and all the goviernours of the sea coast. And he sayde unto them, Behold me, & ye sonnes of Chanaan, who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaynes? and what are the cities that they inhabit? and what is the multitude of their armie? and where is in their strength and their power? and what king of captaine is rapied among them over their armie?

3 And why have they determined not to come to mete me, moys then all the inhabitants of the Wele?

4 Then * sayd Achioy the captaine of all the sonnes of Ninmon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his servant, and I will declare unto the the truth concerning this people that dwell in these mountaynes, nere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy servant.

5 This people come of the stocks of hie Chaldeans.

6 And * they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

7 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, & they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many daies.

8 Then * their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and silver, and with very much cattell.

9 But when a famine covered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their lineage.

10 Therefore the king of Egypt rose up against them, and used deceit against them, & brought them lowe with labouring in byrche, and made them slaves.

11 Then they crept unto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the * Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

12 And * God dyed the red sea in their presence, and made them slaves.

13 And * brought them into mount Sina and Edes barne, and cast forth all that dwelt in the wilderness.

14 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Eslebon, and passing over Jordan, they inherited all the mountaynes.

15 And they * cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Hetherites, and the Jebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many daies.

16 And whyles they sined not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

17 But * when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were despoiled in many battels after a wonderfull sort, * and were led captives into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of their

19 But now they are turned to their God, and are come up from the scattering wheres in they were scattered, & have possessed Jerusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Show therefore, my loyde and gouernour, if there be any faulte in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe by, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my loyde passe by, least their loyde defend them, and their God be for them, And we become a reproche before all the world.

22 And when Achioz had finished these sayings, all the people, standing rounde about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Sphob, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, we feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mighty armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe by, O loyde Olofernes, and they shall be meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

1 And when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell, was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe captayne of the armie of Assur, sayde vnto Achioz before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Sphob, and of them that were his reb of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast sayde that the people of Jerusalem is able to fight, because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

3 He will send his power, & will destroy them from the face of the earth, & their God shall destroy them as one man: for they are not able to susteine the power of our horses.

4 For we will treade them under fote with them, and their mountaines shall be dynt with their blood, and their fieldes shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footesteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall vtterly perishe.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor, loyde of all the earth, hath sayd, euen he hath sayd, None of my wordes shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achioz an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes, in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntill I take vengeance of y people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the prync of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee, passe through thy fieldes, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruantes shall cary thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the high cities: but thou shalt not stirr, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not be taken, let not thy confidence fail: I haue spoken it, and none of my wordes shall be in vaine.

10 Then commaunded Olofernes them concerning Achioz, that they should bring him to Bethulia, & deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruantes tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middes of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from the toppes of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen al the throtters with slings, & kept them from coming by, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went ynnuyl vnder the hill, and bound Achioz, and left him lying at the fote of the hill, and returned to their loyd.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him & brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in those dayes, Asias the sonne of Achia, of the tribe of Simeon, and Ephabys the sonne of Gorbaniel, and Pharis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth came together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achioz in the middes of all their people. Then Asias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the middes of the prynces of Assur, and what sooner Olofernes had spoken vponderp against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cried vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercy on the basenes of our people, and bestowe this day the face of thole that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achioz, and praised him greatly.

21 And Asias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

Olofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

1 The next day, Olofernes commaunded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remooue their campes against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streites of the hill, & to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remooued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundred thousande and sixentp footemen, and twelue thousande horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were asfote among them, a very great great multitude.

Chap. 5. 5. 21.

3 And they camped in the plain nere unto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spied abroade toward Dothan unto Belhain, & in length of Bethulia unto Clamon, which is ouer against Elchoaelon.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, & said euery one to his neighbour, howe will they shut up all the whole earth: for neither the big mountaines, nor the hilles, nor the hills are able to abide their burden.

5 The euery one took his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towres, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Holofernes brought forth all his hosten in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia.

7 And viewed the passages up to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and took them and let garrisons of men of warre ouer them, and remoued toward his people.

8 Then came unto him all the chiefe of the children of Elau, and all the gouernours of the people of Gubab, and all the captaynes of the sea coast, and said,

9 Let our captaine now heare a word, least an incommenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel do not trust in their speeres, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not eade to come up to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Howe therefore, my lord, fight not against them in battell arape, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the coastes, that consumeth forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia have their water therof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall gine by their citie: and wee and our people will goe up to the toppes of the mountaines that are nere, and will campe vpon them, and wathe that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wines, and their children shall be consumed with famine, and because the sword come against them, they shall be ouerthrowen in the streets where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Holofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to do as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Minimon departed, and with them five thousande of the Assyrians, and they pitched in a halley, and took the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Elau went by with the children of Minimon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothan, and they sent some of them selues toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Bebel, which is nere unto Elam, that is vpon the river Euphrat: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and covered the whole land: for their tentes, and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed the about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footmen, chariots and horsemen, horse and thier dages: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptye, and they had not water prouough to drinke for one day: for they gaue the to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, & their wines and pong men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streets of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Oslas, & to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loud voyce, and sayd before all the Elders, 24 The Lord iudge betwene vs and them: Exod. 32. for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Assur.

25 For we haue no helper: but God hath solde vs into their handes, that we should be chidden before them, and their will thier and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a spoole to the people of Holofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoole vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will be his seruants that we may liue, & not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wives, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witness against you the heauen and the earth, & our God & Lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs, according to our finnes, and the finnes of our fathers, that we lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great cry of all with one consent in the middes of the assembly, and they cryed vnto the Lord God with a loude voyce.

30 Then said Oslas to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fure dages, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he will not forsake vs in the ende.

31 And if these dages passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their citie, and sent their wines and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the citie.

CHAP. VII.

The parentage, life, and conuersation of Iudith. 11 She rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 12 She sheweth that they should not tempt God, but wayte vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

- Now at that time, Iudeth heard these of, which was a daughter of Gerari the sonne of Asa, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Asiel, a sonne of Elcia, a sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedrois, the sonne of Kaphaius, the sonne of Hago, the sonne of Elui, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Asa, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Saladabai, the sonne of Israel.
- And Spanalles was her husbande, of her stocke and kintred, who dyed in the darke darrest.
- For as he was diligent over them that bound sheaves in the felds, the becke came upon his head, and hee fell upon his bed, and dyed in the cite of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in a field betwene Bethaim and Balaad.
- So Iudeth was in her house a widowe three yeeres and foure moneths.
- And she made her a tent upon her house, & put on sackcloth on her lapnes, and wore her widowes apparell.
- And she called all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath and the Sabbath, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.
- She was also of a goodly countenance and very beautiful to beholde: and her husbande Spanalles had left her golde and silver, and men servants, and many servants, and cattell, and possessions, wherewith she remained.
- And there was none that could bying an ewell report of her: for she feared God greatly.
- Now when she heard the evil wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they saynted for lacke of waters: for Iudeth had heard all the wordes that Asias had spoken unto them, and that hee had "sworne unto them to deliuer the cite vnto the Assyrians within foure dayes."
- That she sent her mayde, that had the gouernment of all things that shee had, to call Asias and Chabys and Charinis the assistants of the cite.
- And then came vnto her, and she sayde vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes that ye haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this or the which ye made and pronounced betwene God & you, and haue prouided to deliuer the cite to the enemies, unless within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.
- And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, & sit you sloues in the place of God among the children of men?
- So now you seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.
- For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that he thinketh: then howe can you searchoe out God, that hath made all these things, & know his minde, or comprehend his purposes? Name my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.
- For if he will not helpe vs within these foure dayes, ye hath you to defend vs when he will, euen euery day, to destroy vs before our enemies.
- Do not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threasured, neither as a sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.
- Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and hee will heare our voyce if it please him.
- For there appeareth none in our age, neyther is there any now in these dayes, neyther of his tribe, nor family, nor people, nor cite among vs, which would pray for gods made with hands, as hath bene afore time.
- For the which cause our fathers were gnen to the sword, and for a people, and had a great fall before our enemies.
- But we knowe none other God: therefore we trust that hee will not despise vs, nor any of our linage.
- Neither when we shall be taken, shall we be so famous: for our Sanctuarie shall be spoiled, and hee will requite the prophesie nation thereof at our mouth.
- And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will be turne vnto our heads among the Gentiles, where soeuer we shall be in bondage, and we shall be an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.
- For our seruitude shall not be directed by favour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.
- Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, & the House, and the Altar rest vpon vs.
- Wherefore, let vs give thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as hee did our fathers.
- Remember what things hee did to "Abraham, and how hee tried Isaac, and all that hee did to "Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.
- For he hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their heares, neither doth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.
- Then saide Asias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.
- For it is not to day that thy wisdom is knownen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knownen thy wisdom: for the deuice of thine heart is good.
- But the people were very thirly, & compelled vs to do vnto them, as wee haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an orde which we may not transgresse.
- Therefore nowe pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, & that we may saynt no more.
- Then sayde Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will do a thing which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.
- You shall stand this night in the gate, and I will go forth with mine handmaiden, and within the dayes that ye haue promised to deliver the cite to our enemies, the Lord will deliver Israel by mine hand.

35 Then said Dians and the princes unto her, Go in peace, & the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Judith humbled her selfe before the Lord, and made her prayer for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

1 Then Judith fell upon her face, and put ashes upon her head, & put off the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time of the incense of an evening was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Judith cried with a loud voice, and sayde, O Lord God of my father Simon, to whom thou gavest a sworde to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maid, and defiled her, and discomured the high with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproche: for thou haddest commanded that it should not so be.

3 For they did things for the which thou gapest their princes to the slaughter, for they were deceyved and washed their beds with blood, and hast stricken the servants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thyrus.

4 And hast given their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to be captiues, and all their spoiles for a bootie to the children that thou lovest: which were mooued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, & called vpon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, & these, and the things that shall be after, and thou consideredst the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Whosoever were are here: for all thy weapons are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknownen.

7 Behold, O Assyrians are multiplied by thyr power: they haue exalted them selves with horses & harness: they glory in the strength of their footmen: they trust in shield, speare, and bowe, and sling, and do not knowe that thou art the Lord that bearest the battels: the Lord is thy name.

8 Weake thou their strength by thy power, and weake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuary, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the houses of the Israel.

9 Weake their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: give into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceived.

10 Write by the decree of my lipps the servant with the ystice, and the ystice with the servant: adate their height by the hande of a woman.

11 For thy power standeth not in the might itude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble, and little ones, the defender of the weak, and the protector of them that are forsaken, and the Saviour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer.

13 And graunt mee woundes and craft, and a wounde, and a stroke against them that enterpryse cruell things against the covenant, and against thine holy house, & against the top of Sion, & against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Wherewith evidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Judith decketh her selfe and goeth forth of the cite. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians and brought to Isobabab.

1 Now after she had ceased to cry vnto the God of Israel, and had made an ende of all these wordes,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her mayde, and went downe into the house, in the which they abode in the bath dapes, and in the feast dapes.

3 And putting awoye the sackcloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowehood, she washed her body with water, & anoynted it with much oymment, and dyed the haires of her head, and put attyre vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse: wherewith shee was clad during the tyme of Spanababes her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, & a chaine, & rings, and earrings, and all her ornaments, and hys decked her selfe by herselfe to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her mayde a bottell of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrippe with flower: and with these things, and with ane bread: so she lapped by all these things together, and layde them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the cite of Bethulia, and founde standing there Dians, and the Ancients of the cite, Chabris and Charitis.

7 And when they sawe her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marvelled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers gine thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterpryse to the glorie of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. For thy worshipped God.

9 And shee sayde vnto them, Command the gates of the cite to be opened vnto me, that I may go forth to accomplishe the things which pou haue spoken to me. So they commanded the pong men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

20 And when they had done so, Judith went out, she and her maide with her, & the men of the citie looked after her, untill shee was gone downe the mountain, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

21 Thus they went straight footie in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her.

22 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And shee sayde, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from thence: for they shall be given you to be consumed.

23 And I come beseege Holofernes, the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, & I will shewe before him the way whereby he shall go and winne all the mountaines, without losing the boop of life of any of his men.

24 Now when the men heard her wordes, and beheld her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beautie, and said unto her,

25 Thou hast saved the life, in that thou hast hailed to come downe to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, & some of us shall conduct thee untill they have desired thee into his hands.

26 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shew unto him according as thou hast to say, & he will intreate thee well.

27 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a chariot for her and her maide, and brought her to the tent of Holofernes.

28 The there was a running to & fro through out the campe: for her comming was hushed among the tents: & they came and stood round about her: for she stood without the tent of Holofernes untill they had declared unto him concerning her.

29 And they marvelled at her beautie, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, and every one saide unto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? Surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might decurie the whole earth.

30 Then Holofernes gave went out, & all his servants, and they brought her into the tent.

31 Nowe Holofernes rested upon his bed under a canopy, which was woven with purple and gold and emeraudes, and precious stones.

32 So they shewed him offer, and hee came footie unto the entry of his tent, and they caried lampes of silver before him.

33 And when Judith was come before him and his servants, they all marvelled at the beautie of her countenance, & shee fell downe upon her face, and did reverence unto him, & his servants tooke her up.

C H A P. XL

1. Holofernes comforteth Judith. 3. And asketh the cause of her coming. 5. Shee discovereth him by her faire words.

1 Then sayde Holofernes unto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I never hurt any that would serve Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if the people that dwell in the mountaines, had not despised me, I would not have lifted up my speare against them: but they have procured these things to themselves.

3 But nowe tel mee thou sayst thou art fledde from them, & art come unto vs: for thou art come for safegarde: be of good comfort, thou shalt live from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they doe the servants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Judith sayde unto him, Receive the wordes of thy servant, & suffer thine handes mayde to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the wordes of thine handmaide, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor king of all the earth liveth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to requeme all persons, not onely men shall be made subject to him by thee, but also the bestes of the fieldes, and the cattell, and the fowles of the heauen shall be by thy power under Nabuchodonosor, and all his house.

8 For we have heard of thy wisdom and of thy prudent spirit, & it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wondrous full knowledge, and in feates of warre many weapons.

9 Now * as concerning the matter which thy chiefe did speake in thy counsel, we have heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared unto them all that he had spoken unto thee.

10 Therefore, O lady and governeur, reiect not his wordes, but let it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sworde prevail against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore least my lord should be frustrated, and void of his purpose, & that death may fall upon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whyles they provoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they do that which is not becomming.

12 For because their vitalles faile, and all their water is wasted, they have determined to take their cattell, and have purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his lawes:

13 Yea, they have purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheat, & the tithes of the wine, & of the oyle which they had reserved and sanctified for the priestes that were in Jerusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Wherefore they have sent to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there, have done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate.

15 Nowe when they shall bring them wordes, they will do it, and they shall give them to he bestowed the same day.

 16 Wherefore I thine handmaide, knowing thyself, am fled from thy presence, and God hath sent me to dwell a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whose secret shall hear it.
 17 For thy servant feareth God, & dwelleth with the God of heaven day and night, and will not let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy servant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray unto God, that he may requite unto me when they shall come into their finnes.
 18 And I will come and shewe it unto thee:
 then thou shalt see soothly with all thine eye, and there shall be none of them that shall trust thee.
 19 And I will lead thee through the mids
 of Judah, until thou come before Jerusalem, and I will be thy squire in the mids thereof, and thou shalt dwell there as thy servant have no thygarde, and a dogge shall not bark against thy mouth against thee: for thy things have bene spoken unto me, and declared unto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am come to shewe thee.
 20 And her wordes pleased Olofernes, & all his servants, and they ministered at her welcome and fare.
 21 There is not such a woman in all I voyde, both for beauty of face, & wisdom of wordes.
 22 Wherefore Olofernes sayde unto her, God hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our handes, and destruction upon them that despise my name.
 23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou dost as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt be received throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

1 And she would not pollute her self with the seats of the Gentiles. 2 She maketh her request that she might go out by night to pray. 3 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

1 When he commanded to bring her in under his treasures was laid, & bade that they should prepare for her of his volume meates; and that she should drinke of his choice wine.

2 But Jheremy said, I may not eat of them, least they should be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I have brought.

3 When Olofernes said unto her, If the things that thou hast said be true, howe shouldest we give thee the like for that is no less with us of the nation.

4 Then said Jheremy unto him, As the will pleaseth my lord, thine handmaide shall not spend those things that I have, before the Lord thy God, by mine hande the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the servants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, & she slept until midnight, and rose at the morning watch.

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thine handmaide may goe about unto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commanded his gard that they should not sleep: thus she abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and was there by the camp.

8 And when she came out, she prayed unto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, until she was her weate at evening.

10 And in the fourth day, Olofernes made a feast to his whole servants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the charge of the house.

11 Then said he to Sargons the eunuche who had charge of the house, Go and persuade this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come unto us, and eat, and drinke with us.

12 For it were a shame for us, if she should be such a woman as thou sayest, & not take with her,
 if we do not allow her, she will mock us.

13 Then went Sargons from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and said, Let not this faire maiden make it difficult to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke with us to morrow, and to be increased as one of the daughters of the children of Sargis, which dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Jheremy unto him, Who am I now, that I should please my lord? Surely thy presence pleaseth him. I will do everything, and it shall be unto the day of my death.

15 So she arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maids went, and they led her thither on the grasse court against Olofernes, which she had received of Sargons for her daily use, that she might sit and eat upon them.

16 Nowe when Jheremy came and sat down, Olofernes heart was troubled with her, and his spirit was moved, and he desired greatly her company: for he had waited for the time to detain her from the day that he had sent her.

17 Then said Olofernes unto her, Drinke now, and be merry with us.

18 So Jheremy said, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then ever it was since I was boyne.

19 Then she took, & ate and drinke before him the things that her maids had prepared.

20 And Olofernes rejoyced because of her, & drinke with her more wine then he had drunk at any time in one day since he was boyne.

CHAP. XIII.

1 And she prayed for strength. 2 She smiteth off Olofernes necke. 3 She returneth to Bethulia and rejoyceth her people.

1 Nowe when the evening was come, his servants made haste to begone, and Sargons shut the tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beddes: for they were all wearie, because the feast had bene long.

Ecclai. 31.
20, 25,

- 2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes was stretched along upon his bed: for he was filled with wine.
- 3 Now Iudeth had commanded her maids to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her coming forth as she did say: for she said, the world goes forth to her prayers, and shee speaks to Holofernes according to the same purpose.
- 4 So all went forth in her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of al power, behold at this present the works of mine handes for the exaltation of Ierusalem.
- 5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against be.
- 6 Then she came to the post of the bed which was at Holofernes head, and tooke downe his sword from thence.
- 7 And approached to the bed, & tooke holde of the heare of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day.
- 8 And shee smote twise vpon his necke with all her might, and shee tooke away his head from him.
- 9 And rolled his bodie downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopy from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, & gaue Holofernes head to her maids.
- 10 And she put it in her skappe of meate: so they twaine went together, according to their custome into prayer, and yfing through the tents, went about by that valley, & went by the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.
- 11 Then said Iudeth a farre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, such our God is with us to shewe his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.
- 12 Nowe when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.
- 13 And they ranne all together both small and great: for it was about their expectation, that she should come. So they opened the gate & receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and roode rounde about their iuanue.
- 14 Then she said to them with a loud voyce, Praise God, praise God, for he hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine handes this night.
- 15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrippe & shewed it, and said vnto them, Beholde the head of Holofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and behold the canopy, wherein he did lye in his drunkenesse, and the boyde hath smitten him by the hande of a woman.
- 16 As the Lord Iudeth, who hath kept me in my waie that I went, my countenance hath decreed him to his destruction, and he hath not committed mine waie to any pollution of villenie.
- 17 Then all the people were wonderfull astonished, and bowed them selves, and wor-

- shipped God, and saide with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of the people.
- 18 Then saide Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God above all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.
- 19 O pray this thing, that shall neuer depart out of the heartes of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.
- 20 And God turne these things to the for a perpetual praise, and blisse to thy god things, because thou hast not spared the life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpe our name, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.
- 21 And Iudeth sayeth to them, the head of Holofernes, which I brought to nought, shall be a signe to the people of Israel, and to the house of Israel, for ever.
- 22 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, I pray you, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the best place of your walls.
- 23 And now as the morning shall appere, & the sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapon, and goe forth to the battaine in the one of the citie, and set you a captain ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the felde, to seeke the watche of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.
- 24 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their battaine, and take with them the riches of the citie of Assur, and they shall come to the tent of Holofernes, but shall not find him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.
- 25 So you and all that inhabit the countrey of Israel, shall pursue them, and surrounne them as they goe.
- 26 But before you doe these things, call me to shew the Monarchie, that he may see, and knowe him that despised the people of Israel, and that sent him to us as to deathe.
- 27 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and sawe the head of Holofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assemblie of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spere lapid.
- 28 But when they had taken him up, he fell at Iudeths feet, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which, hearing the name, shall be astonished.
- 29 Now therefore tell me all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the ears of the people all that she had done from the day that they went forth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.
- 30 And when shee had left off speaking, the people reioiced with a great voyce, and made a noise of gladnes through their citie.
- 31 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, declared in God infinite and circumcised the foreskinne of his selfe, and was toyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11. & Moosie as the morning arose, they hangers the head of Olofernes out at the wall, & carry it vnto the hill wasopon, & they went forth by bands vnto the scraps of the mountain.

12. But when the Missians sawe them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13. So they came to Olofernes tent, and saide to him that had the charge of all his things,
When our lord: for the Assurs haue bene bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed saye enen.

14. Then went in Agagos, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had first with Iudeth.

15. But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floor, and his head was taken from him.

16. Therefore he cryed with a loud voyce, with weeping and mourning, and a mightie cry, and rent his garments.

17. After he went into the tent of Iudeth where he bled to remaine, & found her not: then he leaped out to the people and cryed.

18. These Assurs haue committed wickednes:
one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodo-nosor: for behold, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without any head.

19. When the captaines of the Missians arrived heards these wordes, they rent their coates, & their heart was wonderfull troubled, and there was a crye and a very great noise throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1. The Affrighted and fey, 2. The Israelites persecute them, 3. Joacim his son Pasch cometh to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to praye God for her.

1. And when they that were in the tentes,
A heard, they were assaullied at the thing that was done,

2. And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether awaked, they fled by every way of the playne and of the mountaines.

3. They also that had camped in the moun-taines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them, rushed out vpon them.

4. Then sent Asias to Bethomasthem, and to Abai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the routes of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5. Nowe when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba:
likewise also they that came from Ierusalem and from all the mountaines: for men had tolde them what thinges were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them with a great slaughter until they came to Dauid rus and to the coastes thereof.

6. And the reison that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7. And the children of Israel that returned frō the slaughter, had a rest: and the villages & the cities that were in the mountaines & in the playne, had a great boote: for the abundance was very great.

8. Then Joacim the yie Priest, and the Priests of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, & to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9. And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, & saide vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great restoring of our nation.

10. Thou hast done all these thinges by thyne hande: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed bee thou of the almightie Lord for euermore: and all the people saide, So be it.

11. And the people spoiled the campe & space of thirtie daies, and they came vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his sister and bebs, and bastins, and all his stuffe, and the took it and laide it on her mules, and made readie her charres, and laide them thereon.

12. Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dauce among them: for her, & she tooke dyanches in her hand, & gaue alio to the women that were with her.

13. They also crowned her with olives, & her char was with her, and she went before the people in the daunce, leading all the women:
and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouths.

CHAP. XVI.

1. Iudeth prayeth God with a fast, 2. She offereth to the Lord Olofernes head. 3. Her continuance, life & death.
35. All Israel lamenteth her.

1. Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voyce.

2. And Iudeth saide, Begonne vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lorde with cymbals: tune vnto him a psalme: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3. For God breaketh the battels, and riched his campe in the middes of his people, and delivered me out of the hande of the perils cutters.

4. Assur came from the mountaines south of the South: he came with thousands in his armie, whose multitude hath shut vp the ciners, and their horsemen haue covered the battels.

5. He saide that he would burne up my boy-ders, and kill my pong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a people.

6. But the almightie Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7. For the mightie did not fall by the young men, neither did the sonnes of Iran smite him, nor the yie giants invade him, but Iudeth

Chap. 2. 11. 13

- Judeth the daughter of Ozerai did become fit him by the beautie of her countenance.
- 8 For she put off the garment of her widows hood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bodid up her heare in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.
- 9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie rooke his minde prisoner, and the saunche passed through his necke.
- 10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnes, and the Medes were troubled with her hardnesse.
- 11 But mine afflicted reioiced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted up their voyce, and turned backe.
- 12 The children of mapdes verced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.
- 13 I will sing vnto the Lord a song and praise,
A song, thou art great and glorious, mar-uelous and inuincible in power.
- 14 For all thy creatures feare thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy spirit, and he made them by: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.
- 15 For the mountaines leape by from their foundations with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.
- 16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweete sa-mour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth thee, is great at all times.
- 17 Vnto the nations that rise by against my kingdome: the Lord almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in

- sending fire and weapons byon their flesh, & they shall seele thier and weep for euer.
- 18 After, when they were like Beelshazzar, they would shipped the Lord, and offered as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.
- 19 Judeth also offered all the sinne of Soternes, which the people had giuen her, & gave the canopy which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.
- 20 So the people reioiced in Jerusalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of thre moneths, and Judeth remained with them.
- 21 After this time, vnto one hundred and thre hundred and thre, Judeth went to Methula, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.
- 22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the daies of her life after that Sannas her husband was dead, and was gathered to his people.
- 23 But he increased more & more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbandes house, being an hundred and fise yeeres olde, and made her mapde free: so she dyed in Bethula, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Sannas.
- 24 And the house of Israel lamented her now daies, and before she dyed, she had distributed her goods to all them that were neerest of kinred to Sannas her husbande, and to them that were the neerest of her kinred.
- 25 And there was none that made the childe of Israel any more afraid in the daies of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

hath done these things.
- 5 For I remember a dreame, which I sawe concerning these matters, & there was nothing thereof omitted.
- 6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much

- 7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.
- 8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.
- 9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.
- 10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.
- 11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the house, at the house, and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

- 12 So God remembered his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.
- 13 Therefore those daies shall be vnto them

- 1 In the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemaeus and Cleopatra Dositheas, who said he was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemaeus his sonne, that brought the foynier letters of Mithridates, which they saide Epistates of the sonne of Ptolemaeus, which was at Jerusalem, intermixed.
- 2 In the seconde yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes, in the first daye of the moneth Nisan, Sardanapalus the sonne of Arius, the sonne of Belmel, the sonne of Esdras the sonne of Beniamin had a dreame,
- 3 A Iewe dwelling in the citie of Susse, a noble man, that bare office in the kings court.
- 4 He was also one of captiuitie which Ma-nachodonosor the king of Babylon brought from

Isa. 33

Or, iura

from Jerusalem with Jehonias.
 5 And this was his dreame, Beholde, a people of a tempest with thunders, & earthquakes, and bypore in the land.

6 Beholde, two great dragons came fowly ready to fight one against another.

7 Their crye was great, whereb all the heaven were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkness and obscuritie, & trouble, and anguish: for, adversitie, & great affliction was upon heath.

9 For then the righteous framing their afflictions, were amazed, and being ready to die, cryed unto God.

10 And while they were crying, the heile well grewe into a great river, and flowed out with great waters.

11 The light and the sunne rose up, and shewly increased, and brouched the glorious.

12 Nowe when Sparchochus had sente this dreame, he awoke and rose up, and thought in his heart untill the night, what God would do, and so he desired to knowe al the matter.

CHAP. XII.

At the same time dwelt Sparchochus in the kinges court with Bagathas, and Thara, the kinges euniches and keepers of the palace.

1 But when hee hearde their purpoise, and their imaginations, he perceived that they went about to lape their handes upon the king Artaxerxes, and so hee certified the king thereof.

2 Then caused the king to examine the two euniches with tormentes, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

3 This the king caused to be put in a Chioni-des. Sparchochus also wrote a same thing.

4 So the king commanded that Sparchochus should remaine in the court, and for the adiustment, he gave him a reward.

5 But Manan the sonne of Smadathus the Magist, which was in great honour and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Sparchochus and his people, because of the two euniches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Jews.
 2 The prayer of Mardocheus.

The copie of the letters was this, The great king Artaxerxes wrieth these things to the princes and gouernours that are under him from India unto Ethiopia in an hundredty and seuen and twentye provinces.

3 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth unto my dominion, I woulde not exalte my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed in equitie alwaies and gentleness to gouerne my subiectes, and wolde to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome unto tranquillitie, that men might safely goe throughe on euery shore, and to receiue peace againe, which all men desire.

4 Nowe when I asked my counsellours howe these things might be brought to passe, one that was conuerlant with vs, of excellent wisdom, and constant in good will, & shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the seconde place in the kingdome, curst Manan,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations, there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alwaies despised the commandementes of kings, and so that this generall emper, that we haue begonne, cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Being notewes perceiue that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, using strange and other manner of labour and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to radliue wicked matters, that our kingdome shoulde not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue we commanded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Manan (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wives and children be destroyed and rooted out with the swoorde of their enemies without all mercy, and that none be spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth mo-neth what of this peece,

7 That they which of olde, and notew also haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence bee thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Sparchochus thought upon all the woordes of the lord, and made his prayer vnto him,

9 Saying, O lord, lord, the king almightie (for all things are in thy power), and if thou hast appoynted to save Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou know-est, lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glorie, that I did this, and not downe to please Manan.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the saluation of Israel, to haue had the sole of his sette.

14 But I yed it, because I woulde not pre-ferre the honour of a man aboue the glorie of God, and woulde not worshipspe any but only the, my lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O lord God and king, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine howe they may bring vs to trouble, per, they woulde destroye the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Despise not the position, which thou hast be-lieued out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and bee mercifull vnto
 the position: turne our sorowes into ioye, that wee may live, O lord, and prayse thy name: shut not the mouthes of them that prayse thee.

18 All Israel in like maner cryed out most earnestly vnto the lord, because that death was before their eyes,

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliverance of her, and her people.

- 1 QUENE Esther also, being in danger of death, rejoiced unto the Lorde,
- 2 And laide awake her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of sighing, & mourning. In the heade of precious ornament, she scattered ashes, and bowing upon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her lope filled she with the heare that she plucked off.
- 3 And she prayed unto the Lorde God of Israel, saying, O my Lorde, thou onely art our King: helpe me besetle woman, which have no helper but thee.
- 4 For my danger is at hand.
- 5 From my youth up I have heard in the kindred of my father, that thou, O Lorde, choicest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their predecessors for a perpetual inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise them.
- 6 Nowe Lorde, we have sinned before thee: therefore hast thou given us into the handes of our enemies,
- 7 Because we worshipped their gods, O Lorde, thou art righteous.
- 8 Nevertheless, it satisfieth them not, that we are in butler captivitie, but they have stroken handes with their idoles,
- 9 That they will abolishe the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut up the mouth of them that praise thee, & to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar,
- 10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, & to magnifie a scrippling King for ever.
- 11 O Lorde, give not thy scepter unto them that be nothing, lest they laugh us to scorne in our miserie: but turne their deuce upon themselves, and make him an example, that hath begonne the same against us.
- 12 Thinke upon us, O Lorde, and shewe thy selfe unto us in the time of our distresse, and strengthen us, O King of gods, and Lorde of all power.
- 13 Give me an eloquent speache in my mouth before the Lyon: turne his heart to hate our enemy, to destroy him, and all such as consent unto him.
- 14 But deliver us with thine hande, & helpe me that am solitary, which have no defence but onely thee.
- 15 Thou knowest all things, O Lorde: thou knowest that I hate the glory of the unrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vnicircumcised, and of all the heathen.
- 16 Thou knowest my necessity: for I hate this token of my viceinence, which I beare upon mine head, what time as I must shewe my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe.
- 17 And that I thine handmaide have not eaten at Minas table, and that I have had no pleasure in the Kinges feast, nor drunk the wine of the drinke offerings,
- 18 And that I thine handmaide have no lope since the day that I was brought hither, untill this day, but in thee, O Lorde God of Abraham.

- 19 O thou mightie God above all, heare the voyces of them, that have none other hope, and deliver us out of the hand of the wicked, and deliver me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

Mardocheus mouth Esther to go in to the King, and make intercession for her people. 2 And she perswaded him by request.

- 1 Mardocheus also bade Esther to go in unto the King, and praye for her people, and for her countrey.
- 2 Remember, sayth he, the dayes of thy low estate, howe thou wast nourished under mine hande: for himan which is next unto the king, hath given sentence of death against us.
- 3 Call thou therfore upon the Lorde, and speake for us unto the King, and deliver us from death.
- 4 And upon the third day when she had ended her prayer she layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparel.
- 5 And deckt her selfe goodly, after that she had called upon God, which is the deliverer, and Saviour of all things, and took two handmaidens with her.
- 6 Upon the one she leant her selfe, as one that was tender.
- 7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her besture.
- 8 The shine of her beauty made her face rose coloured: and her face was chearefull and amiable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.
- 9 Then she went in thowse all the dayes, & stood before the King, & the King late upon his ropall thione, and was clothed in his goodly array, all glittering with golde and precious stones, and he was very terrible.
- 10 Then he lift up his face, & shone with majestie, and looked fiercely upon her: wherefore the Audence fell downe, and was pale & faine, and leant her selfe upon the head of a maide that went with her.
- 11 Nevertheless, God turned the Kings mind that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his thione, and tooke her in his armes, till she came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with loving wordes, and said,
- 12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare.
- 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neerer.
- 14 And so he helde by his golden scepter, and laid it upon her necke.
- 15 And kissed her, and laide, Talk with me.
- 16 Then said she, I save thee, O Lorde, as an Angell of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.
- 17 For wonderful art thou, O Lorde, and thy face is full of grace.
- 18 And as she was thus speaking unto him, she fell downe againe for faintnes.
- 19 Then the King was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby he repeth those which he first sent forth.

14. 1. 1.
14. 1. 1.

- The great King Metarexus, which reigned from India unto Ethiopia, over an hundred and seven and twenty yowthes, sendeth unto the princes and rulers that have the charge of our affayres, Salutation.
- 2 There be many that through the goodness of princes and honour given unto them, become very proud.
- 3 And indevour not onely to hurt our subjects, but not content to live in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe their good.
- 4 And take not onely all thankfulness away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be unmindefull of benefices, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seech all things, and is contray to euill.
- 5 And oft times many, which be set in office, and vnto whome their friendes causes are committed, by vayne enticementes do waye them in calamities, that can not be remedied: for they make theym partakers of innocent blood.
- 6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie, and gentleness of Princes with lying tales.
- 7 This may be proued not only by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestiferous as are not woorthie to beare rule.
- 8 Therefore we must take heede hereafter, that we may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shall come.
- 9 And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentleness.
- 10 For Aman, a Spacedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in daide a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnes, was receiued of vs.
- 11 And hath proued the friendshippe that we beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of every man, as the next person vnto the king.
- 12 But he coulde not vse him selfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to destroye vs of the kingdome, and of our life.
- 13 With manifold deceit also hath he desired to destroye Amadathus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

- 14 For his intente was (when hee had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meane to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Spacedonia.
- 15 But we finde that the Jewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they might be destroyed) are no euill doers, but the most iust Lawes.
- 16 And that they be a childre of the most high and mightie and euermouing God, by whome the kingdome hath bene preserved vnto vs, and our progenitoris in very good order.
- 17 Wherefore ye shall do well, if ye do not put in execution those letters, that Aman & sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.
- 18 For he that intended the hanging at Sush before the gates with all his family, & God (which hath all things in very power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deserving.
- 19 Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Jewes may free ly live after their owne Lawes.
- 20 And ye shall speeche them, that vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth what they may be auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble woulde haue oppressed them.
- 21 For Almighty God hath turned to top the day, wherein the chosen people shoulde haue perished.
- 22 Wherefore, among other solemne daies ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse.
- 23 That both nowes and in time to come this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditions vnto vs.
- 24 Therefore all cities and countreys that do not this, shall horribly be destroyed by sword and fire, and shall not onely not be inhabited of men, but bee adioyned also of the wilde beastes and foules for meate.

- Wisdom of Salomon. 1. One righteousnesse, so that he Judges of the earth: thinke reverently of the Loyde, and letke him in simplicitie of heart.
- 2 For he will be found of them that tempe him not, & appeareth vnto such as be not unfaithfull vnto him.
- 3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tried, repoureth the brutish.
- 4 Because wisdom cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.
- 5 For the holie & spirites of discipline flee from deceit, and withdratheth himselfe from the thoughtes that are without understanding, and is rebuked when wickednes commeth.

- 6 For the Spirit of wisdom * is louing, and will not abhorre him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witness of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.
- 7 For the Spirit of Lord filleth all the wayde and the same that maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voice.
- 8 Therefore he speaketh vnrigheteous things, can not be hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.
- 9 For inquisition shall be made for the thoughtes of the vngodly, and the sound of his waydes shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

Galat. 3. 22.

10 For the care of ielouſie heareth all things, and the noſe of þ gridings ſhal not be ſil.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and reſtraine your tongue from ſlander: for there is no waye to ſecrete, that ſhall go for nought, and the mouth that ſpeaketh lyes, ſlapeth the ſoule.

12 Þake not death in the error of your life: * deſtop not your ſelues thereto in the wayes of your owne handes.

Deut. 4. 23.

13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleaſure in the deſtruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things that they might haue their being: and the generations of the world are perfected, and there is no popoll of deſtruction in them, and the kingdom of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteouſneſſe is immortall, but vni righteouſneſſe byingeth death.

death.

16 And the vngodly call * it vnto them both with handes and wayes: and while they thinke to haue a friende of it, they come to nought: for they are conſiderate with it: therefore are they woorthy to bee partakers thereof.

1 For the vngodly ſay, as they ſailly imagine with them ſelues, * Our life is ſhort and tedious: & in the death of a man there is no recovery, neither was any knownen that hath returned from the graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and we ſhall be hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for þ breath is a ſmoke in our noſtreis, and the wayes as a ſpache rayſed out of our heart.

3 Which being extinguiſhed, the body is turned into aſhes, and the ſpिरितe vaniſheth as the ſoft ayre.

4 Our life ſhall paſſe away as the trace of a cloude, & come to nought as the miſt that is diſſen away with the beames of the ſunne, and caſt downe with the heate thereof. Our name alſo ſhall be forgotten in time, and no man ſhal haue our wayes in remembrance.

6 * Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleaſures that are preſent, and let vs cheerefully liſe the creatures as in powth.

7 Let vs fill our ſelues with coſtly wine and opintmentes, & let not the floure of life paſſe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our ſelues with roſe buddeſe afore they be withered.

9 Let vs alſe be partakers of our wantonnes: let vs leaue ſome token of our pleaſure in euer place: for that is our portion, and this is our lotte.

10 Let vs oppreſſe the poore, that is righteouſ: let vs not ſpare the widowe, nor reuerence the white beares of the aged, that haue liued in many peres.

11 Let our ſtrength be the lawe of vnrigheteouſnes: for the thing that is ſeible, is reſpoynded as vnprofitable.

Therefore let vs defraude the righteouſ: for he is not for our profit, and he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending againſt the lawe, and blaſmeth vs as transgreſſours of diſcipline.

13 He maketh his boſt to haue the knowlledge of God: he calleth himſelfe the ſonne of the loyd.

14 He is made * to reſpoyne our thoughts.

15 It grieueth vs alſo to looke * vpon him: for his life is not like other men: his wayes are of another ſacion.

16 He counteth vs as baſſards, and he withſtandeth him ſelfe from our wayes as from filthineſſe: he commendeth greatly the latter ende of the miſt, and blaſmeth that God is his father.

17 Let vs ſee then if his wayes be true: let vs proue what ende he ſhall haue.

18 For if the righteouſ man be the * ſonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the handes of his enemies.

19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes & toyments, that we may knowe his meekneſſe, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a ſhamefull death: for he ſhalbe preferred as he him ſelfe ſaith.

21 Such thinges do they imagine, and goe aſtray: for their owne wickedneſſe hath blinded them.

22 And they do not vnderſtand the myſteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteouſneſſe, nor can diſcerne the honour of the ſoules that are faultleſſe.

23 For God created man without corruptiõ, and made him after the * image of his owne likenneſſe.

- despised the righteous, and for saken the Lord.
- 11 Who so despiseth wisdom and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their wayes impossible.
- 12 Their wines are undiscere, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.
- 13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is unbrided, & knoweth not the fustill bed: she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soulders.
- 14 And the euilche, which with his handes hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked thinges against God: for unto him shall be giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.
- 15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the roote of wisdom shall neuer fade away.
- 16 But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holy thinges, and the seede of the wicked bed shall be rooted out.
- 17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall be without honour.
- 18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.
- 19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. III.

Of vertues and the commodities thereof. 10 The death of the righteous and the condemnation of the unfaithfull.

- 1 Better is barrennes with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortal: for it is known with God and with men.
- 2 When it is present, men take example thereof, as if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned & triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the undesired rewardes.
- 3 But the multitude of the ungodly which abound in children, is impossible: and the barbarous plagues shall take no deeper roote, nor lay any fast foundation.
- 4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a tyme, yet they shall be shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, & though the vehemencie of the winde they shall be rooted out.
- 5 For the imperfect branches shall be broken, and their fruites shall be impossible and slowe to eate, and mere for nothing.
- 6 For all the children that are borne of a wicked bed, shall be witness of the wickednesse against their parentes when they be asked.
- 7 But though the righteous bee persecuted with death, yet shall he be in rest.
- 8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.
- 9 But wisdom is the graine heere, and an unbrided life is the olde age.
- 10 He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas he liued among sinners, he translated him.
- 11 He was taken away, lest wickednes should alter his understanding, or deceite beguile his minde.
- 12 For wickednes by bewitching obscureth the thinges he are good, and the businesse of conscience peruertheth a simple mind.
- 13 Though hee was some dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

- 14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hastened he to take him away from wickednes.
- 15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, & consider no such thinges in their heartes, howe that grace and mercie is vpon his saintes, and his poudencie ouer the elect.
- 16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the ungodly which are liuing: and the poult that is loone brought to an ende, the long life of the brighteous.
- 17 For they see the ende of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath demised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preferred him in safety.
- 18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorn.
- 19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any defence shall he burne them & cast them downe, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shall be utterly washed, & they shall be in sorrow, and their memoriall shall perish.
- 20 So they being astray, shall remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednes shall come before them to condemne them.

CHAP. V.

The constancie of the righteous before their persecutors. 14 The hope of the unfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednes of the saintes and godly.

- 1 When shall the righteous stande in great boldnes before the face of such as haue toymented him, and taken away his labours.
- 2 When they see him, they shall be rebeld with horrible feare, and shall bee amazed for his wonderfull deliuerance.
- 3 And shall change their minde, and sigh for griefe of mind, and say within themselves, This is he whome we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproche.
- 4 Hee foolkes thought his life madnesse, and his end without honour.
- 5 Howe is hee counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the saintes!
- 6 Therefore wee haue erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined vnto vs, and the summe of vnderstandinge is not vpon vs.
- 7 Wee haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednes and destruction, and wee haue gone through dangerous wayes: but wee haue not knowne the way of the Lord.
- 8 What hath yfide profited vs? of what profite hath the poynte of riches brought vs?
- 9 All those thinges are passed away like a shadowe, and as a poste that passeth by.
- 10 As a shippe that passeth ouer the waies of the water, which when it is gone by, & trace thereof cannot be founde, neither the path of it in the floods.
- 11 As a bird that flieth thowse in the aire, and no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noise of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the aire thowse the vehemencie of her going, & flieth on shaking her wings, whereas afterwarde no token of her way can be founde.
- 12 As when an arrowe is shot at a mark, it parteth the aire, which immediately commeth together againe, so that a man can not knowe where it went thysowe.

13 Euen so we, allone as we were boyne, we began to dye to our ende, and haue shewed no token of berne, but are continued in our owne wickednesse,

14 For the hope of the bygody is like the dulle that is blowen away with the winde, & like a thyme fowle that is scattered abroade with the floyne, and as the smoke, which is disperfed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him paffeth, that caryeth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their rewarde allowis with the Loyde, and the most high hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Loydes hande: for with his right hand shall he coner them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shall take his ielousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall ynt on righteousnesse for a byaste: plate, and take true iudgment in Reade of an helmet.

19 He wil take holines for an invincible shield, 20 Wee will sharpen his fcarce wyath for a sword, and the wyld shall fight with him against the unwise.

21 Then shall the thunder boltes goe straight out of the lightnings, and shall sic to the markes as out of the bene dowe of clowdes, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke hails be cast, and the water of the sea shall bee wroth against them, and the floods shall mightily overflowe.

22 And a mightie winde shall stande by against them, and like a floyne shall scatter them abroade. Thus iniquitie shall bring all the earth to a wisdomnes, and wickednes shall overthrowe the thrones of the mightie.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kinges, princes and iudges, which are also exhorted to searce wisdom.

1 Herefore, O ye kinges, and vnderstande: learne, ye that be iudges of the endes of the earth.

2 Shute eare, ye that rule the multitudes and glorie in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule is giuen you of the Loyd, and power by the most high, which wil trie your wythes, & searce out your imaginations.

4 Because that ye bring officers of his kinges dome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Lawe, nor walked after the will of God,

5 Vngodly and suddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgment shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is most loue, is worthy merrie, but the mightie shalbe mightily toymented.

7 For he that is loude ouer all, will spare no person, neither shall he feare any greatnes: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

8 But for the mightie abideth the soyer trial, 9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrantes, do I speak, ye may learne wisdom, & not goe amisse.

10 For they that keepe holines hold, shall be hoyn, and they that are leaured there, shall finde a defence.

11 Wherefore let your desire vpon my wythes and desire them, and ye shall be instructed, 12 Wisdome shyneth & neuer sadeth away, & is easily sene of them that loue her, and found of such as seke her.

13 She ymmenteth them that desire her, that she may first lerne her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her desires, shall haue no great trouble: for he shall finde her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is profit vnder standing: and who so watcheth for her, shall be sone without care.

16 For shee goeth about, seeking such as are mete for her, & sheweth herselfe chearefull vnto them in the wayes, & maketh them in euer thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: & the care of discipline is loue.

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortallitie.

19 And immortallitie maketh us mete vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisdom leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your desire be then in thrones, and scepters, O kinges of the people, honour wisdom, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Nowe I will tell you what wisdom is, and whence it cometh, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seke yet out from the beginning of her nativite, and bying the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the truth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with confusioing enuie: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisdom.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preservation of the world, and a wise king is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my wythes, and ye shall haue profite.

CHAP. VII.

Wisdom ought to be preferred above all things.

1 I myselfe am also mortall and a manlike I all other, and ancome of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I facio: ned to be fleshe in tenne monethes: I was brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure of cometh I to shape.

3 And when I was boyne, I receined the common aire, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swaddling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no thing that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All men then haue one entraine vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I prayed, & vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the Spirit of wisdom came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all golde is but a little granel in respect of her, and silver shall be counted but but clap before her.

10 I laud her above health and beantie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light can not be quencheth.

11 All good things therofore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches thowlo her hande.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisdom was the author therof, and I knewe not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned businesse, and communicated without enue, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the giftes of knowledge.

15 God hath graunted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things, that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisdom, and the director of the wise.

16 For in his hande are both wee and our waydes, and all wisdom, and the knowledge of the waydes.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe howe the wisdom was made, and the powers of the elements.

18 The beginning and the ende, & the middes of the times: howe the times alter, and the change of the seasons.

19 The course of the preer, the situation of the starres.

20 The nature of liuing things, & the furiousnes of beastes, the power of the windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plantes, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret and knowen do I knowe: for wisdom is the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the only begotten, manifold, subtil, inueuable, cleare, vnderfild, rudent, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good.

23 Courteous, stable, laze, without care, having all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuall, pure, and subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is nimble then all nimble things: the goeth thowlo and attapneth to all things, because of her purenes.

25 For she is the beaht of the power of God, and a pure influence that sheweth from the gloze of the thinglie: therfore can no desired thing come vnto her.

26 For she is the brightnes of the euerlasting light, the vnderfild mirror of the maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one, she can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe, remeth all, and according to the ages the entred into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loneth none, if he dwell not with wisdom.

29 For she is more beautifull then the sunne, and is above all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For might cometh vpon it, but wickednesse can not ouercome wisdom.

C H A P. VIII.

The effects of wisdom.

She also teacheth from one end to another might, and cometh forth the ayde all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beantie.

3 In that she is conuerfant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: pra, the keyde of all things loueth her.

4 For she is the scholauistresse of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his waykes.

5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, that worketh all things?

6 For if yndencie worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then she?

7 If a man loue righteousness, her labours are vertuous: for she teacheth sobrenesse and yndencie, righteousness and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, and discern things to come: she knoweth the subtilities of waydes, and the solutions of darke sentences: she knoweth the signes and wonders, of euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therfore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that she would counsell me good things, and comfort me in care and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue gloze among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be yong.

11 I shall be founde of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall be maruelpous in the sight of great men.

12 When I holde my tongue, they shall abbe my leasure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lap their handes vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I shall obdine immortalitye, and leaue an euilasting immortalitye among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall tell to her: for her company hath no bitterness, & her fellowship hath no tediousnes, but mirth and top.

17 Nowe when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, howe that to be topned vnto wisdom is immortalitye.

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the works of her handes are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is yndencie, and gloze by communicating with her, I went about, seeking howe I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirite.

20 Yea, rather bring good, I came to an vnderfild body.

21 Heuereless, with I perceived that I could could not entop her, except God gave her (and that was a poynt of wisdome also, to knowe whose gift it was) I went unto the Lorde, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wisdome.

- O God of fathers, & Lord of mercy, which made all things with thy word,
And ordered man through thy wis-dome, that he should have dominion over the creatures which thou hast made,
And governe the world according to equi-tie and righteousness, and execute iudgement with an upright heart.
Give me that wisdome, which stretcheth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.
For I thy servant, and some of thine handiwork, am a feeble person, & of a short time, and yet lesse in the understanding of iudgement and the lawes.
And though a man bee never so perfit as among children of men, yet if thy wisdome be not in him, he shall be nothing regarded.
Thou hast chosen mee to be a king of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.
Thou hast commanded me to buyld a temple upon thine holy Mount, and an altar in the cite, wherein thou dwellest, a likeness of thyne holpe Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.
And thy wisdome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knoweth what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements.
Sende her out of thyne holpe heauens, and send her from the throne of thy maiestie that she may be with me, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.
For she knoweth and understandeth all things, and she shall leade me soberly in my workes, and perswade me by her gloyp.
So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I governe thy people righteously, and be merite for my fathers thione.
For what man is he that can knowe the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is?
For the thoughts of mortal men are feares full, and our thoughts are uncertaine, Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto
the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.
And hardly can wee discern the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde we out the things which are befoze vs:
who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?
Who can knowe thy counsell, except thou give him wisdome, & sende thine holpe Spirit from aboue?
For so the waves of them which are vpon earth, are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are perswaded thyne wisdome.

CHAP. X.

The deliverance of the righteous and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdome.

- She perswaded the first father of the world, Seth, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,
And gave him power to rule all things,
But the unrighteous in his wrath despised from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.
For whose cause the earth was overbolden, but wisdome perswaded it againe, governing the iust man by a little word.
Wherefore, when the nations were ioynd in their malicious confederacies, she knewe the righteous, and perswaded him faultlesse vnto God, and kept him sure, because she loved him tenderly as a sonne.
She perswaded the righteous, when the ungodly perished, when he fledde from the face that fell downe vpon the fiue cities.
Of whose wickednes the waste lande that smoketh, yet giveth testimony, and the trees beare fruite that neuer cometh to ripenes:
and for a remembrance of the unfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.
For all such as regarded not wisdome, had not onely this hurt, that they knewe not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnesse, to that in the things wherein they sinned, they can not lie hid.
But wisdome delivered them that sinned her,
When the righteous fledde because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewd him the kingdom of God, gave him knowledge of holpe things, made him rich in his labours, & made his paines profitable.
Against the courtesies of such as defrauded him, she stood by him & made him rich.
She saved him from the enemies, and defended him from them, that late they sawe, and she gave him the pisse in a murther bat-tel, that he might knowe that the feare of God is stronger then all things.
When the righteous was solde, she forsooke him not, but delivered him from sinne:
she went downe with him into the dungeon,
And sapied him not in the bandes, till she had brought him the scepter of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him:
a chain that had accited him, she declared to be liars, and gave him perpetual gloyp.
She delivered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.
She entred into the soule of the servant of the Lorde, and stode by him in wonders and signes against the terrible things.
She gave the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a marvellous way: on the day time he was a shadow vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.
She brought them thorow the red sea, and caried them thorow the great water, But she diuined their enemies, & brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.
So the righteous took the poples of the ungodly, and played thine holpe name, O Lorde, and magnified thy victorious hande with one accorde.
For wisdom openeth the mouth of the dumb,
and maketh the tongue of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XL

The miracles done for Israel, 13 The vengeance of Jehovah, 28 The great power and mercy of God.

1 So he prospered their works in the hands of thine holy prophet.

2 They went through the wilderness that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

3 They stood against their enemies, and were avenged of their adversaries.

4 When they were thirsty, they called upon thee, and water was given them out of the hie rock, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their needs.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the com-mendment of the killing of the children, but thou gavest unto thine alone abundance of water unlooked for.

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, how thou haddest punished thine adversaries.

8 For when they were tired and chastised with mercie, they knewe howe the ingodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For thei had thou choiced as a father, & proued them: but thou hadst condemned the other as a righteous king, when thou biddest examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceived that through their counsailes good came unto them, they felt the joye.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wounded at him, whome as foie they had cast out, derided and derided:
for they had another thirst then the iust.

13 Because of the foolish devices of their wishednes wherewith they were deceived, and worshipped serpents, that had not the use of reason, and vile beastes, thou sendest a multitude of unreasonable beastes upon them for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wherewith a man smeth, by the same also shall he be punished.

14 For unto thine almighty hand, that made the weight of "ought, it was not impossible to send among them a multitude of beastes, of fierce Lions,

15 Of furious beastes newly created, and un-knowne, which should breathe out blasse of fire, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not only destroy them with burning, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Pea, without these might they have bene cast downe with one winde, being persequ-ed by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hadst ordered all things in measure, number and weight.

18 For thou hadst ever had great strength and might, and who can withstande the power of thine arme.

19 For as the small thing that the balance weigheth, so in the waye before thee, and as a drop of the morning dewe, that setteth downe upon the earth.

20 But thou hadst mercie upon all: for thou hast power of all things, & makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou lovest all the things that are, and palest none of them whom thou hast made:
for thou wouldest have created nothing that thou haddest hated.

22 And howe might any thing endure, if it were not the will: of howe could any thing be preserved, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O
Lord, which art the lover of soules.

CHAP. XLII.

The mercie of God towards sinners, 14 The works of God are unsearchable, 19 God greatly leasens to repent.

1 For thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warrest them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they have offended, that leaving wickednesse, they may bringe in thee, O Lord.

3 As for those other inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them.

4 For they committed abominable twines, as fornicaries and wicked sacrificers.

5 And slaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of men o-fely in banking, where raging Whelshed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers.

7 That the lande which thou lovedst above all other, might be a meeke dwelling for thy children of God.

8 Nevertheless, thou sparedst them also, as men, and sendest the forewarners of of thine holle, even poynets to destroy them by little and litle.

9 Not that thou wast unable to subdue the ungodly unto the righteous in battell, or with cruel beastes, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and litle, thou gavest them space to repent, knowing well, that it was an unrighteous nation & wicked of nature, and that their thought could never be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, "What hast thou done?" or who dare stande against thy iudgement:
or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made: or who dare stande against thee to revenge the wicked men?

13 For there is none other God but thou, that carest for all things, that thou mayst declare howe that thy iudgement is not unrighteous.

- 24 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them whom thou hast punished.
- 25 So to much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou dost all things righteously, thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserved to be punished.
- 26 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, & because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.
- 27 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfect power, thou declarest thy power, and rejoycest the boldenes of the wise.
- 28 But thou ruling the power, indigest with equitie, and governeest vs with great favour: for thou shewest thy power when thou wilt.
- 29 As such woakes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man shoud be mild and louing, and hast made thy children to bee of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.
- 30 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserved death with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednes,
- 31 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast swayne and made covenants of good promises?
- 32 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that wyl we iudge, wee shoud diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we shoud hope for mercy.
- 33 Wherefore thou hast toymented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.
- 34 For they went astray very farre in the wayes of error, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.
- 35 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment, that they shoud bee in derision as children without reason.
- 36 But they that will not bee reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall see the woake thy punishment of God.
- 37 For in those things when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whome they counted gods, when they sawe themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whome afoye they had desired to knowe: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

- 1 All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God, 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.
- 2 Wherep all men are vayne by nature, and are ignorant of God, and coule not knowe him that is, by the good things that are sene, neither consider by his woakes, the workemaister.
- 3 But they thought the fire, or the winde, or the swift ayre, or the cours of the starres, or the raging water, or the light of heauen to be gouernours of the world, and gods.
- 4 Though they had such pleasure in their brauerie that they thought them gods, yet shoud they haue knowen, howe much more excellent he is that made them: for the first author of beaustie hath created these things.

5 If if they marvelled at the power, & operation of them, yet shoud they haue percerued thered, howe much he that made these things, is mightier.

6 For by the greatnes of their beaustie, and of the creatures, the Creator bring comparatiu with them, may be considered.

7 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and woule finde him, and per aduerture do erre.

8 For they go about by his woakes to seeke him, and are persuaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are sene.

9 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

10 For if they can knowe so much, that they can discern the world, why do they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

11 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the woakes of mens handes, gold, and silver, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beastes, or any vayne stone that hath bene made by a hand of antiquitie.

12 As when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the woake, and pareth off all the barked thereof cunningly, & by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life.

13 And the things that are cut off from his woake, hee bestoweth to dress his meate to fill himselfe,

14 And that which is left of these things, which is profitabill for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobbes) hee carneth it diligently at his leasure, and according as he is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man.

15 As maketh it like some vnde beaust, and straketh it ouer with red, and papireth it, and couereth enery spot that is in it.

16 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, & maketh it fast with yron.

17 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it can not helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath neede of helpe.

18 Then he prayeth for his gods, and for his mariage and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

19 He calleth on him that is weak for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requirerth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

20 And for his iourney, him that is not able to go, and for game, and woake, & successe of his affaires, he requirerth furtherce of him, that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

2 A Gaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe throughe the raging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the shippe that carrieth him.

3 For as for it, couetconscience of monye hath founde it out, and the crafterman made it.

by cunning.

3 But the providence of father governeth us: for thou hast made a way, even in the sea, and a sure path among the waves,

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to help in all things, yea, though a man were in the sea without means.

5 Nevertheless thou wouldest not, that the works of thy wisdom should be vaine, and therefore doe men commit their lives to a small piece of wood, & passe over the stormie sea in a shippe, and are saved.

6 For in the olde time also when the yovnde giants perished, the hope of the world went into a ship which was governed by thine hand, and so left seed of generation unto the world.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousnes commeth.

8 But that is cursed is made with hands: both it, and he that made it: he because he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

9 For the vngodly, and his vngodlinesse are both like hated of God: so cruelly the worke & he that made it, shall be punished together.

10 Therefore shall there be a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, and stinking blotches unto the soules of men, and a snare for the feet of the vniuile.

11 For the increasing of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them to the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for ever.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an ende.

14 When a father mourned grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, without doubt he worshippeth as a god, and obedieth to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by yces of time this wicked custome remained, & was kept as a law, and idoles were worshipped by the commandment of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whome they would honour, that they might by all means flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.

17 Again the ambition of the craftisman thus forwaide the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For hee peradventure willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so though the beautie of the image the multitude was allured, & so took him name for a god, which a little afore was but counted as a man.

20 And thus was the deceiting of mannes heart, which first being in seruitude, through calumnies and flattery ascribed unto stones and flocks the name, which ought not to be communicate unto any.

21 Spedience: this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they lived in great ignorance, there so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or did secrete ceremonies, or doing dissolutes by strange rites.

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but yett one sinned another by reason, or els beried him by adultery.

24 So were all mixed together, blood, & slaughter, theft and deceite, corruption, vnsanctifiednes, tumultes, perurie.

25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulness, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adulterie and vncleanness.

26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause and the ende of all euill.

27 For either they bee made when they bee merie, or prophesie, or live vngodly, or els lightly forswear themselves.

28 For in so much as their trust is in idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yett they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, abjecting themselves into idoles, and because they sweare vniuile to become, and despise holynesse.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the bringance of them that swine, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The verses of the faithfull, praying the mercy of God, by which we are saved.

1 Blessed thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, & governed all things by thy word.

2 Though we knowe not thy power: yett we knowe thy power: but we knowe not, knowing that we are corrupted thine.

3 For to knowe thee, is perseue righteousness, and to knowe thy power is the route of immortalitye.

4 For neither hath the wicked invention of men deceived us, for the hire of the labour of the painters, nor an image of diuers colours.

5 Whose sight succeedeth by the name of the artisans: so that he couereth the figure that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that haue such wicked things, are mooued to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that beere them, and they that worship them.

7 The porter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessel with labour so vniuile: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels, that serue to cleane vases, and the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessel serueth, the porter is the iudge.

8 So by this wicked labour he maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen he, which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, and turneth to a little while after, worth nothing againe: whence he was taken, when he shall make a count for the losse of his life.

9 For notwithstanding he carryeth not for the fauour

8 Who he taketh, whereby his life is shoye, but he firmly with the golden scepter, and thus smyth, & counterfayth the coveynant, & taketh it for an honour to make dicemable things.

10 For his heart is ashy, and his hope is moye like then earth, and his life is like woorth of honoy then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gave him his soule, that had power & breath in him the breath of life.

12 But they coit one life to be but a pastime, and our commolation as a market, where there is game: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by null means.

13 Now he that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth him selfe to offend aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of the people, that holde them in subjection, are most vitiouse, & moie miserable then the very fowles.

15 For they iudge all the idols of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noyse to heare, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of handes to gripe, and their feete are slowe to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a joynted spirite, facioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall him selfe, it is but mortall that he maketh with vnrightheous handes: he himselfe is better then they, who he worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Pea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none understanding.

19 Neether haue they any benefite to be desired in respect of other beastes: for they are benefite of gods vnto, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefite done vnto the faithful.

1 Therefore by such things they are worshippid, punished, & tormented by the multitude of beastes.

2 In that of the which punishment thou hast bene favourable to the people, and to satisfy their appetite, hast prepared a meat of a strange taste, even quaires.

3 To the intent that they that desired meat, by the things which were shewed and sent among them, might carrie away their necessary desire, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feel a new taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which beid tyrannic, should fall into extreme penurie, and that so they ouer it should be shewed, howe their enemies were tormented.

5 For when the cruel fiercenes of the beastes came vpon them, and they were hurt with the sting of cruel serpentes,

6 The which endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a litle season, & they might be requoyed, hauing a signe of saluation, to remember the commandement of thy lawe.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not heas-led by the thing that he sawe, but by the, & saluour of all.

8 Somewhat than shewdest thou enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 For the biting of grasshoppers & flies killed them, and there was no remedie founde for their life: for they were woorth to be punished by such.

10 But the teeth of the venomous dragons could not overcome the children: for the mercie came to helpe them, & healed them.

11 For they were vjcked, because they should remember the woordes, & were speevely healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulness, that they could not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy woode, & loybe, which heareth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, & leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and byingest by againe.

14 A man in dede by his wickednesse maye slaye another: but when the spirite is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can he call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand:

16 For the vngodly that would not knowe that, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine & with hail, and were punished with tempest, that they coude not anioide, and were consumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the woide is the awnser of the righteous.

18 For sometime was a fire so raine, that the beastes, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see & knowe, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniuersall land.

20 In the stead wherof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels food, & sent them bynd ready from heauen without their lasse, which had abundance of all pleasures in it and was meete for all tastes.

21 For the sustenance declared thy sweetnes vnto the children, which turned to the appetite of him, that tooke it, and was meete to that that enery man would.

22 Whenouer the snow & ice abode the fire, and welled not, that they might knowe, that the fire burning in the hail, & sparkling in the raine, destroyed & brake off the enemies.

23 Against it foughte his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that leueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrightheous: but it is eade to doe good vnto such as vnto their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all faciones to seme thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that haue need thereof.

26 That thy children whome thou lovest, & lovest might knowe, & it is not the increase of frutes that sedeth men, but that it is the woide,

CHAP. XVII.

The judgments of God against the wicked.

For the judgments are great, & cannot be repayed: therefore men do erre, that will not be reformed.
 2 For when the unrighteous thought to have founde hope in subjection, they were bound with the bands of darkness, & long night, & being shut by under the roofe, did lie there to escape the everlasting providence.
 3 And whither they thought to be hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke covering of forgetfulness, fearing hardship and troubled with visions.
 4 For the denier that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the foundes that were as about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and joyful sights did appeare.
 5 No power of the fire might quie light, neither might the cleare flames of the narrow lightner the horrible night.
 6 For there appeared unto them onely a sub-den fire, very deadly: so that being afraid of this vision, which they could not see,
 they thought the things, which they sawe, to be woyle.
 7 And the illusions of the magicall artes were brought downe, and it was a most shameful repaiche for the boasting of their knowledge.
 8 For they that promised to bring away feare and trouble from the sick person, were like for feare, and woith to be laughed at.
 9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afrayd at the deastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and said they sawe not the aire, which by no means can be avoided.
 10 For it is a fearefull thing, when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a conscience that is touched, doeth ever recall cruell things.
 11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.
 12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that sojourneth him, great.
 13 But they that did endure the night that was intolerable, and that came out of the danger of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe.
 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soules should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came upon them.
 15 And thus, who former fell downe, hee was kept & shut in prison, but without chaines.
 16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke as long, if he were taken, hee must suffer this needfull, that he could not escape.

17 For with one chapter of darkness were they all bound: to suffer it were an ending under, of a short ending of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees: as the devourance of fishes remaining water.
 18 As a great noise of the falling waters of stones, or the running of smelting hearths, that could not be seene, or the noise of cruel beastes, that was not, or the soundes that are sweeter against the holowe mountains:
 such several things may be thought to come.
 19 For all the houses should have light,
 and no man was hidden in his secret.
 20 Weep upon them: there fell an heavily night, an image of that darkness that was to come upon them: yea, they were undermined more grievous than darkness.

CHAP. XVIII.

The first pillar that the Pharisees had in Egypt, & the deliverance of the Jews from the land of Egypt.
 1 The first pillar that the Pharisees had in Egypt, & the deliverance of the Jews from the land of Egypt.
 1 The first pillar that the Pharisees had in Egypt, & the deliverance of the Jews from the land of Egypt.

Brethren, I have had a very great light, whose hope because they heard, & saw not the figure of them, they thought them dead, because they also had not suffered the like.
 2 And because they did not see them, which did hurt them above, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their sinne.
 3 Therefore thou gawst them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the wilderness, and madest the same that it hurted not them in their honorable journey.
 4 But they were woith to be deprived of the light, and to be kept in darkness, which had kept thy children first by, by whom the uncorrupt light of the lawe should be given to the world.
 5 Where as they thought to slay the babes of the Saimers, by one child that was cast out, and preferred to response them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them all together in the mightie water.
 6 Of night were our fathers certified above, that they knowinge unto what other they had given credit, might be of good cheere.
 7 Thus thy people received the heath of righteousness, but the enemies were destroyed.
 8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified us who thou hast called.
 9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, & made a lawe of righteounes by one consent, that the Saimers should receive good & evil in like manner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.
 10 But a disagreeing crye was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were betrayed.
 11 For the master and the servant were niled with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the King.
 12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the living sufficient to bury them: for in the twinkling of an eye a nobler offering of them was destroyed.

cause of the incantmentes, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first boies.

24 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the midst of her sweet course,

25 Thine almightie twohbe kept downe from heauen out of the royal thron, as a fierce man of warre in the midst of the lande that was destroyed,

26 And brought thine unfained commaundement as a sharp sword, and stood up, & killed all things with death, & being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

27 Then the light of the fearefull pyrames beere them suddenly, and fearefulness came vpon them busiwarres.

28 Then lay there one here, another there half dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

29 For the visions that beere them, shewed them these things afoie: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

30 Howe temptation of death touched the righteous also, and among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

31 For the blamelesse man made haste, & defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministratiō, such as paper, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, so brought the miserie to an ende, declaring that he was the servant.

32 For he overcame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued him that persecuted, alladging the othes and covenant made vnto the fathers.

33 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, hee stood in the midst, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from continuing to the liuing.

34 For in the long garment was all the ornament, & in the four corners of the stoness was the glory of the fathers grauen with the maiesty in the diademe of his head.

35 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afrade of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

8 The death of the Egyptians, and the great joy of the Hebrews, 18 The meat that was giuen at the desire of the people, 17 All the elements seru to the wil of God.

1 A For the bugboly, the wrath came vpon them without mercie vnto the ende: for hee knewe what should come vnto them.

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorrow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnes, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had cast out afoie with piaper.

4 For the desire, whereof they were woful, brought them to this ende, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplishe the punishment, which remained by toiments.

5 Worth that thy people might trie a marvellous passage, and that they might finde a strange death.

6 For every creature in his kinde was fashioned of nature, and serued in their owne offices inopined them, that thy children might be kept with some hurt.

7 For the cloude overhadowed their tents, and the dye earth appeared, where afoie was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene felde.

8 Though I aske all the people went that were defended with thine hande, seeing the wondrous manekes.

9 For they stepped like horses, and leaped like lambs, prapling ther, & Ioyde, which had best deliuered them.

10 For they were per full of those things which were done in the lande where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth spres in steade of cattell, and howe the river strouled with the multitude of frogges in steade of fishes.

11 But at the last they salue a newe generatiō of birdes, when they were intiled with fish, and desired delicate meates.

12 For the quailles came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the sinners not without signes: for they were giuen by great thundings: for they suffered wofulship according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers.

13 For the one lost wounde not receiue them when they were present, because they knewe them not: the other lost brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things some would not suffer, that any regard should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the righteous, so that every one being compassed with darkness, sought the entrance of his boie.

17 Thus the elements agreed among them selves in this change, as when ouer time is changed vpon an instrument of musick, & the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water so gaue his owne kind to quench.

20 Again, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be of pes, and was of a nature that woulde melt, and yet was an immortall meate.

21 For in all things, & Ioyde, thou hast manifested and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in every tyme and place.

The wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This argument was founde in a certaine Greeke copie. This Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirach his father was also called Iesus, and hee liued in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe; and almost after all the Prophets. None his grandfather, as he him self witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdom among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the grace fencees of wise men, that had bene before him, but he him self also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So this Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who toke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISDOME, intitling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfather: thinking by this title of Wisdom to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, & darke sentences, and similitudes with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, even of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreover, what benefites the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues hee had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deede.

Were as many, and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Lawe, & the Prophets, and by others: I haue solomned them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine & wisdom, whereby the readers ought not onely to become leaured them selues, but also may be able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable vnto strangers: hath by speaking and writing after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen him selfe to the reading of the Lawe, & the Prophets, & other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient indgement, he put forth also to teache some thing pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much more in luring according to the Lawe. Wherfore, I expect you to receive it willingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to come in some things not able to attain to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expellied for things, that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in them selues: then when they are translated into another tongue, and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Lawe it selfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth part, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I founde a copie full of great learning, and I thought it necessary, to bestow my diligence, and traualle to interpret this booke: so for a certaine time with great watching & studie I came my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply themselves vnto good manners, and luring according to the Lawe.

CHAP. II.

- 1 Exhorteth the servants of God to righteousness, low, understanding, and patience. 2 To trust in the Lord.
- 1.3 A curse upon them that are faint hearted and impatient.
- 1 M P forme, if thou wilt come into the service of God, [stand fast in righte-ousness and feare, and] prepare thy soules preparation.
- 2 Be still this day, and be patient: [behold downe thine eare, and receive the words of understanding,] and thinke not away, when thou art assailed, [but waite upon God patiently.]
- 3 For hee will sende unto him, and depart not away, that thou mayest be increased at thy last ende.
- 4 Whensoever cometh unto thee, receive it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.

- 1 For as golde [and silver are] tryed in the fire, so shall men be tryed in the furnace of adversity.
- 2 He that is in God, and he will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: [hold fast his feare, and give the words therein.]
- 3 He that feare the Lord, shall say his mercie: thinke not away from him that he shall not.
- 4 He that feare the Lord, beloveth him, and your reward shall not faile.
- 5 He that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the everlasting top and mercy.
- 6 He that feare the Lord, lowe him, and your hearts shall be hardened.
- 7 Consider the old generations of men, & children, [and make them toke: "was there ever any confounded, that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whom did he ever despayre, that called upon him?"]
- 8 For God is gracious and merciful, and for many times, and lower to the time of trouble, [and is a defender for all them that feare him in the tempest.]
- 9 Who unto them, that have a fcarefull heart [and to the touched lippen] and to the faint hands, and to the sinners that gory two manner of waipes.
- 10 Who unto him that is fapnt hearted, for hee believeth not: therefore shall he not be defended.
- 11 Who unto him that hath lost patience, and have forsaken the right waipes, and are entered into the wrong waipes: [say to him, will ye do to him the Lord shall visit you.]
- 12 He that feare the Lord, will not disobey his words: and hee that lowe him, will keepe his waipes.
- 13 He that feare the Lord, will seek out the things that are pleasant unto him: and hee that lowe him, shall be filled with his lawe.
- 14 Hee that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules to his sight.
- 15 [Hee that feare the Lord, keepe his commandments, & will be patient till hee see them.]
- 16 Saying, If we do not repent, we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.
- 17 For as his gentleness is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

- 1 To our father and mother ought we to give double honour. 2 Of his blessing and curse of the father and mother. 3 Of his blessing and curse of the father and mother.
- 1 The children of wisdom are the church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and love.
- 2 Heare your fathers indignation, & children, and do the reave, that ye may be safe.
- 3 For the Lord will have the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother over the children.
- 4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiven him: [and he shall abide from them, and shall have his day desired.]
- 5 And hee that dishonoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth threede.
- 6 Who so dishonoureth his father, shall have his sinnes forgiven him, and shall have his day desired.
- 7 He that dishonoureth his father, shall have a long long life, and he that is obedient vnto the loyde, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that seareth the loyde, honoureth his parentes, & both serueth vnto his parentes, as vnto loydes.

9 * Honour thy father & mother in deede and in wordes: & in all patience, [that thou inapert haue Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the ende.]

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father:
for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame, [being that mans glory cometh by his fathers honour, and the reioyce of the mother is dishonour to the children.]

12 Opp scoure, helpe thy father in his age, and grace him not as long as he liueth.

13 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when he is in the full strength.

14 For the good entreate of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a foyntrise for the against sinnes, (and for the mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, & it shall be founded for thee in rightousnesse.)

15 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy sinnes also shall melt away as the pee in the satre weaether.

16 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and be that angreth his mother, is curst of God.

17 * Opp sonne, performe thy doings with machines, so shalt thou bee beloued of them that are appoynded.

18 The * greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all thynges,] and thou shalt find sauiour before the loyde.

he is honoured of the world.

which are too mightie for thee.

be not curious in many of his woekes:] for it is not needefull for thee to see with thine eyes the thynges that are secrete.

23 We not curious in superfluous thynges: for many thynges are shewed vnto the above þ capacitie of men.

24 The merding with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceived their iudgment.

25 Thou canst not see without eyes: profess not the knowledg thereof: that thou hast not.

26 If subburne heart shall see euil at the last:
& he that loneth danger shall perish therein.

27 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and he that is frowarde of heart, shall humble therein.

28 An obdurate heart shall be laden with sorrows: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

29 The perfixion of the pious is without remedy, and his steppes shall be plucked by:
for the plante of sinne hath taken root in him, [and he shall not be eschewed.]

30 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret thynges: and an attentiue care is the desire of a wise man.

31 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will absterge from sinne, and shall prosper in the woekes of righteousness.]

32 Water quencherh burning fire, & sinne taketh away sinnes.

33 And he that rewardeth good with good, will remember it afterwarde, and in the time of the fall, he shall finde a nap.

poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soule, his prayer shall be hearde of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the companie [of poore, & humble thy soule vnto the Elder:] & bowe down thine head to a man of wisdom.

13 Hee that keepeth her, shall inherite glorie:
for vnto whom she entreth, him the loyde will bless.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruantes of the holy one, and them that loue her, the loyde both loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and he that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 He that is faithful vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

14 Doe not to laue with the Iudge: for they will giue sentence accordyng to his owne honour.

15 * Trauaple not by the way with him that is calt, least he do thee iniurie: for he followeth his owne willfulnesse, and so shalt thou perishe through his folie.

16 * Stris not with him that is angrie, and go not with him into the wilderness: for blind is as nothing in his sight, and where there is no helpe, he will asquaine thee.

17 Take no comfort in sinners: for he can not keepe a thing close.

18 Doe no secretes thing before a stranger: for thou canst not tell what he goeth about.

19 Open not thine heart vnto euery man, lest he be vntankefull to thee, [and put thee to repulse.]

CHAP. IX.

Of ielousie. 12 An olde friende is to be preferred before a newe. 18 Righteous men should be bidden to thy table.

1 Gen. 4. 1. Prov. 12. 14. Be not ielous ouer thy wife of thy bones, neither teach her by thy meanes an euill lesson.

2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, least she overcome thy strength, [and so thou be consumed.]

3 Where not an harlot, least thou fall into her snares.

4 Use not the company of a woman that is a singer, [and a dancer, neither heare her,] lest thou be taken by her craftines.

5 Gaze not on a maike, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her.

6 Call not thy minde vpon harlots [in any manner of thing,] lest thou destitute [both thy selfe and thine heritage.]

7 Doe not about gazing in the streets of the cite, neither wander thou in the secrete places thereof.

8 * Turne awap thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beault: for many haue perished by the beaultie of women: for though it loue is kindled as a fire.

9 [Every woman that is an harlot, shall be troden vnder soote as doung, of euery one that goeth by the way.]

10 Many wondering at the beaultie of a strange woman, haue bene cast out: for her wordes burne as a fire.

11 Sitte not at all with another mans wife, [neither lie with her vpon the bed,] nor bander with her, least thine heart incline vnto her, & so through thy desire fall into destruction.

12 * Forake not an olde friende: for the new shal not be like him: a new friend is as newe wine: when it is olde, thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 * Desire not the honour [and riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall bee his ende.

14 Delite not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shal not be found iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slape: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, least he take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the mids of snares, & that thou walkest vpon the rowes of the cite.

16 Try thy neighbour as nere as thou canst, and aske counsell of the wise.

communication in the house of the most High.

18 Let trust men enter & dance with thee, & let thy rejoycing be in the feast of the Lord.

19 In the hands of the craftsman shall the workes be manufactered, & the wise prynces of the people shall be made. (and the woide by the wise doers.)

20 If man trust in his riches, and be proud in his talking, shall he be hated.

C H A P. X.

1 Of Kings and judges. 7 Pride and courtousness are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praised.

1 A Wise iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what manner of man the ruler of the cite is, such are all they that dwell therein.

3 An unwise king destroyeth his people, but where they that be in authoritie, are men of understanding, there the cite prospereth.

4 The gouernment of the earth is in the hands of the Lord, (and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred, and when time is, he will set up a pious ruler over it.

5 In the hands of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the scribes will he lay his honour.

6 Be not angry for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by inuicious practices.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquitie.

8 Because of vnrightheous dealing & wrongs and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is transferred from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse than a couetous man: [whp are thou yowde, & earth and alhes: there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one woulde euen sell his soule, & for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 All tyrannie is of small indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grievous to the physician.]

11 The physician cutteth off the soie disease, & he that is to day a king, to morowe is dead.

12 Whp is earth and alhes proud, seeing that whp a man dieth, he is the beire of serpents, beastes, and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall as trap from God, & to turne alway his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the original of sinne, and hee that hath it, shall powere out abomination, till at last hee be overthowen: therefore the Lord humblyeth the perswasions [of the wise hee] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the ende.

15 The Lord hath cast downe the thrones of the [yowde] prynces, & set vp the mecke in their stead.

16 The Lord plucketh by the rootes of the [yowde] nations, and planteth the lowly with glorie among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the landes of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: he causeth them to wis-ther away, & destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to craie out of the earth.

18 God destroyeth the memoriall of the yowde, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wight in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man, which is an honourable seede: the honorable seede are they that feare the Lord: there is a seede of man, which is without honour: & seede without honour, are they that transgresse the commandments of the Lord: it is a seede that remaineth which feareth the Lord, & a saye plant, & lone him: but they are a seede without honour, that despise the law, & a deceivable seede that breake the commandments.

21 He that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lord causeth & the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by crueltie and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory as well of the riche and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath understanding, neyther to it convenient to magnifie the riche that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge & the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater, then he that feareth the Lord.

26 Vnto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free, doe seruice: he & hath knowledg, will not grudge when he is reformed, [and the ignorant shal not come to honour.]

27 Make not excuse when thou shouldest do thy woike, neyther be ashamed thereof though pride in the time of aduersitie.

28 Better is hee that laboureth and hath plentyousnesse of all things, then hee that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 If thoume, get thy selfe praise by meeknes, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.

30 Who will count him selfe that smiteth against him selfe: or honour him, that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the riche is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 He that is honourable in pouertie, howe much more shall he be when he is rich: and he that is vn honest bring riche, howe much more will he be so when he is in pouertie?

14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into thine house.

Wise dome lifteth by the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neyther despise a man in his breter appearance.

3 The Wee is but small among the foules, yet doth her fruit passe in vertues.

- 5 Many tyrants haue sit down vpon þe earth,
* and the vniuersall hath wome the crowne.
6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue bene deliuered into other mens hands.
7 ¶ * Blame no [man] before thou haue inquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then refuse [righteously].
8 * Gie no sentence, before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the mids of their tales.
9 Strive not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.
10 Appoyme, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not be blamelesse, and if thou followe after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.
11 * There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hasteth, the more he waiteth.
12 Again there is some that is slothfull, and * hath neede of help: for he waiteth strength, and hath great povertie, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his lowe estate.
13 And he lieth by his head: so that many men maruill at him, [and giue honour vnto God].
14 * Prosperitie & aduersitie, life and death, povertie and riches come of the Lord.
15 Wisdome and knowledge, & vnderstanding of the Lawe are of the Lord: loue and good workes come of him.
16 Error and darkenes are appoynted for sinners, and they that exalt them selues in euil, ware olde in euil.
17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.
18 ¶ Some man is riche by his care and nigardship, & this is the portion of his wages.
19 In that he saith, * I haue gotten rest, and nowe wil I eate continually of my goods, yet he considereth not that the time dialueth nere, that he must leane all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.
20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.
21 Maruill not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, & abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man riche.
22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie lone to himselfe.
23 ¶ Say not, What profite and pleasure shal I haue? and what good things shal I haue hereafter?
24 Again say not, I haue enough, and possessesse many things, and what euil can come to me hereafter?
25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.
26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to rewarde a man according to his wages.
27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans ende, his workes are discouered.

- 28 Judge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe knowne by his children.
29 Binge not euery man into thine house: for the deceiptfull haue many traimes, [and are like stomackes that belche stinking].
30 As a partridge is taken vnder a basket, [and the hinde is taken in the snare], so is the heart of the pious man, which like a spie warcheth for thy fall.
31 For he lieth in wait and turneth good vnto euil, and in things woorthie playe he will finde some faulte.
32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [& of one deceiptfull man is blood increased: for a timefull man lapeth waite for blood].
33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.
34 Lodge a stranger, and he will destroy thee with vnquietnes, and bryne thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

2 Vnto whom we ought to do good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

1 When thou wilt doe good, knowe to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefices.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] rewarde, though not of him, yet of the most High. Gal. 6. 10. 1. Tim. 5. 1.

3 Ye can not haue good that continueth in euil, and giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, & hath merrie vpon them that repent].

4 Gine vnto such as feare God, and receive not a siner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is tolowy, but gine not to the vngodly: haue backe thy byrad, and gine it not vnto him, lest he overcome thee thereby: els thou shalt receive twile as much euil for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and wil repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them agaynst the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Gine vnto the good, and receive not the sinner.

8 A friend can not be knownen in prosperitie, neither can an enemye be vnknewen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it griueneth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend wil depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemye: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednes.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet abuse thy selfe, and betrace of him, & thou shalt be to him, as he that wipeth a glasse, & thou shalt knowe that all his rust hath not bene wel wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest he destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, lest he seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and be pricked with my sayings.

14 * Wende not two sinnes together: for there shal not one be unpunished. Chap. 7. 2. and 21. 2.

13 Who will haue pitie on the charmer, that is ringed of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the deathe? so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and wrappeh himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will he hide with thee: but if thou humble, he tarpeh not.

17 An enemie is sweete in his lippes: he can make many good woordes, and speake many good things: yea, he can wepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth howe to chiove thee into the pitte: and if he may finde opportunitie, hee will not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though he pretende to helpe thee, yet shall he undermine thee: he will shake his head, and clasp his hands, and will make many woordes, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proude and of the riche are to be eschewed. 15 The loan of God. 17 Like doe company with their lijs.

He that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proude, shall be like vnto him.

2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, wispiet thou him, and company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for howe agree the kettle and the ear: then potte together: for if the one be luttren against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The riche dealeth vnrighteously, & threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the riche haue done wrong, he must pet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, hee shall straightwaies be cheareid.

4 If thou be for his piosite, he bleth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he wil forlake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing: he will lue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If he haue neede of thee, he will defraude thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and gine thee all good woordes, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus wil he shame thee in his meate, vntill he haue surp thee cleane by twice or thise, and at the last he will laugh thee to scorne: afterwarde, when he seeth thee, he wil forlake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 Submit thy selfe vnto God, & waite vpon his hand.

9 Beware that thou be not decciwed in thine owne conceite, and brought downe by thy simpleness: [be not too humble in thy wil domie.]

10 If thou be called of a nightie man, absent thy selfe: so that he call thee the more oft.

11 Deale not thou vnto him, that thou doe not luit out, but goe not thou farre off, least he forgieth thee.

12 Withdrow not thy selfe from his speache, but belenee not his many woordes: for with much communication will he tempe thee, and langhingis will he grope thee.

13 He is vnniercifull, and keepeth not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, and take good herbe: for thou wilt be in perill of thine ouerthrowing: wile thou hearest this, awake in thy slepe.

15 Love the Lord all thy life, and cal vpon him for thy saluation.

16 Every beast loneth his like, and euery man loneth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will cringe to their like, and euery man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no moxe can the vngodly be the righteous.

19 What fellowshipp hath a hyena with a dogge? and what peace is betwene the rich and the poore?

20 As the wilde asse is the Lyons pray in the wilderness, so are poore me & myrat of a rich.

21 As the proude hate humilitie, so doe the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a riche man fall, his friends set him by againe: but when the poore salter, his friends bite him away.

23 If a rich man offend, he hath many helpers: he speaketh many woordes, and pet men iustifie him: but if a poore man saple, they rebuke him, & though he speake wisely, pet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what he sapeh, they papele it vnto the clowdes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What selow is this? and if he doe anill, they will desdrop him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience], and pueritie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A chearefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to knowe the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happie is he that continueth in wisdom.

Blessed is the man that hath not fallen by [the woide of] his mouth, and is not tourmented with the soiove of sinne.

2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comelp for a niggard, & what should an eniuous man doe with money?

4 He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheare with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whome will he be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieeth himselfe: and this is a rewarde of his wickednes.

7 And if he doe any good, hee doeth it, not knowing thereof, and against his wil, and at the last he declareth his wickednes.

8 The eniuous man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A cometous mans eye hath neuer proung of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A wicked eye enuieeth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table.

Which is a wilde beast that counteneth them out of their houses and denoureth them.

11 Therefore if there be one stricken among the people, it is marvellous if he scape unpunished: for mercie and wrath are with him: he is mighty to forgive, and to purge out his pleasure.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe from the King: for who will thinke upon me from above? I shall not be known in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Beholde, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, which are for God: the depth, and the earth, and all that therein is, shall be moved when he shall visite.

19 All the wayde which is created and made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the King looketh upon them.

20 These things doeth he not understand with sight, [but he understandeth every heart.]

21 And who understandeth his wayes? and the strong that no man can see: for the most part of his wayes are hid.

22 Who can declare the wayes of his righteousness? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is farre off, and the trying out of all things sayeth.

23 He that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an unwise and erroneous man censureth his minde upon foolish things.

24 Appoynt some, hearken unto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my wayes with thine heart.

25 I will declare the wayes of doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The King hath set his wayes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath he finished from the other when he first made them.

27 He hath garnished his wayes for ever, and their beginnings as long as they shall endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindereth another, neither was any of them disobedient unto his wayes.

29 After this the King looked upon the earth and filled it with his good things.

30 When all manner of living beasts hath covered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The creation of man, and the goodness that God hath done unto him: 29 Of Adam, 31. And of the serpent.

1 The King hath created man of the earth, and turned him into it againe.

2 He gave him the number of dayes and certaine times, and gave him power of the things that are upon earth.

3 He clothed them with strength, as they had need, and made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that he had the dominion over the beasts, and fowles.

5 [We created out of him an helper like unto himselfe,] and gave them discretion and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to understand, and finally he gave them a spirit, and sensibility: he gave them speech to declare his wayes.

6 And he filled them with knowledge of understanding, and showed them good & evil.

7 He set his eye upon their hearts, declaring unto them his noble wayes.

8 And gave them occasion to rejoice perpetually in his miracles, that they should joyfully declare his wayes, and that the elect should praise his holy name together.

9 Beside this, he gave them knowledge, and gave them the lawe of life for an heritage, that they might know that they were mortall.

10 He made an everlasting covenant with them, and shewed them his judgments.

11 Their eyes saw the marvellous of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voice.

12 And hee sayde unto them, Beware of all unrighteous things. He gave every man also a commaundement concerning his neighbour.

13 Their wayes are ever before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Every man from his youth is given to as well, and their stonie heartes can not become flesh.

15 He appoynted a ruler upon every people, when he divided the nations of the world.

16 And hee did thinke Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, to whom hee nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, and giveth him most loving light, and doeth not forsake him.

17 All their wayes are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually upon their wayes.

18 None of their unrighteousnesse is hidde from him, but all their sinnes are before the King.

19 And as he is mercifull, and knoweth his wayes, he doeth not leave them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 The almes of a man, is as a thing sealed by before him, and hee keepeth the good deeds of man as the apple of the eye, and giveth repentance to their sinnes, and daughters.

21 He the last shall hee arise, and reward them, and shall repare their reward upon their heads.

22 But unto them that will repent, hee giveth them grace to returne, and exhorteth

CHAP. XIX.

- 1 Uine and whoredoms bring men to poverty, & in thy words use discretion, 22 The difference of the wisdomes of God and man, 27 VVherby thou mayest know what is in man.

1 A labouring man that is giuen to hym-kemede, shall not be rich: and he that concerneth small things, shall fall by little and little.

2 Wine and women leade wise men out of the way, [and put men of understanding to repoyse.]

3 And he that companyeth adulterers, shall become impudent: rottenness and wormes shall haue him to heritage, and he that is co-boyle, shall be taken away, and be made a publicke example.

4 He that is hasty to give credite, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednes, shall be punished: [he that hateth to be reuenged, his life shall he shortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of wordes, quencheth wickednes:] and he that secretly pleasures, crowneeth his owne soule.

6 He that refraneth his tongue, may liue with a troublesome man, and he that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Keepe not to another, that which is told vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindered.

8 Declare not other mens matters, neither to friend nor foe: and if the time appertaine not vnto thee, reuells it not.

9 For he wil hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunity, he wil hate thee.

10 If thou hast heard a word, against thy neighbour, let it die with thee, and be sure, it will not hurt thee.

11 A scole traueileth when he hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arrow that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a scoles heart.

13 Reproue a friend lest he do euill, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friende that he may kepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that he say it no more.

15 Tell thy friende his faulte: for oft times a slander is raised, and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: and who is hee, that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, & being without anger, giue place vnto the Lawe of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisdomes obtaineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandments of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruits of iust mytalitie.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wise men, and the performinge of the Lawe is perfit wise-dome, and the knowledge of his almightie power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I wil not doe as it pleased thee, though afterward he doe it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednes is not wisdom, neither is thers prudence where as the counsell of sinners is: but it is euill execrable malice: and the fool is hope of wise dome.

23 He that hath small vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdom, and transgresseth the Lawe of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is unrighteous: and there is that which is the open & manifest Law: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some y being about wicked purposes, do hold downe themselves, & are led, whose inward parts burne altogether with berrie: he looketh downe with his face, and saimeth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he will be upon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be so weak that he can do thee no harme, yet when he may finde opportunity, he will doe euill.

27 If a man may be knowne by his looke, any one that hath vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

28 A mans garment, & his excessive laughter, and going, declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

- Of correction and reproofes, & To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked, 23 Offending, 24 The thiefe and the man thier, 28 Gifts blinde the eie of the wise.*

1 There is some rebuke that is not come againe, some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2 It is much better to reprove, then to beare euill will: and he that acknowledgeth his faulte, shall be preserved from hurt.

3 He when a grided man though little would desire a maide, so is he that useth violence in iudgement.

4 Proue good a thing is it, when thou art reprovied, to shew repentance: for so shalt thou escape without blame.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becometh hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answer: & some keepeth silence, waiting a convenient time.

7 A wise man wil holde his tongue til he see opportunity: but a trifler and a fool wil regard no time.

8 He that useth many wordes, shall be abhorred, and he that taketh authority to himself, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and sometime a thing that is found, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, & there is some gift, whose reward is double.

- 11 Some man buildeth himselfe for glories sake, and trowe by humblenesse lifted up the head.
- 12 Some man dieth much for a little price: for the which he payeth seven times more.
- 13 A wise man buyeth his wordes maketh him selfe to be loued, but the mule tales of foolles shalbe powred out.
- 14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neyther yet of the censures for his importunitie: for he looketh to receive many things for one: he giveth little, & he buyeth much: he openeth his mouth like a coluene crier: to day he lendeth, to morrow asketh he againe, and his prayer is to be hated of God and man.
- 15 The foole saith, I have no friend: I have no thankes for all my good dooers: and they that ate my bread, speake censure of me.
- 16 Howe oft, and of howe many shall he be laughed to scorn? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.
- 17 The fall on a punishment is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.
- 18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is sold by the mouth of the ignorant.
- 19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it cometh out of a fooles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.
- 20 Some man smirreth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieved when he is alone.
- 21 Some man there is that becometh his owne soule, because he is ashamed, & for the regard of persons loseth it.
- 22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemy of him for thought.
- 23 A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the unwise.
- 24 A thiefe is better, then a man that is accustomed to liebet: for both shall haue destruction to heritage.
- 25 The conditions of liars are dishonest, and their shame is euer with them.
- 26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.
- 27 He that tilleth his land, shall increas his heape: he that worketh righteousness, shall be exalted, and he that pleadeth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.
- 28 Rewards and gifts be like the eyes of the wise, and make them become, that they can not reproue fautes.
- 29 Wisdom is that is hid, & treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?
- 30 Better is he that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that sheweth his wisdom.
- 31 The necessary patience of him that followeth the Lorde, is better then he that gonerith his life without the Lorde.
- 32 He that is from time, as from a serpent: for thou comest to me, it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lion, to flap the soules of men.
- 33 All iniquitie is as a two edged sworde, the woundes whereof cannot be healed.
- 34 Strife & iniuries waste riches: so the house of the pious shalbe desolate.
- 35 The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, cometh vnto the eares of the Lord, & his answer is done him incontinently.
- 36 Who so hateth to be requited, is in a way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lord, cometh in heart.
- 37 An eloquent talker is knowne a farre off: but he is wise, persecuted when he falleth.
- 38 Who so buildeth his house vnto other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his grave.
- 39 The congregation of the wicked is like a bundle of fire to destroy them.
- 40 The way of sinners is made playne with stones, but at the ende thereof is hel, darkness and paines.
- 41 He that keepeth the Lawe of the Lord, ruleth his owne affections thereto: & the increase of wisdom is the end of the feare of God.
- 42 He that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternes.
- 43 The knowledge of the wise shall abound like water that runneth out, and his counsel is like a pure fountaine of life.
- 44 The inner partes of a foole are like a house without wall: he can keepe no knowledge which he liueth.
- 45 When a man of vnderstanding beareth a wise word, he will commend it, and increas it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he will disdain it, and cast it behind his back.
- 46 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelines in the path of a wise man.
- 47 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, and they shall ponder his wordes in their heart.
- 48 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisdom vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the unwise is as wood without order.
- 49 Doctrine vnto foolles is as fetters in the fete, & like manacles vpon the right hand.
- 50 A foole liueth vpon his voice, & laugheth, but a wise man doth scarce smile secretly.
- 51 Learning is vnto a wise man a treasure of gold, & like a bracelet vpon his right arme.
- 52 A foolish mans house is come in his neighbours house: but a man of experience is as charged to looke in.
- 53 A foole will weepe in at the door of the house, but he that is wise will shut the door without.
- 54 It is the point of a foolish man to bearken at the doore: for hee that is wise will be grieved with such dishonour.
- 55 The lippes of talkers will be telling such things as pertaine not vnto them, but the wordes of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.
- 56 The heart of foolles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

CHAP. XXI.

2 To hate to be reproued. 3 The mouth of the wise man. 4 The thought of the foole.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 13 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience seareth not.

1 A slouthfull man is like a filthy stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to be compared to the yoking of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, wil shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nurtured soule is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to be ashamed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but shee that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 Shee that is bolde, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly,] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as smoke in mourning: but wisdom knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that giueth a porcheard together, and as hee that waketh one that sleepe, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proude, with haughtinesse and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of their kindred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisdom, is as a man, which speaketh to one that is a sleeper: when he hath tolde his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

11 * Weepe for the dead, for he hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth understanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is longer then the death.

12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole, and vngodly [shoulde endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no understanding: * beware of him, lest it turne thee to paine, & lest thou be defiled when he shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, & thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue ioyntie by his foolishnesse.

14 What is heavier then lead? & what other name shoulde a foole haue?

15 * Sande and salt, and a lump of iron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man.]

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building can not be loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsel, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discrete wisdom, is as a faire plaistering on a plaine wall.

18 No reedes that are set vp on hie, can not abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that hurteeth the eye, bringeth forth teares, and he that hurteeth the heart, bringeth forth the affliction.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birdes, frayeth them away: and he that vphildeth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou dyest a swoorde at thy friends, yet despaire not: for they may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vphilding of pride or disclosing of secrets of a treacherous wound doe not let: for by these things euery friende will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide steadfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to be continued, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As a soapur, & smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill wordes, & rebukes and reuicings goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my self from him, though he should do me harme: whosoener heareth it, shall beare of him.

26 Who shall set a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisdom vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destruy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of other blasphemies, and vnwise communitations. 16 Of three kinds of sinners. 23 Many sinners proceeds of adulterie. 27 Of the feare of God.

1 O Lord, father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsel, and let me not fall by them.

2 Who wil correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdom in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let their fautes passe?

3 Lest mine ignorance increaseth, & my sinnes abounds to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioyce ouer mee, whose hope is farre from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [leau me not in their imagination] neither giue me a proude looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stoune minde.

5 Take from mee vaine hope, and concupiscence, and reuerce him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the bellie, nor lust of the flesh hold me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 O heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truth: who so heareth it, shall not perish through his lippes, [nor be hurt by wicked wordes.]

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lipe: for the euill speaker and the proude do offend by them.

Tell one: [for thou shalt not be unpunished for such things.]

10 For as a servant which is oft punished, can not be without some sharre, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 And that weth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednes, & the plague that neuer go from his house: when hee shall offend, his fault shall be upon him, & if he knowledg not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed in death: God graunt that it be not found in the heritage of Jacob: but thep that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

Or, inordinat swearing

13 We not the mouth to ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 Remember the father and the mother when thou art let among great men, lest thou bee forgotten in their sight, and so through the custome become a foole, and with that thou habdest not bene boiue, and curse the day of thy naturitie.

a. Sam. 16. 7.

15 The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sort[s] of men that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wretched destruction: a minde hote as fire, that cannot be quenched till it be consumed: an adulterous man that gueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till hee perishe.

Eccl. 39. 15.

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and cherisheth thus in his heart, Who seeth mee? I am compassed about with barrenesse: the walles cover me; no body seeth me: whome misde I to feare? the most high will not remember my sinnes.

19 Such a man oulp feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are tenne thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the waies of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secret partes.

20 Wee knowe all things, of euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

Leuit. 30. 10. dan. 12. 22.

21 The same man shall bee punished in the streets of the citie, [and shall be chaled like a pong hoole foale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of euery man, because he would not understand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shall it go also with euery wife that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

Exod. 20. 14.

23 For first the hath disobeyed the Lawe of the most high, and secondly, thee hath trespassed against her owne husband, & thirdly, she hath played the whoie in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 She shall be brought out into the congregation, and examination shall be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruite.

26 A shamefull report shall thee leaue, and her reproche shall not be put out.

27 And thep that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, & that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commandments of the Lord.

28 It is great gloie to followe the Lord, and to be reuenced of him is long life.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

A praise of wisdomes proceeding forth of the mouth of God, & of her works and places where she resteth. 30 She is given to the children of God.

1 Wisdomes shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and risper in the mids of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most high shall shee open her mouth, and triumphe before his power.

3 [In the mids of her people that shee created, & wondered at in the holy assemblie.]

4 In the multitude of the chosen thee shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, thee shall be praised, and shall say, I am come out of the mouth of the most high, [first borne before all creatures.]

5 I caused the light that sapientie nor, to arise in the heauen, [and covered the earth as a cloude.]

6 The dwelling is adoue in the heighe, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloude.

7 I alone haue gone rounde about the compasses of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depe.

8 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nation, [and with my power haue I troden downe the heas of all, both high and lowe.]

9 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

10 So the creator of all things gaue mee a commandment, and hee that made me, sayd, Let thy abroad with dwelling be in Jacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy life among my chosen.

11 He created mee from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: for hee created mee, and so was I established in Zion, which clefeth the firmament of heauen.

12 In the welbeloued citie gaue hee me rest, and in Jerusalem was my power.

13 I took root in an honourable people, even in the position of the Lords inheritance.

14 I am set up on hie like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypresse tree vpon the mountaynes of Hermon.

15 I am exalted like a palme tree about the God des banks, and as a rose plant in Iericho, which clefeth the firmament of heauen.

16 I am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinnamon, and as a bag of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onyx, and sweete storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the cederinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 As the vine haue I brought forth [fruit] of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

21 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

22 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

23 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

24 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

25 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

26 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

27 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

28 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

29 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

30 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of sweete labour, and my bowyes are the fruite of honour and riches.

of feare, and of knowledge, & of hope: I give eternal things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and truth: in me is all hope of life and veritie.]

22 Come unto me all ye that bee desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruites.

23 * For the remembrance of mee is sweeter then honie, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the house come: [the remembrance of me endureth for evermore.]

24 They that eat me, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, & they that worke by me, shall not offend: [they shall make me to be knowne, shall haue everlasting life.]

26 All these things are the booke [of life,] and the covenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the truth,] * and the Lawe that Moses [in the precepts of righteousnes] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Jacob, [and the promises pertaping vnto Israel.]

27 We not wearie to behaue your selues balisantly with the Loyde, that hee may also confirmed you cleane vnto him: for the Loyde al-mightie is but one God, and besides him there is none other Saviour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruante hee ordeined to raise by a most mightie King that should sit in the throne of honour for evermore.]

29 He fillet all things with his wisdom, as Hyphon, and as Eggris, in the time of the newe fruites.

30 He maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as * Joyden in the time of the harvest.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appareare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Gron in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowne her perfectye: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is yprofunder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdome [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the river: I runne into Paradis as a water conduite.

35 I sayde, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: And loe, my ditch became a flood, & my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pearce thorow all the lower partes of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be a sleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Loyd.]

38 I will set forth doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

39 * Beholde that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wis-dome.

CHAP. XXV.

Of three things which please God, and of three which he hateth. Of some things that be not to be suspect. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

1 These things reioyce me, & by them authenticated befoze God and man: * the vntie of brethren, & lone of neighbours, Gen. 13. 1, 2.

2 * These sortes of men are sonie hated, and I utterly abhorre the life of them: a yowe man that is yowde: a rich man that is a liar, and an olde adulterer that doeth.

3 * If thou hast gathered nothing in thy pouth, what caust thou finde in thine age?

4 * Whowse pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the Elders can give good counsell!

5 * Whowse comely a thing is wisdom vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and yndencie to men of honour!

6 The crowne of old men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 * There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, & the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath sor of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 * Well is him that dwelleth with a wise of vnderstanding, * & that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are unworthy of him.

9 Well is him that findeth yndencie, and he that speaketh in the eares of the that will heare.

10 * Whowse great is he that findeth wis-dome! per is there none about him that sear-eth the Loyd.

11 The feare of the Loyde passeth all things in clearnesse.

12 [Blessed is he man vnto whom it is graun-ted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whome shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Loyde is the beginning of his lone, & saith is the beginning to be iopned vnto him.

14 [The greatest heauines is the heauines of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Come me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 * Any assault, saue any assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemies.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wjath as bone the wjath of an * enemy.

18 * I had rather dwell with a yon & dragon, then to kepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednes of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as
* a lache.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her he slepeth for he be ware.

21 All wickednes is but litle to the wickednes of a woman: let the ymmon of the sunner fall vpon her.

22 As the slinging vp of a faubie wasp is to the feere of a aged, so is a wife full of wjodes to a quiet man.

23 * Humble not at the beautie of a woman, Chap. 43. 12.
and desire her not for thy pleasure. 2. sam. 11. 3.

24 * A woman nourisheth her husband, she is angrie and impudent and full of repproche.

26. Of the woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

27. Give the water way passage, [no not a little,] neither give a wicked woman libertie to goe out.

28. If she walke not in thine obed ience, [she shall confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.] Cut her off then fro thy flesh: Give her, and forsake her.

To wit, the bill of divorcement.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, & of the fourth. 6 Of the idles and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which murthereth wrath.

1 Blessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his peres shalbe double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, & she shall fill the peres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portio which shalbe given for a gift unto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times haue a chearefull countenance.

5 There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: reason in a citie: the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heavier then death.

6 But the sorrow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is lealous ouer another: and shee that commeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a poke of oren that dyauiliuers waies: she that hath her, is as though he helde a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for she can not reuer her owne shame.

9 The whooredome of a woman may bee knowne in the pride of her eyes, and shee liddes.

Chap. 42. 11.

10 If thy daughter be not shamefast, both her straitly, lest she abuse her selfe through ouermuch libertie.

11 Take heed of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marraige not a the trespasser against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thicke, so shall she open her mouth, & vylnke of euery next water: she euery daye shall the sit downe, and open her quater against euery arrowe.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones to her understanding.

14 A peaceable woman of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast & sauehull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continence minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlestick, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the soles

kets of silver: so are faire felts with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be layed vpon a strong rocke: so are the commandmentes of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 As a stone, & kepe the strength of thine age stable, and give not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull poe, sit on through all the fieldes, sowe it with thine owne seed, trilling in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall grow, trilling in the great liberalitie of thy nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towne against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a goodly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman conuenieth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a hogge: but she that is shamefast, reuerenteth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shalbe iudged wise of all: but shee that despiseth him, shall be blayed for her pride.

28 A lowde crying woman and a dabbler let her be sought out to dyne away p enemies: the minde of euery man that liueth with such, shall be commed among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grine mine heart, and the third maketh me angrie: a man of warre that interesteth pouertie: and men of understanding that are not let by: and when one departeth from righteousness vnto sinne: the Lord appoynteth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to be hard and perillous.] A quarrell can not lightly keepe him from wounding, and a diuancer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vnconstancy of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be vttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill which turneth vpon himselfe.

1 Because of pouertie haue many sinned: Band he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

2 As a naille in the wall richeth fall betwene the iopntes of the stones, so doeth sinne sicke betwene the selling and the buying.

3 If he holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone be ouerthrowen.

4 As when one stretch, the fisherme remaneth in the sea, so the fish of man remaneth in his thought.

5 The soynace proueth the potters vessel: so temptation triueth mens thoughts.

6 The fruite declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the word [declareth] what man hath in his heart.

7 Whye no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the trail of men.

8. 9. If thou followest righteousness, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [thou shalt dwell with her, & she shall defende thee for ever: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt find her.]
9. The wrath of man shall not bring forth righteousness: neither shall the wrath of man bring forth judgement.
10. As the iron waiteth for the heat, so doth sinne upon them that doe euill.
11. The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a fool, he is changing as the moone.
12. If thou be among the indiscrete, observe the time, but haue still the assembly of the that are wise.
13. The talking of fools is grievous, & their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.
14. The earke of him that sweareth much, maketh the heart to stand up: and so sinne witheth, stoppeth the eares.
15. The strife of the proud is bloodshedding, and their foulness is grievous to beate.
16. Who so discovereth secrets, shall lose credit, and friendship: friends after him shall be his enemies.
17. Keep thy friend, & he shall full of grace: but if thou betrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.
18. For as a man destroyeth his temple, so doeth thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.
19. As one that killeth a bird, goeth out of his hand, so if thou give over thy friend, thou shalt not get him againe.
20. Followe after him who is wise, for he is too faire off: he is as a rose escaped out of the snare: [for his sorde is wounded.]
21. As for wounds, they may be bound up againe, and an euill word may be reconciled: but who so betrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath sold his friendship.
22. He that killeth his friend, shall be hated: as he that killeth his neighbour, shall be hated.
23. When thou art present, be not full of sweetness, and praise the wisdom: but at the last he will turne his tale, & slander thy saying.
24. Many things have I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.
25. Who so casteth a stone on his casters, it is upon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.
26. Who so diggeth a pitte, shall fall therein: and he that layeth a snare for his neighbour, shall himselfe be taken in the snare, & caught in the snare.
27. He that worketh euill, shall be betrayed in euill, and shall not knowe from whence he shall come into him.
28. Spoekerie and repoeche followe the word, and vengeance followe for them as a lion.
29. They that receive arches fall in the night: they shall be taken in the snare, & caught in the snare.
30. Despise & anger are abominable things, & the sinfull man is subject to them. both.

1. He that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lord, & he shall surely pay it.
2. He that diggeth a pitte for his neighbour, shall fall therein: and he that layeth a snare for his neighbour, shall be caught in the snare.
3. He that diggeth a pitte for his neighbour, shall fall therein: and he that layeth a snare for his neighbour, shall be caught in the snare.
4. He that diggeth a pitte for his neighbour, shall fall therein: and he that layeth a snare for his neighbour, shall be caught in the snare.
5. If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred, and take pardon of God, who will increase his sinnes.
6. Remember the end, and let thy heart be patient: imagine not death, and destruction: neither through anger, but preference in the commandments.
7. Remember the commandments: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbour: neither shalt thou be rigorous against thyselfe.
8. Beware of strife, and upon thine make thy sinne.
9. And the cruel man diggeth snares, and diggeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.
10. As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and man's anger is according to his power: and according to his power, his anger is greatly made to be manifest.
11. He that diggeth a pitte for his neighbour, shall fall therein: and he that layeth a snare for his neighbour, shall be caught in the snare.
12. If thou blowe the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.
13. I will showe the chambers and double covered: for such have destroyed an empire.
14. The double tongue shall diggeth man up, and open them from nation to nation: strong cities hath he broken downe, & overthrowed houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, & he hath decayed mighty nations.]
15. The double tongue hath eat out many precious women, and robbed them of their honours.
16. Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall haue find rest, and neuer dwell quiet.
17. The stroke of the tongue maketh marks in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue burneth the bones.
18. There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.
19. Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, & rownerly not in the anger thereof, of which hath not pleasure in that pake, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.
20. For the pake thereof is a pake of pyre, and the bands of it are bands of hyssop.
21. The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.
22. It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be buried with the same thereof.
23. Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall thereof.

1 HE that wil shew mercie, || lendeth to his neighbour: & he that hat h power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandements.

2 * Lend to thy neighbour in time of his neede, and paye thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Keepē thy woyde, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is needefull for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckened it to be founde, and grieved them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, & for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a carelesse answer, & make excuses by reason of h time.

6 And though he bee able, yet grauely he scarce the halfe againe, and rekeneth the other as a thing loaned: & he deceiveth him of his money, and maketh him an enemye without a cause: he payeth him with cursing, & rebuke, and graeth him euill woydes for his goodde.

7 There bee many which refuse to lende because of this incommenure, fearing to be defrauded without cause.

8 Per haue thou patience with him & humbly humble himselfe, and deserre not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandementes sake, and turne him not away, because of his pouertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers & neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 * Bestowe the treasure after the commandement of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profit than golde.

12 * Lay by thine almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall kepe thee from all affliction.

13 [A mans almes is as a purle with him, and shall kepe a mans famour as the appple of the eye, and afterwarde shall it arise, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.]

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or sweare of the mightie.

15 An honest man is a suretie for his neighbour: but he that is inuident, forsaketh him.

16 Forgette not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath laped his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deede of his suretie.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and he that is of an vnthankfull minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promiseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, hee will forsake him.]

20 Suretieship hath bestrope many a riche man, and remoued them as h wanes of the sea: mightie men hath it diuine away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Loyde, shall fall into suretieshippe: and hee that medleth much with other mens busines, is entangled in controuersies.

22 * Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, & beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 * The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame.

24 [The poore mans life in his owne lodge, is better then delicate fare in another mans house.]

25 Be it litle or much, holde thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou dwellest not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge & fede vnthankfull men: and after shalt haue bitter woydes for the same, saying,

28 Come, thou stranger, & prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast readie.

29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honest man: my brother cometh to be lodged, and I haue neede of mine house.

30 These thinges are becom to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpholding of the house, and the repect of the lender.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commoditie of health. 17 Death is better then a sorrowfull life.

1 HE that loveth his soule, * causeth him selfe to taste the rodde, that he may haue rest of him in the ende.

2 He that chastiseth his soule, shall haue hope in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 He that * teacheth his soule, grinneth the enemye, and before his friends he shall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though hee were not dead: for he hath left one be hind him that is like him.

5 In his life he sawe him, & had hope in him, & was not forie in his death, [neither was he ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behinde him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shewe fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his soule, bindeth by his woundes, and his heart is grieved at euery crie.

8 An vntamed horse will be stubborn, and a woman childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou ding vpon thy soule delicately, hee shall make thee afraide: and if thou play w him, hee shall bring thee to heauines.

Dreames.

1 The hope of a foolish man is vayne and false, & by dreames make fooles to haue winges.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take holde of a shadowe, and fol- lowe after the winde.

3 Euen so is it in the apperings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before an other face.

4 Who can bee cleansed by the vnicleane: & by what trinitie can be spoken of a liar?

5 Douthsappings, witchcraft, & dreaming is but vanitie, & a mind that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Whereas such visions come not of the most high to troe the, let not thine heart vpd the.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, & they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The lawe that be fulfilled without lies, and wisdom is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he þ is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, & he that hath good experience, can talke of wisdom.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth litle, and he that erreth is full of craft.

11 When I wandered two and fro, I saw many things, & mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

He that is aske
the Lord.

14 Who so feareth þ Lord, feareth no man, neither is ashamed: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth he his trust: who is his strength.

He that is aske
the Lord.

16 * For the eyes of the Lord haue respecte vnto the, that loue him: he is their * mightie protection, and strong grounde, a defence from the heate, and a shadowe for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, & an helpe from falling.

17 He seeth vþ the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he giveth health, life and blessing.

18 ¶ He þ * giueth an offering of vnrightheous goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the giftes of the vnrightheous, please not him.

19 [But the Lord is theirs onely, that paci- fically abide him in the way of truely and righteousnes.]

20 The most high doeth not alowe the off- ings of the wicked, * neither is hee pacifi- ed for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of þ goods of the poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth the soune before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him thereof, is a murderer.

23 He that taketh awap his neighbours li- uing, slayeth him, * he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloudshedder.

24 ¶ When one buildeth, & an other breaketh downe, what profit haue they the but labo- r?

25 When one plaieth, and an other curseth, whole hope will the Lord heare?

26 * Hee that walkeþ himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what au- naileth his washing?

27 * So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer? or what doth his fa- sting helpe him?

CHAP. XXXV.

Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherlesse, & of the widowe, and him that humblyt himselfe.

1 Who so keepeth the lawe, * bringeth offerings prouide: he that holdeth fast the commandementes, * offereth an offering of saluation.

2 He that is thankfull to them that haue wel deserved, offereth fine holowe: * and he that giueth almes, sacrificeth praye.

3 To depart from euill is a thankfull thing to the Lord, & to forsake vnrightheousnes, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 ¶ Thou shalt not appeare emptie before the Lord.

5 For al these thinges are done because of the commandement.

6 * The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweete be- fore the most high.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is accepta- ble, and the remembrance thereof shal neuer be forgotten.

8 Since the Lord his honour with a good and liberrall eye, & diminish not the silt frutes of thine handes.

9 * In al thy giftes shew a iopfull countenance, and dedicate thy riches with gladnes.

10 Since vnto the most high according as he hath enriched thee, * and looke what thine hand is able, giue with a cheerefull eye.

11 For the Lord recompereth, and will giue thee tenen times as much.

12 * Diminish nothing of thine offering: for hee will not receive it, & abstaine from longfull sacrifices: for the Lord is the iudge, and res- gardeth no * mans person.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

24 He that hath gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a possession: she is an helpe like vnto himselfe, & a pillar to rest vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoiled: and hee that hath no wife, wanders reth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a chiefe is alway ready and wandereth from towne to towne: and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth, wheresomever the night taketh him.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: foj he is destitute of all wisdom.

21 An other is wise foj himselfe, & the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 ¶ Wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisdom faile not.

23 ¶ Wise man shall bee plentifully blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 ¶ Wise man shall obtaine credite among his people, and his name shall be perpetual.

26 App some, ymoue thy soule in thy life, & see what is euil foj it, and permit it not to do it.

27 Foj all things are not profitable foj all men, neyther hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Be not grieuie in all delites, and be not too hasty vpon all meates.

29 ¶ Foj reuerse of meates bringeth sickness, and gluttonie commeth into cholerike diseases.

30 ¶ If surfeit hane many perished: but he that dieteth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

24 The wisdom of him that is learned.
Honour the ¶ Whysion is that honoure that is due vnto him, because of necessities: foj the Lord hath created him.

2 Foj of the most High cometh healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the King.

3 The knowledge of the Whysion lieth by his heade, and in the sight of great men

he shall be in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and he that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 ¶ Was not the water made sweeter with wood, that men might knowe the vertue thereof?

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might bee glorified in his wondrous workes.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the apothecarie make a confection, and yet he can not finish his owne workes: foj of the Lord cometh prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 App some, sape not in thy sickness, but ¶ pray vnto the Lord, and he will make thee whole.

10 Leane off from sinne, & order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wicked-nedes.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine flowre foj a remembrance: make the offering fatte, foj thou art not the ¶ first giuer.

12 Then giue place to the Whysion: foj the Lord hath created him: let him not go from thee, foj thou hast neede of him.

13 The house may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 Foj they also shall pray vnto the Lord, that he would prosper that, which is giuen foj ease, and their prayer foj the prolonging of life.

15 He that smeth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the Whysion.

16 App some, ¶ poure forth teares ouer the brack, and begin to mourne, as if thou haddest suffered great paine thy selfe, and then couer his body according to ¶ his appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

17 Make a grievous lamentation, & be care-nell in mourning, and vse lamentation as he is worthy, and that a day or two, least thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe foj thine heavinesse.

18 ¶ Foj of heavinesse cometh death, and the heavinesse of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 Of the affection of the heart cometh sor-rowe, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heavinesse to heart: dyne it away and remember the last ende.

21 Forget it not: foj there is no turning as game: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shall be likewise, vnto me yester day, and vnto this to day.

23 ¶ Seeing the dead is at rest, let his reuerence rest, and comfort thy selfe againe foj him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdom of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisdom.

25 Howe can he get wisdom that holdeth the plough, and he that hath pleasure in the goade, and in diuining oren, and is occupied in their labours, & talketh but of the byedes of bullocks?

tion thereof

as he appointeth.

- 28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anuill, and doeth his diligence to labour the pyon: the vapour of the fire dyeth his felch, and he must fight with the heate of the foz-nace: the noyse of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: he setteth his minde to make by his woikes: therefore he wat- cheth to polishe it perfect.
- 29 So doeth the potter sit by his woike: he turneth the wheele about with his fete: he is careful alway at his woike, and maketh his woike by number.
- 30 He facioneth the clay to his arme, & with his fete he tempereth the happynesse thereof: his heart imagineth howe to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to clesne the ouen.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man, 16 The woikes of God, 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euill good things are euill.

HE onely that applyeth his minde to the laue of the most High, & is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the wisedome of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophesies.

2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and extreteth in also to the secretes of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mysterie of grane senten- ces, & exerciseth himselfe in darke paraboles.

4 He shall serue among great men, & appeare before the prince: he shall traualle through strange countreies: for hee hath tryed the good and the euill among men.

5 He will giue his hearte to reioyce early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lorde will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, & he may powe out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

Or the Lord.

7 Hee shall direct his counsell and know- ledge: so shall he meditate in his secretes.

8 He shall shewe forth his science and lear- ning, and reioyce in the Law and covenant of the Lord.

9 When shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memoie shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the laue.

12 Yet will I speake of no things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto mee, ye holy children, and bring forth fruite, as the rose that is planted by the byches of the fiede.

14 And giue ye a sweete smell as * incense, and bring forth flowes as the lile: giue a smell, and sing a song of praise: bleste the Lorde in all his woikes.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shewe forth his praise with the songs of poyne lippes, and with harpes, and ye shall say after this maner.

16 * All the woikes of the Lord are exceeding- Gen. 1. 31. good, and all his commandements are done mar. 9. 37. in due season.

17 And none in any say, What is this? where- foie is that? for at time convenient thep shall all be sought out: at his commande- ment the water stode as an heape, and at the woide of his mouth the waters gar- bed themselves.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his com- mandement, and none can diminish that which he will laue.

19 The woikes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man neede not to lase, What is this? wherefoie is that? for hee hath made all things for their owne vuse.

22 His blessing shall runne ouer as a streame, and moisten the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the waters into sal- tnes, so shall the heathen feele his wraoth.

24 As his waies are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 * For the good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 * The principall things for the whole vie of mans life is water, fyre, and pson, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, & milke, the blood of the grasse, & ople, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to the gods: lie: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for ven- geance, which in their rigour lape on fire strokes: in the time of destruction they shew forth their power, and accomplishe the wraoth of him that made them.

29 * Fyre, and hable, and famine, and death: Chap. 40. 10. all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beastes, & the scorpions, and the serpentes, and the swybe execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

¶ Of shame-falkes.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my wordes: for it is not good in all thinges to be as halasmed: neither are all thinges allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: be ashamed of liēs before the prince and men of authoritie.

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrightheousnesse before a companion and frende.

19 And of these before the place where thou dwellest, & before the trust of God and his covenant, and to leane with thine elbows vpon the head, as to be repproued for giuing of taking.

¶ Or, able.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot.

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: as to take away a possion of a gift, as to be euill minded toward an other māns wife.

22 As to sollicite any mans maide, as to stand by her bed, as to reppoyse thy friends with wordes.

23 As to vphayde when thou guesst any thing, as to reppoyt a matter that thou hast heard, as to reuelie secret wordes.

24 Thus maist thou well be shamefast, and shalt finde fauour vnto all men.

1 The Lawe of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all thinges, yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

¶ In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

1 Of these things be not thou ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most High & his command, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, & of strangers, as of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or litle:

5 To sell merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy childzen diligently, and to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many handes are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, & that that is receiued againe:

8 To teache the vnlerned, & the vniwise, and the aged, that contende against the yong: thus shalt thou be well instructed, & appoynted of all men living.

9 ¶ The daughter ¶ maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefullnes that he hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the pouth, least she shoulde passe the flower of her age: and when she hath an husband, least she should be hated:

10 In her virginite, least she shoulde be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husband, least the misdehauour her selfe: and when she is married, least she continue vnfruitfull.

11 ¶ If thy daughter bee vnschamefast, keepe her straightly, least she canie thine enemies to laugh thee to scoyne, & make thee a common talke in the cite, & diffaine thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

17 Hath not the Lord appoynted that his Saintes shoulde declare all his wonderous workes, which þ almightie Lord hath stablished to confirme al thinges by in his maiestie?

18 He seeketh out the depth, & the heart, and hee knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

CHAP. XLV.

The praise of Moses, Aaron, and Phineas.

1 AND β Moses, the beloued of God and men, brought he forth, whose remembrance is blessed.
2 He made him like to the glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.
3 As his wofdes hee caused the wonders to create, and he made him glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commandements for his people, and shewed him his glorie.
4 * He sanctified him with faithfulness, and meeknesse, and chose him out of all men.
5 He caused him to heare his voyce, & brought him into the darke cloude, * & there he gaue him the commandements before his face, euen the lawe of life and knowledge, that he might reach Jacob the touchant, and β reuel his wofgements.
6 He created β Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen β brother of the tribe of Levi.
7 An everlasting covenant made hee to him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people, and made him blessed through his counsell, ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.
8 He purposed hope vpon him, & girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a muscle, and an armour.
9 He compassed him about w β belles of gold, and with many belles rounde about, * that when he went in, the sound might be heard, and might make a noise in the Sanctuary, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people.
10 And with an holy garment, w β golde also,
and blue silke, and purple, and diuers kinds of workes, and with a brestplate of iudges-ment, and with the β signes of crierie.
11 And w β wofke of skarlet cunningly wrought and with precious stones graue like scales, and set in golde by goldsmithes wofke for a memoriall, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel.
12 And with a crowne of golde vpon the mitre, bearing the forme & marke of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble wofke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.
13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: three might no stranger put them on, but onely his children, and his childrens children perpetually.
14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumedes vnto him by an everlasting covenant, & to his seede, so long as the heauens should re-maine, that he should minister before him, and also to execute the office of β Priesthood,

and bless his people in his name.

16 Before all men living the Lord chose him that he should present offerings before him, and a sweete sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 * He gaue him also the commandements Deut. 17. 14.
and authority according to the Lawes appointed, that he should reach Jacob the re-mouers, and gaue light vnto Israel by his Lawe.

18 * Strangers stood by against him, & enuied him in the wilderness, euen β men thatooke Dathan and Abiram part, and the come-panie of Core in fure and rage.

19 * This the Lord sawe, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: he did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fire flame.

20 * But he made Aaron more honourable, & gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 * For the Priests did eate of the sacrifices of β
Lord, which he gaue vnto him & to his seed.
22 * He had he none heritage in the land of Deut. 18. 14.
his people, neither had hee any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

23 The third in glory is β Phineas the sonne of Eleazar, because he had seale in the feare of the Lord, and stood by with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a covenant of peace made with him, that he should be the chiefe of the Sanctuary & of his people, and that he and his posteritie should haue the dignity of the Priesthood for euer.

25 And according to the covenant made with David, that the inheritance of the kingdom should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Judah: so the heritage of Aaron should be to the onely sonne of his sonne, & to his seede.
God gaue vs wisdom in our heart toudge his people in righteousness, that the good things β then gaue, be not abolished, & that their glory map endure for their posteritie.

CHAP. XLVI.

The praise of Isai, Caleb, and Samuel.

1 EUS β the sonne of Isai was valiant Isaie.
in the warres, and was the successeur of Moses in propheticies, who according vnto his name, was a great fauour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that stood by against them, & to let Israel in their inheritance.

2 What glory gaue he, when he lift by his hand, and dyue out his sword against the cities?

3 Who were there before him, like to him?
for he sought the battell of the Lord.

4 * Stood not the sunne still by his means,
and one day was as long as twoe?

5 He called vnto the most high Gouernour when the enemies pressed vpon him on eu-ery side, & the mightie Lord heard him with the hailestones, and with mightie power.

6 He rushed in vpon the nations in battell, and in the going downe of Bechoon hee flooded.

2 Under him was the foundation of the double height laird, and the hie walles p-compasseth the Temple;

3 In his days the places to receive water, that were decayed, were restored, & the bialle was about in measure as the ^a sea.

a Which Salem made,
1 King. 7-23

4 Wee took care for his people, & they should not fall, and fortified the cure against p. IIge.

5 Howe honourable was his conuerſation among the people, and when he came out of the houſe covered with the vaille!

6 He was as the morning starre in the midst of a cloud, and as the mone when it is full,

7 And as the sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most High, and as the raine bow that is bright in the faire cloudes,

3 And as the flower of the roses in the spring of the pære, and as lilies by the springe of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of summer.

9 As a fire and incense in the center, and as a bessell of masse golde, set with all manner of precious stones.

10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth up to the cloudes.

11 When hee put on the garment of honour and was clothed with all beautie, he went up to the holy altar, and made the garment of holinesse honourable.

11 When her took he the portions out of the Wifels hands, he himselfe stoode by the of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as the bianches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the bianches of the valne trees.

12 So were all the houses of Aaron in their gloze, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.

24 And that he might accomplish his ministerie vpon the altar, and garnish the offerring of the most high and almightie.

15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, & powred of the blood of h grape, and he powred at the scoote of the altar a perfume of good sauiour into h most blissh king of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Baran, and blowed with blaſen trumpets, and made a great noſe to be heard, for a remembrance before the moſt High.

17 Then all the people together halloed, and fel downe to the earth vpon their faces to woe shop their Lord God almightie & most high.

18 The fingers also sang with their voyces, so that the sound was great, and the melodie finere.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most high with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and then had accomplished his service.

20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his hands over the whole congregation of the children of Israel, that they should give praise with their lippes vnto the Lord, and triope in his Name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receive the blessing of the most High.

12 Now therefore give praise all ye vnto God, he worketh great things among where, which hath increased our daies from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercie.

23 That he would giue vs comfort of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in olde time.

24 That he would confirme his merrie with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two maner of people, that nune heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:

26 They that sit upon the mountains of Samaria, the Philistines, and the foolish people that dwell in Sodom.

³Dr. Sischon.

27 I Iesus the sonne of Iurach, the sonne of Elezarus, of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowlidge in this booke, and hath powred out the wis-dome of his heart.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein: and he that lageth by these in his heart, shall be wise.

29 For if he doe these thinges, he shalbe strong in all thinges: for he leaue his sheppes in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisdome to the godly. The Lord be praised for euermore:
So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

1 I will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and praise thee, O God my Saviour: I give thanks vnto the name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, and from p snare of the flaunderous tongue, and from the lippes that are occupied with lies : thou hast holpen me againſt mine ad-uerſaries.

3 And had deliuered me according to þ multitude of thy mercy, & for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the many folde afflictions, which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked me round about, and from the middes of the fire that I burned not.

5 And from the bottome of the bellie of hell, from an uncleane tongue, fro sping woordes, from falsc accusation to the King, and from the slander of an unrighteous tongue.

6 [My soule shal praise the Lord vnto death:] for my soule dyeth nere vnto death: my life was nere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, and there was no man to helpe me : I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, O Ioyde, and vpon thine actes of old, howe thou deli-uerest such as war for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the enemyes.

²Or, nations.

9 Then lifted I up my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliverance from death.

10 I called upon the Loyde the father of my Loyde, that he would not leave me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the pride without help.

11 I will praise thy name continually, and telling praise with thanksgiving: and my prayer was heard.

72 Thou savedst me from destruction, and deliveredst me from the cruel time: therefore wil I give thanks, and praise thee, and blisse the name of the Lord.

13 When I was pet pong, oi ener I went abroad.

- abroade, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer.
- 24 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her unto sacre countreys, and there was as a grape that wacher ripe out of the flower.
- 25 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foote was led in the right way, and from my pouth I sought her after her.
- 26 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gave mee much wisdom:
- 27 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glory unto him, that giveth me wisdom.
- 28 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will be zealous of that that is good: so that I not be confounded.
- 29 My soule hath wrestled with her, & I haue examined my woikes: I lifted vp mine hands on hir, & considered the ignouaunces thereof.
- 30 I directed my soule unto her, and I found her in pureties: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore

- I shall I not be forsaken.
- 21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.
- 22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.
- 23 I shall not be ashamed, & I will dwell in the house of learning.
- 24 Wherefore are ye slow: and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are very thirly?
- 25 I opened my mouth, and sayd, * Woe her 1/4. 33. 1. for your without money.
- 26 Woe downe your necke under the yoke, and your soule shall receive instruction: she is ready that ye may finde her.
- 27 Beholde with your eyes, * howe that I have had but litle labour, and haue gotten unto me much rest.
- 28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much golde.
- 29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercie of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his yafte.
- 30 Doe your dutie betimes, and he will giue you a reward at his time.

CHAP. I.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to enery mans power,

7 And sent it to Ierusalem unto Iocim the sonne of Ielcias the sonne of Salom priest, and unto the other priests, & to all the people which were with him at Ierusalem,

After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had led away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his princes, and his nobles, pri-ners, and the people, & caried them to Babylon.

10 And they said, Beholde, we haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a meate offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God,

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen,

12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long doe them service, and finde sauaour in their sight.

13 Woe for vs also vnto the Lord our God (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the fury of the Lord, and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which we haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.

15 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

16 And to our kings, & to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers,

17 Because we haue sinned before the Lord our God,

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that hee gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, even vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

20 * Where

20 * Wherefore these plagues are come upon us, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his servant at the time that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to give us a land that floweth with milke and honey, as appeareth this day.

21 Nevertheless, we have not hearkened unto the voice of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the prophets, whom he sent unto us.

22 But every one of us followed the wicked imagination of his owne hearte, to serve strang gods, and to doe evil in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Levies confesse that they suffer justly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11. The Levies desire to have the wrath of God turned from them. 32. He promitteth that he will call againe the people from captivitie, and give them a new and everlasting Testament.

1 Therefore the Lord our God hath rewarded his woe, which he pronounced against us, and against our Judges that governed Israel, & against our Kings, and against our Judges, and against the men of Israel and Juda.

2 As being upon us great plagues, such as never came to passe under the whole heaven, as they that were done in Jerusalem, according to things, that were written in the Lawe of Moyses.

3 That some among vs should *eate the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreover, he hath delivered them to be in subjection to all the kingdomes, that are round about us, to be as a reproche and desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 This they are brought beneath and not above, because we have sinned against the Lord our God, and have not heard his voice.

6 * To the Lord our God appertained righteousnes, but unto us & to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come upon us, which the Lord hath pronounced against us. Yet have we not prayed before the Lord, that we might turne every one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

8 So the Lord hath watched over his plagues, and the Lord hath brought them upon us: for the Lord is righteous in all his wayes, which he hath commanded us.

9 Yet we have not hearkened unto his voice, to walke in the commandementes of the Lord that he hath given unto us.

10 And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, & anie arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day,

11 O Lord our God, we have sinned: we have done wickedly: we have offended in all thine ordinances.

12 Let thy wrath turne from us: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered us.

13 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliver us for thine owne sake, and give us favour in the sight of thy, which have led us away.

14 That all the earth may knowe that thou art the Lord our God, & that thy Name is called upon Israel, & upon their posteritie.

15 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke upon us: make thine eare, O Lord, and heare us.

16 * Open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in the graves, & whose soules are out of their bodies, & give unto the Lord neither prayer, nor righteousness.

17 But the soule that is vexed for the greatness of sinne, and he that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will give thee prayer and righteousness, O Lord.

18 For we doe not require mercie in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousness of our fathers, or of our Kings.

19 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation upon us, as thou hast spoken by thy servants the prophets, saying,

20 * Thus saith the Lord, bowe downe your shoulders, and serve the King of Babylon: so shall ye remaine in the land, that I gave unto your fathers.

21 But if ye will not heare the voice of the Lord, to serve the King of Babylon,

22 I will cause to arise in the times of Juda, and in Jerusalem, I will cause to arise the voice of wrath, and the voice of cry, and the voice of the hydegrome, and the voice of the hyde, and the land shall be desolate of inhabitants.

23 But we would not hearken unto thy voice, to serve the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the words that thou spakest by thy servants the prophets, namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers should be carped out of their places.

24 And loe, they are cast out to the heare of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great miserie with famine, and with the sword, and in dauntment.

25 And the Temple wherem thy Name was called upon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and the house of Juda.

26 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated us according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie.

27 As thou spakest by thy servant Hieronimus, in the day when thou diddest command him to write thy Lawe before the children of Israel, saying,

28 * If ye will not obey my voice, then shall this great swarime and multitude be turned into a very few among the nations whome I will scatter them.

29 For I knowe that they will not heare me: for it is a stiffnecked people: but in the land of their captivitie they shall remember them selves.

30 And know that I am the Lord their God: therefore I give them an heart to understand, and eares.

31 And then shall heare, and praye me in the land of their captivitie, and thinke upon my my name.

- 33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backs, and from their evil workes: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.
- 34 And I will bring them againe into the lande, which I promised with an othe unto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jakob, and they shall be lordes of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.
- 35 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will bee their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more bring my people of Israel out of the lande: I have given them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer beguine for their deliverance. 9 Hee prayeth wisdom unto the people, shewing that so great adversities came unto them for the despising thereof. 36 One God was the saviour of wisdom. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

1 O Lord almighty, O God of Israel, the loue that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, creepeth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pittie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for ever, and we utterly perish.

4 O Lord almighty, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednes of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thou, O Lord, wilt we praye.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our heartes, that we should call vpon thy name, and praye thee in our captiuitie: for we haue considered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Beholde, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to bee a reproche and a curse, and subiects to payementes, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commaundementes of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisdom.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies lande, and art waxen olde in a strange country?

11 And art befild with the dead? and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisdom.

13 For if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldst haue remained safe for ever.

14 Learne where is wisdom, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know also from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beastes vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with fowles of the heauen, that hoarded up silver and golde, wherein men trust, and made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that copied silver, and were so careful of their worke, and whose maintenance had none ende,

19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come by in their steads.

20 When they were pong, they saw the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstande not the way of knowledge,

21 Neither perceived the paths thereof, neither haue their children received it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bene heard of in the lande of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in Chanaan, 23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the marchants of Hecran, and of Cheman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisdom haue knowen the way of wisdom, neither do they thinke vpon the paths thereof.

24 O Israel, howe great is the house of God! and howe large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great and hath none ende: it is high, and vnumeasurable.

26 There were the gigantes, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, and perished through their owne foolishnes.

29 Who hath gone by into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her, rather then fine gold?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither can he see her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is he which hath prepared the earth for enemies, and hath filled it with foure footed beastes.

33 When he sendeth out the light, it gorthe: and when hee calleth it againe, it doeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watche, and reioyce. When hee calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulness they shewe light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, & there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath founde out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

C H A P. III.

1 The reward of them that keep the law, and the punishment of them that disperse it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captivitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and under the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

2 This is the booke of the commandments of God, and the lawes that endureth for ever: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

3 Turne thee, O Jacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnesse, before the light thereof.

4 Give not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable unto thee, to a strange nation.

5 O Israel, we are blessed: for the things that are acceptable unto God, are declared unto us.

6 We of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Israel.

7 We are sold to the nations, not for our destruction: but because we provoked God to wrath, we were delivered unto the enemies.

8 For we have displeased him that made you, offering unto devils and not to God.

9 We have forgotten him that created you, even the everlasting God, and we have grieved Jerusalem, that nourished you.

10 When she sawe the wrath coming upon you from God, she saide, hearken, ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heaviness.

11 I see the captivitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the Everlasting will bring upon them.

12 With hope did I nourish them, but I must leave them with weeping and mourning.

13 Let no man reioyce over me a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Lawe of God.

14 They would not knowe his righteousness, nor walke in the wayes of his commandments: neether did they enter into his wayes of discipline, through his righteousness.

15 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captivitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the Everlasting hath brought upon them.

16 For he hath brought upon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language,

17 Which neither reverence the aged, nor pise the young: these have carped away & beare belovous of the widowes, leaving me alone, and destitute of my daughters.

18 But what can I helpe you?

19 Surely hee that hath brought these plagues upon you, can deliver you from the handes of your enemies.

20 Go your way, O children, go your way: for I am left desolate.

21 I have put off the clothing of yvare, & put upon me sackcloth of wyper, and so long as I live, I will call upon the Everlasting.

22 We of good comfort, O children: cry unto God, & he will deliver you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

23 For I have hope of your saluation though the Everlasting, & hope is come upon me from the Holy one, because of the mercie, which shall quicken come unto you from our everlasting dauntour.

24 For I leue you away with weeping, and mourning: but with hope and perpetual gladnesse will God bring you againe unto me.

25 Like as now the neighbours of Sion sawe your captivitie, so shall they also see your saluation from God, which shall come unto you with great glorie, and brightnesse from the Everlasting.

26 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come upon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, & I shall create upon his necke.

27 My darlings have gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

28 We of good comfort, my children, and crye unto God: for he hath led you away, hath you in remembrance.

29 And as it came into your minde to go astray from your God, so endurunt your selves seven times more, to turne againe & to seeke him.

30 For he that hath brought these plagues upon you, will bring you everlasting hope as a game, with your saluation.

31 Take a good heart, O Jerusalem: for he which gave thee that name, will comfort thee.

32 They are miserable that afflict thee, & such as reioyce at thy fall.

33 The cities are miserable whom thy children serve: miserable is shee that hath taken thy sonnes.

34 For as she reioiced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall shee be sorow for her owne desolation.

35 For I will take away the reioicing of her great multitude, and her joy shall be turned into mourning.

36 For a fire shall come upon her from the Everlasting, doing to endure, & she shall be inhabited of devils for a great season.

37 O Jerusalem, looke towards the East, and beholde the hope that cometh unto thee from thy God.

38 For, thy sonnes (whome thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East unto the West, reioicing in the word of the Holy one unto the honour of God.

C H A P. V.

1 Jerusalem is moved unto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and under the figure thereof the Church.

2 We off thy mourning clothes, O Jerusalem, and thyne affliction, and decke thee with the woolltype and honour, that cometh unto thee from God, thy esmerowe.

3 Put on the garment of righteousness, that cometh from God, and set a crowne upon thine head of the glory of the Everlasting.

4 For God will declare thy brightnesse to the earth, & thy countrey under the heaven.

5 And God will name thee by this name for ever, The peace of righteousness, and the glory.

- glory of the worship of God.
 14 Write, O Jerusalem, and stand up on his, & look about thee toward the East, & behold the children gathered from the East unto thee by the word of the Lord thy God, rejoycing in the remembrance of God.
 15 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe unto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdom.
 16 For God hath determined to bring downe euery high mountaine, & the long enduring castles, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.
 17 These words and all sweete smelling trees shall surely adorne Israel at the continuall remembrance of God.
 18 For God shall bring Israel with top in the light of his maiesty, with the mercie and righteousness that continued of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT REEMANUS SENT VNTO THEM WHO WERE LED AWAY CAPTIVES INTO BABYLON BY THE KING OF THE BABYLONIANS, TO CERTIFYE THEM OF THE THING THAT WAS COMMANDED BY GOD.

- BECAUSE OF THE THINGS, THAT YE HANE COMMITTED AGAINST GOD, YE SHALBE LED AWAY CAPTIVES VNTO BABYLON, BY NABUCHODONOSOR, KING OF THE BABYLONIANS.
 2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shall remaine there many yeres, & a long season, seven generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.
 3 And ye shall see in Babylon gods of silver, & of golde, & of wood, borne upon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.
 4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the heathen, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behold them worshipping them.
 5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, we must worship thee.
 6 For mine Angell shalbe with you, and shal care for your soules.
 7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselves are gilded, and layde over with silver: yet are they but lyes, and cannot speake.
 8 And as they take golde for a map that longeth to be brecht,
 9 So make they crowntes for the heades of their gods: sometimes also the priests themselves conuey away the golde, & silver from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselves.
 10 Yea, they giue of the fatte unto the harlots that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of silver, and gods of golde, and of wood with garments like men,
 11 Yet can not they be yelued from rust and wormes,
 12 Though they haue conered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.
 13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not say such as offend him.
 14 In other hath a dagger or an ear in his right hand: yet is he not able to defende himselfe from battell, nor from thames: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.

- 15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessel that a man useth, is nothing worthy when it is broken, 16 Such are their gods: when they be set by in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feet of those that come in.
 17 And as the gates are shut in rounde as ^{Or, circle.}
 18 About vpon him that hath offended the king: so as one that should be hdd to be put to death, so the priests keepe their temples in doores, and with lockes, and with barres, least their gods should be spoiled by robbers.
 19 They light by candles before them: yea, more then for themselves, whereof they can not see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.
 20 They confesse, that euen their heartes are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that creepe out of the earth, eat them and their clothes, they take it not.
 21 Their faces are blacke throughe the smoke that is in the Temple.
 22 The owles, shalotows and birds flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the catres also.
 23 Yet this ye may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.
 24 As withstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.
 25 The things whereof is no breath, are bought for a most high price.
 26 They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feet, whereby they be clare vnto us, & they be nothing worthy, yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed.
 27 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they can not rise vp againe of themselves, neither if one set the weight, can they moue of themselves, neither if they be bowled down, can they make themselves straight: but they set gifts before them, as vnto dead men.
 28 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their priests sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay by of the same: but vnto the gods and such they giue nothing.
 29 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed, touche their sacrifices: by these things ye may know that they are no gods: feare them not.
 30 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of silver, & golde, & wood.
 31 And the Priests sit in their Temples, having their clothes rent, without heades and bearded as hairen, and being bare headed,
 32 They roare, and crye before their gods, as men do at the feast of one that is dead.
 33 The priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wives and children.
 34 Whether it bee euill that one doeth vnto them, or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a King nor put him downe.
 35 Unlike manner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a bowe vnto them and keepe it not, they will not requite it.

In this chapter are the makers and maintainers of images mightily confuted.

- 37 They can save no man from death, neither deliver the weak from the mightie.
- 38 They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.
- 39 They can helpe no mercie to the widowe, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.
- 40 Their Gods of wood, gold and silver, are as stones that be bewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shall be confounded.
- 41 How should a man then thinke of say that they are gods?
- 42 Whosoever the Chaldeans themselves dishonour them: for when they see a diuine man, that can not speake, they present him to Bel.
- 43 And desire that he would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand these things, can not trauer them: for they also haue no sense.
- 44 Furthermore the women, girded with coardes, sit in the streets, & burne strawe.
- 45 And if one of them be drawen away, and he with any such as come by, shee casteth her neighbour in the street, because shee was not so worshiped reputed, nor her coarde broken.
- 46 Whatsoever is done among them, is lyes: how may it then be thought of sayde, that they are gods?
- 47 Carpenters and goldsmithes make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workman will make them.
- 48 Pea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?
- 49 Therefore they leaue lyes, and shame for their posseltie.
- 50 For when there cometh any warre of plague vpon them, the wiestles imagine with them selues, where they may hide themselves with them.
- 51 Now then can men not perceiue that they be no gods, which can neither defende them selues from warre, nor from plagues?
- 52 Wheredy it may be knowen, that they are no gods.
- 53 They can set by no king in the lande, nor giue rapine vnto men.
- 54 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserve from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crows betwene the heauen and the earth.
- 55 When there saileth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of silver, and of golde, the wiestles will escape and save them selues, but they burne as the balikes therin.

- 56 They can not withstand any thing of enemies: howe can it then be thought of sayde that they be gods?
- 57 Whosoever these gods of wood, of golde, and of silver can neither defende themselves from thieues nor robbers.
- 58 For they that are strongest, take awaye their golde and silver, and apparel, wherewith they be clothed: & when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselves.
- 59 Therefore it is better to be a king, & so to shewe his power, of els a yocose personell in an house, wherby he that owery might haue profite, then such false gods: or to be a doer in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such false gods: or a yolar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.
- 60 For the sunne and the moone, & the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary uses, sleep.
- 61 Likewise also the lightning when it shineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in euery countrey.
- 62 And when God commandeth the cloudes to goe about the whole worlde, they doe as they are bidden.
- 63 When the fire is sent downe from adons to destroye hillies and woods, it doth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme, nor power.
- 64 Wherfore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.
- 65 For so much now as pe are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.
- 66 For they can neither curse, nor blesse kings:
- 67 Neither can they shewe signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.
- 68 The deailes are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe them selues good.
- 69 So pe may bee certified that by no maner of meanes, they are Gods: therefore feare them not.
- 70 For as a charcoble in a garden of cucumbers keepeth no thing, so are their gods of wood, and of silver, and of golde:
- 71 And likewise their gods of wood, & golde and silver, are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery birde stretcheth vpon, and as a dead bodie that is cast in the darke.
- 72 By the purple also and brightness, which shadeth vpon them, pe may vnderstand, that they be not gods: pea, they themselves shall be consumed at the last, and they shall be a shame to the countrey.
- 73 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be safe from reproche.

The

The song of the three holy children, which followeth in the third chapter of Daniel after this place, they fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie fornace.

C H A P. I.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The cruelty of the King. 48 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the fornace. 51 The three children praye the Lord and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 And they walked in the mids of the flame, prapling God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stode vp, and prayed on this maner, and opening his mouth in þe mids of the fire, said,

26 Blessed bee thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy name is worthy to be prapled and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the thynges, that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy woorkes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the thynges that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy cite of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these thynges vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all thynges haue we trespassed,

30 And not obeyed thy commandementes, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddest commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and in euery thyng that thou hast done to vs: thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the handes of our wicked enemies, a most hateful craptours, and to an unrighteous King, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And now we may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame and reprocie vnto thy seruantes, & to them that worshyp thee.

34 Per for thy shames sake, we beseeche thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither bryake thy covenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercie from vs, for thy beloued Abrahamas sake, and for thy seruant Isaacas sake, and for thine holy Isaacas sake,

36 To whome thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiplie their seed as the starrs of heauen, and as the sande, that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For we, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our sinnes:

38 So that now we haue neither vyince, nor dyopht, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first frutes before thee, that we might finde mercy.

39 Reuert thelesse in a contrite heart, and an humble spirite, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes & bullocks, & as in ten thousand of fatte lambs, so let our offering bee in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we followe thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 But vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnesse, and accordyng to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Return vs also by thy mercies, and giue

44 thy name the glory, O Lord, that all they that doe thy seruantes rust, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou onely art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

46 I shewe the Kings seruants that had cast them in, sealed not to make the oven hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with towle, and with sagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the foynace fourtie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the foynace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the foynace with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the foynace.

50 And made in the middes of the foynace like a most hissing winde, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grined, nor troubled them.

51 Then these thre (as out of one mouth) prapled, and glorified, and blessed God in the foynace, saying,

52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and prapled, and exalted aboute all thynges for euer, and blessed be thy glorious and help name, & prapled aboute all thynges, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holie glorie, and prapled aboute all thynges, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed be thou that beholdest the depthe, and sitest vpon the Cherubims, and prapled aboute all thynges, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed be thou in the glorious Throne of thy kingdome, & prapled aboute all thynges, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of Heauen, and prapled aboute all thynges, and glorified for euer.

57 All ye woynes of the Lord, bless ye the Lord: praple him, and exalt him aboute all thynges for euer.

58 O Yeauens, bless ye the Lord: praple him, and exalt him aboute all thynges for euer.

59 O Angels of þe Lord, bless ye þe Lord: praple him, & exalt him aboute all thynges for euer.

60 All ye waters that be aboute the heauen, bless ye the Lord: praple him, and exalt him aboute all thynges for euer.

The historie of ¹¹ Susanna, which some ioyned to the ende of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter,

1 The two gouernours are taken with the love of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They solicite her to wickednes. 23 She chooseth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accused. 45 Daniel dooth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

1 Here dwelt a man in Babilon called Joacim, And he tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

2 Her father and her mother also were godly people, & taught their daughter according to the lawe of Moyses.

3 Now Joacim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden opening vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because he was more honourable then all others.

4 The same yeere were appointed two of the ancienes of the people to be iudges, such as the Loyde speaketh of, that iniquitie came from Babilon, and from the ancient iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

5 These haunted Joacims house, and all such as had any thing to do in the lawe, came thither vnto them.

6 Nowe when the people departed away at none, Susanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

7 And the two elders sawe her that she went in daye and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

8 Therefore they turned away their minds, and cast downe their eyes, that they should not see heauē, nor remember iust iudgements.

9 And albeit they were both wounded with her loue, yet durst not one shew another his griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their guilt, & they desired to haue to do with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one sayde to the other, Let vs goe nowe home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, & departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, & after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their guilt: then appointed they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

15 Now when they had spied out a convenient time, that they went in, as her manner was, with two maides onely, and thought to walke her selfe in the garden, (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, save the two Elders that had bid themselves, and watched for her:

17 She sayde to her maydes, Bring me oyle and sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may walke me.

18 And they did as she bade them, & shut the garden doores, and went out themselves at a backe doore, to set the thing that they had commaunded them: but they sawe not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Nowe when the maides were gone forth, the two Elders rose up and came vnto her, saying,

20 Beholde, the garden doores are shut, & no man can see vs, & we burne in loue wth thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we will beare witness against thee, that a pong man was with thee, and therefore thou didest sende away thy maides from thee.

22 Then Susanna sighed, and sayde, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I do this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I do it not, I can not escape pour hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into pour hands, & not do it, then to shewe in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Susanna cryed with a loud voice, & the two Elders cryed out against her:

25 Then came the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 & So when the seruants of the house heard the crye in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a reporte made of Susanna.

28 On the morowe after, came the people to Joacim her husbande, and the two Elders came also, full of mischieuous imagination against Susanna, to put her to death.

29 And said before the people, Hence for Susanna the daughter of Helcias Joacims wife, And immediately they sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her childe and all her kindred.

31 Nowe Susanna was very tender, & faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commaunded to be couered her face (for she was couered) & they might so be satisfied with her beauty.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knewe her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stoode by in the middes of the people, and layde their hands vpon her head,

35 Which wept and looked vp towards heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders sayde, As we walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maides, whom she sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a pong man, which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay wth her.

38 Then wee which stoode in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, came vnto them, and we sawe them as they were together.

39 But we coulde not holde him: for he was stronger then we, and opened the doore, and leaped out.

40 Nowe when we had taken this woman, we asked her what pong man this was, but she would not tell vs: of these things are we witnesses.

41 Then the assembly belielded them, as those that were the Elders and iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cryed out with a loud voice, and sayde, O euerglasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afoze they come to passe,

43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witness against me, and beholde, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuente d against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voice.

45 & Therefore when she was ledde to be put to death, the Lord raised by the holp spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cryed w a loud voice, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and saide, What meane these wordes, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the middes of them, and saide, are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the truth, ye haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witness against her.

50 Wherefoze the people turned againe in all haste, & the Elders said vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shewe it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then sayde Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, & I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder, one from another, he called one of them and said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy finnes which thou hast committed asofetime, are come to light.

53 For thou hast yponnoured false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lord saith, The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slap.

54 Nowe then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, Under what tree satwest thou them compassing gamyng together? Who answered, Under a lentise tree.

55 Then saide Daniel, Wherein thou hast lyed against thine owne head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut the tree in two.

56 So put hee him aslee, and commaunded to bringe d other, and said vnto him, O thou seede of Sennanais, and not of Iuda, brauite hath deceined thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye draught with d daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughters of Iuda would not abide your wickednes.

58 Nowe therefore tell me, Under what tree diddest thou take them companing toges ther? Who answered, Under a yewne tree.

59 Then saide Daniel vnto him, Wherein thou hast also lied against thine head: for the Angel of God waptery with the sworde to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cryed with a loud voyce, and praised God, which sancty them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Ethers, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witness by their owne mouth)

62 And according to the Lawes of Spoyles Deut. 19. 19. they dealt with the, as they dealt wickedly Prov. 19. 5. against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was laved the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Joacim her husband, and all the kindred, that there was no dishonour found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And King Nisphages was laide with his fathers, and Cyrius of Persia reigned in his steade.

The historie of Bel and of the dragon, which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel after the Latin.

NOWE when King Nisphages was playde with his fathers, Cyrius the Persian receiued his Kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

3 Nowe the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day, twelue great measures of fine flower, and fourty shepe, and six great pots of wine.

4 And the king worshipped it, and went dayly to honour it: But Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King sayde vnto him, Why dost not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and sayde, Because I may not worship idoles made w handes, but the living God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, hath powder vpon all flesh.

6 Then saide the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a living God? seest thou not howe much he eateth and drinketh euery day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and sayde, O King, bee not deceyued: for this is but claye within, and yasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for his priestes, and sayde vnto them, I fe tell me now, who this is that eateth by these expenses, ye shall die:

9 But if ye can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for he hath spoken blasphemie against Bel, and Daniel sayde vnto the King, Let it be according to thy woide.

10 (Nowe the Priestes of Bel were threescore and tenne, beside their wives and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bel's priestes sayde, Beholde, wee will go out, and let thou the meat there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

12 And to morowe when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten by all, we will suffer death, of els Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.

13 Nowe they thought them secure sure enough: for vnder the table they had made a pinnis euener, and there went they in seuer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Nowe Daniel had commaunded his seruants to bring alhes, and these they strowed throughout all the temple, in the pience of the king aloue: then went they out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kings signet, and so departed.

15 Nowe in the night came the priestes, with their wines and children, (as they were wont to do) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the king arose, & Daniel with him.

17 And the King sayde, Daniel, are the scales whole? who answered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

18 And as soone as he had opened the doore, the King looked vpon the table, and cryed with a loud voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and helde the King that he should not go in, and sayde, Beholde nowe the pavement, and marke well whole footestepes are these.

20 And the King saide, I see the footestepes of men, women, and children: therefore the King was angrie.

21 And tooke the priestes, with their wines, and children, and they thewed him the pinnis doores, where they came in, and confuted such sayings as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the king slew them, and delivered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.
 23 ¶ Moreover in that same place there was a great dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.
 24 And the king saide unto Daniel, Sapest thou, that this is of brass also? he heareth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that hee is no living god: therefore worship him.
 25 Then saide Daniel unto the king, I will worship the lord my God: for hee is the living God.
 26 But give me leave, O King, and I will slay this dragon without sword or staffe.
 And the king saide, I give thee leave.
 27 Then Daniel took pitch, and saite, and heare, & did sette them together, and made lumps thereof: this hee put in the dragons mouth, and so the dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel saide, Beholde whom ye worshipped.
 28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull woth, & gathered them together against the king, saying, The king is become a Jewe: for hee hath destroyed Bel, and hath slain the dragon, and put the priests to death.
 29 So they came to the king, and sayde, Destroy us Daniel, or els we will destroy thee and thine house.
 30 Nowe when the king sawe, that they pleased sore upon him, and that necessity constrained him, hee delivered Daniel unto them:
 31 Who cast him into the Lyons den, where he was five daies.
 32 In the denne there were lions, and they had given them every day two oxen and two sheepe, which then were not given them, to the intent that they might devour Daniel.

 33 ¶ Nowe there was in Jewry a Prophet called Abbacur, which had made portage, & broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the felde, for to buy it to the reapers.
 34 But the King of the Lybes saide unto Abbacur, For, carp & meate that thou hast, into Babylon unto Daniel, which is in the lions denne.
 35 And Abbacur saide, Loide, I never sawe Babylon, neither doe I knowe where the denne is.
 36 Then the King took him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the heare of the head, and though a mightie winde set him in Babylon upon the denne.
 37 And Abbacur crept, saying, O Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.
 38 Then saide Daniel, O God, thou hast thought upon mee, and thou never forsakest them that seeke thee and love thee.
 39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the King of a Lybe let Abbacur in his owne place againe immediately.
 40 Upon the seventh day, the king went to bewaile Darius, and when hee came to the denne, hee looked in, and beholde, Daniel sat in the middes of the Lyons.
 41 Then crept the king with a longe wyffe, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.
 42 And hee drew him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were devoured in a moment before his face.

CHAP. I.

¶ The death of Alexander the king of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdom. 12 Manis of the children of Israel make complaint with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Jerusalem unto his dominion. 30 Antiochus setteth up idoles.

After that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went footy of the lande of Chetium, and slew Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him as he had before in Grecia.
 2 He took great warres in hand, & wanne strong holdes, and slew the kings of the earth.
 3 So went hee thowowe to the endes of the world, and took shoppes of many nations, in so much that the world stode in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed up and was haughty.
 4 Nowe when hee had gathered a mightie strong hoste, 5 And had reigned over regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries unto him.

6 After these things he fell sick, and knewe that he should die.
 7 Then he called for the chiefe of his servants, which had bene brought up with him of children, and parted his kingdom among them, while he was yet alive.
 8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he dyed.
 9 And his servants reigned every one in the beginning of his house.
 10 And they all caused their selues to bee crowned after his death, and so did their dome of children after them many yeeres, and much Syria wickednes increased in the world.
 11 For out of these came the wicked roote, even Antiochus Epiphanes, the sonne of Antiochus King Antiochus, which had bene an hoste & the be- stage at Rome, and hee reigned in the time of the death and seven and thirtieth yeere of the kingdom of the Grekes.
 12 In those daies went there out of Israels Parthians, wicked men, which entred many, & they ing, let us goe, and make a covenant with the

the heathen that are rounde about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much solow.

33 So this deuice pleased them well.

34 And certaine of the people were reable, and went to the king, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinaunces of the heathen.

35 Then let they by a place of exercise at Jerusalem, according to the facion of the heathen.

36 And made themselves vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy covenant, and topped their selues to the heathen, and were sold to doe muche.

37 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, he went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

38 Therefore hee entered into Egypt with a mightie company, with chariots, and Elephants, and with horsemen, & with a great name.

39 And mooued warre against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was a fraide of him, and fledde, and many were wounded to deatly.

40 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities in the lande of Egypt, and tooke away the spoiles of the land of Egypt.

41 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in p hundreth, fourty and thier peere.

42 And went by toward Israel and Jerusalem with a mightie people.

43 And entered vpon the Sanctuarie, and tooke away the golden altar, and the candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewbread, and the pouring vessels, and the vessels, and the golden basins, & the vail, and the crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

44 Hee tooke also the silver and golde, and the precious vessels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that hee founde, and when hee had taken away all, hee departed into his owne land.

45 After hee had murdered many men, and spoken very proudly.

46 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

47 For the Virgins and the Elders mourned: the pong women, & the pong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

48 Euery bidgeome tooke him to mourning, and he that sate in the marriage chamber, was in heauines.

49 The lande also was moued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Jacob was conuered with confusion.

50 After two peeres the king sent his chiefe sate master into the cities of Iuda, which came to Jerusalem with a great multitude.

51 Who spake peaceable words vnto them in decent, and they gaue credite vnto him.

52 Then he fell suddenly vpon the cite, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when hee had spoiled the cite, hee set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the cite of Ierusalem with a great and thicke wall, and with mightie towres, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Whoeuer they let wicked people there, & vngodly persons, and fortified them selues therein.

37 And they stayed it with weapons, and by taires, and gathered the spoils of Jerusalem, and layde it by there.

38 Thus became they a foie snare and dure in ambuscage for the Sanctuarie, a ware wicked enemies euernieue into Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuarie, and defiled the sanctuarie.

40 In so much that the citizens of Jerusalem fled away because of them, and because an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them to home they had boine: for her owne children did leane her.

41 Her sanctuarie was left waste as a wilderness: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbathes were reuined; and her honour brought to naught.

42 As her gloie had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her exaltation was turned into sorrow.

43 Also the king wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people shoulde be as one, & that euery man shoulde leane his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commaundement of the king.

45 Yea, many of the Iudaenes consented to his religion, offering vniu idoles, and desisting the Sabbath.

46 So the king sent letters by the messengers vnto Jerusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they shoulde followe the strange lawes of the countrey.

47 And that they shoulde forbid the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the offerings in the Sanctuarie.

48 And that they shoulde desist the Sabbathes and the feastes.

49 And pollute the Sanctuarie and the holy men.

50 And to set vp altars, & groues, and chapeles of idoles, and offer by swines flesh, and vncleane beastes.

51 And that they shoulde leane their children vncircumcised, and desist their soules with vncleane wine, and pollute themselves, that they might forget the Lawe, and change all the ordinaunces.

52 And that whosoener would not do according to the commaundement of the king, shoulde suffer death.

53 In like manner wrote hee throughout all his kingdome, and set ouersires ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And he commaunded the cities of Iuda to do sacrifice, cite by cite.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed euill in the land.

54 And they drove the Israelites into secret places, even wheresoever they could flee for succour.

57 The twentieth day of Cassen, in the hundredth and five and fortieth yeere, they set up the domination of desolation upon the altar, & they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streets they burnt incense.

59 And the booke of the law, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whosoever had a booke of the Testament found by him, or whosoever consented vnto the Lawe, the Kings commandement was, that they shoulde put him to death by their authoritie.

61 And they executed these things euery moneth vpon the people of Israel which were found in the cities.

62 And in the five and twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commandement, they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised.

64 And they hanged by the children at their neckes, and they hopped their houses, and drew the circumcisers of them.

65 Peruers there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in their felices, that they woulde not ease vnclean things.

66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to be defiled with those meates: so because they woulde not breake the holy covenant, they were put to death.

67 And this calamitie was very sore vpon the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy cite. 19 They refuse to doe sacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the Lawe of God. 33 They are slaine and wil not fight againe because of the Sabbathday. 49 Mattathias dying commandeth his sonnes to stick by the words of God, after the example of the fathers.

1 In those daies stood by Mattathias the priest, the sonne of Iohannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Iosabab of Ierusalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And hee had five sonnes, Ioanan called Gabbis,

3 Simon called Thasi.

4 Iudas which was called Macababes,

5 Eleazar called Abiron, and Ionathan, whose name was Apphus.

6 Nowe he sawe the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ierusalem:

7 And he saide, Who is me: wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, & the destruction of the holy cite, and thus to see still it is deliuered into the hands of the enemies?

8 And the Sanctuary is in the hands of strangers: the temple is as a man that hath no remouement.

9 Her glorious vessels are carped away into captiuitie: her infanties are slaine in the streets, and her young men are fallen by the sworde of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her peoples?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmaid.

12 Behold, our sanctuary, and our beautie, & honour is desolate, and the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs the to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, hee, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, & mourned very sore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the king to the cite of Modin, to compel them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the commissioners of the king, & said vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chief & an honourable man, and great in this cite, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, & fulfill the kings commandement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Iuda, and such as remaine at Ierusalem: so shalt thou and thy family be in the kings fauour, and thou and thy children shalbe enriched with siluer and golde, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered, & saide with a loud voice, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion, obey him, & sal away euery man fro the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandments,

20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in the covenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that we forsake not the Lawe of our fathers.

22 We will not hearken vnto the kings words, to forsake our religion: neither on the Sabbath day, nor on the sabbath.

23 And when he had left off speaking these wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the household, sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias sawe it, he was so inflamed with zeale, that his reines shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Lawe: therefore he ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the same time he slew the Kings commissioner, that compelled him to do sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he zeale to the Lawe of God, doing, as Idduers did vnto Xambis the sonne of Babelon.

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loud voice in the cite, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the Lawe, and will stand by the covenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So he, and his sonnes fled into the mountains, and left all that they had in the cite.

29 Then many that sought after iustice and iudgement,

30 Went downe into the wilderness to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their women, and their cattel: for the afflictions increased sore vpon them.

servants, & to the garrisons, which were in Jerusalem in the cite of David, that men had broken the kings commandement, & were gone down into the secret places in the wilderness,

32 Then manp. pursued after them: And having overtaken them, they camped against them, and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath day,

33 And said unto the, let this now be sufficient: come forth, doe according to the commandement of the king, and ye shall live.

34 But they answered, We wil not go forth, neither will we doe the kings commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at them, or stopped the prime places.

37 But said, We will die all in our innocence: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, & slew both men and cattell, their wives & their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Attathias & his friends vnderstoode this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren haue done, & fight not against the heathen for our liues, & for our lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, we will fight against him, that we die not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Hadeans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Lawe.

43 And all they that were fled for persecutiō, ioynd themselves vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, & the vngodly in their anger: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Attathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the childre by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coastes of Israel.

47 And they pursued after the yiond men: & this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recovered the Law out of the hand of the Gentiles, & out of the hand of hinges, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time diuue neere, that Attathias should dye, hee sayde vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be ye zealous of the Lawe, and giue your liues for the covenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall ye receiue great honour and an euertlasting name, 52 ¶ Was not Abraham founde faithfull in Gen. 22. 9, tentation, and it was imputed vnto him for 10. rom. 4. 3. righteousness?

56 ¶ Caleb, because he bare witness before the cōgregation, receiued the heritage of the lad. Num. 14. 6, 7. Iosh. 14. 13.

57 ¶ David, because of his mercie, obtained the throne of the kingdom for euertmore. 2. Sam. 2. 4.

60 ¶ Daniel, because of his innocence, was deliuered from the mouth of the lions. Dan. 6. 22.

61 And thus ye may consider throughout all ages, & whosoever put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

62 ¶ Feare not ye then the wordes of a sinfull man: for his gloie is but dongie & woymes.

63 ¶ To day is he let vp, and to morrow he shall not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 ¶ Wherefore, my sonnes, take good hearts, & shew your selues men for the Law: for by it shall you obtaine gloie.

65 And beholde, I knowe that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue care vnto him alway: he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Judas Maccabees hath bene mighty and strong, euen from his youth by: let him be your capitaine, & fight you the battell for the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you at those that obserue the Law, and shall auenge the injuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, & giue your selues to the commandement of the Lawe.

69 So hee blessed them, and was lapid with his fathers.

70 And died in the hundredeth, fourty and five yere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, & all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Indas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 21 Her killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The confidence of Indas towards God. 55 Indas determineth to fight against Lyfias, whom Antioch had made capitaine ouer his hostie.

1 ¶ Then Indas his sonne, called Maccabees, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that helde with his father, & fought with contrage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gaue his people great honour: he put on a breastplate as a giant, and armed him self, and set the battell in aray, and defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his actes he was like a lion, & as a lions whelp roaring after the pray.

5 For hee pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt by those that breyde his people,

- 6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, & all workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.
- 7 And he grieved diuers kings, but Jacob reioiced by his actes, and his memoriall is blessed for ever.
- 8 He went also thoruow the cities of Iuda, & destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.
- 9 So was he renowned vnto the endes of the earth, and hee assembled together those that were ready to perish.
- 10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great hoste out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.
- 11 Which when Iudas perceived, hee went forth to meeete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.
- 12 So Iudas tooke their spoiles, and tooke also Apollonius sworde, and fought with it all his life long.
- 13 ¶ Now when Heron a prince of the armie of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the congregation, & Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre,
- 14 He said, I wil get me a name, & wil be glorious in the realme: for I wil goe fight with Iudas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandement.
- 15 So he made him ready to go by, and there went with him a mightie hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.
- 16 And when he came nere to the going by of Bethsaijon, Iudas went forth to meeete him with a small companie.
- 17 But when they sawe the armie coming against them, they saide to Iudas, Howe are we able, being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude, & so strong, seeing wee bee so wearie, and haue fasted all this day?
- 18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut by in the handes of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small companie.
- 19 For the victorie of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but in strength cometh from heauen.
- 20 They came against vs with a cruell and proud multitude, to destroy vs, & our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs.
- 21 But we do fight for our liues, and for our lawes,
- 22 And God himselfe wil destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.
- 23 And whē he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Heron and his hoste destroyed before him.
- 24 And they pursued the fled the going down of Bethsaijon vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundred men of the residue fled into the land of the Philistines.
- 25 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about.
- 26 So that his name came vnto the king: for all the Gentiles coulde tell of the warres of Iudas.
- 27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, he was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, and gathered all the power of his realme, a very strong armie.

28 And opened his treasure, & gaue his host a peres wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a peece for all occasions.

29 Nevertheless, when he sawe the money of his treasures failed, & that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the desolation, & plagues that he had brought vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene of olde time,

30 He feared least he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberrall hand afore: for in liberalitie hee farre passed the other kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, & thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias a noble man & of kings blood to ouersee the kings business, fro the river of Euphrates, vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bring by his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Whereouer, hee gaue him halfe of his hoste and elephants, and gaue him charge of all things that he would haue done.

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda & Jerusalem, he should sende an armie against them, to destroy & roote out the power of Israel & the remnant of Jerusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place.

36 And to let strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the hoste & remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the peece an hundred fourtie and seven, and passed the river Euphrates, & went thowhe the hie countreys.

38 Then Lysias choise Ptolemies the sonne of Dositheus, and Hicano, and Gorgias, mightie men, and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourty thousand footmen, & seven thousand horsemen, to goe into the lande of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came and pitched by Emmaus in the plaine countrey.

41 Now when the marchantes of the countrey heard the raimour of them, they tooke very much silver and golde, and seruants, & came into the campe to die the children of Israel for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioynd with them.

42 ¶ Now when Iudas & his brethren sawe that trouble increased, & that the hoste by them nere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby he had commanded to destroy the people, and utterly abolish them,

43 They said one to another, Let vs rebelle the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuary.

44 Then the congregation were soone ready gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Jerusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went none that was boyne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuary.

Emmaus.

Sanctuarie was troden down, & the strangers kept the foirelle, & it was the habitation of the heathen: and the miry of Jacob was taken away: & pipe & the harpe ceased.

45 So the gathered their selues together, & came to Bethphage beside Jerusalem: for in Bethphage was the place where they played aforesaid in Israel.

47 And they said that day, and put sackcloth upon them, & cast ashes upon their heads, and rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the Law, wheres in the heathen sought to paint the likeness of their Idoles,

49 And brought the Priests garments, & the first fruites, & the tithes, & set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cried with a loud voice toward heauē, saying, What shall we do with these? and whether shall we carpe them away?

51 For the Sanctuarie is troden downe and defiled, & the Priests are in heauensse, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come against vs to destroy vs: thou knowest what things they imagine against vs.

53 Hows can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cried with a loud voice.

55 And after this Judas ordeyned captaines ouer the people, ten captaines ouer thousandes, & captaines ouer hundredes, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or married wives, or planted vines, or were fearful, that they should returne euery one to his owne house, according to the Lawe.

57 So the hoste remoued, & pitched upon the Southside of Emmaus.

58 And Judas saide, Arise pour selues, & bee valiant men, and be ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuarie.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battell, then to see the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuarie.

60 Mercielesse as the wil of God is in heauens, so be it.

C H A P. IIII.

1 Judas goeth against Gorgias which lyeth in wait. 14 He putteth Gorgias & his hoste to flight. 28 Lysias smyth Iudas, 29 But Iudas drineth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple and dediceth the altar.

Then tooke Gorgias five thousand foote men, & a thousand of the best horsemen, & departed out of the campe by night, to invade the campe of the Jewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the foirelle were his guides.

3 Now when Judas heard it, he remoued, & they were valiant men to smite the kings armie which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was disperied from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Judas campe: and when he founde no man there, he sought them in the mountaines: for said he, They flee from vs.

6 But allsoone as it was day, Judas shewed himselfe in the field with thys thousand men, which had neither haruill nor swordes to their inuades.

7 And they sawe that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, and that they were expert men of warre.

8 Then said Judas to the men he were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neyther be afraid of their assault.

9 Remember howe our fathers were deliuered in the red Sea, when Pharaos pursued them with an armie.

10 Therefore now let vs crye vnto heauen, and the Lord will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the couenant of our fathers, and with destroye this hoste before our face this day:

11 So shall all the heathen knowe, that there is one, which deliuereth and sauerh Israel.

12 Then the strangers lit by their spers, and sawe them courning against them,

13 And they went out of their tentes into the battell, & they that were with Judas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioynd together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the himnost of them fell by the sword, and they pursued them vnto Caseron, and into the plaines of Ibmua, and of Agotus, and of Iamnia, so that there were flaine of them about thys thousand men.

16 So Judas turned againe to his host from pursuing them,

17 And said vnto the people, Be not gladde of this spoyles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias & the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against pour enemies, & ouercome them: then may ye safely take the spoyles.

19 As Judas was speaking these wordes, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias sawe that his were fled, and that Judas souldiers burnt the tentes: (for he smoke that was seene, declared what was done.)

21 When they sawe these thinges, they were sore afraid, and when they sawe also that Judas and his hoste were in the fild ready to set themselves in aray, 22 They fled euery one into the land of strangers.

23 So Judas turned againe to spoyles the tentes, where he gate much golde and silver, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and sung psalmes, & praised toward the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercie endureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had a great victorie in that day.

26 Nowe all the strangers he escaped, came, & told Lysias all the thinges that were done.

27 Who when he heard these thinges, was sore afraid, & discouraged, because such thinges came not vpon Israel, as he would, neither such thinges as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yere following, gathered Lysias thysfove thousande chosen foote men, men, and five thousand hoysmen to fight against Ierusalem.

29 So they came into * Iudaea, and pitched their tentes at * Beth-sura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he sawe that mightie armie, he played & sayde, Blessed be thou, O Saviour of Israel, * which diddest destroy h assault of the mightie man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, * and ganeit the host of the strangers into h hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

31 Shut up this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them bee confounded with their powder, & with their hoysmen.

32 Make them afraid, & consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may bee astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sworde of them that loue thee: then shall all they that knowe thy name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioynd together, and there were flame of Iudas hoste, five thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Iudas, seeing his armie put to flight, and the manliness of Iudas souldiers, and that they were ready, epyther to lue or die ballantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his armie, he thought againe (being vnpared) to come against Iudea.

36 Then said Iudas & his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let vs nowe go by to cleise, and to repaire the Sanctuarie.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, & went up into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Nowe when they sawe the sanctuarie lasse waste, and the altar defiled, and the dooyes burnt up, and the shubbes growing in the courtes, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, & that the Priestes chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, & made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads,

40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, & blew an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had clenied the Sanctuarie.

42 So hee chose Priestes that were undefiled, such as belued in the Lawe,

43 And they clenied the Sanctuarie, & bare out h defiled stones into an vncleane place,

44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offrings, which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, least it shoulde be a repioche vnto them because the heathē had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar,

46 And layd by the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there shoulde come a Prophet, to shewe what shoulde be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Lawe, and builded a newe altar according to the foynner, 48 And made by the Sanctuarie, & h things that were within the Temple, & the courtes and all things.

49 They made also newe holy vessels, and brought into the Temple the candlesticke, & the altar of burnt offrings, and of incense, & the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, & lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlesticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shewbrad vpon the table, and hangd by the vales, and finishd al the woikes that they had begonne to make.

52 And vpon the five and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called h moneth of Chassen, in the hundredth & eight & fourtieth yere they role by betumes in the morning,

53 And offred sacrifice according to the Lawe, vpon the newe altar of burnt offrings, that they had made.

54 According to h time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made newe with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbales.

55 And all h people fel vpon their faces, worshiping and passing toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of h altar eight dayes, offering burnt offrings with gladnes, & offred sacrifices of belinurance and praye,

57 And deckt the forefront of h Temple with crownes of golde and sheldes, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and paged dooyes vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnes among the people, and the repioche of the heathen was put away.

59 So Iudas & his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel ordered that the dayes of dedication of the altar shoulde bee kept in their season from yere to yere, by the space of epyght dayes, from the five and twentie dayes of the moneth Chassen, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at h same time builded they up moit Sion with hie walles & strong towres round about, least the Gentiles shoulde come, and treade it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garrison there to kepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to kepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Iudinea.

C H A P. V.

Iudas vanquished the heathen that go about to destroy Israel, and is helpe of his brethren Simon & Jonathan. He ouerthroweth the citie of Epher, because they denied him passage thorow it.

Nowe when the nations rounde about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuarie renewed, as afore, they were sore grieved.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esaus in Iudinea at * Acrabathene, because they brisleged the Israelites, and hee smote them with a great plague, and dyne thers frantes, and took their spoiles.

4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Isean, which had bene a snare and an hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in waite for them in the way.

5 Wherefore he shut them up in towres, and brislegd

- besieged them, and destroyed them utterly, and burnt their towncs with fire, with all that were in them.
- 6 Afterwarde, went he against the children of Simmon, where he found a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their capitaine.
- 7 So he had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so hee discomfited them,
- 8 And tooke Sager with the towncs thereof, and so turned againe into Iudea.
- 9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered the together against þ Israelites that were in their quarters, to slaye them: but they fled to the castle of Warheman,
- 10 And sent letters to Judas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs,
- 11 And they make them ready for to come, & to take the foytresse, wherunto we are fled, and Timotheus is capitaine of their host.
- 12 Come nowe therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine.
- 13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wiues and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.
- 14 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came ouer messengers fro Galile with their clothes rent, which tolde the same tidings,
- 15 And saide, that they of Belemais, and of Tyus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them.
- 16 When Judas, and the people heard these wordes, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might do for their brethren, that were in trouble, and whome they besieged.
- 17 Then saide Judas to Simon his brother, While thes out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I & my brother Jonathan will go into þ countrey of Galaad.
- 18 ¶ So he left Josephus the sonne of Zacharias, & Azarias to be captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the host in Iudea,
- 19 And commanded them, saying, Take the oversight of this people, & make no warre against the heathen, untill we come againe.
- 20 And vnto Simon were giuen thre thousand men to goe into Galile, and to Judas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.
- 21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.
- 22 And hee pursued them vnto the gates of Belemais: and there were slaine of the heathen almost thre thousand men: so hee tooke their spoiles.
- 23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile and in Belemais with their wiues, and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioy.
- 24 ¶ Judas Maccabeus also, & his brother Jonathan went ouer Jordan, and trauailed thre dayes iourney in the wilderness,
- 25 Where they mette with the Nabathites, who receined them ioyfully, and told them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,

26 And howe that many of them were besieged in Bofora, & Bofor, in Alenus, Chalbon, & Eatinann (all these cities are strong, and great)

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morowe they are appointed to bring their holte into these foytes, and to take them, & to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Judas and his host turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness toward Bofora, & waite the cite, & slew all the males with the edge of the sword, & took all their spoyle, and set fire vpon the cite.

29 And in the night he removed from thence, and went toward the foytresse.

30 And betimes in þ morning when they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the foyt, & had assaulted the.

31 When Judas saw that the battell was begun, and that the crye of the cite went vp to heauen with triumphs, and a great sound, 32 Then he saide vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behind them with thre companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cryed with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knewe, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and he smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Judas vnto Bafapha, and laide siege vnto it, and wanne it, & slew all the males therof, and spoiled it, and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went he and tooke Chalbon, Baged, and Bofor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these thinges gathered Timotheus another host, and he camped before Kaphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Judas had sent to espie the hoste, & they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the host is verie great,

39 And he hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, & are ready to come & fight against thes. So Judas went to mete them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captains of his hoste, When Judas and his host come nere the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs we shall not be able to withstand him: for he will be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraide, & campe beyond the flood, we will goe ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Judas came nere to þ flood, he caused the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood, & commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battell.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, and all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, and cast away their weapons, and fledde into the temple that was at Carnaim.

¶ C. 5. 1. 44. Which

44 Which citie Judas wanne, and burnt the temple with all that were in it: so was Car-naim subdued, and might not withstande Judas.

45 Then Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the left vnto the most, with their wives and their children, and their baggage, a verie great hoste, to come into the land of Juda.

46 So they came vnto Ephyon, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defended: they could not passe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must go thowow it.

47 But they that were in the citie, shut their selues in, and stopped by the gates with stones: and Judas sent vnto them with peaceable wordes, saying,

48 Let vs passe thowow your land, & we may go into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely go thowow on foot: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Judas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the host, that euery man shoulde assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, & assaulted the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his handes:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, andooke the spoile thereof, and went thowow the citie ouer them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Iordou into a great plaine before Bethsan.

53 And Judas gathered together those that were behinde, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thowow, till they were come into the land of Juda.

54 Thus they went by with ioy, and gladnes vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 Nowe whiles Judas & Jonathan were in the lande of Galaad, & Simon their brother in Galile before Elymains,

56 Joseph the sonne of Zacharias, & Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and battels which they had achieved, sayd, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste a commandement and went towardes Samaria.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Joseph & Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Iudea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great overthrow among the people of Israel.

61 Because they were not obedient vnto Judas, & his brethren, but thought to do some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose handes deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Judas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, wheresoeuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterwarde went Judas south with his brethren, and fought against the children of E-san in the land toward the South, where he wanne Itebon, and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the cattell there of, & burnt the townes thereof rounde about.

66 Then remoued he to goe into the lande of the strangers, & went thowow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priestes of the citie slaine in the battell, which woulde shewe their valiantnes, & went sojth to battell without counsell: & wher Judas came to a satorus in the strangers land, he brake down their altars, & burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoiles of the citie, & came againe into the land of Juda.

CHAP. VI.

Antiochus, willing to take the citie of Elmais, is driven away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into sickness, and dieth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made king. 34 The manner to provoke elephants to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiant alle. 48 The siege of Sion.

Nowe when King Antiochus traueled through the high countries, he heard that Elmais in the countrey of Ierusa was a citie greatly renowned for riches, silver and golde,

And that there was in it a very rich temple, whereas were coverings of golde, cote armours, and harnesse, which Alexander king of Macedonia & some of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoile it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter,

And rose vp against him in battell, and he fled and departed thence with great heauinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

Whereouer, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Ierusa, that the armies that went against the lande of Juda, were diuyn away,

And that Lyfias, which went south first with a great power was diuyn away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoiles which they had gotten of the armies whome they had destroyed.

And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which he had set by vpon the altar at Ierusalem, and fenced the Sanctuary with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his citie.

So when the king had heard these wordes, he was astonied, and soe moored: therefore he layde him downe vpon his bed, & fell sicke for very sorrowe, because it was not come to passe, as he had thought.

And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he saue he must needs die.

Therefore he sent for all his friends, & saide vnto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduersitie am I come: & into what floods of miserie am I fallen nowe, where as a soetime I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power.

And nowe doe I remember the evils that

I haue done at Ierusalem: for I tooke al the vessels of golde and siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda with out cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and behold, I must die with great sorrow in a strange land.

14 Then called he for Philippe, one of his friends, vnto whome he made ruler of al his realme,

15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, & the ring, that he shoulde instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till he might reigne himselfe.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundredth and fourtie and ninth yeere.

17 When Euphras knewe, that the king was dead, hee ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whome he had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers steade, and called him Eupator.

18 Nowe thep that were in the castell at Ierusalem, kept in the Iudaiteis rounne about the Sanctuarie, and fought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy thew, and called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So thep came together, & besieged them in the hundredth & fiftie yeere, and made instruments to shoote, and other engines of warre.

21 But certaine of them that were besieged, gate forth, (vnto whome some vngodly men of Irael topped themselves)

22 And thep went vnto the king, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and auenge our death?

23 We haue bene ready to serue thy father, & to goe forwarde in those things, that he appointed, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore thep of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and wheresoeuer thep founde any of vs, thep slewe them, and spoiled our inheritance.

25 And thep haue not onely layd hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And behold, this day are thep besieging the castell at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuarie, and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou dost not puenient them quickly, thep wil do greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to overcome them.

28 When the king heard this, hee was very angry, and called all his friends, the capitaines of his armie, and his hoysenmen,

29 And bandes that were hired, came vnto him from the kings, that were confederate, and from the ples of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundredth thousand footemen, and twentie thousand hoysenmen, & two and thirtie elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came through Iudaea, & dyed nere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, & made engines of warre: but thep came out, & burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Iudas from the castell, and remoued the holsse towarde Beth-sacarias ouer against the kings campe.

33 So the king arose very rarely, and brought the armie & his power towarde the way of Beth-sacarias, where the armie set themselves in aray to the battell, & blew the trumpets.

34 And to pponoke the elephants for to fight, thep shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberries,

35 And thep set the beastes according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant there stode a thousand men armed with coats of maple and helmets of byasse vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordeined fiftie hundredth hoysenmen of the best,

36 Which were redy at al times wheresoeuer the beast was: & whither soeuer the beast went, thep went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon the were strong towres of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, & vpon euery one was two and thirtie men, that fought at them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 Thep set also the remnant of the hoysenmen vpon both the sides in two winges of the holsse, to strike them by, and to keepe them in the battells,

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shieldes, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings armie was spread vpon the hie mountaines, and part beneath: so thep marched forwarde warily, & in order.

41 And all thep that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the compaignie, and the rattling of the harness, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Iudas and his holsse entered into the battell, and thep slewe fiftie hundredth men of the kings armie.

43 Nowe when Eleazar, the sonne of Abiaron, saue one of the elephants armed with ropall harness, and was moxe excellent then al the other beastes, he thought that the king should be vpon him.

44 Wheresoe he regarded himselfe to deliuer his people, & to get him a perpetual name,

45 And ranne boldely vnto him through the middes of the holsse, slaying on the right hand, and on the left, so that thep departed awap on both sides.

46 So went he to the elephants fete, & gaue him vnder him, and slew him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him, & there he dyed.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king and the fiercenes of his armie, departed from them.

48 And the kings armie went by to mete them towarde Ierusalem, & the king pitched his tents in Iudaea toward mount Zion.

49 Whesoeuer, the king tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when thep came out of the citie, because thep had no vitayles there, and were shut by thew, and the land had rested,

50 The king tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it,

51 And besieged the Sanctuarie many dayes, and made instruments to shoote, and other engines of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, & pieces to cast darts and dings.

52 Thep also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vitayles: for it was the fiftie yeere, & then thep that were in Iudaea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles had eaten by the rebulse of h store,

54 So that in the Sanctuarie were fewe men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lysias heard that Philippe (whom Antiochus the king, whiles he liued, had ordeyned to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be king)

56 Was come againe out of Iberia, and Iberia, & the kings hoste with him, & thought to take vnto him the rule of things.

57 He and his hoste, and were stirred forward by them in the castell to go and tell the king, and the captaynes of the hoste, & to others, saying, We decrease daily, and our vittayles are but small: and the place that we lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

58 Nowe therefore let vs agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation.

59 And graunt them to liue after their Lawe, as they did afore: for they be grieved, and do all these things, because we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the king & the princes were content, and sent vnto them to take peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the king and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

62 And the king went vp to mount Zion: but when he saw that the place was well defended, he brake his othe which he had made, & com- manded to beake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed he in al haste, and returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philippe ha- uing dominion of the cite: so he fought a- gainst him, and took the cite by force.

CHAP. VII.

Demetrius reigned, after he had killed Antiochus and Lysias. ¶ He troubleth the children of Israel through the counsell of certain wicked persons. 37 The prayer of the Priestes against Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nica- nor, after he had made his prayer.

Joseph. Anti.
12. cap. 5.

1 In the hundredth and one and fiftieth yere, I departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleus from Rome, and came by with a fewe men vnto a cite of the sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the possession of his fathers kingdom, his soldiers took Antiochus & Lysias, & brought them vnto him. 3 But when it was tolde him, he said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Nowe when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdom,

5 There came vnto him all the wicked & vn- godly men of Israel, whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene his Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto h king, saying, Iudas & his brethren haue slaine all thy friends, and driven vs out of our owne lande.

7 Wherefore sende now some man, whome thou trustest, that he may goe and see all the destruction, which he hath done vnto vs, & to the kings lande, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king chose Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the realme, & ruled beyonde the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and sent him.

9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom he made his Priest, and commanded him to be auen- ged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the land of Iuda, and sent messen- gers to Iudas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable wordes.

11 But they beleued not their saying: for they saw that they were come with a great hoste.

12 Then a company of the gouernours as- sembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreate of reasonable popites.

13 And the Elders were the first that re- quired peace among the children of Israel.

Or, Hosam

14 For sayde they, He that is a Priest of the seede of Aaron, is come with this armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 Then he spake vnto them peaceably, and swooe vnto them, and said, We will doe you no harme, neither your friends:

16 And they beleued him: but he took of the thieske men, and slew them in one dape, according to the wordes that were written,

Psal. 134.

17 They haue cast the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood round about Ierusalem, and there was no man that would burie them.

18 So there came a feare and a trembling a- mong all the people: for they said, There is neither trueth nor righteousness in them: for they haue broken the appoyntment & othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remoued from Ierusalem, and pitched his tent at Beth-secha, where he sent forth & took many of the men that he had forsaken him, and certayne of the people whom he slew and cast into the great pit.

Or, Beth-secha, or, Beth-

20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, & left many of warre with him to help him: so Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus stroue for the Priesthood.

22 And all such as troubled the people, resor- ted vnto him: in so much, that they obtay- ned the lande of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 Nowe when Iudas saw all the mischief, that Alcimus and his company had done a- mong the Israelites more then the heathen,

24 He went forth round about all the borders of Iudea, and punished those, that were sla- yen away, so that they came no more abroade in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus saw that Iudas and his people had gotten the upper hand, and knew that he was not able to abide them, he went againe to the king, and accused them of wicked things.

26 Then the king sent Nicanor one of his chiefest princes, which hated Israel deadly, and commanded him that he should destroy the people.

Joseph. Anti.
12. cap. 11.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great hoste, and sent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly wordes, saying,

28 Let there be no warre betwene me, and you: I will come with few men, to see howe ye do, friendly.

29 So he came unto Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Judas.

30 Nevertheless, it was tolde Judas, that he came unto him under deceipt: therefore he feared him, and would not see his face no more.

31 When Hicanoy perceived that his counsel was betrayed, he went out to fight against Judas, beside ^{Or, Capernaum} Carthasalaina.

32 Where there were flaine of Hicanoy's hoste about foure thousande men: so they fled vnto the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Hicanoy by vnto mount Dion, and some of the Priests with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the burnt offering that was offered for the King.

34 But he laughed at them, & mocked them, & counted them prophane, & spake proudly, 35 And swooe in his wrath, saying, If Judas and his host be not deliuered now into mine hands, if euer I come againe in safarie, I wil burne by this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stode before the altar in the Temple, weeping, & saying,

37 For so much as thou, O Lorde, hast chosen this house, that thy name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people.

38 We are angry of this man and his host, and let them be flaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Hicanoy was come from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, & there an host met him out of Egypt.

40 And Judas preached in ^{Or, Adas} Adasa, with thre thousand men, where Judas arrived, saying,

41 O Lorde, because the messengers of King Sennacherib blasphemed this, thine Angel went forth, and slew an hundred, fower score, and fure thousand of them.

42 So destroy thou this host before vs to day, that all other may know that he hath sinned wickedly against the Sanctuarie, and punish him according to his unliue.

43 So the armies ioynd together in battell, the thirtieth day of the moneth Adar: but Hicanoy's host was discomfited, and he him selfe was first flaine in the battell.

44 Now when his armie saw that Hicanoy was flaine, they cast away their weapons and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a daies four, then from Adasa vnto Safar, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the towncs of Iudea round about, and rushed vpon them, and chace them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then theyooke the spoiles, and the map, and shoute off Hicanoy's head, and his right hande, which hee hidde vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them by afofe Ierusalem.

48 So the people cryed great cry, & kept that day as a day of great gladnesse, 49 And they ordeined to keepe yearly that day on the thirtieth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Iuda was in rest a litle while.

CHAP. VIII.

^{Or, Judas} Judas, considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutual friendship sent to the Iewes.

1 ^{Or, Antioch} Was heard also þe name of the Romanes, that they were mightie, and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them.

2 And that they were men of great power, and they tolde them of their battels, & their wayes of actes, which they did among the Galatians whom they had conquered, and made to paie tribute.

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of silver and golde.

4 And that by their counsel, and gentle behauiour they were rulers in every place, though the place was farre from them, & that they had discomfited, and giuen great overthrowes to the Kings that came against them, from the betwixtmost part of the earth, & that others gaue them tribute every yere.

5 And how they had also discomfited by battell Philippe and Peres, Kings of the Macedonians, & others, that arose against them, and howe they overcame them.

6 And howe great Antiochus King of Asia that came against them in battell, hauing an hundred and twenty elephants, with horsemen, and chariots, and a very great armie, was discomfited by them.

7 And how theyooke him alive, and ordeined him, with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a separate poeison.

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Arabia, and Lydia, and of his best countreys, which theyooke of him and gaue them to King Eunenes.

9 Againe when it was tolde them that the Grecians were comming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a capitaine, which gaue them battell, & slew many of them, & tooke many prisoners with their women, and children, and spoiled them, and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holdes, and subdued them to be their bondmen vnto this day.

11 Wherefore, how they destroyed, and brought into subiection other kingdomes and yles, whosoener had withstand them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their owne friends, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, in so much that whosoever heard of their renoume, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, & whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeined themselves a counsel, wherein thre hundred and twenty men men consulted daily, & provided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well.

16 And that they counteth their gouernment to one man euery p[er]ce, who did rule ouer al their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neyther hatred nor enuie among them,

18 That they might take from them the p[er]ce (for they saw that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage.)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the Senate where they spake and sayde,

20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Jewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship, and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in tables of brass and sent to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the peace, and mutuell fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romans, & to the people of the Jewes, by sea, and by land for ever, and the sworde, & enemy be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romans, or any of their friends, throughout all their dominion,

25 The people of the Jewes shall helpe them, as the time shall be appointed, with all their heart,

26 Also they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheate nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romans, but they shall keepe their covenantes without taking any thing of them.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nation of the Jewes, the Romans shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shall wheate be giuen vnto them, nor take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romans, who will keepe these covenantes without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romans made a bond with the people of the Jewes.

30 If after these pointes the one partie, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoeuer they shall adde or take away, shall be ratified.

31 And as touching the will that Demetrius hath done vnto the Jewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore laiest thou thine heauie yoke vpon our friends, and confederates the Jewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will do them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his armie against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slaine. 31 Jonathan is put in the steede of his brother. 47 The battell betweene Jonathan and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the pestilence, and death. 68 He committeth vpon

Jonathan by the counsell of certain wicked persons, and is overcome. 70 The trace of Jonathan with Bacchides.

1 In the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor, and his holle had giuen the battell, he sent Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his chief strength with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that is towarde Galgala, and pitched their tentes before Bethsai, which is in Ierusalem, & waunte it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundredth, fiftie and two p[er]ce, they laide their siege against Jerusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Betea, with twenty thousand foote men and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at Eleasa, & there thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they sawe that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afraid, and many corrupted them selues out of the holle, so that there abode no more of them, but eight hundred men.

7 When Iudas sawe that his holle failed him, and that he must needs fight, he was sore troubled in minde that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Nevertheless, he sayde vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and goe vp against our enemies; if peradventure we may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue slayed him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather save our liues: turne backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for that we fight against them, that are so fewe.

10 Then Iudas sayde, God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to sle from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

11 Then the holle remoued out of the tentes, & stood against them, who had deuised their horsemen into two troups, and they that they with slings, and the archers marched in the foreward, and they that fought in the foieward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in a right wing. So the armie drew nere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 Then of Iudas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noise of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Iudas sawe that Bacchides & the strength of his armie was on the right side, he took with him all the hardie men,

15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Bethan.

16 Nowe when they which were of the left wing, sawe that the right wing was overcome, they followed Iudas behinde, & them that were with him hard at the heels.

17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Iudas also himselfe was killed, & the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon took Iudas their byother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre sepulchrs in the cite of Ephod,

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many daies, saying,

21 Howe is the valiant man fallen which deserved Israel!

22 Concerning the other thinges of Judas, both the battels and the valiant actes that he did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

23 ¶ Howe after the death of Judas, wicked men came vp in all the coastes of Israel, and there arose as much as gaue themselves to misquyte.

24 In those daies was there a very great famine in the lande, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselves with them.

25 Now Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lordes in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Judas' friendes, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas' friendes together, and said vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, & there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, enen against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs,

30 Therefore, this day we chuse thee that thou mayest be our prince and captaine in his place to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan took the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in steade of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knewe it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother, perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Iherua with all their company, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Nisphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstode, he came ouer Iordene with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Jonathan sent his brother Iohn, a captaine of the people, to pray his friends the Sabbathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

36 But the children of Ambji came out of Ephod, and tooke Iohn, and all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambji made a great marriage, and brought the hyde from Ephod with great pompe: for they were daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembred Iohn their brother, and went vp, and hid themselves vnder the court of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a great noise, and much preparation: then the hydegroune came forth, and his friendes and his brethren met them with tymbrels, and instruments of musike, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathan's men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, & slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoiles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noise of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iordene.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Iordene with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his companie, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Beholde, the battell is before vs, & behinde vs, and the water of Iordene on this side and that side, and the marie, and foynst, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore crye now vnto heauen, that we may be deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they toyned battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but he turned aside from him and recoiled.

48 Then Jonathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Iordene, & swimmied ouer vnto the further banke: but the other woulde not passe throug Iordene after them.

49 So in that day were slayne of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Jerusalem, and builde vp the strong citie in Iuda, as the castel of Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethphoron, and Bethel, and Chammatha, Phara: thou, and Cepho, with high walles, with gates, and with barres, 51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 He fortified also the cite Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castell, and set a garison in them with prouision of vitayles.

53 He tooke also the chiefe men's sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castell at Jerusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterwarde in the hundredth, fiftie & thre pærr, in the second moneth, Alcimus commaunded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuarie should be destroyed, and he pulled downe the monuments of Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, & his enterprises were hindered, and his mouth was stopp'd: for he was smitten with a palfie, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus dyed Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides sawe, that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king, and so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men heide a counsell, saying, Beholde, Jonathan and his companie dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bying Bacchides hither, and he will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose & came with a great hoste, and sent letters pryncipally to his adherentes, which were in Iudea, to take Jonathan, and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was known vnto them.

 61 And thep toke fiftie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workmen of this wickednes, and flew them.
 62 ¶ Then Jonathan and Simon with their company departed vnto Beth-balin which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decaye thereof, and made it strong.
 63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his hoste, and sent woide to them that were of Judea.
 64 Then came he and lapde siege to Beth-balin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.
 65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the cite, and went forth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number,
 66 And sette Demetrius and his brethren, & the children of Balthazar in their tents: so he began to flap, and increased in power.
 67 Simon also & his company went out of the cite, & burnt by the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, & discomfited him, & berd him foie, so that his counsell and iourney was in vayne.
 69 Wherefore he was very woith at the wicked men, that gaue him counsell to come into the countrey, and flew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.
 70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadours vnto him, to intreate of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.
 71 Which thing he accepted, & did according to his desire, & made an othe, that he would neuer do him harme all the dayes of his life.
 72 So he restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of the lande of Judea, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did he come any moie into their borders.
 73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, & Jonathan dwelt at Balthazar, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

 4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Jonathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slayne. 51 The friendshippe of Ptolemie and Alexander.
 1 In the hundredth and threescore pere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphane, and rooke Ptolemie, and thep reigned him, and there he reigned.
 2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went forth against him to fight.
 3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan, with louing woide, as though he would please him.
 4 For he said, We will first make peace with him, before he iopne to Alexander against vs.
 5 Els he will remember all the euill that wee haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.
 6 And so he gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commaunded the hostages that were in the castell, to be deliuered vnto him.

 7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Ierusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castell.
 8 Therefore they were foy as a pebble, because they heard that the king had giuen him licence to gather an armie.
 9 So they that were of the castell, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.
 10 Jonathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to builde, and repaire the cite.
 11 And he commaunded the workmen to builde the walles, & the mount Sion rounde about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.
 12 Then the strangers that were in the castell which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, & went into his owne countrey.
 14 Whel at Beth-lura remayned certaine which had forsaken the lawe and the commaundements: for it was their refuge.
 15 ¶ Nowe when king Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which he and his brethren had done, & of the papers that they had imbured, 16 He said, Might we finde such a man? notu therfoie we will make him our friende and confederate.
 17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these woide, saying,
 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.
 19 We haue heard of the, that thou art a very balliant man, and woith to be our friend.
 20 Wherefore this day we ordeyne the to be the chief of thy nation, and to be called the kings friende: (and he sent him a purple robe, and a crowne of golde,) that thou mayest consider what is for our profite, and keepe friendship toward vs.
 21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundredth and threescore pere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.
 22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, he was maruelous foye and said,
 23 What haue we done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?
 24 Yet will I write & exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe me.
 25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these woide, KING DEMETRIUS vnto the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.
 26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your covenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not iopned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.
 27 Nowe therfoie remaine still, & keepe fidelitie toward vs, and we will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs.
 28 And will releafe you of many charges, and giue you rewardes.
 29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, and free you from the customes customs of salt, and the tribute taxes, and from the thirde part of the seld.

30 And from the halfe of the faine of the trees which is mine owne duetie, I will release them that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda, as of the thirde y^e mernemmes which are added therunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, from this day forth for evermore.

31 Jerusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall be holpe and free from the tributes and tributes.

32 Also I release the power of the castell which is at Jerusalem, and give it unto the hie priest, that he may set in it such men, as hee shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreover I free deliver every one of the Jewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, and every one of them shall be free from tributes, yea, even their carrell.

34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, & new moones, & the dayes appointed & the thirde dayes before the feast, and the thirde dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedom and libertie for all the Jewes in my realme.

35 So that in that no man shall have power to do any thing, no to vex any of them in any manner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousande of the Jewes shall be written up in the kings holte, and have their wages payed them as appertayneth to all them that are of the kings armie: and of them shall be gyven certainie to keepe the kings strong holdes.

37 And some of them shall be set over the kings most secreete affaires, and their governours and their yinces shall be of themselves, and they shall live after their owne lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the thirde government that are added unto Iuda from the countrey of Samaria, shall be joined unto Iuda, and they shall be as under one, and obey none other power, but the hie priest.

39 And I give Ptolemas and the boyders thereof unto the Sanctuarie at Jerusalem, for the necessary expences of the holpe things.

40 Moreover, I will give them perre fiftene thousande sicles of silver of the kings revenues out of the places appertaining unto me.

41 And all the overplus which they have not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeres, from henceforth they shall give it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the five thousande sicles of silver which they received perrely of the account appointed for the intertainment of the Sanctuarie, thesperces payed, even these things shall be released because they appertayne to the priestes that minister.

43 Item, whosoever they be that sit unto the Temple at Jerusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indebted to the king for any manner of thing, they shall be pardoned, and all that they have in my realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expences shall be given of the kings revenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jerusalem, & fortifying it rounde about, that the holdes in Iuda shall be built up, that also the costs be given out of the kings revenues.

46 ¶ When the Jewes Jonathan & the people heard these words, they gave up their hands to them, saying: we receive them: for they remembered the great mercies which hee had done in Israel, and howe long he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed unto Alexander: for he was first that had increased of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great hoste, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings joined battell, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and prevailed against them.

50 So that the battell continued til the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent ambassadours unto Ptolemas the king of Egypt with these wordes, saying:

52 For so much as I am come againe to my realme, & am set in the thione of my fathers, and have gotten the dominion, & have destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I have even given him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the thione of his kingdom,

54 Let us now make friendship together, and give me now thy daughter to wife: so that I be thy sonne in law, and give thee reward, & unto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemas the king gave answer, saying: I am by the day, wherein thou art come againe unto the lande of thy fathers, and sitest in the thione of thy kingdom.

56 Nowe therefore will I fulfill thy wylinge: but mete me at Ptolemas that we may see one another, and that I may make the up sonne in lawe, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemas went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came unto Ptolemas in the hundredth threecore and two yere.

58 Where king Alexander met him, and hee gave unto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemas with great glory, as the manner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander unto Jonathan, that he should come and mete him.

60 So he went honourably unto Ptolemas, and there he met the two kings, & gave them great presents of silver & golde, and to their friends, and found favour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine pestilent fellows of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, & clothe him in purple: and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him.

63 And said unto his yinces, Go with him into the middes of the cite, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honour, and wrote hyote him among his chiefe friends, & made

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladnesse.

86 So Jonathan reuocated the hoste from thence, and camped by Bsalon, where the men of the citie cause footy, and met him with great honour.

67 In the hundredth thysse, and fiftie pere came Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus, from Creta into his fathers land.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great spoles.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, he was very joye, & returned vnto Antiochia.

88 And when king Alexander heard these things, he began to be grieved for Jonathan more honor, and sent him a collar of gold, as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of the kinges blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the boyders thereof in possession.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour of Coelospia, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Iamnia, & sent vnto Jonathan the hie Priest, saying,

CHAP. XI.

70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why dost thou bait me the selfe against vs in the mountaines?

The difference betwene Ptolemus and Alexander his sons in lawe. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigne after the death of Ptolemus. 21 Simon besieged of Jonathan. 42 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie againe. 54 Tryphon cometh Antiochia against Demetrius.

71 Now then if I trust in thine own strength, come downe to vs into the plaine felde, and there let vs trie the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

And the king of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sand that lieth vpon y sea shoie, and many ships, and went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdom of Alexander, and to tope it vnto his owne Realme.

72 Like and leaue who I am, and they shall take up part: and they shall tell thee that your force is not able to stande before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twice chased in their owne land.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friends by waydes, & was let into the citie, and men came forth to meete him: for king Alexander had commanded them to inerte him, because he was his father in lawe.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of hoysmen and footemen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

3 Now when he entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bandes & garisons in euery citie.

74 When Jonathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, hee was moued in his minde: wherefore he chose thine thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, & Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

4 And when he came nere to Azotus, they shewed him a Temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, & the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies call a broad, & them that he had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where he should passe.

75 And he pitched his tentes at Joppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was in Joppe.

5 And then tolde the king what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him kill without the king helde his peace.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wanne Joppe.

6 And Jonathan met the king with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lap there.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke thre thousand hoysmen to a great hoste of foote men, and went towarde Azotus, as though he would goe forward, and came immediately into the plaine field, because he had so many hoysmen, and put his trust in them.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with a king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Jerusalem.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arriere band.

8 So king Ptolemus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Belucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand hoysmen behinde them in ambush.

9 And sent Ambassadors vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betwene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdom.

80 And Jonathan knewe that there was an ambushment behinde him, & though they had compassed in his hoste, & shot barres at the people from the morning to the evening,

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slayne me.

81 Yet he people it out as, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their hoyses were wearp.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his realme.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, & set them against the bande: but the hoyses were wearp, & he discomfited them, & they fled: so the hoysmen were scattered in the field.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, & forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly known.

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselves.

13 The Ptolemies came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia and of Egypt.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the citie round about it, and tooke their spoles, & burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, and Ptolemies brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.
16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia: there to be defended: so Ptolemies was exalted.
17 And Zabbai the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it unto Ptolemies.
18 But the third day after, King Ptolemies died: and then that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.
19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundredth threescore and seventh year.
20 In the same time, gathered Jonathan them that were in Judea, to lay siege unto the castle, which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.
21 Then went there certaine bugodly persons which hated their owne people, unto King Demetrius, and tolde him that Jonathan had besieged the castle.
22 So when he heard it, he was angry, & immediate came unto Ptolemies, and wrote unto Jonathan, that he should lay no more siege unto it, but that he should meet him, & speak wth him as Jerusalem is in all halfe.
23 Nevertheless when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to bring to him the chiefe of the elders of the Elders of Israel, & the Priests, and put himselfe in danger.
24 And toke with him silver and golde, and apparel, and diuers presents, and went to Ptolemies unto the king, and found favour in his sight.
25 And though certaine bugodly men of his owne nation had made complaints upon him, 26 Yet the king increased him as his predecessors had done, & promoted him in the sight of all his friends.
27 And confirmed him in the his Priesthood with all the honourable things; that he had before, and made him his chiefe friend.
28 Jonathan also desired the king, that he would make Judea free to the three governments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Jonathan promised him the hundredth threescore.
29 Whereunto the king consented, and gave Jonathan to king of the same & confirmed it
in his sight.
30 KING DEMETRIUS VS. unto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.
31 We sende upon thee a copie of a letter, which we did write unto our cousin Antiochus our cousin son, that he should let the Iewes have the King Demetrius unto Antiochus the father, who is godly.
32 For the Iewes which are who keepe the nation of the Iewes keepe unto us, and for their good will to us, we are determined not to do them good.
33 Therefore we assigne to them the countrey of Judea with the three governments, Samaria, and Idumea, and Samaria the which are added unto Judea from the countrey of Syria, and all that appertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concerning the houses which the king buildeth for himselfe, both for the houses of the priests, and for the houses of the priests.
34 For the other things appertaining unto us of the tribes of Iudaea, which were due unto us, & the custodians of the land, and of the temples, which were due unto us, we will charge them of all that is due unto us.

35 And nothing more of this I have written from this time forth, and for ever.
36 Therefore let that ye make a copie of these things, and deliver it unto Jonathan, that it may be set by upon the high wall in an open place, in the city of Jerusalem.
37 After this when Demetrius the king sawe that his brother was alive, and that no fellowe was made against him, he sent away all his hoste, except such to his owne place, except certaine builders of strangers, to build his house: from the day of the present:
wherefore all his fathers house hated him.
38 Now was there one Tryphon, who had bene of Alexanders parte afore, while he was alive:
he had the hoste in his hand against Demetrius, he went to Jonathan the Arabian, that brought by Antiochus a sonne of Alexander, and lay upon him, to deliver him this sonne Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers stead: he tolde him also what great enill Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.
39 Also Jonathan went unto King Demetrius to bring him to which were at Jerusalem at Jerusalem, and those that were Antiochus friends: for they sought against Jonathan.
40 So Demetrius sent unto Jonathan, saying, I will not owe thee these things for the city and the nation, but I will stand by thee,
I will support thee and thy nation.
41 Now therefore thou shalt do me a pleasure, if thou wilt send him to his house, for all this art thou to give him me, as I have said.
42 So Jonathan sent him three thousand strong men with their wives, and the same came unto the king to deliver the king from the siege at their countrey.
43 But the king was of the city, even an hundredth, and twenty thousand men, gathered them together in the middle of the city, and looked upon the king.
44 But the king sawe the power, and the city was kept by the strength of the city, and he was to fight.
45 Then the king called to his Iewes for help, which came to him all together, and were about threescore the city.
46 And the same day an hundredth thousand, and set free upon the city, and the Iewes people in that day and delivered the king.
47 So when the king sawe that the Iewes had gotten the upper hand of the city, and that they themselves were in danger of their people: they made supplication unto the king, saying, 48 Grant us grace, and let the Iewes cease from fighting us and the city.
49 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace, & the Iewes were greatly honoured before the king, & before all the Iewes in his kingdom, and they came againe to Jerusalem with great joy.
50 Therefore Demetrius was late in the daye of his kingdom, and had peace in his land.
51 Nevertheless he died in all that cur-

he spake, and with his speere hit him offe from Jonathan, neir her did he rewarde him according to the benefices which he had done for him, but troubled him very soze.

54 After this returned Tryphon with the young child Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then they gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whome Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who, being wounded turned his backe.

Or, elephanti 56 So Tryphon took the beasts, and wanne Antiochus.

57 And young Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathan, saying, I appoint thee to be the chiefest, and make thee ruler over the foure gouernements, that thou mayest be a friend of the kings.

58 Upon this he sent him golden vessels to be served in, & gaue him leaue to drinke in gold, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of golde.

59 He made his brother Simon also captaine from the coales of Tyre vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went forth, and passed through the cities beyonde the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Alea, wher he was of the cities which he had conquered.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza, wher they of Gaza shut him out: wherfore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and besieged the city.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Ptolemy king of Egypt, that he would send him some of the souldiers of the towne of the chiefest for hostages, and sent thre into Jerusalem, and sent other of the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard of Demetrius wher he was come into Syria, which was in Galile, with a great host, purposing to drine him out of the countrey.

64 He came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Bethan, and fought against it a long season, and he shut it up.

66 So they beset him: but he gave peace with him, which he graunted them, and after that he sent them from thence, alio to take the city, and he a garison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his host came to the water of Genesar, and battin in the morning came to the place of Azot.

Or, heathen. 68 And behold, the hostes of the strangers met him in the plaine, & had layed ambushes for him in the countreines.

69 Jonathan and they fought against them, the ambushes shot out of their bowes, and skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Jonathan fled, and there was no more of them left, except Ptolemy the sonne of Abalonius, and Judas the sonne of Galyph, & Captaine of the host.

Or, Arisla 71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and wept.

72 And turned againe to the city, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 And when his olde men that were fled, lawe this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to followe after: all unto the tentes of Azot, and there they layed.

74 So there were many of the strangers the same day slaine by the sword, and Jonathan turned againe to Jerusalem.

CHAPTER. XII.

Jonathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, & to the people of Sparta, to renewe their covenant of friendship.

1 Jonathan wrote saying that the time was come for him, that he might see them, and that he might see them, and that he might see them, and that he might see them.

2 He sent letters also vnto the Spartians, and to other places for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entered into the Senate, & saide, Jonathan the high Priest, and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renewe friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romaines gaue them free passage, that men should leade them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians.

6 Jonathan the high Priest, and the nation of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians, and to their king.

7 Wherefore we have sent vnto you the high Priest, from whome, which then raised among you, that you would be our benefactors, as therfore here vnder written is.

8 And thus we intreated the ambassadours, that they should mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 Jonathan the high Priest, and the nation of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians, and to their king.

10 And thus we intreated the ambassadours, that they should mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

11 And thus we intreated the ambassadours, that they should mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

12 And thus we intreated the ambassadours, that they should mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

13 And thus we intreated the ambassadours, that they should mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

14 And thus we intreated the ambassadours, that they should mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

15 And thus we intreated the ambassadours, that they should mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

18 And now ye shall do vs a pleasure to giue vs an answer of these thyngs.

19 And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the king of Sparta sent vnto Sniab.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Sniab the his Priest semeth greting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall do well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs, we haue written vnto you, that your cattell & goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue we commanded to be shewed vnto you.

24 I Nowe when Jonathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afoze,

25 He went from Ierusalem, and met them in the lande of Iamath: for hee came thither not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And he sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe, and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore, when it was come downe, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, & to be in armes ready to fight all the night,

28 And when the aduersaries heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, & trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled as wasp.

29 Nevertheless Jonathan and his companie knewe it not till the morning: for they saue the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed vpon them, but he could not ouerake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutheris.

31 So Jonathan twiled to the Arabians, which were called Nabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoyle.

32 He proceeded further also, and came vnto Darnasus, & went throught all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went fourth, and came to Micaion and to the next holdes, departing vnto Joppe, and waime it.

34 For he heard that they would deliuer the holde to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 After this came Jonathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to build by the strong holdes in Iudea,

36 And to make the walles of Ierusalem higher, & to make a great mount betwixt the cattell and the cite, for to separate it from the eirie, that it might be alone, and that men should neither see, nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build by the cite: for part of the wall vnder the dyke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphetatha.

38 Simon also set up a dila in Sepheta, and made it strong with gates and barres.

39 In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to be crowned when he had slaine the King Antiochus.

40 But he was afraid that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore hee went about to take Jonathan, and to kill him: so he departed, & came vnto Bethph.

41 Then went Jonathan forth against him to the battell with foure thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethph.

42 But when Tryphon saw that Jonathan came with so great an host, he durst not lay hand vpon him.

43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his frendes, and gaue him rewardes, and commanded his men of warre to bee as obedient vnto him as to himselfe.

44 And said vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trouble, seeing there is no warre betwixt vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, & chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Iudolamias: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holdes, and the other garisons: and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I reigne, and depart for this in the cause of my coming.

46 Jonathan belieued him, & did as he said, and sent away his host, which went into the land of Iuda.

47 And returned but six & thousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand vnto Galile, and one thousand with him selfe.

48 Nowe as soon as Jonathan entered into Iudolamias, the other Iudolamias thre the gates, and tooke him, & slew all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footmen, and horsemen into Galile, & into the great plaine, to destroy all Jonathans companie.

50 But when they knew that Jonathan was taken, and slaine, and shew that they were with him, they encouraged one another, & came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon the, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meane all they came into the lande of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, & all Iuda made great lamentation.

53 For at the heahten that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they sayde, Howe haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and take out their memours from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

After Jonathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine.

17 Tryphon, taking his children, and money for the redemption of Jonathan, killeth him and his children. 38 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the realme.

36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 He possesseth the towre of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

1 Now when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the lande of Iuda, and to destroy it,

2 And sawe the people was in great trembling and feare, hee came vnto Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Ye knowe

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any tyme of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

16 Wherefore send now an hundred talents of silver, & his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten sooth, hee will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Netheless Simon knewe þ he dissimuled in his wordes, yet commanded hee the money and children to be deliuered vnto him, least he should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel.

18 Who might haue said, Because he sent him money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So hee sent the children and an hundred talents: but he dissimuled, and would not let Jonathan go.

21 Now they that were in the castell, sent messengers vnto Terpyphon, that he should make haste to come by the wilderness, and to send them victualles.

22 So Terpyphon made ready all his hostes men: but the same night fell a very great snowe, so that hee came not, because of the snow: but hee remoued and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when he came nere to Balthana, hee slew Jonathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Terpyphon returned, and went into his 25 Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Mobia his fathers cite.

26 And al Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, & mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon þ sepulchre of his father & his brethren, a building high to looke vnto of heauen alone behind and before,

28 And set vp seven pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren,

29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetual memoire, and carned cyppes beside the armes, that they might be seene of men sailing in the sea.

34 Wheresoeuer Simon chose certaine men and sent them to King Demetrius, þ hee would discharge the land: for all Terpyphons doings were robberies.

35 Wheresupon Demetrius þ king answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner,

36 DEMETRIUS the king vnto Simon the high Priest, and the friend of kings, and to the Elders, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

38 So the things that we haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holdes which ye haue builded, shalbe your owne.

40 And they that are meete among you to be written with our men, let them bee written by, that there may be peace betwene vs.

41 Thus the pike of the deathen was taken from Israel in the hundredth & seventyth yere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, & publike instruments, IN THE FIRST yere of Simon, the high and chiefe Priest, gouernour and prince of the Iewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where he set vp an engine of warre, & approached nere the cite, and beat it downe, and toke it.

44 So they þ were in the engine, lept into the cite, & there was great trouble in the cite.

45 In so much that the people of the cite rent their clothes, & climed by vpon the walles with

with their wives, & children, and cried with a loud voice, beseeching Simon to graunt them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickedness, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, & would fight no more against them, but put them out of the cite, and censed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entered thereunto with psalmes and thanksgiving.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set such men in it as kept the lawe, and fortified it, & builded there a dwelling place for him selfe.

49 Nowe, when they in the castell at Ierusalem were kept, that they coule not come forth nor go into the countrey, neyther dye nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were furnished to death,

50 In so much that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he graunted them, & put them out from thence, and censed the castell from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the thre and twentie day of the second moneth, in the hundredth seuentie and one yeere, they entered into it with thanksgiving, & branches of paimetrees, and with harpes, and with cyntales, & with viols, and with psalmes, and songs, because the great enemye of Israel was overcome.

52 And he ordered that the same day should be kept euer yeere with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castell where he dwelt him selfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeinge John his sonne was now a man, he made him capitaine of all the hostes, and caused him to dwell in Gazaris.

CHAP. xliij.

1 Demetrius is overcome of Asclepias. 2. Simon beinge captain, there is great quietnesse in Israel. 3. The agreement of friendship with the Romans, and with the people of Sparta is renewed.

1 In the hundredth, seuentie & two yeere gathered king Demetrius his hostes, and departed into Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Ariaces the king of Media and Media heard, that Demetrius was entered within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him alive.

3 So he went, & overcame the armye of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Ariaces, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon lived: for he sought the wealth of his nation: therefore worse they glad to haue him for their ruler, & to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon also wanne the cite of Aspet to his great honour to be an haven towne, & made it an entrance vnto the sea of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 He gathered by many of their people that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, & the castell, which he censed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him.

8 So that euerie man filled his grounde in peace, and the land gaue her frutes, and the trees gaue their fruite.

9 The Elders sat in the open places, & consulted all together for the common wealth, and the young men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 He wounded brailes for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowned vnto the ende of the world.

11 He made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfitte myth and ioy.

12 For euerie man sat vnder his vine, & the fig trees, & there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in hand to fight against them: for then the kings were overcome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: he was diligent to see the lawe kept, and he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuarie, & increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romanes heard, and the Spartians had knowledge that Jonathan was dead, they were very ioy.

17 But when they heard, that Simon his brother was made hee Priest in his trade, and howe hee had wonne the lande againe with the cities in it,

18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renewe the friendship and boude of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Jerusalem, & this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent.

20 THE SENATORS & cite of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Iudices, and to the residue of the people of the Jewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, cryed vs of your glory & honour, we were glad of their coming.

22 And we registered their ambassage in the publike records in this maner, NYMENEVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Antigater the sonne of Iason the Jewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renewe amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should be honourable intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should be registered in the publike records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this, Simon sent Aumenius to Rome, with a great shield of gold of a thousand pounde weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people understood, they said, What thanks shall we recompense as gaue vnto Simon and his children?

26 For hee and his brethren, and the house of his father haue established Israel, and overcome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Zion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eighth and thirtieth day of the moneth of Chislev in the hundredth, seuentie and two yeere, in the third yeare of Simon the high Priest.

Or, Jerusale
lem.

28 In Samerim in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the generous of the nation, and of the elders of the countrey, we would signifie unto you, that many battels haue bene fought in our countrey.

29 Wherem Simon the sonne of Mattathias (come of the phylony of Iarib) and his brethren put them selues in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuarie, and Lawe might be maineined, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Jonathan gathered his nation together, and became their high Priest, and is laid with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inhabited their countrey, & destroyed their land, and lay their handes on their Sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant me of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 He fortified also the cities of Iudea, & Bethsura that lyeth vpon the borders of Iudea (where the abundance of their enemies lay sometime) & set there a garrison of the Jewes.

34 And he fortified Ioppe, which lyeth vpon the sea, & Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus, (where the enemies dwelt afore) & there he placed the Jewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reparacion thereof.

35 Above toper the people sawe the faithfullnes of Simon, & to what glory he thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because he had done all these thinges, and for the byghthenesse & fidelitie that he had kept to his nation, and that sought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered well by him: so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, & they also which were in the city of Iudah at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they were distressed all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set the Jewes in it, and fortified it, for the assistance of the land, and cities, and raptured by the walles of Ierusalem.

38 And King Demetrius constituted him in his high Priesthood for this cause.

39 And made him one of his friends, & gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Idonians called the Jewes their friends and confederates, & that they honourably receiued Simons ambassadours.

41 And that the Jewes, and Priests consented, that Simon should be their prince and high Priest perpetually, till God raptured up the true Prophet.

42 And that he should be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and to set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the forrestes, and that shoulde make provision for the holp thinges.

43 And that he should be obeyed of every man, and that all the writings in the countrey shoulde be made in his name, and that hee should be clothed in purple, & weare gold,

44 And that it shoulde not be lawfull for any of the people or Priests to breake any of these thinges, or to withstand his wordes, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of golde.

45 And if any did contrary to these thinges, or bryake any of them, hee should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it shoulde be done to Simon according vnto these wordes.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the captaine, and the Prince of the Jewes, and of the Priests, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commanded to set by this writing in tables of brasse, & to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place.

49 And that a copie of the same shoulde be layed up in the treasure, that Simon & his sonnes might haue it.

C H A P. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romans write letters vnto Kings and nations in the defence of the Jewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his covenant.

1 MY younger King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the ples of the sea, vnto Simon the Priest, & prince of the Jewes, and to all the nation, containing these wordes, ANTIOCHVS the King vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting. For so much as certaine pestilent men haue blurred the kingdom of our fathers, I am purposed to chalenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared myselfe of warre.

2 That I may get thowse the countrey, and be auenged of them, which haue destroyed the countrey, and walled many cities in the Realme.

3 Now therefore I do confirme vnto the all the liberties, whereof all the Kingdome of Iudiths haue discharged themselves, at the paines, to get of thee haue released thee.

4 And I geue thee leave to come meane of thine owne stampe within the countrey.

5 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuarie be free, and that all the weapons, that thou hast prepared, and the forrestes, which thou hast builded, and kept in thine handes, shal be thine.

6 And all that is due vnto the King, and all that shal be due vnto the King, I forgive it thee, from this time forth for evermore.

7 And when we haue obtremed our kingdom, we will give thee, and the nation & the temple great honour, so that your honoy shal be knowne throughout the world.

8 I In the hundredth, thientie and foure yere, went Antiochus into his fathers lande, and all the bandes came together vnto him, so that fewe were left with Tryphon.

9 So the King Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Doya, which lyeth by the sea side.

10 For he sawe that troubles were towarde him,

- him, and that the armie had forsaken him.
- 13 Then called Antiochus against Doza with an hundred and twentie thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.
- 14 So he compassed the citie about, and the shippes came by the sea. Thus they pressed the citie by land, and by sea, in so much that they suffered no man to go in nor out.
- 15 In the meane season came Annemus, and his companie from Rome, having letters written unto the kings & countreies, wherein were contained these wordes,
- 16 LVCIVS the Consul of Rome unto king Ptolemeus sendeth greeting.
- 17 The ambassadoys of the Jewes are come unto us as our friends and confederates from Simon the hie Priest, & from the people of the Jewes to renew friendship, and p bond of loue,
- 18 Who haue brought a shield of gold weying a thousand pound.
- 19 Wherefoe we thought it good to write unto the kings and countreies, that they shoulde not goe about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their citie, nor their countrey, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.
- 20 And we were content to receiue of them the shield.
- 21 If theretofore there be any pestilent fellows fled from their countrey unto you, deliuer them unto Simon the hie Priest, & hee may punish them according to their owne law.
- 22 The same thinge were written to Demetrius the king, and to Artalus, and to Archates, and to Alciaces,
- 23 And to all countreies, as to Samplames, and to them of Sparta, & to Delus, & to Rhindus and to Sicion, & to Caria, & to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Ircia, & to Halicarnassus, and to Iohodis, and to Iohaelis, and to Coos, and to Sidon, and to Coisina, and to Gindon, and to Cyprius, and to Cyrene.
- 24 And then sent a copie of them to Simon the hie Priest.
- 25 So Antiochus the king camped against Doza the second time euer ready to take it, & made diuers engines of warre, & kept Tryphon in, that he could neither go in nor out.
- 26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chesem men to helpe him with silver and golde, and much furniture.
- 27 Nevertheless, he would not receiue the, but bade all the countrey, which hee had made him aske, and withioleu himselfe fro him.
- 28 And sent unto him Athenobius one of his friends to continue with him, saying, We withold Toppe, and Gazara with the castell that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my Irealme.
- 29 Whose boyders pe haue destroyed and done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.
- 30 Wherefoe now deliuer the citie, which pe haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that pee haue rule ouer without the boyders of Iudea.
- 31 As els giue me for them five hundred talents of silver, and for p harme that pe haue done, and for the tributes of the places other five hundred talents: if not, we will come, and fight against you.

- 32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when he sawe the honour of Simon, and the cupbord of golde and silver plate, and so great preparation, he was astonished, and told him the kings message.
- 33 Then answered Simon, & sayde unto him, We haue neither taken other mens landes, nor witholden that which appertieneth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certaine time.
- 34 But when we had occasion, we recovered the inheritance of our fathers.
- 35 And whereas thou requirest Toppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, & thojow our countrey, yet will we giue an hundred talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word,
- 36 But turned againe angrie unto the king, and tolde him all these wordes, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene: and the king was very angrie.
- 37 In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship unto Orthosias.
- 38 Then the king made Cendebeus captainne of the sea coast, and gave him bands of footemen and horsemen.
- 39 And commanded him to remoue the hoste towardes Iudea, and to builde by Ecbion, & to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.
- 40 So Cendebeus came unto Jamnia, & began to urge the people, & to invade Iudea, & to take the people prisoners, & to slaine them.
- 41 And he built by Ecbion, where he set horsemen & garrison, that they might make out robes by the waies of Iudea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

- 1 Cendebeus the captainne of Antiochus host is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemeus the sonne of Antiochus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banquet. 25 Iohn killeth them that lie in wait for his life.
- 1 Then came Iohn by Gazara, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.
- 2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Judas and Iohn, & sayde unto them, I and my brethren, & my fathers house, haue euer fro our youth unto this day sought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and we haue deliuered Israel often times.
- 3 But I am now old, and pe be Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be ye theretofore in stead of me, and my brother, and goe forth & fight for our nation, the helpe of heauen be wth you.
- 4 So he chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Iohditt.
- 5 In the morning they arose, & went into the plaine field: and behold, a mygthie great host came against them both of footmen, & horsemen: but there was a river betwixt them.
- 6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when he sawe that the people was afraid to go ouer the river, he went ouer first himselfe, & the me seeing him, passed through after him.
- 7 Then he demided his men, and set the horsemen

- men in the mids of the footemen.
- 8 For their enemies hostemen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gate them to the fourthe.
- 9 Then was Judas Johns brother wounded: but John followed after them, till he came to Cedion, which Cendebeus had built.
- 10 Also they fled vnto the towres, that were in the fieldes of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousand men of them: so he returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.
- 11 Now in the siele of Jericho was Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus made capitaine, and he had abundance of silver and golde.
- 12 For hee had married the daughter of the hie Priest.
- 13 Therefore hee wared proude in his minde, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.
- 14 Nowe as Simon went about through the cities of the countrey, and studied carefully for them, he came downe to Jericho with Balthazas, & Judas his sonnes in the hundredth, seventie and seven pere, in the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.
- 15 Then the sonne of Abubus received them by treason into a litle holde, called Dorchus, which hee had builde, where he made them a great banke, and had hid men there.
- 16 So when Simon & his sonnes had made good chace, Ptolemus stood by with his men, & took the weapns, and entred in to Simon in the banke house, & slew him with his two sonnes and certaine of his seruants.
- 17 Whereby he committed a great villeny, & recompensed euill for good.
- 18 Then wrote Ptolemus these thinges and sent to the King, that he might send him an hoste to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the countrey with the cities.
- 19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take John, and sent letters vnto the capitaines to come to him, and he would giue them silver, and gold and rewardes.
- 20 And to Jerusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.
- 21 But one ran before, and told John in Gazara, that his father, and his brethren were slaine, & that Ptolemus had sent to slay him.
- 22 When he heard this, hee was sore astonished, & laid handes of them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for he knew that they went about to kill him.
- 23 Concerning other thinges of John, both of his warres, and of his noble actes (wherein he behaved himselfe manfully) of the building of wallies which he made, and other of his doedes,
- 24 Beholde, they are written in the chronicles of his Priesthode, from the time that he was made hie Priest after his father.

CHAP. I.

An epistle of the Jewes that dwelt at Jerusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thanks for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Nemeas.

I He brethren the Jewes, which be at Jerusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethren the Jewes, that are throughout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.

2 God be gracious vnto you & remember his covenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob his faithfull seruants, And giue you all an heart, to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

4 And open your heartes in his Law, & commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, & be reconciled with you, & neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundredth, thre score and ninth pere, we Jewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence he came vnto vs in those peres, after that Jason, and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, and shedde innocent blood, Then we prayed vnto the Lord, & were heard: we offered sacrifices & fine flower, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

9 Now therefore keepe ye the dayes of the feast of the tabernacles in the moneth Chassir.

10 In the hundredth, four score & eight pere, the people that was at Jerusalem, & in Iudea, and the counsell and Judas, vnto Antiochus King Ptolemus matter, which is of the stocke of the anoynted priestes, and to the Jewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 Inasmuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thank him highly, as though we had overcome the King.

12 For hee brought them into Persia by heapes, that fought against the holy cite.

13 For albeit the capitaine, and the armie, that was with him, seemed invincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Aneas, by the deceit of Aneas Priest.

14 For Antiochus, as though he would dwell with her, came thither, her, and his friends with him, to receiue monney under the title of a dowrie.

15 But when the Priestes of Aneas had laide it forth, & he was entred with a small company vnto the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in.

16 And by opening a ynnie doore of the vault, they cast stones, as it were thider vpon the capitaine and his, and hating buynd them in pieces, they cut off their heads and shewe them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in al thinges, which hath deliuered vs by the wicked.

18 Whereas we are now purposed to keepe the the purification of the Temple upon the five and twentieth day of the month Chæfen, we thought it necessarie to certifie you thereof, that ye also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was given vs when Jeremias offered sacrifice, after that he had buile the Temple, and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away unto Babilonia, the Philistes, which sought the honour of God, tooke the fire of the altar pyramide, and hid it in an hollowe pit, which was by in the bottome, and therein they kept it, so that the place was unknowne unto euery man.

20 Nowe after many yeeres when it pleased God that Jeremias shoulde be sent from the king of Babilonia, he sent of the posteritie of those Philistes, which had hid it, to fetch the fire, and as they tolde vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commaunded he them to diuine it by, and so bying it: and when the things appertaining to the sacrifices were brought, Jeremias commaunded the Philistes to spinkle the wood, and the things layde thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the Sunne shone, which asfoye was hid in the cloude, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man maruelled.

23 Nowe the Philistes, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Jonathan began, and the other answered them thus.

24 And the prayer of Jeremias was after this maner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which art fearefull, and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious king,

25 O help liberal, onely iust and almightie and enrichting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, and hast chosen the fathers, and sanctified them,

26 Reueine the sacrifice for thy whole people of Israel, and preserue thine owne portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together, that are scattered from vs: deliuer them that serue among the heathen: looke vpon them which are despised, and abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with wide doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place," as Apocles hath spoken.

30 And the Philistes sang Psalmes thereunto.

31 Nowe when the sacrifice was consumed, Jeremias commaunded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light, that shined from the altar.

33 So when this matter was knowne, it was tolde the king of Babilonia, that in the place where the Philistes, which were led away, had hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Jeremias & his company had purified the sacrifices.

34 The king tryed out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that shal king fauoured, he gave and bestowed many gifts.

36 And Jeremias called the same place * Ephraim, which is to say, purification; but many men call it Shephthar.

C H A P. II.

Howe Jeremias hid the tabernacle, the Arke, and the altar in the hill. 23 Of the fise booke of Iason contained in one.

1 It is found also in the writings of Jeremias the Prophet, that he commaunded them, which were caried away, to take fire, as was declared, & as the Prophet commaunded them that were led into captiuitie.

2 * Giving them a lawe that they shoulde not forget the commandments of the Lord, and that they shoulde not erre in their mindes, when they sawe images of golde and siluer, with their ornaments.

3 These and such other things commaunded he them, and exhorted them that they shoulde not let the Lawe goe out of their hearts.

4 It is written also, howe the Prophet by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the tabernacle and the arke, and followe him: and when he came by into the mountaine where Apocles went by, and sawe the heritage of God,

5 Jeremias went forth, and found an hollowe caue, whererein he layde the Tabernacle, and the Arke, and the altar of incense, & so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of those that followed him, to marke the place: but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Jeremias perceined, he reuoyced them, saying, As for that place, it shalbe unknowne, untill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercie be shewed.

8 Then shal the Lord shew them these things, and the maiestie of the Lord shal appeare and the cloude also, as it was shewed vnder Apocles, & as * when Salomon desired, that the place might be honourably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that he, being a wise man, offered the sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

10 * And as when Apocles prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the sacrifice: so, when Salomon prayed, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And Apocles sayd, Because the sinne offering was not eaten, therefore it is consumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight daies.

13 These things also are declared in the writings, & registers of Jeremias, and howe he made a librarie, and howe he gathered the actes of the Kings, & of the Prophets, and the actes of Dauid, and the epistles of the Kings concerning the holy gifts.

14 Euen so Judas also gathered all things that came to passe by the waies that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefose if ye haue neede thereof, sende some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Where as we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, & ye shal doe wel, if ye keepe the same daies.

17 We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all and the kingdome, and the Priest

of the Lord,

a That is to say, a shining, it is also called Nephi, or Nephthar, which is, a cleansing.

Deut. 30.5. 18 As he promised in the lawe, will shortly haue mercie vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath saved vs from great perils, and hath cleared the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Maccabeus, and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21 And þ manifest signes, that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stood for the Iewes religion: (for though they were but fewe, yet they ranne through whole countries, and pursued the barbarous armies,

22 And repaired þ Temple that was renewed throughout all the world, and deliuered the cite, & established the lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Royde was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie)

23 We will assaye to abridge in our volume those things, that Iason the Epienian hath declared in his booke.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and þ difficultie that they haue that woulde be occupied in the rehearall of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 We haue indououred, that they that would reade, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easely keepe them in memoire, and that whosoever read them, might haue profite.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweat, and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens comoditie, hath no final labour: so we also for many mens sakes are verie well content to vndertake this great labour.

28 Learning to the author the exact diligence of euery particular, we will labour to goe forwarde according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as he that will builde a newe house, must provide for the whole building, but he that setteth out the plat or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a storie to enter deeply into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part:

31 But it is permitted to him that will shortly tell, to vse fewe wordes, and to auoide those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the storie, adding thus much to our former wordes, that it is but a scollish thing to abound in wordes besoye the storie, and to be short in the Roie.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the Kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon vndereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26 Hee is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

1 What time as the holy cite was inhabited with all peace, and when the lawes were verie well kept, because of the godlines of Onias the hie Priest, and hated of wickednes,

2 It came to passe that euen the kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great giftes.

3 In so much that Seleucus king of Asia of his owne rents, bare all the costs belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning the iniquitie committed in the cite.

5 And when he could not overcome Onias, he gave him to Apollonius the sonne of Theasreas, which then was gouernour of Coelospia and Idemice,

6 And tolde him that the treasure in Ierusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the pouison of the sacrifices, and þ it were possible that these things might come into the kings hands.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had shewed him of þ money, as it was tolde him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commaundement, to bring him the foresaid money.

8 Immediately Heliodorus took his iourney as though he would visite the cities of Coelospia and Idemice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, and was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the cite, he declared what was determined concerning the money, & shewed the cause of his coming, and asked if these things were so in deed.

10 Then the hie Priest tolde him that there were such things layde vp by the widowes and fatherlesse, 11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked King had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundred talents of siluer, and two hundred of gold.

12 And that it were altogether vnpensible to do this voyaging to them that had committed it of trust to the holines of the place & Temple, which is honoured thowolue the whole world for holmes and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commaundement giuen him, said that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasure.

14 So he appointed a day, & went in to take order for these things: then there was no small grieue throughout the whole cite.

15 For the Priestes set downe before the altar in the Priestes garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a lawe concerning things giuen to be kept, that they shoulde be safely preserved for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, & the changing of his colour declared the sorow of his minde.

17 The man was so wadded in feare & trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorow he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by leaues vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And

19 And the women, girt with sackcloth vnder their beautes, killed the streets, & the virgins that were kept in, ran some to the gates, and some to the walles, and others looked out of the windowes.

20 And all helde by their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sortes, and the expectation of the hie Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the almighty Loyde, that he woulde keepe safe and sure the thinges, which were layed by for those that had persecuted them.

23 Neuerthelesse, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to do, that did he performe.

24 And as he & his souldiers were now there present by the treasure, he that is hie Loyde of the spirites, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come touch him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare, and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them all hoyle with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly habited, and hee ran fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his fore fete, and it seemed that he that sat vpon the hoyle, had harness of golde.

26 Moreover, there appeared two pong men, notable in strength, excellent in beautie, and comely in apparell, which stood by him on either side, & scourged him continually, and gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darkness: but they that were with him, took him by, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus hee that came with so great company, and many souldiers into the sayde treasure, was home out: for he coule not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did know the power of God manifestly, but hee was downe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they praised the Loyd that had honoured his owne place: for the Temple which a litle afore was full of feare and trouble, when the almighty Loyd appeared, was filled with joy and gladnesse.

31 Then straightwaies certaine of Heliodorus friends praised Onias, that he woulde cal vpon him most high to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue by the Chof.

32 So the hie Priest, considering that hie King might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Nowe when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the same pong men in the same clothing appeared, and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, Goe Onias the hie Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Loyde graunted thee thy life.

34 And seeing thou hast bene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had spoken these wordes, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Loyde sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which he graunted him his life, & thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the king.

36 Then testified hee vnto every man of the great workes of God that he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the king asked Heliodorus, who were meete to be sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he sayde,

38 If thou hast any enemy or traitor, send him thither, and thou shalt receive him well scourged, if hee escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a special power of God.

39 For he dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, & defendeth it, and hee beareth and dectroseth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasure.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias, 7 Iason obtaineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the king, 27 And wasty Menelaus disbandd by lye bribing, 34 Onias is slaine traitorously by Andronicus.

1 This Simon noire, of whose name we spake afore, being a bewailer of the money & of his owne naturall country, reported euill of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the minister of the euill.

2 Thus was he bold to call him a traitor, that was so beneficiall to the cite, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that though one that belonged to Simon, murthered were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this conspurition, & that Apollonius, as hee that was the gouernour of Coelosyria & Phenice, did rage, and incited Simons malice,

5 He went to the king not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealthe both priuately and publicly.

6 For he sawe it was not possible, except the king tooke order, to quer matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his follie.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus, called Epiphaneus, tooke the kings doime, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vniuersall meanes to be hie Priest.

8 For hee came vnto the king, & promised him three hundredth and thre score talents of silver, and of an other rent foure score talents.

9 Besides this hee promised him an hundredth and fiftie, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the pouth, and that they woulde haue them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the king had graunted, and he had gotten the superintendence, he began immediately to draw his kinshome to the customes of the Gentiles,

11 And abolished the friendly priuileges of the kings, that the Iewes had set by John, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their Lawes and policies, and brought by newe statutes, and contrary to the Lawe.

12 For hee presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe pong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare battes,

Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Ierusalem among them.

13 So there began a great desire to folowe the maners of the Gentiles, & they tooke up the facious of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Jafon, not the his Priest, but the ungodly person.

14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the service of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haile to be partakers of the wicked expenses at the playe: after the casting of the stone.

In This game was to trie strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the mids, or a piece of metal.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the gloye of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamities came vnto them: for they had then to be their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God: but the same following shall declare their things.

Or, Olympic sports, which were games kept every fifth year.

18 ¶ Nowe when the games that were bled every five yere, were played at Epyno, the king being present,

19 ¶ This wicked Jafon sent from Jerusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundred machines of sluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that carried them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So hee that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were given to the making of galleies.

21 ¶ Nowe Apollonius the sonne of Menelaus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of king Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceived that he was euill affectioned towards his affaires, hee sought his owne assurance, & departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Jerusalem.

22 Where hee was honourably receiued of Jafon, & of the citie, & was brought in with torchlight, and with great shoutings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yere afterwarde Jafon sent Menelaus, the foresayd Symons brother, to beare the money vnto the king, & to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires, whereof hee had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the king, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthode vnto him selfe: for hee gaue three hundred talents of sluer more then Jafon.

Or, common games.

25 So hee gaue the kings letters patents, albeit hee had nothing in him selfe worthy of the his Priesthode, but bare the stomacke of a cruell tyrant, & the wrath of a wilde beast.

26 Then Jafon, which had deccited his owne brother, being deccied by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gaue the dominion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the king, hee tooke none order for it, albeit Sosicrates the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called besoye the king.

29 Nowe Menelaus left his brother Epimachus in his steade in the priesthode, and Sosicrates left Crates which was gouernour of the Egyptians.

b This, of the that measured the court.

30 ¶ Whiles their things were in doing, the Charlians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the kings concubine called Antiochia.

31 Then came the king in all haste, to appeale the businesse, leauing Antiochus a man of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Nowe Menelaus, supposing he had gotten a convenient time, stole certaine beils of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Antiochus: and some hee sold at Cyrus and in the cities therof.

33 Which when Onias knew of a suretie, hee reproued him, and withdiro him selfe into a Sanctuarie at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Antiochus aparte, prayed him to save Onias: to whom hee came to Onias, hee counselled him carefully, giuing him his right hande with an othe: (doubt he suspected him, & perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuarie) so hee flewe him incontinently without any regard of righteousness.

35 For the which cause not onely the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieved, & toke it heauily for the vnrightrous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when he king was come againe from the places about Sicilia, the Iewes were in the citie, and certaine of the Greeces that abhorred the facte also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was loze in his minde, and hee had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled to anger, hee tooke away Antiochus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commanded him to be led throughout the citie, & in the same place where hee had committed the wickednesse against Onias, hee was slaine as a murderer. Thus the Loyde rewarded him his punishment, as hee had deserued.

39 ¶ Nowe when Epimachus had done many wicked deedes in the citie through the counsel of Menelaus, and the huite was sped abroade, the multitude gathered them together against Epimachus: for hee had carried out more much beils of golde.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Epimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vniuulful power, a certaine tyrant being their captaine, who was no lesse decaped in witte then in age.

41 But when they vnderstode the purpose of Epimachus, some gaue stones, some great clubbes, & some cast handbills of dust, which lay by, vpon Epimachus men, & those that invaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe, then killed besides the treasure.

43 For these causes an accusation was layde against against Apelanus.

44 And when the king came to Egypt, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Apelanus, being now convinced, promised to Apolemeus the sonne of Dositheus much money, if he would persuade the king.

46 So Apolemeus went to the king into a court, where as he was to cool himself, and turned the kings minde,

47 In so much that he discharged Apelanus from the accusation (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischief) and condemned those worse men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they should haue bene heard as innocents.

48 Thus were they come punished vniuersally, which followed vpon it matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Egypt hated that wickednesse, and misliked all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the conuersion of them that were in power, Apelanus remayned in authority, increasing in malice, & declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

Of the signes and tokens seen in Ierusalem, 6 Of the end and wickednes of Iason, 11 The pursuit of Antiochus against the Levites. 15 The spoiling of the Temple, 27 Maccabees flee into the wilderness.

1 About the same time Antiochus undertooke his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there seene throughout all the citie of Ierusalem, fourette daies long, hostiliten running in the ayre, with robes of golde, and as bands of hyate men.

3 And as troups of hostiliten set in array, in countering & countering one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of darts, and dialling off swords, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour scene, and harness of all sorte.

4 Therefore every man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now to what there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, and came suddenly vpon the citie, and they that were vpon the walles, being put backe and the citie at length taken,

6 Apelanus fled into a castell, but Iason slew his owne citizens without mercy, not considering that to haue the advantage against his kindredmen is greatest disadvantage, but thought that he had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gate not the superiouritie, but at the last receiued shame for the rewarde of his treason, and went againe like a vagabonde into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this ende of his wicked conuersation, that he was accused before Alexander, the king of the Arabians, & fled from citie to citie, being pursued of every man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in adomination, as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, and was driven into Egypt.

9 Thus he that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Sacerdemonians; thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kindred.

10 And he that had cast many out vnburied, was shewen out him selfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 Now when these things that were done, were declared to the king, he thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore he came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 He commanded his men of warre also, that they should kill and not spare such as they met, & to slay such as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of young men, and olde men, and a destruction of men and women and children, and virgins; and in sautes were murdered.

14 So that within thre daies were slaine foure score thousande, and fourette thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many solde as were slaine.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst go into a most holy Temple of all the world, halting Apelanus that traitour to a kalves, and to his owne countrey, to be his guide,

16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holy vessels, which other kings had giuen for the garnishing, glorie and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So haunte in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not, that God was not a idle word for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in many sinnes, he, as soon as he had come, had suddenly bene punished, & put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whome Seleucus the king sent to view the treasure.

19 But God had not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is a place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it be partaker of a benefices of the Lord, & as it is now forsaken in the way of the Abnegation, so when the great Lord shall be reconciled, it shall be set vp in great worship againe.

21 So when Antiochus had taken eightene hundred talents out of the Temple, he gave him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the drie land, and to walke vpon the sea: such an idle minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to bere a people: at Ierusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in manners more cruel then he that set him there:

23 And at Garizin Antiochus, a with them Apelanus, which was more grievous to the citizens then the other, and was despised full against the Iewes his citizens.

24 He sent also Apollonius a cruel prince, with an armie of two & twentieth thousande, whom he commanded to slay those that were toward mans age, and to sell the women, and the ponger sort.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, he laid by h.iii. peace, peace, and kept their still until the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Jewes keeping the feast, he commaunded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slew all them that were gone forth to the field, and running through the citie with his men armed, he murdered a great number.

27 But Judas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wilderness, and lived there in the mountaines with his companie among the beasts, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, lest they shoulde be partakers of the filthines.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Jewes are compelled to leave the Lawe of God, & The Temple is defiled. 20. The women cruelly punished. 28. The grievous paine of Eleazar.

1 Now long after this, sent the king an olde man of Athens, for to compel the Jewes to transgresse the lawes of the fathers, and not to be governed by the Lawe of God.

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Jerusalem, and to call it the temple of Jupiter Olympius, and that of Carinus, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Jupiter, that keepeth hospitality.

3 This wicked government was soye and grievous unto the people.

4 For the Temple was full of discolition, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which ballied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable & forbidden by the Lawe.

6 Besides was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbathes, not to observe their ancient feastes, nor plainly to confesse him selfe to be a Jewe.

7 In the day of the kings birth they were grievously compelled pay force every moneth to banker, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to go in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of puer.

8 Moreover though the counsel of Ptolemies, they went out a commaundement unto the next cities of the heathen against the Jewes, that the like custome, and banquetting shoulde be kept.

9 And who so would not conforme themselves to the manners of the Gentiles, shoulde be put to death: then might a man have seene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sonnes, whome when they had led round about the citie (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong over the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into denmes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discovered unto Idity, and were burnt together, because that for the reverence of the honorable day they were afraid to helpe them.

12 For as lowe I beseech those which reade this booke, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodness, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doth not long wait for vs, as for other nations, whom he punisheth when they are come to the fullness of their sinnes:

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our sinnes shoulde not be heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he shoulde punish vs.

16 And therefore he neuer withholdeth his mercie from vs: & though he punish with adversity, yet doth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warning unto vs: and now we will come to the declaring of the matter in fewe wordes.

18 Eleazar then one of the principal scribes, an aged man, and of a well favoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But he unwillingly to die gloriously then to live with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and spit it out:

20 As they sought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to live.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banquet, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside privately, & prayed him, that he would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to use, & as he would prepare for himselfe, and dissimble as though he had taken of the things appointed by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice.

22 That in so doing he might be delivred from death, & that for the old friendship that was among them, he would receive this favour.

23 But he began to consider discretely, and as became his age, & the excellencie of his ancient pers, & the honour of his gray haire, whereunto he was come, and his most honest conversation from his childehood, but chiefly the holy Lawe made and given by God: therefore he answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becometh not our age, said he, to dissimble, whereby many young persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourscore yere olde, were now gone to another religion.

25 And so though mine hypocritie (for a little time of a transitory life) they might be deceived by me, and I shoulde procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now delivred from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of Almightye, neither alive nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, and will helpe my selfe such as mine age requirith.

28 And so will leave a notable example for such as be young, to die willingly and courageously for the honorable and holy lawes. And when he had said these wordes, immediately he went to torment.

29 Nowe they that led him, changed the lone which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the wordes that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as he was ready to give the ghost because of the strokes, he sighed and said, The Lord that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might have bene delivered from death, I am scourged & suffer these paines of my body: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

- 31 Even now after this manner ended he his life, leaving his death for an example of a noble courage, & a memorial of vertue, not onely unto pong men, but unto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seven brethren & of their mother.

- 1 I Came to passe also that seven brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the king against the law, to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whippes.

- 2 But one of them, which spake first, said thus, What seekst thou? & what wouldest thou know of vs? we are ready to die, rather then to transgress the lawes of our fathers.

- 3 Then was the king angry, and commanded to beate pannes and cauldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

- 4 And he commanded the tongues of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to slap him and to cut off the utmost parts of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

- 5 Now when he was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to be brought alive to the fire and to fry him in the pannes: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the pannes, & other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to dye courageously, saying in this manner,

- 6 The Lord God doth regarde vs, & in deede taketh pleasure in vs, as Isaiah * declared in þ long wherein he testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his servants.

- 7 So when the first was dead after this manner, they brought the seconde to make him a mocking stocke: & when they had pulled the skinn from the heare over his head, they asked him, if he woulde eate, or he were punished in all the members of the bodie.

- 8 But he answered in his own language, and said, No. Wherefore he was tormented forth with like the first.

- 9 And when he was at the last breath, he said, Thou motherer takest this priser life from vs, but the king of the worlde will rapse vs up, which be for his lawes, in the resurrection of everlasting life.

- 10 After him was the third had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, hee put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his handes boldly.

- 11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for þ law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receive them of him againe.

- 12 Inso much that the king and they which were with him, marvelled at the pong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the pannes.

- 13 Now when he was dead also, they bered and committed the fourth in like manner.

- 14 And when he was now ready to die, he said thus, It is better that we shoulde change this which we might hope for of men, and waite for our hope from God, that we may be raised up againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

- 15 After ward they brought the fift also and committed him,

- 16 Who looked vpon the king, and said, Thou hast power among men, & though thou be a mortall man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

- 17 But abide a while, & thou shalt see his great power, how he wil torment the & thy seede.

- 18 After him also they brought the sixt, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondered at for our owne sakes, because wee haue offended our God.

- 19 But think not thou, which undertaketh to fight against God, that thou shalt be unpunished.

- 20 But the mother was maruailous aboue all other, and worthy of honorable memorie: for while she saw her seven sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffred it in a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lords.

- 21 Then, she exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, & being full of courage and wisdom, stirred by her womanly affectiōs with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

- 22 I cannot tel how ye came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body,

- 23 But doubtlesse the Creator of the worlde, which foyned the birth of man, and founde out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercie giue you breath and life againe, as penobee regardeth not your owne selues, for his lawes sake.

- 24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the inuiolable wordes, while the pongst was yet alive, hee did reioyce that hee had not onely with wordes, but also vnto him by an oth that he woulde make him rich and wealthy, if he woulde forsake þ lawes of his fathers, and that hee woulde take him as a friend, and giue him officers:

- 25 But when the pong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the king called his mother, and exhorted that she woulde counsel the pong man to saue his life.

- 26 And when he had exhorted her with many wordes, she promised him that she woulde counsel her sonne.

- 27 So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruel tyrant to scorn, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue piete vpon me, that bare thee nine monthes in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeres, & nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

- 28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen & the earth, & all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, & so was mankind made likewise.

- 29 Feare not this hangman, but shewe thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receive thee in mercie with thy brethren.

- 30 While she was yet speaking these wordes, the pong man said, Whom waite ye for? I wil not obey the kings commandment: but I wil obey the commandment of þ law that was giuen vnto our fathers by Isaiah.

31 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Iſebryewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For we suffer these things, because of our finnes.

33 But though the living Lord be angrie with vs a litle while for our chastering and correction, yet will he be reconciled with his owne seruantes.

34 But thou, O man without religion and most wicked of all men, list not thy selfe up in vaime, which art puffed up with vncertaine hope, and listest thine handes against the seruantes of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of almightie God, which seeth all things.

36 App brethren that haue suffered a litle paine, are now vnder the diuine covenant of everlasting life: but thou though the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my bodie and life for the lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he will soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mapst confesse, that he is the onely God.

38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruely against him then the others, and tooke it grievously, that he was mocked.

40 So he also dyed holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this note be p enough spoken concerning the bankets, and erreine cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Judas gathereth together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas rebreatheth his soldiers to confidence. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Iewes give thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight, dedding part of the spoyle vnto the fatherles and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor fleeth vnto Antiochus.

1 Then Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the towne, and called their kinsfolkes and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion, and assembled six thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that he would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pittie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men.

3 And that he would haue compassion vpon þe cite that was destroyed, & almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voyce of the blood that cryed vnto him.

4 And that he would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that he would shewe his hatred against the wicked.

5 Nowe when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withstand þe heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore he came at dwawes, and burnt by the towne and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slawe many of the enemies.

7 But specially he vsed the nightes to make such assaults, in so much that the hyuts of his manlynesse was tryed euery where.

8 So when Philip sawe that this man increased by litle and litle, & that things prospered vnto him for þe most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelosyria & Phenice, to helpe him in the kings busynesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gave him of all nations of þe heathen no lesse then twentie thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and tomed with him Gogias a captain, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king of two thousand talents, which the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on þe sea coast, prouoking the to be Iewes to be their seruantes, promising to sell foure score and ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of almightie God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knew of Nicanors coming, he tolde them that were with him, of the coming of the armie.

13 Nowe were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousness of God, but fled away, & abode not in þe place.

14 But the other solde all that they had left, and brought the Loyde together, to deliue them from that wicked Nicanor, which had solde them, or euer he came nere them.

15 And though he would not doe it for their sakes, yet for the covenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his me together, about six thousand, exhorting them not to be afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against the vnrightheously, but to fight manly.

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniuilly done to the holy place, and the crueltie done to the cite by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they said he, trust in their weapons & boldnes: but our confidence is in þe almightie God, which at a becke can both destroe them that come against vs, & all the world.

19 Whereouer he aduouised them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when they perished an hundred and foure score, and five thousand vnder Sennacherib.

20 And of þe battel that they had in Babylon against the Galatians, how they came in all to the battell eight thousand, & foure thousand Macedonians: & when the Macedonians were aduouised, & eight thousand slawe an hundred & twentie thousand through the helpe that was given them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefites.

21 Thus when he had made them bolde with these wordes, and ready to die for the lawes and the countrey, he deuised his armie into fourte partes,

22 And made his owne brethren capitaines ouer the armie, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph, and Jonathan, giuing eche one his owne hundred men.

23 And when Eleazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the forerwarde, ioynd with sicanoz,

24 And becaule the Almightie helped them, they slew aboue nine thousand men, and wounded & maimed the most part of sicanoz hoste, and so put all to flight,

25 And tooke the money from those that came to his them, and purified them farre: but lacking time, they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoiled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks and praising the Lorde wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, & poured upon them the beginning of his mercie.

28 And after the Sabbath, * they distributed the spoiles to the sick, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and deuised the residue among themselves and their children.

29 When this was done, & they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the mercifull Lorde to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Accubus, and slew aboue twenty thousand, & was he & strong holds, & deuised great spoiles, and gaue an equal portion vnto the sick, & to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Whomever they gathered their weapons together, and laid them by diligently in convenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoiles to Jerusalem.

32 They slew also Apollarches a most wicked person, which was with Timotheus, & had led the Iewes many waies.

33 And when they kept the feast of victorie in their countrey, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: so he receiued a reward meete for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked sicanoz, which had brought a thousand marchants to bye the Iewes,

35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lorde brought downe of them whome he thought as nothing, in so much that hee put off his glorious raiment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitive seruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his hoste.

36 Thus hee that promised to paie tribute to the Romanes, by means of the prisoners of Jerusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, becaule they followed the lawes appointed by him.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to spoyle Persopolis, is put to flight.

2 As hee persecuteth the Iewes, hee is striken of the Lord. 13 The Iewes repentance of Antiochus, 28 Hee deliuereth Ierusalem.

And came thence, came Antiochus againe with dishonour out of the countrey of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persopolis, and went about to rob the Temple, and to subdue the citie, the people ran in a rage to defend themselves with their weapons, and put them to flight, & Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come vnto sicanoz, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chased in his fume, hee thought to impute to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his chariot men to drine continually, & to dispatch the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for hee had saide thus in his pride, I will make Jerusalem a common burying place of Iewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lorde abroghtie and God of Israel smote him with an incurable and insensible plague: for as soone as he had spoken these wordes, a paine of the bowels, that was remediable, came vpon him, and soe tormentes of the inner partes,

6 And that most insupportable: for hee had tormented other mens bowels with dunces, and strange tormentes.

7 Howbeit he would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commaunded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that hee fell downe from the chariot that ranne swiftly, so that all the members of his bodie were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus hee that a little afore thought hee might commaunde the foudres of the sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the balance, was now cast on the ground, and caried in an hoseliter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God.

9 * So that the wommes came out of the bowels of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles he was alive, his flesh fel off for paine and torment, and all his armie was grieved at his smill.

10 Thus no man could beare becaule of his stinke, him that a little afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leane off his great pride, and selfe will, when hee was plagued & came to the knowledge of him selfe by the scourge of God, & by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when hee himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, hee saide these wordes, It is meete to be instruct vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God though pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lorde, who would now haue no mercie on him,

14 And saide thus, that he would set at libertie the holy citie, vnto the which hee made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whome hee had iudged not worthe to be buried, but would haue cast them out with their children)

- 1 Maccabeus now and his companie, through the helpe of the lord, warne the Temple and the cite againe.
- 2 And destroyed the altars, and chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places.
- 3 And cleansed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, & rooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense two yeeres, & six moneths after, & set forth the lampes, and the shewbread.
- 4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, & besought the lord, that they might come no more into such troubles: but if they sinned any more against him, & he him selfe would chaste them with mercy, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous, & barbarous nations.
- 5 Now vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on þe very same day it was cleansed againe euen the five & twentieth day of the same moneth, which is Calasin.
- 6 They kept eight daies with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembryng, that not long afore they liued in the mountaines and denmes like beastes.
- 7 And for the same cause they bare graine donghes, and faire branches & palmes, and sang psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.
- 8 They ordeined also by a common statute, and decree, that euery yeere those daies shoulde be kept of the whole nation of the Jewes.
- 9 And this was the ende of Antiochus called Epiphanes.
- 10 I Nowe will we declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres, that followed.
- 11 For when he had taken the kingdom, he made one Lyllas, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Idence, and Caelopigia, ruler ouer the affaires of the realme.
- 12 For Ptolemus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Jewes for the wrong, that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue him selfe peaceably with them.
- 13 For the which cause he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Egypt that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: thes fore seeing that hee was no more in estimation, hee was discouraged, and poploned him selfe, and died.
- 14 But when Sogias was gouernour of the same places, he entertained straggers, and made warre oft times against the Jewes.
- 15 Whereouer the Idumeans that heide the strong holdes, which were mete for their purpose, troubled the Jewes, and by receiving them that were dyne from Jerusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.
- 16 Then they þe were with Maccabeus made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans.
- 17 And assailed them fore, that they wan the places, and slew al that fought against them on the wal, and killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twentie thousande.
- 18 And because certayne (which were no lesse then then nine thousande) were fledde into two strong castles, hauing all maner of thinges conuenient to susteine the siege,

19. Quacabeus left Simon, and Joseph, and Zacharias also, & those that were with them which were prouide to beslege them, and departed to those places which were moie necessarie.

20. Solue they that were with Simon, being led with countenances, were intreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castell) and tooke seueritie thousande ^{a drachmes} diachmes, and let some of them escape.

21. But when it was tolde Quacabeus what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had solde their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22. So he slew them when they were comit of treason, and immediatly wanne the two castles:

23. And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that hee tooke in hande, hee slew in the two castles more then twentie thousand.

24. Solue Timotheus whom the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sortes, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iewrie by strength.

25. But when he dyetw nere, Quacabeus, and they that were w him, turned to pray vnto God, and spinkled earth vpon their heads, and grided their reines with sackcloth,

26. And fel downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lorde to be mercifull to them, and to be an enemye to their enemies, and to be an aduersarie to their aduersaries, * as the lawe declarth.

27. After the prayer, they tooke their weapons, & went out further from the cite, and when they came nere to the enemies, they tooke heede to themselues.

28. And when morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lorde for their refuge, & pledge of prosperitie, and noble victorie, and the other took courage as a guide of the warre.

29. But when the battell waied strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen five comely men vpon horses with bydles of golde, and two of them led the Iewes,

30. And tooke Quacabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darke, and lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindness, & beaten downe and full of frowle.

31. There were thaine of foote men twentie thousand and five hundred, & six hundred horsemen.

32. As for Timotheus him selfe, hee fled vnto Casara, which was called a very strong holde, wherein Thereas was capitaine.

33. But Quacabeus and his companie layde siege against the fortresses with courage for foure dayes.

34. And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

35. Amerthelesse vpon the fifth day in the morning, twentie pong men of Quacabeus companie, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto a wall, and with bold stomakes smote downe those that they met.

36. Others also that climbed vp vpon engines of warre against them that were within, let fire vpon the rowers, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, & reuented the rest of the armie, & took the cite.

37. And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept vnto Casara, they killed him, & Thereas his brother with Apolophonas.

fully, and so escaped,

13 Who as he was a man of understanding, considering what losse hee had had, & knowing, that the Hebrewes could not be overcome because the Almighty God helped them, sent unto them,

14 And promised, that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, & persuade the king to be their friend.

15 Paccabeus agreed to Ispias requests, having respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoever Paccabeus wrote unto Ispias concerning the Jewes, the king granted it.

16 For there were letters written unto the Jewes from Ispias concerning these words, LYSIAS unto the people of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

17 John & Bethsalom, which were sent from you, delivered me the things that you desired by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things sooner were meete to be reported to King himselfe, I have declared them, and hee granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if ye behave your selves as friends toward his affaires, hereafter also I will endeavour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I have given commandment to these men, and to those whom I sent unto you, to commune with you of the same particular.

21 Fare ye well, the hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the month Dioscorithius.

22 Above the kings letter conteneed these words, KING ANTIOCHVS unto his brother Ispias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated unto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our realme, live quietly, that every man may apply his owne affaires.

24 We understand also that the Jewes would not consent to our father, for to bee brought unto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne manner of living: for the which cause they require of us, that we would suffer them to live after their owne lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is that this nation shalbe in rest and have determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be governed according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt do well therefore to sende unto them, and graunt them peace, that whē they are certified of our minde, they may bee of good comfort, and cheerfully go about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the kings letter unto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS unto the Elders of the Jewes, & to the rest of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

28 If ye fare well, we have our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Helielas declared unto us that your desire was to returne home, and to apply your owne busines.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, we give them free libertie, unto the thirtiē day of the month of Panthicus.

31 That the Jewes may live their owne manner of living and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any manner of waies to have harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I have sent also Helielas to comfort you.

33 Fare ye well: the hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fiftieth day of the month of Panthicus.

34 The Romanes also sent a letter conteneing these wordes, QVINTVS MEMMIVS & Titus Manilius ambassadours of the Romanes, unto the people of the Jewes sende greeting.

35 The things that Ispias the kings kinsman hath graunted you, we graunt the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shall report unto the king, sende hither some with speed, when ye have considered the matter diligently, that we may consult thereupon as shalbe best for you: for ye must go unto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and sende some men, that we may knowe your minde.

38 Fare well: this hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fiftieth day of the month of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

1 Timotheus troubleth the Jewes. 3 The wicked deeds of them of Toppa against the Jewes. 6 Judas is charged of them. 9 Hee setteth fire in the haven of Lammia. 20 The pursuit of the Jewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken and let goe unhurt. 32 Judas pursueth Gortias.

1 When these covenants were made, Ispias went unto the king, & the Jewes filled their ground.

2 But the governours of the places, as Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Genetris, and Jeronimus, & also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the governour of Cyprus, would not let their rule in rest & peace.

3 Thep of Toppa also did such a vile act: they played the Jewes that dwelt among them, to go in their wines & children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none evil will.

4 And so by the common advice of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspect nothing: but when they were gone forth into the daies, they shewed no less then two hundredth of them.

5 Above when Judas knewe of this crueltie shewed against his nation, hee commanded those men that were with him, to make the ready.

6 And having called upon God the righteous Judge, hee went forth against the murderers of his brethren, and set fire in the haven by night, and burnt the shippes, and those that fled thence, he slew.

7 And when the citie was shut up, he departed as though he would come againe, and wrote out all them of the citie of Toppa.

8 But when hee perceived that the Jamnites were minded to doe in like manner unto the Jewes, which dwelt among them,

9 He came upon the Jamnites by night, & set fire in the haven with the naue, so that the light of the fire was seen at Jerusalem, upon a two hundredth and fourtie furlongs.

10 Above when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their journey towarde Carmothrus, about five thousand men of foote and and five hundred men of the Arabians set upon him.

11 So the battle was sharpe, but it prospered with Judas through the helpe of God: the Arabians, being overcome, besought Judas to make peace with them, and promised to give him certaine cattle, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Judas thinking that they should in bad be profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Judas also assailed a citie called Calpis, which was strong by reason of a bidge, and fenced rounde about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were with him put such trust in the strength of the walles, & in stoye of bitails, that they were slacke in their doings, relyinge them that were with Judas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

15 But Baccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which with out any instruments, or engines of warre, did cast downe the walles of Jericho, in the time of Iehus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles.

16 And toke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, in so much that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay there by, seemed to flowe w blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seven hundred and fiftie furlongs, and came to Charac into the Iewes, that are called Eubien.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garison in a verie strong holde.

19 But Dositheus, and Sosipater, which were captaines with Baccabeus, went forth, and slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortress, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Baccabeus prepared, and ranged his arme by bandes, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundred and twentie thousande men of foote, and two thousande and five hundred men.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas coming, he sent the women, and children, and the other baggage afoze into a fortress called Carnion: for it was harde to besiege, and easie to come unto because of the straites on all sides.)

22 But when Judas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten w feare, & a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things, in so much that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne swordes.

23 But Judas was verie earnest in pursuing, and slew those wicked men: yea, he slew thirtie thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also him selfe fell into the hands of Dositheus, & Sosipater, who hee besought w much craft to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Jewes parents & the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when he had assured them with many wordes, and promised that he would reioyce them without hurt, they let him go for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Baccabeus toward Carnion, and Stragatona, and slew five and twentie thousand persons.

27 And after that he had chased away & slaine them, Judas remoued the hoke toward Esphion a strong citie, wherein was Iudas & a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the walles defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engines of warre, and barres.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breakeh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, & slew five and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which hath six hundred furlongs from Jerusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified, that the Scythopolitans dealt lawfully with them, and treated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie,

31 They gaue them thanks, desiring them to be friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Jerusalem, as the feast of the weekes approached.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with thre thousand men of foote and foure hundred men.

34 And when they ioined together, a few of the Iewes were slaine.

35 And Dositheus one of the Baccabeus, which was on horsebacke and a mighty man, toke Gorgias, and layde holde of his garment, and dyed him by force, because he would haue taken the wicked man alive: but an horseman of Thacia fell vpon him, & smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Gaza.

36 And wher they that were with Elerin, had foughten long, and were wearp, Judas called vpon the Lord, that he would helpe him selfe to be their helper, and captaine of the fildes.

37 And then he began in his owne language, & sing psalmes w a loud voice, in so much that straightwaies he made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Judas gathered his holle, and came into the citie of Bbolla. And when the seventh day came, they clenched themselves (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Judas and his companie came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to burie them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Nowe vnder the coates of euerie one that was slaine, they found idoles that had bene consecrate to the idoles of the Jammites, Drui. 7. 25. which thing is forbidden the Jewes by the Lawe. Leuit. 7. 13. Then euerie man sawe, that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

From this verse to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certain doctrine can be gathered thereby: Also it is evident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it differeth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the author of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmities, desireth pardon, if he haue not attained to that he should. And it seemeth, that this Iason the Cyrenean, out of whome hee tooke this abridgement, is Ioseph Ben-Gorion, who hath written in Hebrew fise bookes of these matters, & intreating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for y dead, lib. 3. cap. 19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes, euen to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might minister y Sacraments, Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Razis that one might kill himselfe, whome this author so much commendeth, Chap. 14. 41.

CHAP. XII.

1. The coming of Eupator, into Iudea. 4. The death of Antiochus. 10. Maccabius going to fight against Eupator, moueth his soldiers vnto prayer. 15. Hee killeth fowerthe thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21. Rhodocus the betrayer of the Law is taken.

1. In the hundredth, fourthie and nine yeere it was tolde Iudas, y Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Iudea,

2. And Epissas the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundredth & ten thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and fise thousand horsemen, and two and twentie Elephants, and three hundred chariots set with hookes.

3. Heleneus also ioynd him selfe with them, & with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the safegarde of the countrey, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4. But the King of kings moued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Epissas moued the king y this man was the cause of all mischiefe, so that the king commanded to bring him to Beroea to put him vnto death as the manner was in that place.

5. Now there was in that place a towre of fifty cubites high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned rounde, and on euery side it could doliue into the ashes.

6. And there whosoever was condemned of sacriledge, or of any other grievous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7. And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, & it was a most iust thing that Heleneus should want buriall.

8. For because he had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire & ashes were holy: he himselfe also died in the ashes.

9. ¶ Nowe the king ragd in his mind, & came to shewe himselfe more cruell vnto the Iewes then his father.

10. Which things when Iudas perceived, he commanded the people to cal vpon the Lord night & day, that if euer he had holpen them, he would now help them, when they should be put from their Lawe, from their countrey and from the holy Temple.

11. And that hee would not suffer the people, which a litle afore begd to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12. So when they had done this all together, and broughthe the Lord his mercie with weeping, and fasting, and falling downe, the dayes together, Iudas exhorted the to make themselves ready.

13. And he being apart with the Elders, toke counsell to go forth, afore the King brought his holte into Iudea, and should take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14. So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, he exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, y Temple, the citie, their countrey, & the common weakth, and campe by Bethsura.

15. And so giuing his souldiers for a watche word, The victorie of God, he yoked out the manifest pong men, and went by night into the Kings campe, and slew of the holte fowerthe thousande men, and the greatest elephant with all that sat vpon him.

16. Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble into the campe, & all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17. This was done in y beake of the day, because the protection of y Lord did help them.

18. ¶ Nowe when the king had called the inanimellie of the Iewes, hee went about to take the holdes by policie.

19. And marched toward Bethsura, which was a strong hold of the Iewes: but he was chased away, hurt, and lost of his men.

20. For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessarie.

21. But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes holte, disclosed the secretes to the enemies: therefore he was fought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22. After this did the king commune w them that were in Bethsura, &ooke truer with them, departed, and topped battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

23. But when he understod, that Philip (who he had left to be overseer of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so y he peld himself to y Iewes, and made them an othe to do all things that were right, & was appeased towarde them, and offered sacrifice and adored the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place,

24. And embayard Agnarcabens, and made him captaine and gouernour from Beroeas vnto the Grecians.

15 Nevertheless, when he came to Idolemais, the people of the cite were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieued, they woulde that he should breake the covenants.

16 Then went Apilas up into the iudgement seat, & recused the fact as well as he could, and perswaded them, & pacified them, and made them wel affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concearning the kings iourney, and his returne.

CHAP. xliiii.

1 Demetrius moued by Alcimus sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compass vnto the Iewes, 29 Which he yett breaketh through the motions of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Rexi so be taken, vnto which himselfe.

1 After this peres was Judas enioyned that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and namie by the haueu of Tripolis.

2 When he had wonne the countrey, & slaine Antiochus and his lieutenant Apilas.

3 Nowe Alcimus, which had bene the hie priest, and wilfully defiled him selfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes hee coulde saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holie altar.

4 He came to king Demetrius in the hundredeth, fiftie and one yere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a paline, and of the boughes, which were vied solemnely in the Temple. and that day he helde his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what deuices or counsels the Iewes leane vnto.

6 To the which he answered, The Iewes that be called Maccans, whose captaine is Judas Maccabeus, mainteine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being deuynted of my fathers honour (I meane the hie Priesthood) am now come hither.

8 Partly because I was well affectioned vnto the kings affaires, and secondly because I sought the piosite of mine owne citizens: for all our people, through their rashnesse, are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, O King, seeing thou knowest all these things, make piosition for the countrey, and our nation which is abused, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Judas liueth it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When he had spoken these wordes, other friends also hauing euill wil at Judas, set Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediately called for Nicanor, the ruler of the elephants, and made him captaine ouer Judea.

13 And sent him forth, commanding him to slaine Judas, and to slayeth them that were with him, and to make Alcimus hie priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Ierusalem, came to Nicanor by strokes, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Iewes heard of Nicanors coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselves w earth, & prayed vnto him which had appointed him selfe a people for euer, and did alwaies defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they reioined straightwayes from thence, and came to the towne of Bethan.

17 Where Simon Judas brother had ioynd battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Nevertheless Nicanor hearing the mannesse of them that were with Judas, and the bolde stomakes that they had for their countrey, durst not pious the matter with bloodshedding.

19 Wherefore he sent Porbonius, Theodosius, and Matthias before, to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long aduise ment thereupon, & the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and consented to the covenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for euery man his stole.

22 Nevertheless Judas commanded certaine men of armes to wait in conuenient places, least there shoulde suddenly arise any euill to show the enemies: and so they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while hee abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee loued Judas, and sauoured him in his heart.

25 Hee prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so he married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiving the lone that was betwene them, and understanding the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and tolde him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hande, and ordeined Judas a traitour to the realme, to bee his successor.

27 Then the king was displeased, and by the reportes of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, saying, that he was very angrie for the covenants, commanding him that he should send Maccabeus in all haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When these things came vnto Nicanor, he was astonished and sore grieued, that hee should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that that man had committed no wickednesse.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the King, he sought craftily to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding when Maccabeus perceived that Nicanor began to be rough vnto him, & that he intreated him more rudely then hee was wont, hee perceived that such rigour came not of good, and therefore he gathered a few of his men, and withdrew him selfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiving that hee was persecuted

Or, Theodosius.

Or, Matthias.

Or, had Judas before his death.

nented by Maccabees worthie policie, came into the great & holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their usuall sacrifices, to deliver him the man.

32 And when they sawe that they could not tell where the man was, whome he sought,

33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an oth in this manner, If I will not deliver me Judas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, and will breake downe the altar, & will erect a notable temple unto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes he departed: then the Priests lift up their hands toward heaven, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this manner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all thinges, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this house euer undefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stop all the mouthes of the unrighteous.

37 Nowe was there accused unto Nicanor, Nasis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a losner of the citie, and a man of verie good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Jewes.

38 For this man afoze times when the Jewes were minded to keepe themselves undefiled and pure, being accused to be of the religion of the Jewes, did offer to spend his body & life with all constancie for the religion of the Jewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Jewes, sent about fise hundred men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Jewes much hurt.

41 But when this companie would haue taken his castle, and woulde haue broken the gates by violence, and commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to be taken on euery side, hee fell on his sword,

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproche & unworthy for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what rime as he missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betwene the doores, he ran boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conuied themselves lightly alway, and gaue place, so that he fel upon his bellie.

45 Nevertheless while there was yet breath in him, being wounded in his minde, he rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was verie sore wounded, yet he raine throw the mids of the people,

46 And gat him to the top of an hie rocke: so when his blood was vtterly gone, hee took out his own bowels with both his hands, and thruste them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lord of life and spirite, that hee would restore them againe vnto him, and thus he died.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 5 The blasphemie of Nicanor. 14 Maccabees

beu expounding vnto the Iewes the vision, iudiceth them. 21 The prayer of Maccabees. 30 Maccabees commandeth Nicanors head and hands to be cut off, & his tongue to be giuen vnto the fowles. 39 The author excuseth himselfe.

Now when Nicanor knew that Iudas & his companie were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought to all assure to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day. Nevertheless the Jewes that were compelled to go with him, said, O will not so cruelly and barbarously, but honor and sanctifie the day, that is appointed by him that sanctifieth all things.

But this most wicked person demanded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

And when they said, There is a living Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seventh day to be kept,

Then hee saide, And I am mightie vpon earth to commande them for to arme themselves, and to performe the kings business. Notwithstanding hee could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

For Nicanor lifted up with great pride, purposed to set up a memoriall of the victory obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

But Maccabeus had euer sure confidence and a perfit hope that the Lord would helpe him,

And exhorted his people not to be afraid at the coming of the heathen, but alway to remember the help that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust none also that they should haue the victory by the Almightie.

Thus he encouraged them by the lawe and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afoze, and so made them more willing.

And stirred by their heartes, and shewed them also the deceitfulness of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

Thus he armed euery one of them, not with the assurance of shields and speares, but with wholesome wordes and exhortations, and shewed them a viaine worth to be belieued, and reioyced them greatly.

And this was his vision, he thought that he sawe Onias (which had bene) his ynn, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behaviour, and of sober conversation, well spoken, a one that had bin exercised in all points of godlinesse from a child: holding by his hands toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Jewes.

After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honorable, and of a wonderful dignitie, and excellency about him.

And Onias spake, and said, This is a loue of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy citie, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

He thought also that Ieremias held out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a kisse of golde: and as he gaue it, he spake thus,

Take this holy sword a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wounde the aduersaries,

As this private example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the worde of God, although the author seeme here to approve it: so that place as touching prayer. chap. 12. 44. though Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to proue a doctrine, because it is only a particular example.

- 17 And so being comforted by the words of Judas, which were very sweete & able to stirre them vp to battell, yett they were encouraged the hearts of the young men they were minded to pitch no campe, but courageously to set vpon them, and manfully to assault them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the cite and the Sanctuarie and the Temple were in danger.
- 18 As for their wiues and children, and brethren and kinsfolkes, they let lesse by their danger: but their greatest & principall feare was for the holy Temple.
- 19 Again they that were in the cite, were careful for the arme that was abroad.
- 20 Nowe whilst they all waited for the trial of the matter, and the enemies nowe met with them, and the host was set in aray, and the beasts were separated into conuenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings:
- 21 Haccabens considering the comming of the multitude and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenes of the beasts, held vp his handes toward heauen calling vpon the Lord that doth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victorie cometh not by the weapons, but that he giueth the victorie to them that are worthy, as seemeth good vnto him.
- 22 Therefore in his prayer he saide after this manner, O Lord, thou that didst send thine Angel in the time of Sektias king of Iudaea, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slewe an hundred and fourescore and fixe thousand,
- 23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, O Lord of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them,
- 24 And let them be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these wordes he made an ende.
- 25 Then Sicanos & they that were with him, drew nere with trumpets and shoutings for to fight.
- 26 But Judas and his companie praying and calling vpon God, encountered with the enemies,
- 27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, & slewe no lesse then five and thirtie thousand men: for though the presence of God they were wonderfully comforted.
- 28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with tope, they vnderstoode that Sicanos himself was slaine for al his armour.
- 29 Then they made a great shout and a crye, praising the Almighty in their owne language.
- 30 Therefore Judas, which was their chiefe defender of his citizens both in booke and minde, & which bare our good affection towardes them of his nation, commanded to shute off Sicanos head, with his hand & shoulder, and to bring it to Jerusalem.
- 31 And when he came there, he called al them of his nation, and let the people by the altar, and sent for them of the castell,
- 32 And shewed them wicked Sicanos head, and the hand of that blasphemour which he had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almighty with proud bragges.
- 33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Sicanos to be cut in little pieces, and to be cast vnto the foules, and that the rewardes of his madness should be hanged vp before the Temple.
- 34 So euery man praised toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.
- 35 Hee hanged also Sicanos head vpon the high castell, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.
- 36 And so they established all together by a common decre that they woulde in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:
- 37 And that the feast should be the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Sardocheus day.
- 38 Thus farre as concerning Sicanos matters, and from that time the Iewes had the cite in possession. And here will I also make an ende.
- 39 If I haue done wel, and as the story requirer, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.
- 40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the tast, so setting out of this matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the story. And here I haue the ende.

The summe of the whole Scripture of the bookes of the olde and Newe Testament.

G O D.

He bookes of the olde Testament, doe teache vs that the same God, whome Adam, Noe, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Dauid, and the other fathers did worship, is ^a the onely true God, and that hee the same is almightie and ^b euertlasting: who of his mere goodnesse hath created by his worde ^c heauen and earth, and all that is in them: From whome all things doe come: without whome there is nothing at all: And that he is ^d iust and mercifull: Who also ^e worketh all in all, ^f after his owne will: ^g To whome it is not lawfull to say, wherefore he doeth thus or thus.

Creation of man.

Moreouer, these bookes teache vs, that this very God almightie, after hee created all things, shope also Adam the first man, ^h to the image and spirituall similitude of him selfe, and that he did constitute him lord ouer all things that he had created in earth. Which Adam, by the enuie and fraude of the deuill, transgressing the precept of his creator, ⁱ by this his sinne brought in such and so great sinne into the worlde, that we which be sprong from him by the flesh, ^j be in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon we be made subiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke, and tyrannie of the deuill,

Christ promised.

Furthermore, we are taught by these excellent bookes, that God promised to ^k Adam, ^l Abraham, ^m Isaac, ⁿ Iacob, ^o Dauid, and to other fathers of the olde time, that he would sende that blessed feede, his sonne Iesus Christ our Sauour, which should deliuer all those from sinne, and from the ^p tyrannie of the deuill, which by a liuely and working faith should beleue this promise, and put their trust in Iesus Christ, hoping that of him and by him, they should obtaine this deliuerance.

The Lawe.

Also they giue vs to vnderstande, that in the meane season, while those fathers the Israelites looked for the saluation and deliuerance promised (for that the nature of man is such, so proude and so corrupt, that those would not willingly acknowledge themselves to be sinners, which had neede of the sauour promised) God the creator gaue by Moses his ^q lawe written in two tables of stone: that by it, sinne and the malice of mans heart being ^r known, men might more vehemently thirst for the ^s coming of Iesus Christ, who should redeeme and deliuer them from sinne: Which thing, neither the lawe, nor yet the sacrifices and oblations of the lawe did ^t persourme. For they were shadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Christ: by which oblation all ^u sinne should be blotted out, and quite put away.

Christ God our Sauour came,

By the bookes of the new Testament we be taught, that Christ so afore promised (^v which is God about all things most blessed for euer) euen he, I say, was shadowed in the bookes of the olde Testament, and in sacrifices figured, that he was ^w sent at the last from the Father, the selfe same time which the Father did constitute within himselfe: I say, ^x at that time, when all wickednesse abounded in the worlde, then he was sent: And this Iesus our Sauour being borne in the flesh, ^y suffred death, and rose againe from the dead. Which actes of his were not done by him in respect of the ^z good workes of any man (for we were all sinners) but that this God our Father should ^{aa} appeare true, in exhibiting the abundant ^{ab} riches of his grace which he promised, and that ^{ac} through his mercy he might bring vs to saluation. Whereupon it is evidently shewed in the ^{ad} new Testament, that Iesus Christ, being the true ^{ae} lambe, the true ^{af} sacrifice of the world, ^{ag} putting away the finnes of men, came into this world to purchase grace and ^{ah} peace for vs with the Father, ^{ai} washing vs from our finnes in his owne blood, and ^{aj} should deliuer vs from the bondage of the deuill, whome by sinne we did serue. And so we should be ^{ak} adopted by him to be the sonnes of God, made ^{al} heirs with him of that most excellent and euertlasting kingdome.

The holy Ghost.

Faith.

Now, that we should acknowledge this singular and excellent benefice of God towards vs, and in his Christ. For, without the holy Ghost, by which we are instructed and ^{am} sealed, neither can we beleue that God the Father sent Messias, nor yet that Iesus is Christ: For ^{an} no man (saith Paul) can say that Iesus is the Lorde, but by the holy Ghost. The ^{ao} same spirit witnesseth to our spirit, that we are the children of God, ^{ap} and poweth into our bowels that ^{aq} charitie which Paul describeth to the Corinthians. Furthermore, that holy spirit doth giue vs ^{ar} hope, whis his is sure looking for eternall life, whereof he himselfe is the certaine ^{as} token and ^{at} pledge. Also he giueth vs other ^{au} spirituall giftes, of the which Paul writeth to the Galatians. Therefore the benefice of faith is not yet to be despised, or litle to be set by. For by the meanes ^{av} of this trust and ^{aw} faith in Christ, which ^{ax} worketh by charitie, and sheweth it selfe forth by the ^{ay} works

Which Adam, by the enuie and fraude of the deuill, transgressing the precept of his creator, ^h by this his sinne brought in such and so great sinne into the worlde, that we which be sprong from him by the flesh, ⁱ be in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon we be made subiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke, and tyrannie of the deuill.

Christ promised.

Furthermore, we are taught by these excellent bookes, that God promised to ^k Adam, ^l Abraham, ^m Isaac, ⁿ Jacob, ^o David, and to other fathers of the olde time, that he would sende that blessed seede, his sonne Iesus Christ our Sauour, which should deliuer all those from sinne, and from the ^p tyrannie of the deuill, which by a liuely and working faith should beleue this promise, and put their trust in Iesus Christ, hoping that of him and by him, they should obtaine this deliuerance.

The Lawe.

Also they giue vs to vnderstande, that in the meane season, while those fathers the Israelites looked for the saluation and deliuerance promised (for that the nature of man is such, so proude and so corrupt, that those would not willingly acknowledge themselves to be sinners, which had neede of the sauour promised) Will the creator gaue by Moses his law written in two tables of stone: that by it, sinne and the malice of mans heart being ^q known, men might more vehemently thirst for the ^r comming of Iesus Christ, who should ^s redeeme and deliuer them from sinne: Which thing, neither the lawe, nor yet the sacrifices and oblations of the lawe did ^t performe. For they were shadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Christ: by which oblation all ^u sinne should be blotted out, and quite put away.

Christ God our Sauour came.

By the bookes of the new Testament we be taught, that Christ so afore promised (* which is God above all things most blessed for euer) euen he, I say, was shadowed in the bookes of the olde Testament, and in sacrifices figured, that he was ^v sent at the last from the Father, the selfe same time which the Father did constitute within himselfe. I say, ^w at that time, when all wickednesse abounded in the worlde, then he was sent: And this Iesus our Sauour, being borne in the flesh, ^x suffred death, and rose againe from the dead. Which actes of his were not done by him in respect of the ^y good workes of any man (for we were all sinners) but ^z that this God our Father should ^a appeare true, in exhibiting the abundant ^b graces of his grace which he promised, and that ^c through his mercy he might bring vs to saluation. Whereupon it is evidently shewed in the ^d new Testament, that Iesus Christ, being the true lambe, the true ^e sacrifice of the world, ^f putting away the sinnes of this worlde to purchase grace and ^g peace for vs with the Father, ^h washing vs from our sinnes in his owne blood, and ⁱ should deliuer vs from the bondage of the deuill, whome by sinne we did serue. And so we should be ^j adopted by him to be the sonnes of God, made ^k heires with him of that most excellent and euertlasting kingdome.

A Lambe. A sacrifice. Peace. Adoption.

The holy Ghost, faith.

Now, that we should acknowledge this singular and excellent benefite of God towards vs, almighty God ^l giueth vs his holy spirit: the ^m fruite and effect of the which is faith in God, and in his Christ. For, without the holy Ghost, by which we are instructed and ⁿ sealed, neither can we beleue that God the Father sent Messias, nor yet that Iesus is Christ: For ^o no man (saith Paul) can say that Iesus is the Lorde, but by the holy Ghost. The ^p same spirit witnesseth to our spirit, that we are the children of God, ^q and powreth into our bowels that charitie which Paul describeth to the Corinthians. Furthermore, that holy spirit doth giue vs hope, which is a sure looking for eternall life, whereof he himselfe is the certaine ^r token and pledge. All he giueth vs other ^s spirituall giftes, of the which Paul writeth to the Galatians. Therefore the benefite of faith is not yet to be desisted, or litle to be fet by. For by the meanes of this trust and ^t faith in Christ, which ^u worketh by charitie, & sheweth it selfe forth by

Certaine

Certaine questions and answers touching the doctrine of Predestination, the vse of Gods worde and Sacraments.

Question.
Why doe men so much varie in matters of religion?

Answer.
Because all haue not the like measure of knowledge, neither do al beleue the Gospel of Christ.

Question.
What is the reason thereof?

Answer.
Because they onely beleue the Gospel and doctrine of Christ, which are ordained vnto eternall life.

Question.
Are not all ordained vnto eternall life?

Answer.
Some are vessels of wrath ordained vnto destruction, as others are vessels of mercie prepared to glory.

Question.
How standeth it with Gods iustice, that some are appointed vnto damnation?

Answer.
Very well: because al me haue in them selues sinne, which deserueth no lesse: and therefore the mercie of God is wonderful in that he vouchsafeth to saue some of that sinnefull race, and to bring them to the knowledge of the truth.

Question.
If Gods ordinance and determination must of necessitie take effect, then what neede any man to care? for hee that liueth well must needs bee damned, if hee bee thereunto ordained: and he that liueth ill must needs be saued, if he be thereunto appointed.

Answer.
Not so. for it is not possible, that either the elect should alwayes be without care to do well, or that the reprobate should haue any will thereunto. For to haue either good will or good worke, is a testimonye of the Spirit of God, which is giuen to the elect onely, whereby faith is so wrought in them, that, being grasse in Christ, they grow in holynes to that glorie, whereunto they are appointed. Neither are they so vaine as once to thinke that they may do as they list themselves, because they are predestinate vnto saluation: But rather they indour to walke

in such good workes as God in Christ Iesus hath ordained them vnto, and prepared for them to bee occupied in, to their owne comfort, stay and assurance, and to his glorie.

Question.
But howe shall I knowe my selfe to be one of those whome God hath ordained to life eternall?

Answer.
By the motions of spiritual life, which belongeth onely to the children of God: by the which that life is perceived, euen as the life of this body is discerned by the sense and motions thereof.

Question.
What meane you by the motions of spirituall life?

Answer.
I meane remoyse of conscience, topped with the loching of sinne, and leue of righteousness: the haue of faith reaching vnto life eternall in Christ, the conscience comforted in distresse, and rapt up to confidence in God by the worke of his Spirit: a thankfull remembrance of Gods benefites received, and the vying of all aduersities as occasion of amendment sent from God.

Question.
Can not such perill as at some time or other seize these motions within themselves?

Answer.
It is not possible that they should: for as Gods purpose is not changeable, so he repenteth not the giftes and graces of his adoption: neither doth he call off those whome he hath once received.

Question.
Why then should we pray by the example of Dauid, that he call vs not from his face, and that hee take not his holy Spirit from vs?

Answer.
In so praying we make protestation of the weakenes of flesh, which moueth vs to doubt: yet should not we haue courage to aske, if we were not assured that God will giue, according to his purpose and promise, that which we require.

Question.
Doe the children of God feele the motions aforesaid alwayes alike?

Answer.
No truely: for God sometimes to proue his serueth to leaue them in such sort, that the flesh ouermatcheth the spirit, whereof ariseth trouble of conscience for the time:
* per

Questions and Answeres

yet the spirite of adoption is neuer taken from them, that haue once receiued it: else might they perishe. But as in many diseases of the bodie, the powers of bodie life are letted: so in some assaults these motions of spirituall life are not perceiued, because they lye hidden in our maniefold infirmities, as the fire couered with ashes. Yet as after sickness cometh health, and after cloudes the sunne shineth cleare: so the powers of spirituall life will moe or lesse bee felt and perceiued in the children of God.

Question.

What if I neuer feele these motions in my selfe, shall I despair and thinke my selfe a castaway?

Answer.

God forbid: for God calleth his at what time he seeth good: and the instrumentes whereby he vniuallly calleth, haue not the like effect at all times. yet it is not good to neglect the meanes whereby God hath determined to worke the saluation of his. For as waie is not melted without heate, nor clay hardened but by meanes thereof: so God vseth meanes both to dye those vnto him selfe, whome he hath appointed vnto saluation, and also to destroy the wickednes of them whome he iustly condemneth.

Question.

By what meanes vseth God to dye vnto him selfe that they may bee saued?

Answer.

By the preaching of his woide and the ministering of his Sacraments thereunto annexed.

Question.

What meane you by the woide of God?

Answer.

I meane the doctrine of the Prophetes and Apostles which they receiued of the Spirite of God, and haue left written in that booke which we commonly call the olde and new testament.

Question.

You may I be assured, that it is the woide of God, which that booke containeth?

Answer.

By the maiestie of God appearing in that plaine and simple doctrine: by the purenes, brightness and holmes thereof: by the certaintie of euery thing therein affirmed: by the successe of all things according to it: by perpetuall consent which is to be seene in euery parte thereof: by the excellencie of the matters uttered: But especially by the testimonie of Gods spirite, whereby it was written, who moueth the heartes of those in whome it resteth, to consent vnto the woide, and reuerently to embrace it.

Question.

Howe doth this woide of God serue to draw men vnto him?

Answer.

When it is so preached and heard, that men may vnderstande and learne what God teacheth: accept and receiue thankfully that which is thereby giuen, promise and assured: and be moued with desire and diligence to do that which it commaundeth.

Question.

Do the Sacraments also serue to this end?

Answer.

Yea verely: that by sight, taste and feeling, as well as by hearing, we might bee instructed, assured, and brought to obedience.

Question.

Howe doth our baptisme serue hereto?

Answer.

It teacheth vs to put on Christ, that with his righteousness our sinfulness may be hidden: it assureth vs, that wee are so graft into Christ, that all our sinnes by him are washed away: it chargeth vs to dye to sinne, to continue in the possession of Christ, and to lone the order.

Question.

Hath the Lords supper also this vse?

Answer.

Yea doubtlesse: for it teacheth, that the bodie and blood of Christ crucified is the onely foode of the newe boine children of God: it assureth that Christ is wholly theirs to giue and to continue life spirituall and heauenly to bodie and soule, to nourish, strengthen, refresh, and to make cheerefull the hearts of the elect: it requirereth thankfull remembrance of the deaht of Christ, vntill among those that do profess him, with a free confession of his truth.

Question.

Why is not this vse of the Sacraments commonly knowne?

Answer.

Because they are abused for sojorne, for faction, for custome and companie, without regarde vnto the woide, whereunto they are so annexed, that they ought not vpon any necessitie by any person be separated from it, which teacheth the right vse of euery thing.

Question.

I perceiue that nothing is moe necessarie then the woide of God: therefore I pray you shew me how I may attaine to some knowledge and profite thereby.

Answer.

By diligent hearing of such as preach it, by by continuall and orderly exercise of reading and playing.

Question.

What orderly exercise thinke you most convenient to be used herein?

Answer.

That as every day, twice at the least, we most commonly receive food to the nourishment of this corporal life: so no day be let passe without some reading in such sort that occasion thereby may bee taken to speake againe unto God by prayer, as he in his word speaketh unto vs: So that at the least two chapters would be orderly and abusersly read every day, al other busines, impediments and lets set apart.

Question.

This seemeth very easie to be done, what thinke you else requisite?

Answer.

That some especial places of Scripture be so committed to memorie, that the minde may ever be furnished with some good matter against all temptations. To which ende I note these Scriptures. Unto you, whereunto you may I open other at your owne choice: Malines 139. 37. 30. Elap. 53. Iohn 17. Rom. 8. 1. Tim. 4.

Question.

But the Scriptures are harde and not easie to understand.

Answer.

Discourage not your selfe herewith: for God maketh them easie to such as in humilitie seeke him: and that hardnesse that you find serueth to moue you to the more diligence, and to make inquirie of such as haue knowledge, when any doubt ariseth. That which you perceiue not at one time, God shall reueale at another: So that you shall haue your growing in grace, knowledge and godlinesse, to Gods glorie and your owne comfort in Christ, whose name for ever be praised, Amen.

The holy Gospel of Iesus Christ,

according to Matthewe.

THE ARGUMENT.

* This word signifieth good tidings, and is taken here for the storie, which containeth the joyful message of the coming of the sonne of God promised from the beginning. That is, written and taught by Matthewe.

IN this historie written by Matthewe, Marke, Luke, and Iohn, the spirit of God so governed their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect and purpose they to consent, as though the whole had bene composed by any one of them. And albeit in stile and manner of writing they be diuers, & sometime one writeth more largely than which the other doth abridge: nevertheless in matter and argument they all tend to one ende: which is, to publish to the worlde the fauour of GOD towards mankind through Christ Iesus, whom the Father hath giuen as a pledge of his mercie & loue. And for this cause they intitule their storie, Gospel, which signifieth good tidings, forasmuch as God hath performed in deede that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admonished to forsake the world, & the vanities thereof, and with most affectioned hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely offered vnto vs: for there is no ioy nor consolation, no peace nor quietnes, no felicitie nor saluation, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very substance of this Gospel, and in whome all the promises are Yes, & Amen. And therefore vnder this word is contained the whole New Testament: but commonly we vse this name for the historie, which the foure Euangelistes write, containing Christs coming in the flesh, his death & resurrection, which is the perfect summe of our saluation. Matthewe, Marke, and Luke are more copious in describing his life & death: but Iohn more labourerth to set forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and also the vertue of his death and resurrection more fully appeare: for without this, to knowe that Christ was borne, dead & risen againe, should nothing profit vs. The which thing notwithstanding that the three first touch partly, as he also sometime intermedleth the historical narration, yet Iohn chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a most learned interpreter writeth, they desire, as it were, the body, and Iohn setteth before our eyes the soule. Wherefore the same aptly teacheth the Gospel written by Iohn, the key which openeth the doore to the vnderstanding of the others: for whosoever doeth knowe the office, vertue & power of Christ, shall read that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the redeemer of the world, with most profite. Now as concerning the writers of this historie, it is euident that Matthewe was a Publicane, or custome gatherer, and was thence chosen of Christ to be an Apostle. Marke is thought to haue bene Peters disciple, and to haue planted the first Church at Alexandria, where he died the eight yere of the reigne of Nero. Luke was a Physician of Antiochia and became Pauls disciple, and fellows in all his trauals: the lined fourescore and foure yeres, and was buried at Constantinople. Iohn was that Apostle whom the Lord loued, the sonne of Zebedeus, and brother of James: he died three score yeres after Christ, and was buried nere to the citie of Ephesus.

a For there is another Beth-lehem in the tribe of Zebulun.

W Hen Iesus then was borne at Beth-lehem in Iudaea, in the dayes of Herode the king, behold, there came wise men from the East to Ierusalem.

2 Saying, Where is the king of the Iewes? that is borne? for we haue seen his starre in the East, and are come to worships him.

3 When king Herode heard this, hee was troubled, and all Ierusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the chiefe Priests & Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 And they sayde vnto him, At Beth-lehem in Iudaea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 And thou Beth-lehem in the land of Iudaea, art not the least among the princes of Iudaea: for out of thee shall come the governor, who shall feed my people Israel.

7 Then Herode secretly called the wise men, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Beth-lehem, saying, See, and search diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring me word againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 And when they had heard the king, they departed: and loe, the starre which in general they had seen in the East, went before them, till it came, and stood over the place where the babe was.

10 And when they sawe the starre, they reioiced with an exceeding great ioye.

11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, & fel downe, and worshipped him, and opened their treasures, and presented vnto him gifts,

12 even golde, and incense, and myrrhe.

13 And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they should not go againe to Herode, they returned into their countrey another way.

14 After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there til I bring thee word: for Herode will seeke the babe, to destroy him.

15 So he arose and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt.

16 And was there vnto the death of Herode, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord by the Prophete, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my Sonne.

17 Then Herode, seeing that hee was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, a slewe all the male children that were in Beth-lehem, and in all the coastes thereof, from two yeeres old and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the wise men.

18 Then was that fulfilled which was preaching of Iheremie, which is hindered: or els it ought not to be broken. k That which was prefigured by the eliuersion of the Israelites out of Egypt, which were Christs Church & his body, is now verified, and accomplished in the head Christ, Hos. 11. 1. Which is a certaine time after.

Mich. 5. 3. Iohn 7. 42. f An euill conscience is aborning fire. The starre vanished away because, so the last they should tary at Ierusalem, & there inquire of the thing, to the confusion of the Iewes.

Or, seuer. h The Persian manner was not to salute Kings without a present, & therefore they brought of that which was most precious in their countrey, whereof euery one of them offered. i Promise ought not to be kept, where Gods honour and diligence.

8 Again the deuill tooke him vp vnto an exceeding high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, and the glorie of them.

9 And sayd to him, All these will I giue thee, if thou wilt fall down, & worship me.

12 * And when Jesus had heard that John was deliuered by, he returned into Galile.

13 And leauing Nazareth, went & dwelt in Capernaum, which is nere the sea, in the borders of Zabulon & Nephtalim,

14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying, 15 * The land of Zabulon, and the land of Nephtalim by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan, * Galile of the Gentiles:

16 The people which sat in darkness, saw great light: and to them which late in the region and shadowe of death, light is risen vp.

17 * From that time Jesus began to preache, and to say, Amend your liues:
for the kingdome of heauen is at hand.

18 * And Jesus walking by the sea of Galile, saw two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.)

19 And he sayd vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway leauing þ nets, followed him.

21 And when he was gone forth from thence, he sawe other two brethren, James the sonne of Zebedeus, and John his brother in a shippe with Zebedeus their father, mending their nets, and he called them.

22 And they without tarping, leauing
the ship and their father, followed him.

23 So Jesus went about all Galile, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdome, and healing euery sicknesse and euery discaise among the people.

24 And his fame spred abroad througħ all Syria: & they brought vnto him all sicke people, that were taken with diuers diseases and gripings, and them that were possessed with deuils, and those which were limatike, and those that had the palsie: and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galile, and Decapolis, and Ierusalem, and Iudea, and from beyond Jordan.

But when thou prayest, enter into thy chamber: and when thou hast shut thy doore, pray vnto thy Father which is in secret. And thy Father which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

2 Kello when pe pray, use no vaine repetitions: for they thinke to be heard for their much babbling.

3 Be pe not like them therefore: for your Father knoweth wherof pe haue neede, before pe aske of him.

4 After this manner therefore pray ye. Our Father which art in heauen, hallowed be thy Name.

5 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.

6 Give vs this day our daily bread.

7 And forgive vs our dettes, as we also forgive our detters.

8 And lead vs not into temptation, but deliver vs from euill: for thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glorie for euer. Amen.

9 For if ye doe forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

10 But if ye do not forgive men their trespasses, nor will your Father forgive you your trespasses.

11 Whoeuer, when he fast, looke not so wise as the hypocrites: for they disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you, that they haue their reward.

12 But when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face,

13 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret: & thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

14 For lay not up treasures for your selues vpon the earth, where the moth and canker corrupteth, & where theues dig through, and steale.

15 But lay up treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the moth nor canker corrupteth, & where theues neither digge through, nor steale.

16 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

17 The light of the bodie is the eye: if then thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be light.

18 But if thine eye be twicked, then all thy body shall be darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkened, howe great is that darknesse?

19 No man can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other, or els he shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

20 Therefore I say vnto you, be not careful for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drinke: nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth then meate? and the bodie then raiment?

21 Beholde the fowles of the heauen: for they sowe not, neither reape, nor carrie in to the barnes: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better then they?

22 Which of you by taking care, is able to adde one cubite vnto his stature?

23 And why care ye for raiment? Learne, howe the lilies of the field doe growe: they labour not, neither spinne:

24 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

25 Wherefore if God so clothe the grasse of the feld which is to day, and to morowe is cast into the oven, shall he not do much more vnto you, O ye of little faith?

26 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or what shall we drinke? or wherewith shall we be clothed?

27 For after all these things, seeketh the Gentiles: for your heavenly Father knoweth, that ye haue neede of all these things.

28 But seek first the kingdom of God, and his righteousnes, & all these things shall be ministred vnto you.

29 Care not then for the morowe: for the morow shall care for it selfe: the day hath ynough with his owne griefe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Christ fo bideth rash iudgement. 6 Not so call both things to doges. 7 To aske, seeke, or knocke. 11 Two scopes of the Scripture. 13 The straight and vnde gate. 15 Of false prophets. 16 The good tree and euill. 22 False miracles. 24 The house on the rocke, or vpon the sand.

1 Iudge not, that ye be not iudged. 2 For with what iudgement ye iudge, ye shall be iudged, and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you againe.

3 And why seest thou the mote, that is in thy brothers eye, and perceiuest not the beame that is in thine owne eye?

4 O thou saiest thou to thy brother, Suffer mee to cast out the mote out of thine eye, and behold a beame is in thine owne eye?

5 Hypocrite, first cast out the beame out of thine owne eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

6 O thou seest not that which is holp, to dogges, neither cast ye your pearles before swine, least they treade them vnder their feete, and turning againe, all to rent you.

7 Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

8 For whosoever asketh, receiueth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

9 For what man is there among you, which if his some aske him bread, would he giue him a stone?

10 Or if he aske fish, will he giue him a serpent?

11 If ye then, which are euill, can giue to your children good gifts, how much more shall

Luk. 6. 11. 20. 4.

13. The whole law and the Scriptures set forth unto vs, & commend charitye, Luk. 1. 3. 24. 14. We must overcome and mortifie our affections, if we will be true disciples of Christ. 15. For the most part of us seeke their owne liberties, & runne headlong to euill. Luk. 6. 4. 1. 44. Or, a rosen. Chap. 3. 10.

shal pour father which is in heauen, giue good things to them that aske him?

13. Therefore what soeuer ye woulde that men should do to you, eue so do ye to thys: for this is the Lawe and the Prophets.

14. Enter in at the straight gate: for it is the wide gate, and broad way that leadeth to destruction: and many there be which goe in thereat.

15. Because the gate is straiter, and the way narrowe that leadeth vnto life, & fewe there be that finde it.

16. Beware of false prophetes, which come to you in shepess clothing, but inwardly they are rauening wolues.

17. Ye shall knowe them by their fruites.

18. Doe men gather grapes of thornes? or figges of thistles?

19. So euer good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and a corrupt tree bringeth forth euill fruit.

20. A good tree cannot bring forth euill fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

21. Euer tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

22. Therefore by their fruites ye shall knowe them.

23. That euer one that saith vnto me, I Loyd, Loyd, shall enter into the kingdom of heauen, but he that doth my Fathers will which is in heauen.

24. Many will say to me in that day, Loyd, Loyd, haue we not by thy name prophesied? and by thy name cast out deuils? & by thy name done many great workes?

25. And then will I professe to them, I neuer knewe you: depart from me, ye that worken iniquitie.

26. Whosoever then heareth of me these wordes, & doeth the same, I will liken him to a wise man, which hath builded his house on a rocke.

27. And the raine fell, and the floods came, and the windes blew, & beat vpon that house, and it fell not: for it was grounded on a rocke.

28. But who so euer heareth these my wordes, & doeth them not, shall be likened vnto a foolish man, which hath builded his house vpon the sand:

29. And the raine fell, & the floods came, & the windes blew, & beat vpon that house, and it fell, and the fall thereof was great.

30. And it came to passe, when Iesus had ended these wordes, the people were astounded at his doctrine.

31. For he taught them as one having authority, and not as the Scribes.

CHAP. VII.

1. Christ healeth the leper. 2. The centurions faith. 3. The vocation of the Gentiles. 4. Peters mother in Law. 5. The Scribe that would follow Christ. 6. Christs povertie. 7. He filleth the sea and the windes. 8. And driueth the deuils out of the possessed, onto the foules.

1. Now when he was come down fro the mountaine, great multitudes followed him.

2. And loe, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Master, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

3. And Iesus putting forth his hand, touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane: & immediately his leprosie was cleansed.

4. Then Iesus said vnto him, Doe thou tell no man, but goe, & shew thy selfe vnto the Priest, & offer the gift that Moses commanded, for a witness to thee.

5. When Iesus was entered into Capernaum, there came vnto him a Centurion, beseeching him.

6. And said, Master, my seruant lieth sick at home of palsy, & is grievously pained.

7. And Iesus said vnto him, I will come and heale him.

8. But the Centurion answered, saying, Master, I am not worthy that thou shouldst come vnder my roofe: but speake thy word onely, and my seruant shall be healed.

9. For I am a man also vnder the authority of another, and haue soldiers vnder me: and I say to one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this, & he doeth it.

10. When Iesus heard that, he marvelled, and said to them that followed him, Verily, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, euen in Israel.

11. But I say vnto you, that many shall come from the East & West, and shall sit downe with Abraham, & Isaac, & Iacob in the kingdom of heauen.

12. And the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into utter darkenes: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13. Then Iesus said vnto the Centurion, Goe thy way, & as thou hast beleued, so be it vnto thee. And his seruant was healed the same houre.

14. And when Iesus came to Peters house, he sawe his wifes mother layd downe, and sicke of a feuer.

15. And he touched her hand, and the feuer left her: so she arose, & ministered vnto thys.

16. When euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils: & he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sicke.

17. That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, He took our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses.

18. And when Iesus sawe great multitudes of people about him, he commanded them to goe ouer the water.

19. Then came there a certaine Scribe, & said vnto him, Master, I will follow thee whithersoener thou goest.

20. But Iesus saide vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen haue nestes, but the Sonne of man hath not wheron to rest his head.

21. And another of his disciples said vnto him, Master, suffer me first to go, & burye my father.

24 And beheld, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was couered with waues: but he was a sleepe.
25 Then his disciples came, & awoke him, saying, Master, sleepe vs: we perishe.
26 And hee saide vnto them, Why are ye so fearefull, O ye of litle faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the winde, & the sea: and so there was a great calme.
27 And the men marueiled, saying, What man is this, that both the winde and the sea obey him?
28 ¶ And when hee was come to the other side, into the countrey of the Gergenes, there met him two possessed with devils, which came out of the granes: & were fierce, so that no man might goe by that way.
29 And behold, they cryed out, saying, Iesus the sonne of God, what haue wee to doe with thee? Art thou come hither to torment vs? before the time?
30 Now there was a far off from them, a great heard of swine feeding.
31 And the devils besought him, saying, If thou call vs out, suffer vs to goe into the heard of swine.
32 And hee saide vnto them, Soe, so they went out, and departed into the heard of swine: and beholde, the whole heard of swine was caried with violence from a sleepe downe place into the sea, and died in the water.
33 Then the hearde men fled: & when they were come into the citie, they tolde all thinges, and what was become of them that were possessed with the devils.
34 And beholde, all the citie came out, to meete Iesus: and when they saue him, they besought him to depart out of their coastes.

¶ When hee entred into a ship, and passed once, and came into his owne citie.
¶ And loe, they brought to him a man sicke of the palfie, lying on a bed. And Iesus seeing their faith, said to the sicke of the palfie, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy sinnes are forgiven thee.
¶ And beholde, certaine of the Scribes saide with themselves, This man blasphemeth.
¶ But when Iesus saue their thoughts, hee said: Wherefore thinke ye euil thinges in your hearts?

- 3 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise, and walke?
¶ And that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive sinnes, (then said he vnto the sicke of the palfie,) Rise, take vp thy bed, and go to thine house.
¶ And he arose, and departed to his owne house.
¶ So when the multitude sawe it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authoritie to men.
¶ ¶ And as Iesus passed south from thence, hee saue a man sitting at the receite of custome, named Matthew, and said to him, Follow me. And hee arose, and folowed him.
¶ And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at meate in his house, behold, many Publi- canes and sinners, that came thither, sate downe at the table with Iesus and his disciples.
¶ And when the Pharisees saue that, they sayd to his disciples, Why eateth your master with Publicanes and sinners?
¶ Now when Iesus heard it, hee said vnto them, The whole neede not a physician, but they that are sicke.
¶ But go ye and learne what this is, I will haue mercie, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.
¶ ¶ Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why do wee and the Pharisees fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?
¶ And Iesus sayde vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber mourne as long as the bridegrome is with them? But the dayes will come when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast.
¶ ¶ Moreover no man pieceth an old garment with a piece of new cloth: for that that should fill it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse.
¶ ¶ Further do they put new wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine would be spild, and the vessels should perishe: but they put newe wine into newe vessels, and so are both preserved.
¶ ¶ ¶ While hee thus spake vnto them, be- hold, there came a certaine ruler, & wooshipped him, saying, My daughter is nowe decayed, but come and lape thine hand on her, and she shall liue.
¶ And Iesus arose and folowed him with his disciples.
¶ And beholde, a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood twelve yeres, came behinde him, & touched the hemme of his garment.

3 Now when Iesus came into the rulers house, and sawe the multitude making noise,

5 And when the multitude were put forth, he went in and tooke her by the hand, and the maide arose.

6 And this vynt went throughout al that land.

7 And as Iesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of Dauid, haue mercie vpon vs.

8 And when he was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Iesus saide vnto them, Beloue me that I am able to do this: And they said vnto him, Yea, Lord.

9 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you.

10 And their eyes were opened, and Iesus charged them, saying, See that no man knowe it.

11 But when they were departed, they spredde abroad his fame throughout all that land.

12 ¶ And as they went out, beholde, they brought to him a deuine man possessed with a deuil.

13 And when the deuil was cast out, the deuine spake: then the multitude marvelled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel.

14 But the Pharisees sayde, ¶ We casteth out deuils, through the prince of deuils.

15 ¶ And Iesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their synagogues, ¶ preaching the Gospel of the kingdom, and healing euery sickness and euery disease among the people.

16 But when he sawe the multitude, he had compassion vpon them, because they were dispersed, and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepheard.

17 Then said he to his disciples, ¶ Surely the harvest is great, but the labourers are fewe.

¶ And ye shalbe hated of all men for my name: but he that endureth to the end, he shalbe saved.

25 * At that time Iesus answered, & said, I gine thee thanks, O Father, Lord of heauen and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise & men of vnderstanding, and hast opened them vnto babes.

26 It is so, O Father, because thy good pleasure was such.

27 * All things are giuen vnto me of my Father: & no man knoweth the Sonne, but the Father: neither knoweth any man the Father, but the Sonne, & he to whom the Sonne wil reuile him.

28 Come vnto me, all ye that are weary and laden, and I wil ease you.

29 Take my yoke vnto you, and learne of me, that I may make a lowly in heart: and ye shall finde rest vnto your soules.

30 * For my yoke is easie, and my burden light.

CHAP. XII.

3 Christ excuseth his disciples which pluck the eares of corne. 10 He healeth the dried hand. 22 Helpe the possessed that was blind & dumme. 31 Blasphemy. 24 The generation of vipers. 35 Of good words. 36 Of idle words. 38 Herubeth the wastifull that would needs haue tokens. 49 And sheweth vnto a his brother, sister and mother.

1 At that time Iesus went on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his disciples were all hungered, and began to plucke the eares of corne and to eate.

2 And when the Pharises sawe it, they said vnto him, Behold, thy disciples doe that which is not lawfull to do vpon the Sabbath.

3 But he said vnto them, * Wane ye not read what Dauid did when he was an hungered, and they that were with him?

4 Now he entred into the house of God, and ate the shewe bread, which was not lawfull for him to eate, neither for them which were with him, but onely for the Priests?

5 Ye haue ye not read in the Lawe holwe that on the Sabbath dayes the Priests in the Temple * breake the Sabbath, and are blamelesse?

6 But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 Wherefore if ye knew what this is, * I wil haue mercie, & not sacrifice: ye would not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the sonne of man is * Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

9 And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue.

10 And beholde, there was a man which had his hand dyed up. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.

11 And he saide vnto them, What man shall there be among you, that shall haue a sheepe, and if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pitte, will not he take it and lift it out?

12 Howe much more then is a man better then a sheepe: therefore, it is lawfull to do well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then said he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 Then the Pharises went out, and consulted against him, howe they might destroy him.

15 But when Iesus knewe it, he departed thence, & great multitudes folowed him, and he healed them all.

16 And charged them that they should not make him knowne.

17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by Elias the Prophet, saying,

18 * Beholde my seruant whome I haue chosen, my beloued in whome my soule delighteth: I wil put my spirite on him, and he shall shewe iudgement to the Gentiles.

19 He shall not strine, nor cry, neither shall any man heare his voice in the streets.

20 If he bruised reede shall he not breake, and smoking flaxe shall hee not quench, till hee hying forth iudgement & vnto vnto toyie.

21 And in his name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 * Then was brought to him one, possessed with a deuil, both blinde, and dumme, and he healed him, so that hee which was blinde and dumme, both spake and sawe.

23 And all the people were amazed, & said, Is not this the sonne of Dauid?

24 But when the Pharises heard it, they said, * This man canst hee deuils no otherwise out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 But Iesus knewe their thoughts, and said to them, Euerie kingdome deuinded against it selfe, shall be brought to nought: and euerie cite or house, deuinded against it selfe, shall not stande.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, he is deuinded against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome endure?

27 Also if I through Beelzebub cast out deuils by whome doe you? then you cast them out: Therefore they shall bee your iudges.

1 ¶ The same day went Iesus out of the house, and late by the sea side.

2 And great multitudes resorted vnto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat downe: & the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Beholde, a sower went forth to sow.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the wayes side, and the fowles came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fel vpon stonie ground, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprong vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne rose vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting, withered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprong vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fell in good grounde, and brought forth fruit, one cometh an hundred folde, some sixtie folde, and another thirtie folde.

11 And he answered and saide vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you, to knowe the secrets of the kingdom of heauen, but to them it is not giuen.

12 ¶ For whosoever hath, to him shall be giuen, and he shall haue abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

3 O, you Iouen,

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophetic of Esaas, which prophetic saith, * By hear-ring, ye shall heare, and shall not vnder-stand, and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceiue.

15 For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they haue winked, least they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstand with their hearts, and should returne, that I might heale them.

16 But blessed are your eyes, for they see:
and your eares, for they heare.

17 For verily I say vnto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, and haue not seen them, and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them.

18 ¶ Heare ye therefore the parable of the sower.

19 Whensoever a man heareth the woordes of the kingdome, & vnderstandeth it not, the euill one cometh, & catcheth away that which was sown in his heart: and this is he which hath receiued the seede by the way side.

20 And he that receiued the seede in the stony ground, is he which heareth the woord, and incontinently with ioy recei-ueth it.

21 For hath he no roote in himselfe, & dureth but a season: for as soon as tribulation or persecution cometh because of the woord, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that receiued the seede among thornes, is he that heareth the woord: but the care of this world, and the deceitful-nes of riches choke the woord, and he is made vnfruitfull.

23 But he that receiueneth the seede in the good ground, is he that heareth the woord, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundred fold, some sixty fold, and some thirtie fold.

24 ¶ In other parable put he forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his fild.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemie, & sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprong up, & brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the houses-holder, and said vnto him, Master, sow-est not thou good seed in thy fild? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And hee sayde to them, The euill one man hath done this. Then the seruants sayd vnto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them vp?

29 But he sayd, Nay, lest while ye go about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheat.

30 Let both growe together vntill the haruest, and in time of haruest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and binde them in sheaves to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barn.

31 ¶ Another parable he put forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a grain of mustard seed, which a man taketh and soweth in his fild:

32 Which in deepe is the least of all seedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birdes of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

33 ¶ Another parable spake he to them,
The kingdome of heauen is like vnto lea-uen, which a woman taketh and hiddeth in three peckes of meale, till all be leavened.

34 ¶ All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not to them,

35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, I will open my mouth in parables, and will utter the things which haue beene kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, & went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the fild.

37 Then answered he, & said to them, Ye that soweth the good seed, is the Sonne of man,

38 And the fild is the worlde, and the good seed, they are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of the wicked,

39 And the enemie that soweth them, is the deuill, and the haruest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered & burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of this worlde.

41 The Sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which do iniquitie,

42 And shall cast them into a foyrace of fire. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

43 ¶ Then shall the iust men shine as the sunne in the kingdome of their father.
Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 ¶ Again the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the fild, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that fild.

45 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heauen is like to a merchant man, that seeketh good pearles,

46 Who hauing founde a peeble of great price, went, and sold all that he had, and bought it.

47 ¶ Again the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a drave net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kindes of things.

48 Which, when it is full, men drave to lande, and sitte and gather the good into vessels,

And Iacobi Peter, 33 They confesse him to be the Sonne of God. 36 He beareth all that touched the hemme of his garment.

A ¶ that time Herode the Tetrarche heard of the fame of Jesus,

And sayd vnto his seruants, This is Iohn Baptist: & hee is risen againe from the dead, & therefore great workes are wrought by him.

3 For Herode had taken Iohn, & bounde him, and put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philipps wife.

4 For Iohn sayde vnto him, It is not lawful for thee to haue her.

5 And when he would haue put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a Prophet.

6 But when Herodias birthday was kept, the daughter of Herodias daunced before them, and pleased Herode.

7 Wherefore he promised with an othe, that he would giue her whatsoever she would aske.

8 And she being before instructed of her mother, said, Giue me here Iohn Baptistes head in a platter.

9 And the king was sorie: neuertheless because of the othe, and them that sate with him at the table, he commanded it to be giuen her,

10 And sent, and beheaded Iohn in the prison,

11 And his head was brought in a platter, and giuen to the mapde, and she brought it vnto her mother.

12 And his disciples came, and tooke by his bodie, and buried it, and went, and tolde Jesus.

13 ¶ And when Jesus heard it, hee departed thence by shippe into a deserte place, apart. And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him ascore out of the cities.

14 And Jesus went forth and saw a great multitude, and was mooued with compassion toward them, and he healed their sickes.

15 ¶ And when euen was come, his disciples came to him, saying, This is a deserte place, & the houre is already past: let the multitude depart, that they may goe into the townes, and buye them victuals.

16 But Jesus said to them, They haue neede to eate: giue ye them to eat.

17 Then sayd they vnto him, We haue here but five loaves, and two fishes.

18 And he said, Bring them hither to me.

19 And he commaunded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, and tooke the five loaves and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen and blessed, and brake, & gaue the loaves to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eat, and were satisfied, and they took vp of the fragments that remained, twelue baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about five thousand men, beside women and little children.

22 ¶ And straightway Jesus compelled his disciples to enter into a ship, and to go ouer before him, while he sent the multitude away.

23 And as soone as he had sent the multitude away, he went by into a mountaine alone to pray: & when the evening was come, he was there alone.

24 And the ship was now in the middes of the sea, and was tossed with waues; for it was a contrary winde.

25 And in the fourth watch of the night, Jesus went vnto them, walking on the sea.

26 And when his disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit, and cried out for feare.

27 But straightway Jesus spake vnto them, saying, Be of good comfort. It is I: be not afraid.

28 Then Peter answered him, and sayde, Master, if it be thou, bid me come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he said, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the shippe, hee walked on the water, to go to Jesus.

30 But when he sawe a mighty winde, he was afrayd: and as he began to sinke, he cried, saying, Master, saue me.

31 So immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and sayde to him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?

CHAP. XV.

3 Christ excuseth his disciples, & rebuketh the Scribes & Pharisees for transgressing Gods commandments by their owne traditions. 1 The plant that shall be rooted out. 18 Vnto things defile a man. 22 He deliuereth the woman of Canaan's daughter. 26 The bread of the children. 30 He healeth the sicke, 36 And feedeth foure thousand men, beside women and children.

1 Then came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharisees, which were of Ierusalem, saying,

2 Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders: for they a walch not their hands when they eate bread.

3 But he answered and saide vnto them, Why doe ye also transgresse the commandment of God by your tradition?

4 For God hath commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: and hee that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye say, Whosoever shal say to father or mother, Asp the gift that is offered by me, thou wast haue profit.

6 Though he honour not his father, or his mother, shall be free: thus haue ye made the commandment of God of no authoritie by your tradition.

7 Hypocrites, & false prophesied wel of you, saying,

8 This people draweth nere vnto mee with their mouth, and honoureth mee with the lippes, but their heart is farre off from me.

9 But in vaine they worship me, teaching for doctrines, mens precepts.

10 Then he called a multitude vnto him, and said to them, Heare and vnderstand.

11 That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which cometh out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 Then came his disciples, & saide vnto him, Perceiuest thou not, that the Pharisees are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But he answered and saide, A euery plant which mine heavenly father hath not planted, shall be rooted by.

14 Let them alone: they be the blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blinde leade the blinde, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 Then answered Peter, and saide to him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Then saide Iesus, Are ye yet without vnderstanding?

17 Perceiue ye not yet, that whatsoeuer entereth into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which procede out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart come euill thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, theftes, false testimonies, flatteries, 20 These are the things, which defile the man: but to eate with vniwashed hands, defileth not the man.

21 And Iesus went thence, and departed into the coastes of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And behold, a woman a Cananite came out of the same coastes, and cried, saying vnto him, Haue mercie on me, O Ioyde, the sonne of Dauid: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuill.

23 But he answered her not a word. Then came to him his disciples, and besought him, saying, Send her away, for she crieth after vs.

24 But he answered, and saide, I am not sent, but vnto the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

25 Yet she came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, helpe me.

26 And he answered, and saide, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to whelpes.

27 But she said, Truth, Lord: yet in deede the whelpes eate of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 And Iesus went away from thence, & came nere vnto the sea of Galilee, and went by into a mountaine & sate downe there.

30 And great multitudes came vnto him, hauing with them, hark, blinde, dumme,

31 In so much that the multitude wondred, to see the dumme speake, the maimed whole, the hark to goe, and the blinde to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 Then Iesus called his disciples vnto him, and saide, I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue continued with mee alreadie thre dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I will not let them depart fasting, least they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples saide vnto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wilderness, as should suffice so great a multitude?

34 And Iesus said vnto them, How many loaves haue ye? And they saide, Seven, and a few litle fishes.

35 Then he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground,

36 And tooke the seven loaves, and the fishes, and gaue thanks, and brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

1 The Pharises require a token. 6 Iesus warneth his disciples of the Poyntes doctrine. 16 The confession of Peter. 19 The keyes of heauen. 24 The faithfull must heare the crosse. 25 To winne or lose the selfe. 27 Christes coming.

1 Then came the Pharises and Sadduces, and did tempt him, desiring him to shewe them a signe from heauen.

2 But he answered, and said vnto them, when it is euening, ye say, I see weathers: for the skie is red.

3 And in the morning ye say, To day shall be a tempest: for the skie is red and lowring. O hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the skie, and can ye not discern the signes of the times?

4 The wicked generation, & adulterous seeketh a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen it, but the signe of the Prophet Jonas: so he left them, and departed.

5 And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread with them.

6 Then Iesus said vnto them. Take heed and beware of the leauen of the Pharises and Sadduces.

7 And they thought in themselves, saying, It is because we haue brought no bread.

8 But Iesus knowing it, said vnto them, O ye of little faith, why thinke you thus in your hearts, because ye haue brought no bread?

9 Doe ye not yet perceiue, neither remember the fise loaves, when there were fise thousand men, and howe many baskets toke ye vp?

10 Neither the seuen loaves when there were foure thousand men, and how many baskets tooke ye vp?

11 Why perceiue ye not, that I saide not vnto you concerning breade, but ye should beware of the leaue of the Pharises and Sadduces?

12 Then understood they that he had not saide, that they should beware of the leauen of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharises and Sadduces.

13 ¶ Nowe when Iesus came into the coastes of Cesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Sonne of man am?

14 And they said. Some say, John Baptist: and some, Elias: and others, Ieremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He saide vnto them, But whom say ye that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter answered, and said, Thou art the Christ, the Sonne of the liuing God.

17 And Iesus answered, and said to him,

Blessed art thou, Simon, the sonne of Jonas: for a flesh and blood hath not reuelled it vnto thee, but my Father which is in heauen.

18 And I say also vnto thee, that thou art Peter, & vpon this rocke I will build my Church: and the gates of hel shall not ouercome it.

19 And I will giue vnto thee the keyes of the kingdome of heauen, and whatsoever thou shalt binde vpon earth, shall be bound in heauen: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth, shall be loosed in heauen.

20 Then he charged his disciples, that they should tell no man that he was Iesus the Christ.

21 ¶ From that time forth Iesus began to shewe vnto his disciples, that he must goe vnto Ierusalem, and suffer many things of the Elders, & of the Priests, and Scribes, and be slaine, & rise againe the third day.

22 Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him, saying, Master, pittie thy selfe: this shall not be vnto thee.

23 Then he turned backe, & said vnto Peter, Get thee behinde me, Satan: thou art an offence vnto me, because thou wilt standest not in things that are of god, but the things that are of men.

24 Iesus then saide to his disciples, ¶ If any man will followe me, let him forsake himselfe, and take vpon his crosse, and followe me.

25 For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, shall finde it.

26 For what shall it profite a man, though he should winne the whole world, if he lose his owne soule? or what shall a man giue for recompence of his soule?

27 For the Sonne of man shall come in the gloyp of his Father with his Angels, and then shall he giue to euery man according to his doores.

28 Verily I saye vnto you, there be some of them that stande here, which shall not tast of death, till they haue seene the Sonne of man come in his kingdome.

 While hee yet spake, beholde, a bright cloude shadowed them: and behold, there came a voyce out of the cloude, saying, This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased: heare him.

 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would: likewise shall also the Sonne of man suffer of them.
 Then the disciples perceived that hee spake vnto them of Iohn Baptist.

 And Iesus rebuked the deuill, and hee went out of him: and the child was healed at that houre.
 Then came the disciples to Iesus as part, and sayde, Why could not we cast him out?
 And Iesus said vnto them, Because of your vnbelief: for I verely I say vnto you, if ye haue faith as much as is a grain of mustard seede, ye shall say vnto this mountaine, & thou shalt hence to ponde place, and it shall remove: and nothing shall be impossible vnto you.

master commanded him to be solde, and his wife, and his children, and all that he had, and the dette to be payde.

26 The seruant therefore fell downe, and to forgive and be valued at thre score pounds: some also were greater,

and some lesse.

See that ye despise not one of these little ones: for I say vnto you, that in heauen their Angels alwayes behold the face of my Father which is in heauen.

For the Sonne of man is come to save that which was lost.

Howe thinke ye? If a man haue an hundred sheepe, and one of them be gone astray, doeth he not leaue ninetie & nine, and goe into the mountaines, and seeke that which is gone astray?

And if so be that he finde it, verely I say vnto you, he reioiceth moze of y^e sheepe, then of the ninetie and nine which went not astray.

So is it not the will of your Father which is in heauen, that one of these little ones should perill.

Whosoener, if thy brother trespass as gainst thee, goe, & tell him his fault betweene thee and him alone: if hee heare thee, thou hast wonne thy brother.

But if he heare thee not, take thee with thee one or two, that by the mouth of two or thre witnesses euery word may be confirmed.

And if hee will not vouchsafe to heare thee, tell it vnto the Church: and if he refuse to heare the Church also, let him be vnto thee as an heathen man, and a Publicane.

Verely I say vnto you, Whatsoeuer ye binde on earth, shall be bound in heauen: and whatsoeuer ye loose on earth, shall be loosed in heauen.

Again, Verely I say vnto you, that if two of you shall agree in earth vpon any thing, whatsoeuer they shall desire, it shall be giuen them of my Father which is in heauen.

For where two or thre are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the middest of them.

Then came Peter to him, and said, Master, how oft shall my brother sinne asgainst me, and I shall forgive him? vnto seuen times?

Iesus saide vnto him, I say vnto thee, vnto seuen times, but vnto seuentie times seuen times.

Therefore is the kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine King, which would take a count of his seruants.

And when he had begun to recken, one was brought vnto him, which ought him thre hundred talents.

And because he had nothing to pay, his master commanded him to be solde, and his wife, and his children, and all that he had, and the dette to be payde.

The seruant therefore fell downe, and besought him, saying, Master, appeale thyne anger towarde mee, and I will pay thee all.

Then that seruants master had compassion, and loosed him, & forgave him the dette.

Then that seruants master had com-

But when the seruant was departed, saying, Paye me that thou owest.

Then his felowe fell downe at his feete, and besought him, saying, I appeale thine anger towarde mee, and I will pay thee

Yet hee woulde not, but went and cast him into prison, til he should pay the bet.

And when his other felowes saw what was done, they were very soze, & came, and declared vnto their master all that was done.

Then his master called him, and said to him, O thou seruant, I forgave thee all that dette, because thou prayedst me.

Oughtest thou also to haue had p^{er} tie on thy fellowe, euen as I had p^{er} tie on thee?

So his master was wroth, and deli-uered him to the iarples, til he should paye all that was due to him.

So likewise shall mine heauenly Fa-

18 Behold, we goe by to Ierusalem, & the house of man shalbe deliuered vnto the chiefe Priestes, and vnto the Scribes, & they shall condemne him to death.

19 And he shal deliuer him to the Gentiles, to mocke, and to scourge, and to crucifie him: but the third day he shal rise againe.

20 * Then came to him the mother of Ze-bedeus children with her sonnes, wotshipping him, and desiring a certain thing of him.

21 And he sayd vnto her, What wouldest thou? She said to him, Graunt that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, & the other at thy left hand in thy kingdome.

22 And Iesus answered, and sayde, Pe knowe not what ye aske. Are ye able to drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of,
and to be baptized with baptilme that I shalbe baptized with? They sayde to him, We are able.

23 And he said vnto them, Ye shall drinke indeede of my cup, and shalbe baptized with the baptisme, that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is not mine to giue: but it shalbe giuen to them, for whom it is prepared of my father.

24 * And when the other terme heard this,
they bidained at the two brethren.

25 Therefore Iesus called them vnto him, and said, Ye know that the lordes of the Gentiles haue domination ouer them, and they that are great, exercise autho-ritie ouer them.

26 But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your seruant,

27 And whosoever will be chiefe among you, let him be your seruant,

28 * Euen as the sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransom of many.

29 ¶ And as they departed from Jeru-scho, a great multitude followed him.

30 And beholde, two blinde men, sitting by the way side, when they hearde that Iesus passed by, cried, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on vs.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should holde their peace: but they cried the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on vs.

32 Then Iesus stood still, and called them, and said, What wil ye that I should doe to you?

33 They said to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Iesus moued his compassion, touched their eyes, & immediatly their eyes received sight, and they followed him.

25 Iohns baptisme. 28 The two sonnes. 33 The parable of the husbandmen. 42 The corner stone reified. 43 The Jewes reified, and the Gentiles received.

And when they drew nether to Ierusalem, & were come to Bethphage, vnto the mount of the Olives, then a by this entrie sent Iesus two disciples, saying to them, Go into the towne that is ouer against you, and anon pee shall finde an asse bounde, and a colt with her: loose them, and bring them vnto me.

And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye, that the Lord hath neede of them, and straightway he will let them goe.

All this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, ¶ Tell ye the daughter of Sion, Beholde, thy king cometh vnto thee, meekely, and sitting vpon an asse, and a colt, the foale of an asse vnto the pike.

So the disciples went, and did as Iesus had commanded them,

And brought the asse and the colt, and put on them their clothes, and set him thereon.

And a great multitude spread their garments in the way: and other cut downe branches from the trees, and strewed them in the way.

Moreover, the people that went before, and they also that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna the sonne of Dauid: blessed be hee that cometh in the name of the Lord, Hosanna thou which art in the highest heauens.

¶ And when he was come into Ierusalem, at the citie was incoured, saying, Who is this?

And the people said, This is Iesus the Prophet of Nazareth in Galilee.

¶ And Iesus went into the Temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that solde dones.

¶ And said to them, It is writtē, Mine house shalbe called the house of prayer: but ye haue made it a den of theues.

¶ Then the blinde and the halte came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

¶ But when the chiefe Priestes and Scribes saw the miracles that hee did, and the children crying in the Temple, and saying, Hosanna the Sonne of Dauid, they bidained.

¶ And said vnto him, Hearest thou what these say? And Iesus sayde vnto them, Yea: read ye neuer, * By the mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast made perfect the praise?

¶ So he left them, and went out of the citie vnto Bethania, and lodged there.

¶ And in the morning as he returned into the citie, he was hungrie,

¶ And seeing a figge tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaues onely, and sayde to it, Neuer fruit grow on thee henceforward. And anon the figge tree withered.

¶ And when his disciples sawe it, they marvelled, saying, How came it to passe that the figge tree withered?

¶ And Iesus answered, & said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, if ye shall say, This figge tree withereth, it shall wither.

¶ And if ye shall say, This figge tree flourisheth, it shall flourish. ¶ Verely I say vnto you, if ye shall say, This figge tree flourisheth, it shall flourish.

¶ Werch I say vnto you, if ye haue faith, and doubt not, ye shall not only do that, which I haue done to the figge tree, but also if ye say vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, it shall be done.

¶ And whatsoever ye shall aske in prayer, if ye beleue, ye shall receiue it.

¶ And when hee was come into the Temple, the chiefe Priestes, and the Elders of the people came vnto him, as hee was teaching, & sayde, Wh what authoritie dost thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie?

¶ Then Iesus answered & sayd vnto the, I also will aske of you a certaine thing, which if ye tel me, I likewise will tell you by what authoritie I do these things.

¶ The baptisme of John whence was it? from heauen, or of men? Then they reasoned among them selues, saying, If we shall say, from heauen, he wil say vnto vs, Why did ye not then beleue him?

¶ And if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all hold John as a Prophet.

¶ Then they answered Iesus, and sayde, We cannot tell. And he sayd vnto them, Neither tell I you by what authoritie I do these things.

¶ But what thinke ye? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the eldier, and sayde, Sonne, go, and worke to day in my vineyard.

¶ But he answered, and sayd, I wil not: yet afterward he repented himselfe, and went.

¶ Then came he to the seconde, and sayde likewise. And he answered, and sayde, I will go: yet he went not.

¶ Whether of them twaine did the wil of the father? They sayd vnto him, The first. Iesus sayd vnto them, Werch I say vnto you, that the Publicanes and the harlots shall goe before you into the kingdome of God.

¶ For John came vnto you in the way of righteousness, & ye beleued him not: but the Publicanes, and the harlots beleued him, and ye, though ye sawe it, were not moued with repentance afterward, that ye might beleue him.

¶ Heare another parable. There was a certaine householder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a vineperfe therein, and built a towre, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange country.

¶ And when the time of the fruite dyetle nere, he sent his seruants to his husbandmen to receiue the fruites thereof.

¶ And the husbandmen toke his seruants and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

¶ Again he sent other seruants, more then the first: and they did the like vnto them.

¶ But last of all he sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

¶ But when the husbandmen sawe the sonne, they sayde among them selues,

¶ This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and let vs take his inheritance.

¶ So theyooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

¶ When therefore the lord of the vinesyard shall come, what will hee doe to those husbandmen?

¶ They sayd vnto him, He wil cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer him the fruites in their seasons.

¶ Iesus sayde vnto them, Heare ye neuer in the Scriptures, The stone which the builders refused, the same is made the chiefe stone, and it is maruelous in our eyes.

¶ Therefore say I vnto you, the kingdome of God shall be taken from you, & shall be giuen to a nation, which shall bring forth the fruites thereof.

¶ And whosoever shall fall on this stone, he shall be broken: but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grinde him to powder.

¶ And when the chiefe Priestes, & Pharisees had heard his parables, they began to criue that he spake of them.

¶ And they seeking to lay hands on him, feared the people, because theyooke him as a Prophet.

¶ Then Iesus answered, & spake vnto them againe in parables, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine King which married his sonne.

¶ And sent forth his seruants, to call them that were bid to the wedding, but they would not come.

¶ Again he sent forth other seruants, saying, Tel them which are bidden, Behold, I haue prepared my dinner: mine oven is warme, and my fattinges are killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the marriage.

¶ But they made light of it, & went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his merchandise.

¶ And the remnantooke his seruants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

¶ But when the king heard it, he was wroth, and sent forth his warriers, and destroyed those murderers, and burnt by their crie.

¶ Then said he to his seruants, Truly the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

¶ Soe he therefore out into the highways, and as many as ye finde, bidde them to the marriage.

¶ So those seruants went out into the highways, and gathered together all such as they found, both good and bad: so the wedding was furnished with guests.

¶ Then the king came in, to see the guests, and sawe there a man which had not on a wedding garment.

¶ And he sayde vnto him, Friend, howe comest thou in hither, not having a wedding garment?

And he was speechles. 23 Then sayde the king to the seruantes, Bind him hand & fote: take him away, and cast him into utter darkness: there shalbe weeping and qualling of tēth. 24 For many are called, but few chosen. 25 Then went y^e Pharises & scribes come, fell howe they might tangle him in talke. 26 And they sent vnto him their disciples, with the Herodians saying, Master, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God truly, neither carest thou for any man: for thou considerest not the person of men. 27 Tell vs therefore, howe thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not? 28 But Iesus perceived their wickednes, & said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites? 29 Shew me the tribute money. And they brought him a pennie. 30 And he sayd vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription? 31 They said vnto him, Cēsar. Then sayd he vnto them, Giue therefore to Cēsar, the things which are Cēsar, & giue vnto God, those things which are Gods. 32 And when they heard it, they marvelled, and left him, and went their way. 33 ¶ The same day the Sadduces came to him (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him. 34 Saying, Master, Moyses said, If a man die, hauing no children, let his brother marrie his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother. 35 Nowe there were with vs seuen brethren, and the first married a wife, and deceased: and hauing no issue, left his wife vnto his brother. 36 Likewise also the second, and the third, vnto the seuen. 37 And last of all the woman died also. 38 Therefore in y^e resurrection, whose wife shall she be of these seuen? for all had her. 39 Then Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Ye are deceiued, not knowing the Scriptures: nor the power of God. 40 For in the resurrection they neither marrie wiues, nor wiuces are bestowed in marriage, but are as the Angels of God in heauen. 41 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto pou of God, saying, 42 I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing. 43 And when y^e people heard it, they were astonished at his doctrine. 44 ¶ But when the Pharises had heard, that he had put the Sadduces to silence, they attempted together. 45 And one of them which was an eyr pounder of the Lawe, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying, 46 Master, which is the great commandment in the Lawe?

37 Iesus sayd to him, Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy soule, and with all thy mind. 38 This is the first and y^e greater commandment. 39 And the second is like vnto this, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. 40 On these two commandmentes hangeth the whole Lawe and the Prophets. 41 ¶ While the Pharises were gathered together, Iesus asked them. 42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? whose sonne is he? They said vnto him, Dauid. 43 He sayde vnto them, Wolue then death Dauid in spirit call him Lord, saying, 44 The Lord sayde to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, & I will make thine enemies thy footstool. 45 If then Dauid call him Lord, howe is he his sonne? 46 And none could answer him a worde, neither durst any from that daye foorth aske him any more questions.

matters of the Lawe, as iudgement, and haue done, and not to haue left the other.

26 ¶ Thou blinde Pharise, cleanse first the inside of the cup & platter, that the outside of them may be cleane also.

27 Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye are like unto y^e whited tombes, which appeare beautifull outward, but are within full of dead mens bones, and of all filthines.

28 So are ye also: for outwardlye ye ap-peare righteous vnto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisie and iniquitie.

29 ¶ Woe be unto you, Scribes & Pharisies, hypocrites: for ye builde the tombes of the Prophets, and garnish the sepul-churs of the righteous,

30 And say, If we had bene in the dayes

Prophets.

31 So then see be witnesses vnto your selues, that ye are the children of them that murdered the Prophets.

32 Fulfil ye also y^e measure of your fathers.
33 ¶ Serpents, the generation of hypocrites, how should ye escape y^e damnation of hel?

34 Wherefore beholde. I sende vnto you Prophets, & wise men, & Scribes, and of them ye shall kill and crucifie: and of the children of them shall ye scourge in your Synagogs,

35 That vpon y^e you may come all y^e righting of the Temple.

2 And Iesus saide vnto them, See ye not all these things? Verely I say vnto you,

3 And as he saide vpon the mount of Oli-ues, his disciples came vnto him as part, saying, Tell vs when these things shalbe, and what signe shalbe of thy coming, & of the end of the world.

4 And Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Take heed that no man deceiue you.

5 For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.

6 And ye shall heare of warres, & rumors

Then the kingdome of heauen shalbe likened vnto ten virgins. which tooke their lampes, and went to meete the bydegrome.

And fise of them were wise, and fise foolish.

The foolish tooke their lampes, but tooke none oyle with them.

But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.

Now while the bydegrome taried long, all slumbered and slept.

And at midnight there was a cry made, Beholde, the bydegrome cometh: goe out to meete him.

Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lampes.

And the foolish said to the wise, Give vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.

But the wise answered, saying, We feare least there wil not be pnnough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sell, & buye for your selues.

And while they went to buye, the bydegrome came: and they that were readie, went in with him to the wedding, & the gate was shut.

Afterwardes came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

But he answered, and saide, Verely I say vnto you, I know you not.

Watch therefore: for ye know neither the day, nor the houre, when the Sonne of man will come.

For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his seruantes, and deliuered to them his goods.

And vnto one he gaue fise & talentes, and to another two, and to another one, to euerp man after his owne habilitie, and straightway went from home.

Then he that had receiued the fise talentes, went & occupied with them, and gained other fise talentes.

Likewise also, he that receiued two, he also gained other two.

But he that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hidde his masters money.

But after a long season, the master of those seruantes came, and reckoned with them.

Then came he that had receiued fise talentes, and brought other fise talentes, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me fise talentes: behold, I haue gained with them other fise talentes.

Then his master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant & faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into thy masters loy.

Also he that had receiued two talentes, came and said, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me two talentes: beholde, I haue gained two other talentes with them.

His master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant, & faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into thy masters loy.

Then he which had receiued the one talent, came and said, Master, I knew that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowest not, and gatherest where thou strawest not:

I was therefore afrayde, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: beholde, thou hast thine owne.

And his master answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou evil seruant, & faithfull, thou knowest that I reape where I sow, and gather where I strawe not.

Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming should I haue receiued mine owne with vantage.

Take therefore the talent from him, & giue it vnto him which hath ten talentes.

For vnto euerp man that hath, it shal be giuen, and he shal haue abundance, and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shalbe taken away.

Cast therefore that vnprofitable seruant into utter darknesse: there shalbe weeping, and gnashing of teeth.

And when the Sonne of man cometh in his gloyp, & all the holy Angels with him, then shal he sit vpon the throne of his gloyp.

And before him shalbe gathered all nations, & he shal separate them one from another, as a shepheard separateth the sheepe from the goates.

And he shal set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goates on the left.

Then shal the king say to them on his right hande, Come ye blessed of my father: inherit ye the kingdome prepared for you from the foundations of the world.

For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me meat: I thirsted, & ye gaue me drinke: I was a stranger, and ye lodged me:

I was naked, and ye clothed me: I was sicke, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came vnto me.

Then shal the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or a thirst, and gaue thee drinke?

And when saw we thee a stranger, and lodged thee? or naked, and clothed thee?

Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came vnto thee?

And the king shal answer & say vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, in as much as ye haue done it vnto one of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me.

Then shall he say vnto them on the left hand, Depart from me ye cursed, into everlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels.

For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me no meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue me no drinke:

I was a stranger, & ye lodged me not: I was naked, and ye clothed me not: sicke, and in prison, and ye visited me not.

Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or a thirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sicke, or in prison, & did not minister vnto thee?

CAP. XXVI.

3 Conspiracie of the Priests against Christ, to He execute Magdalen. 16 The institution of the Lords Supper. 21 The disciples weakenes. 28 The treason of Iudas. 62 The sword. 64 Because Christ calleth himselfe the sonne of God, he is iudged worthe to die. 69 Peter denieth, and repenteth.

1 Ad as it came to passe, when Iesus had finished all these sayings, he said vnto his disciples,

2 Pe know that within two daies is the Passouer, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered to be crucified.

3 Then assembled together the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders of the people into the hall of the high Priest, called Caiaphas,

4 And consulted how they might take Iesus by subtiltie, and kill him.

5 But they said, Not on the feast day, lest any brynne be among the people.

6 And when Iesus was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper,

7 There came vnto him a woman, which had a bote of very costly oymntment, and powred it on his head, as he sate at the table.

8 And when his disciples saw it, they had indignation, saying, What needed this waste?

9 For this oymntment might haue bene solde for much, and bene giuen to the poore.

10 And Iesus knowing it, said vnto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for she hath wrought a good worke vpon me.

11 For ye haue the poore alwayes with you, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

12 For in that he poured this oymntment on my body, he did it to bury me.

13 Verely I say vnto you, Where soeuer this Gospel shall be preached throughout all the world, there shall also this that she hath done, be spoken of for a memoriall of her.

14 Then one of the twelve, called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe priests,

15 And said, What wilt thou giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? and they appointed vnto him thirtie pieces of siluer.

16 And from that time, he sought opportunitie to betray him.

17 Now on the first day of the feast of vnleavened bread the disciples came to Iesus, saying vnto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the Passouer?

18 And he said, Go into the citie to such a man, & say to him, The master saith, I desire to be at hand: I will keepe the Passouer at thine house with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Iesus had giuen them charge, and made readye the Passouer.

20 So when the euen was come, he sate downe with the twelve.

21 And as they did eat, he said, Verely I say vnto you, one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowful, and began euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?

23 And he answered, and saide, He that sitteth with his hande with me in the dish, he shall betray me.

24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whome the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

25 Then Iudas which betrayed him, answered, and saide, To it I, Master? He said vnto him, Thou hast said it.

26 And as they did eat, Iesus took the bread: and when he had giuen thanks, he brake it, and gaue it to the disciples, & said, Take, eat: this is my body.

27 Also he took the cup, and when he had giuen thanks, he gaue it them, saying, Drinke ye all of it.

28 For this is my blood of the new testament, that is shed for many, for the remission of sinnes.

29 I say vnto you, that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruit of the vine vntill that day, when I shall drinke it newe with you in my fathers kingdom.

30 And when they had sung a Psalm, they went out into the mount of Olives.

31 And then saide Iesus vnto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheepe of the flock shall be scattered.

32 But after I am risen againe, I will go before you into Galilee.

33 But Peter answered, & said vnto him, Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet will I neuer be offended.

34 And Iesus said vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cock crow, thou shalt denie me thrise.

35 Peter said vnto him, Though I should die with thee, yet will I not denie thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, and said vnto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I goe and praye.

37 After he tooke Peter, & the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waite sorrowfull, & grievously troubled.

38 Then said Iesus vnto them, My soules is very heauie, euen vnto the death: for this cause, I will waite here, and watch with me.

39 So he went a litle further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my father, if it be possible, let this cup passe from me: nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 After he came vnto his disciples, & found gods anger kind them a sleepe, and said to Peter, What? couldst thou not watch with me one houre?

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit is ready, but the flesh is weak.

42 Again he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my father, if this haue determined, & therefore was ready to obey: but he prayeth as the faithful do in their troubles, & our respect of the eternall counsell of God.

43 And therefore we must continually fight against the flesh.

and the Sonne of man is giuen into the hands of sinners.

46 Rise, let vs goe: behold, he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 And while he yet spake, lo, Iudas, one of the twelve, came, and with him a great multitude with swords & staves, from y hie Priestes & Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomesoever I shall kisse, that is he, lay holde on him.

49 And forthw he came to Iesus, and said,
God saue thee, Master, and kised him.

50 Then Iesus saide vnto him, Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they, & layd hands on Iesus, & tooke him.

51 And behold, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hande, and giewe his sworde, andooke a seruant of the hie Priest, and smote off his eare.

52 Then said Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sword into his place: for all that take the sword, shall perish with the sworde.

53 Either thinkest thou, y I cannot nowe pray to my father, and he will giue me more then twelue legions of Angells?

54 Howe then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same howe said Iesus to the multitude, He be come out as it were against a thiefe, with swordes & staves, to take me: I fate daily teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But al this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled.
Then all the disciples forsooke him, & fled.

57 And they tooke Iesus, and led him to Cataphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him a faw off vnto
the hie Priestes hal, and went in, and fate with the seruants to see the ende.

59 Helwe the chiefe Priestes and the Elders, and all the whole Councell, sought false witnesses against Iesus, to put him
to death.

60 But they founde none, and though many false witnesses came, yet founde they none: but at the last came two false witnesses,

61 And said, This man said, I can destroy the Temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

62 Then the chiefe priest arose, and sayde to him, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witness against thee?

63 But Iesus held his peace. Then y chief priest answered, & said to him, I charge thee by the liuing God, that thou tell vs, if thou be the Christ the Sonne of God.

64 Iesus said to him, Thou hast sayde it: neuertheless I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man, sitting at the right hand of the power of God, & come in the cloudes of the heauen.

65 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, saying, he hath blasphemed: what haue
we any more neede of witnesses? behold, now ye haue heard his blasphemie.

66 What thinke ye? They answered, and sayd, He is worthy to die.

67 Then spake they in his face, and buffeted him: and other smote him with their rodde,

68 Saying, I Prophecie to vs, O Christ, who is he that smote thee?

69 y Peter fate without in the hall: and a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile.

70 But he denied before them all, saying,
I wor: not what thou sayest.

71 And when he went out into the porch, an other maide saue him, and sayde vnto them that were there, This ma was also with Iesus of Nazaret.

72 And againe he denied with an other, saying, I knowe not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stood by, & said vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech bewrayeth thee.

to put them into the treasure, because it is the price of blood.

And they tooke counsel, & bought with them a potters helde, for the buriall of strangers.

Wherefore that helde is called, The helde of blood, until this day.

Then was fulfilled which was spoken by Ieremias the Prophet, saying, And they tooke thirtie silver pieces, the price of him that was valued, whome they of the children of Israel valued.

And they gaue them for the potters helde, as the Lord appointed me.

And Iesus stoode before the gouernour, and the gouernour asked him, saying, Art thou the king of the Jewes? Iesus said vnto him, Thou sayest it.

And when he was accused of the chiefe Priests & Elders, he answered nothing.

Then saide Pilate vnto him, Hearest thou not how many things they lay against thee?

But he answered him not to one word, insomuch that the gouernour marvelled greatly.

Nowe at the feast, the gouernour was wont to deliver vnto the people a prisoner, whome they would.

And they had then a notable prisoner, called Barabbas.

When they were then gathered together, Pilate saide vnto them, Whether will ye that I let loose vnto you Barabbas, or Iesus which is called Christ?

For he knewe well, that for enuie they had deliuered him.

Also when he was set downe vpon the iudgement seat, his wife sent to him, saying, Haue thou nothing to do with that iust man: for I haue suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason of him.

But the chiefe Priests and the Elders had perswaded the people, that they should aske Barabbas, and should desist Iesus.

Then the gouernour answered, & sayde vnto them, Whether of the twaine will ye that I let loose vnto you? And they saide, Barabbas.

Pilate said vnto them, What shal I do then with Iesus which is called Christ?

They al said to him, Let him be crucified.

Then saide the gouernour, But what euil hath he done? Then they cryed the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

When Pilate saue that he auaded nothing, but that more tumult was made, he tooke water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this iust man: looke you to it.

Then answered al the people, and sayd, His blood be on vs, and on our children.

Thus let he Barabbas loose vnto them, and scourged Iesus, & deliuered him to be crucified.

Then the souldiers of the gouernour tooke Iesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band.

And they stripped him, and put vpon

him a scarlet robe,

And platted a crowne of thornes, and put it vpon his head, and a reede in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God saue thee king of the Jewes,

And spitted vpon him, & tooke a reede,

And smote him on the head

Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, & put his owne raiment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

And as they came out, they founde a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his Crosse.

And when they came vnto the place called Golgotha, (that is to say, the place of dead men: skulles)

They gaue him vineger to drinke, mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drinke.

And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lottes, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, They deuised in garments among them, and vpon my vesture did cast lottes.

And they sat, and watched him there.

They set vp also ouer his head his cause written, THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEWEES.

And there were two theues crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left.

And they that passed by, reviled him, wagging their heads,

And saying, Thou that destroest the Temple, & buidest it in thre dayes, saue thy selfe: if thou be the Sonne of God, come downe from the crosse.

Likewise also the hie priestes mocking him, with the Scribes, and Elders, and Pharisees, said,

He saued others, but he cannot saue him selfe: if he be the king of Israel, let him now come downe from the crosse, & we will beleue him.

He trusted in God, let him deliuer him now, if he wil haue him: for he said, I am the Sonne of God.

That saue also the heues which were crucified with him, call in his death.

Nowe from the first houre was there darknesse ouer all the lande, vnto the ninth houre.

And about the ninth houre Iesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani: that is, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, said, This man calleth Elias.

And straightway one of them ranne, and tooke a sponge, and filled it with vineger, & put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke.

Other saide, Let be, let vs see, if Elias wil come and saue him.

Then Iesus cryed againe with a loud

53 And came out of the graues after his resurrection, & went into the 4 holp Cite, and appeared unto many.

54 When the Centurion, and they that were with him watching Iesus, saw the earthquake, and the things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Turpe this was the Sonne of God.

55 And many women were there, beholding him a farre off, which had followed Iesus from Galile, ministering unto him.

56 Among whome was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James and Ioseph, and the mother of Zebedeus sonnes.

57 And when the euen was come, there came a rich man of Arimathea, named Ioseph, who had also himselfe bene Iesus discipole.

58 He went to Pilate, and asked the bodye of Iesus. Then Pilate commaunded the body to be deliuered.

59 So Ioseph tooke the body, and wrayped it in a cleane linen cloth,

60 And put it in his new tombe, which he had hewen out in a rock, & rolled a great stone to the doore of the sepulchre, & departed.

61 And there was Mary Magdalene, & the other Mary sitting ouer against the sepulchre.

62 Now the next day that followed the Preparatio of the Sabbath, the Priests and Pharisees assembled to Pilate, 63 And said, Sir, we remember that that deceiver saide, while he was yet aliue, Within three dayes I wil rise.

64 Command therefore, that the sepulchre be made sure until the third day, least his disciples come by night, and steale him away, & say vnto the people, He is risen from the dead: so that the last 4 error be wofle then the first.

65 Then Pilate said vnto them, Ye haue a watch: goe, and make it sure as ye know.

66 And they went, and made the sepulchre 4 sure with the watch, and sealed the stone.

1 Now in the 1 end of the 1 Sabbath, when the first day of the weeke began to dawne, Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary came to see the sepulchre.

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the 2 Angel of the Loyde descended from heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore, & satte vpon it.

3 And his countenance was like lightening, and his raiment whire as snowe.

4 And for feare of him, the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Feare ye not: for I knowe that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified:

6 He is not here, for he is risen, as he said: come, see the place where the Loyde was laide,

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead: & behold, he goeth before you into Galile: there ye shall see him: lo, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great 4 ay, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you, And they came, and tooke him by the fete, and worshipped him.

10 Then said Iesus vnto them, Be not afraid: goe, and tell my brethren, that they go into Galile, & there shall they see me.

11 Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the cite, & shewed vnto the hie Priests all the things that were done.

12 And they gathered them together with the Elders, and tooke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the souldiers, 13 Saying, Saye, The disciples came by night, & stole him away while we slept.

14 And if the gouernour heare of this, we wil perswade him, & saue you harmles.

15 So they tooke the money, & did as they were taught: and this 4 saying is wropt among the Jewes vnto this day.

16 Then the cleuen disciples went into Galile, into a mountaine, where Iesus had appointed them.

17 And when they saue him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.

CHAP. I.

2 The office, doctrine and life of Iohn the Baptist. 9 Christ is baptized, 13 He preacheth, 17 Callesth the fishers. 23 Christ healeth the man with the unclean spirit, 27 New doctrine. 29 He healeth Peters mother in law. 34 The deuis know him. 41 He cleanseth the leper, and healeth diuers others.

In the beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ, the sonne of God:

As it is written in the Prophets, Beholde, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

John did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptism of amendment of life, for remission of finnes.

And all the countrey of Iudea, and they of Ierusalem went out unto him, & were all baptized of him in the riuer Jordan, confessing their finnes.

Now John was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdell of a skin about his loynes; and hee did eate Locusts and wilde honie.

And preached, saying, A stronger then I, cometh after me, whose shoes I am not worthy to shoue downe, and vnloose.

Truely it is, I haue baptized you with water; but he will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

And it came to passe in those daies, that Iesus came from Nazaret a cite of Galile, and was baptized of John in Jordan.

And as soon as he was come out of the water, Iohn saue the heauens clouen in water, and the holy Ghost descending vpon him like a dove.

Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued sonne, in whome I am wel pleased.

And immediately the Spirit diueth him into the wilderness.

And he was there in the wilderness fourtie daies, & was tempted of Satan: he was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministered vnto him.

Now after that John was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching the Gospel of the kingdome of God.

And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

And as he walked by the sea of Galile, he saue Simon, and Andrew his brother, calling a net into the sea, (for they were fishers.)

Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, & I will make you to be fishers of men.

And straightway they forsooke their nettes, and followed him.

And when he had gone a litle further thence, he saue James the sonne of Zebedeus, and John his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nettes.

And anon he called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the shippe with his hired seruants, and went there with him after him.

So they entred into Capernaum, & straightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

And they were alloued at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

And there was in their Synagogue a man which had an vnclane spirit, & he cried, Saying, What haue we to do with thee, O Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I knowe thee what thou art, euen that thou sayest of God.

And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

And the vnclane spirit tare him, and cried with a loude voyce, and came out of him.

And they were all amazed, so that they demanded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what a new doctrine is this: for he commaundeth the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

And immediately his fame spred abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

And as soon as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.

And Simons wifes mother lay sicke of a feuer, & anon they told him of her.

And he came & tooke her by the hand, and lift her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministered vnto them.

And when euen was come, & the sunne was downe, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with deuils.

And the whole cite was gathered together at the doore.

And he healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and he cast out many deuils, & suffered not the deuils to say that they knew him.

And in the morning very early, before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

And Simon, and they that were with him, followed after him.

39 And he preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galilee, and call the devils

40 ¶ And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, & kneeled downe vnto him, and said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.
41 And Jesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, & touched him, and said unto him, I will be thou cleane.

he was made cleane.

Moses commaunded, for a testimoniall

45 But when he was departed, he began to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Jesus coulde no more openly enter into the cite, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

CHAP. 11.

3 He healeth the man of the palse. 5 He forgiveth sinnes. 14 He calleth Leuit the custome. 16 He casteth out sinners. 18 He excuseth his disciples, as touching fasting, and keeping the Sabbath day.
1 After a fewe daies, he entred into Cas-sarea, and came to Capernaum againe, and it was noised that he was in the house.
2 And anon, many gathered together, in so much that the places about the doore could not receiue any more: and he preached the word vnto them.
3 And there came vnto him, that brought one sicke of a palse, borne of foure men.
4 And because they could not come nere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered the rooffe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed, wherein the sicke of the palse lay.
5 Nowe when Jesus sawe their faith, he said to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.
6 And there were certaine of the Scribes, sitting there, & reasoning in their hearts,
Why doth this man speake such blas-phemies? who can forgive sinnes, but God onely?
8 And immediatly when Jesus perceiued in his spirit, & thus they thought with themselues, he said vnto them, Why reason ye these thinges in your hearts?
9 Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palse, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee:
or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed,
and walke?
10 And that ye may knowe, that the Sonne of man hath authority in earth to forgive

sinnes, (he said vnto the sicke of the palse)
11 I say vnto thee, Arise & take vp thy bed, & get thee hence into thine owne house.
12 And by and by he arose, & tooke vp his bed, and went forth before them all, in so much that they were all amazed, & glorified god, saying, We neuer saw such a thing.
13 ¶ Then he went againe toward the sea, and all the people resorted vnto him, and he taught them.
14 ¶ And as Jesus passed by, he saw Leui the sonne of Alphaeus sit at the receite of custome, and said vnto him, Followe me.
And he arose and followed him.
15 ¶ And it came to passe, as Jesus sat at table in his house, many Publicanes & sinners late at table also with Jesus, & his disciples: for there were many that followed him.
16 And when the Scribes and Pharisees saw him eat with the Publicanes & sinners, they said vnto his disciples, How is it, that he eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and sinners?
17 Now when Jesus heard it, he said vnto them, The whole haue no neede of the Physician, but the sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.
18 ¶ And the disciples of John, and the Pharisees did fast, and came and said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of John & of the Pharisees fast, and thy disciples fast not?
19 And Jesus saide vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber fast, whiles the hydegrome is with them: as long as they haue the hydegrome with them, they cannot fast.
20 But the daies shall come, when the hydegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast in those daies.
21 Also no man putteth a piece of a newe cloth in an olde garment: for els the newe piece taketh away the filling, & from the olde, and the breach is worse.
22 Likewise, no man putteth newe wine into olde vessels: for els the newe wine braketh the vessels, and the wine runneth out, and the vessels are loll: but newe wine must be put into new vessels.
23 ¶ ¶ And it came to passe as hee went through the coine on the Sabbath day, that his disciples, as they went on their way, began to plucke the eares of coyne.
24 And the Pharisees said vnto him, Besholder, why do they on the Sabbath day, that which is not lawfull?
25 And he saide to them, I haue neuer read what Dauid did, when he was hungred, and was an hungred, both he, and they
that were with him?
26 Now he went into the house of God, in the daies of Quatrar the hee Dyest, and did eate the shew bread, which were not lawfull to eate, but for the Priests, and gave also to them which were with him?
27 And he saide to them, The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.
28 Wherefore the Sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

CHAP. III.

1 He healeth the man with the dried hand. 14 He chuseth his Apostles. 21 Christ is thought of the worldlings to be beside himselfe. 22 He casteth out the unclean spirit, which the Pharisees ascribe vnto the deuill. 29 Blasphemie against the holy ghost. 35 The brother, sister, and mother of Christ.

Met. 12.9.10.
Iuk.6.6.

1 And he entered againe into the Synagogue, and there was a man which had a withered hand.

2 And they watched him, whether he wold heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him.

3 Then he saide vnto the man which had the withered hand, Rise: stand forth in the middes.

4 And he said to them, Is it lawfull to do a good worke on the Sabbath day, or to do euill: to save the life, or to kill? But they held their peace.

5 Then he looked rounde about on them angrily, mourning also for the hardnes of their hearts, & said to the man, stretch forth thine hande. And he stretched it out: his hande was restored, as whole as the other.

6 And the Pharisees departed, & straightway gathered a councell with the Herodians against him, that they might destroy him.

7 But Iesus answered with his disciples to the sea: and a great multitude followed him from Galilee, and from Iudaea, and from Ierusalem, and from Iordan: and they that dwelled about Tyrrus and Sidon, when they had heard what great things he did came vnto him in great number.

8 And he commanded his disciples, that a ship should waite for him, because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.

9 For he had healed many, insomuch that they pressed vpon him, to touch him as many as had plagues.

10 And when the unclean spirit was salued him, they fell downe before him, & cried, saying, Thou art the sonne of God.

11 And hee sharply rebuked them, saying, For they should not vtter his name.

12 Then he went vp into a mountaine, and called vnto him whome he wold, & they came vnto him.

13 And he appointed twelue to him, which he called apostles, that they should be with him, & that he might send them to preach.

14 And that they might haue power to heale sicknesses, and to cast out deuils.

15 And the first was Simon, and he named him Peter.

16 Then James the sonne of Zebedee, and John, James brother (and named them Boanerges, which is, the sonnes of thunder).

17 And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartolomew, and Mattheu, and Thomas, and James the sonne of Alpheus, & Thaddeus, and Simon the Cananite.

18 And Iudas Iscariot, who also betrayed him, and they came to Ierusalem.

19 And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eat bread.

20 And when his kinsfolkes heard of it, they went out to lay a siege on him: for they thought he had bin beside himselfe.

21 And the Scribes which came from Ierusalem, said, He hath Beelzebub, and through the prince of deuils hee casteth out deuils.

22 But he called them vnto him, and said vnto them in parables, How can Satan drive out Satan?

23 For if a kingdom be deniued against itselfe, that kingdom can not stand.

24 Or if a house be deniued against itselfe, that house cannot continue.

25 So if Satan make insurrection against himselfe, & be deniued, he cannot endure, but is at an ende.

26 As a man can enter into a strong mans house, and take away his goods, except he first binde that strong man, and then spoile his house.

27 Wherfore I saye vnto you, all sinnes shall be forgiven vnto the children of men, & blasphemies, wherwith they blaspheme: but he that blasphemeth against the holy Ghost, shall neuer haue forgiveness, but is culpable of eternal damnation.

28 Because they said, He had an unclean spirit.

29 Then came his brethren and mothers, & stood without, and sent vnto him, and called him.

30 And the people stare about him, & they said vnto him, Beholde, thy mother and thy brethren seeke for thee without.

31 But he answered them, saying, Who is my mother and my brethren?

32 And he looked round about on them, which sat in compass about him, and said, Beholde my mother & my brethren.

33 For whosoever doth the will of God he is my brother, & my sister, and my mother.

CHAP. IIII.

1 By the parables of the sower, and the mustered come, Christ sheweth the state of the kingdom of God.

21 A speciall gift of God to knowe the mysteries of his kingdom. 37 He stillsh the tempest of the sea which obeyed him.

1 And he began againe to teach by the sea side, and there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that he entered into a ship, and sat in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land.

2 And he taught them many things in parables, and sayde vnto them, In his doctrine,

3 Yearken: Beholde, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, & some fell by the wayes side, and the foules of the heauen came and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stonie ground, where it had not much earth, and by & by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But as soon as the sunne was vp, it caught heat, and because it had no roote, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grewe vp and choked it, so that it gaue no fruit.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, & did fiftie folde, and some an hundred folde.

Then he sayde vnto them, Ye that hath eares to heare, let him heare.
And when he was alone, they that were about him woth the twelue, asked him of the parable.

And hee sayd vnto them, To epon it is giuen to knowe y mystery of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are woth-out, all things be done in parables.

That they seeing, may see, and not discerne: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their finnes should be forgiuen them.

Againe he sayd vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? howe shd should ye vnder-stand all other parables?

The sower soweth the woide.

And these are they that receiue the seede by the waies side, in whom the woide is sowen: but when they haue heard it, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the woide that was sowen in their hearts.

And likewise they that receiue the seede in stonie ground, are they, which when they haue heard the woide, straightwaies receiue it with gladnes.

Yet haue they no roote in themselves, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution cometh for the woide, immediately they be offended.

Also they that receiue the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the woide:

But the cares of this world, & the desirefulness of riches, & the lustes of other things enter in, and choke the woide, and it is vnfiruitfull.

But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they y heare the woide, and receiue it, and bring forth fruite, one corne thirtie, another fiftie, and some an hundred.

Also hee sayde vnto them, As the candle lighted to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the table, and not to be put on a candlestick?

For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secreete, but that it shall come to light.

If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

And hee sayde vnto them, Take heede what ye heare. With what measure ye mete, it shalbe measured vnto you:
and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen.

For vnto him that hath, shall it be gi-uen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

Also he sayd, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should call seede in y ground,

And should sleepe, and rise by night and day, and the seede should spring & growe vp, he not knowing howe.

For of the earth bringeth forth fruit of her selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that, full cometh in the eares.

And alsoone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sicke, because the haruest is come.

He sayd moreover, Whereunto shall we liken the kingdome of God? or wher unto what comparison shall we compare it?

It is like a graine of musterd seede, which when it is sowen in the earth, is the least of all seedes that be in the earth:

But after that it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greater of all herbes, & beareth great branches, so that the fowles of heauen may builde vnder the shadow of it.

And with many such parables hee preached the woide vnto them, as they were able to heare it.

And without parables spake hee nothing vnto them: but hee expounded all things to his disciples apart.

Nowe the same day when enen was come, he sayde vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

And they left the multitude, and tooke him as he was in the shippe: and there were also with him other thys.

And there arose a great boyme of wind, and the waues dashed into the shippe, so that it was nowe full.

And hee was in the sterne = a sleepe on a pillow: and they awoke him, and sayd to him, Master, carest thou not that we perish?

And he rose vp, and rebuked the winde, and sayde vnto the sea, Peace, and be still.
So the winde ceased, and it was a great calme.

Then he sayde vnto them, Why are ye so fearefull? howe is it that ye haue no faith?

And they feared exceedingly, and sayde one to another, Who is this, that both the winde and the sea obey him?

9 And he asked him, What is thy name?
and he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many.

10 And he prayed him instantly, that he would not sende them away out of the countrey.

11 Nowe there was there in the mount-taines a great heard of swine feeding.

12 And all the devils brought him, saying,
Send vs into the swine, that we may en-

13 And incontinently Iesus gave them leave. Then the vncleane spirits went out, and entered into the swine, and the hearde came headlong from the high bake into the sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) & they were drowned in the sea.

14 And the swineheards fled, and tolde it in the cite, and in the countrey, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and salve him that had bene possessed with the deuill, and had the legion, sit both clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

16 And they that salve it, tolde them, what was done to him: & he was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that he would depart from their coastes.

18 And when hee was come into the ship,
he that had bene possessed with the deuill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him, but said vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and shew them what great things the Lord hath done vnto thee, and howe he hath had compassion on thee.

20 So he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did mar-uile.

21 And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered to him, and he was nere vnto the sea.

22 And behold, there came out of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Iairus: and when he sawe him, he fell downe at his fete.

23 And brought him in sayng, saying, My little daughter lieth at paynt of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine hands on her, that she may be healed, and live.

24 Then he went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and thynghing
him.

25 (And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased by an issue of blood twelue yeeres.

26 And had suffered many things of man-ny physicians, and had spent all that she had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse.

27 When she had heard of Iesus she came in the peeple behind, and touched his garment.

28 For she sayde, If I may but touch his clothes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway the course of her blood was dried vp, and she felt in her body, that she was healed of her plague.

30 And immediately when Iesus did know in him selfe the vertue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the peeple, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude throng thee, &apest thou, who didst touch me?

32 And hee looked round about, to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled:
for she knew what was done in her, and she came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole truth.

34 And he said to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace, and be whole of thy plague.)

35 While hee yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which sayde, Thy daughter is dead: why troublest thou the master any further?

36 As soone as Iesus heard that word spoken, he sayde vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleue.

37 And he suffered no man to follow him, save Peter and James, and John the brother of James.

38 So he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and sawe the tumble, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And he went in, and sayde vnto them,
Why make ye this trouble, and weep?
the childe is not dead, but sleepeth.

40 And they laughed him to scorne: but he put them al out, and took the father, and the mother of the childe, and them that were with him, and entered in where the childe lay,

41 And toke the childe by the hand, and said vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Maiden, I say vnto thee, arise.

42 And straightway the maiden arose, and walked: for she was of the age of twelue yeeres: and they were astonished out of measure.

43 And he charged them straightly that no man should knowe of it, and commaunded to geue her meate.

9 But that they should be Iohd with f sandals, and that they should not put on two coates.

10 And he said vnto them, Wheresoeuer ye shall enter into an house, there abide till ye depart h thence.

11 i And whosoeuer shall not receiue you, nor heare you, when ye depart thence, k shake off the dust that is vnder your feete, for a witnes vnto them. Woe be it vnto you, It shall be easier for Sodoma, or Gomorrah at the day of iudgement, then for that cite.

12 j And they went out, and preached, that men should amend their lues.

13 And they cast out many deuils: and they anointed many that were sicke, with i oyle and healed them.

14 k Then king Herode heard of him (for his name was spied abroade) and saide, John Baptist is risen againe from the dead, and therefore great workes are wrought by him.

15 Other said, It is Elias: & some said, It is a Prophet, or as one l of o Prophets.

16 m So when Herode heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.

17 For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philipps wife, because hee had married her.

18 n For Iohn said vnto Herode, o It is not lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife.

19 Therefore Herodias had a quarrell against him, and would haue killed him, but he could not:

20 For Herode feared Iohn, knowing that he was a iust man, & an holp, and reuerenced him, & when he heard him, hee did many things, & he heard him gladly.

21 But the time being comenient, when Herode on his birth day made a banquet to his princes and capitaines, and chiefe estates of Galilee:

22 And the daughter of the same Herodias came in and daunced, & pleased Herode and them that sat at table together, the king said vnto the mayd, Aske of me what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee.

23 And hee swaie vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of me, I will giue it thee, enen vnto the halfe of my kingdom.

24 o So she went forth, and saide to her mother, What shall I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head.

25 Then she came in straightway with haste vnto the king, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldst giue me euen now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist.

26 Then the king was very sore: yet for his othes sake, & for their sakes which sat at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27 And immediately the king sent the hangman, & gaue charge that his head should be brought. So he went and beheaded him in the prison,

28 And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the maide, and the maide gaue it to her mother.

29 And when his disciples heard it, they came and tooke by his p body, and put it in a tombe.

30 j And the Apostles gathered themselves together to Iesus, & he tolde him al things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31 And he said vnto them, Come ye a part into the wilderness, and rest a while: for there were many comers and goers, that they had no leisure to eate.

32 So they went by ship out of the way into a desert place.

33 But the people saw them when they departed, and many knew him, and ran a foote thither out of all cities, & came thither before them, & assembled vnto him.

34 k Then Iesus went out, & saue a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe which had no shepheard: and he began to teach them many things.

35 l And when the day was now farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, saying, This is a desert place, and now the day is farre passed.

36 Let them depart, that they may go into the villages & towines about, & bye them bread: for they haue nothing to eate.

37 But he answered, and said vnto them, Giue ye them to eate. And they said vnto him, Shall we goe and bye two hundred pennie worth of bread & giue them to eate?

38 m Then he said vnto them, How many loaves haue ye? go and looke. And when they knewe it, they said, Five, and two fishes.

39 So he commanded them to make them

27 But Iesus said vnto her, Let the child first be fed: for it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it vnto the whelpes.

28 Then she answered, and sayde vnto him, Truely, Lord: yet in deede the whelpes eate vnder the table of the childrens crommes.

29 Then he sayde vnto her, For this saying go thy way: the deuill is gone out of thy daughter.

30 And when she was come home to her house, there found the deuill departed, and her daughter lying on the bed.

31 And he departed againe from the coasts of Tyne and Sidon, and came vnto the sea of Galilee, through the middes of the coastes of Decapolis.

32 And they brought vnto him one that was deafe, & stambed in his speech, and vnyed him to put his hand vpon him.

33 Then he tooke him aside from the multitude & put his fingers in his eares, and did spit, and touched his tongue.

34 And looking vp to heauen, he sighed, and sayd vnto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened.

1 Those daies, when there was a verie great multitude, and had nothing to eate, Iesus called his disciples to him, and sayd vnto them,

2 I haue a compaynion on the multitude, because they haue now continued with me these daies, and haue nothing to eate.

3 And if I send them away fasting to their owne houses, they would faint by the way: for some of them came from farre.

4 Then his disciples answered him, Thou can a man satiate these with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And he asked them, Howe many loaves haue ye? And they sayd seuen.

6 Then he commanded the multitude to sit

downe on the ground: and hee tooke the seuen loaves, and gaue thanks, brake them, and gaue to his disciples to set before them, and they did set them before the people.

7 They had also a fewe small fishes: and when he had giuen thanks, he commanded them also to be set before them.

8 So they did eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the broken meate that was left, seuen baskets full.

9 And they that had eaten, were about foure thousand: so he sent them away.

10 ¶ And anon hee entred into a shippe with his disciples, and came into the partes of Dalmanutha.

11 And the Pharises came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a signe from heauen, and tempting him.

12 Then hee sighed deeply in his spirit, & saide, Why doth this generation seeke a signe? verely I say vnto you, a signe shall not be giuen vnto this generation.

13 So he left them, & went into the ship againe, and departed to the other side.

14 ¶ And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them, but one loafe.

15 And he charged them, saying, Take heede, and beware of the leauen of the Pharises, and of the leauen of Herod.

16 And they thought among themselves, saying, It is, because we haue no bread.

17 And when Iesus knewe it, he said vnto them, Why reason you thus, because ye haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderstande ye: haue ye not hearts yet hardened?

18 Haue ye eyes and see not? and haue ye eares and heare not? and doe ye not remember?

19 When I brake the five loaves among finer thousand, howe many baskets full of broken meate tooke ye vp? they sayd vnto him, Twelue.

20 And when I brake seuen among foure thousand, howe many baskets of the remainings of broken meate tooke ye vp? and they sayd, Seuen.

21 Then he sayde vnto them, A holwe is it that ye vnderstand not?

22 And he came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blind man vnto him, and desired him to touche him.

23 Then hee tooke the blind by the hand, and led him out of the towne, and spit in his eyes, and put his hands vpon him, and asked him, if he sawe ought.

24 And he looked vp, and sayd, I see men: for I see them walking like trees.

25 After that, he put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And he was restored to his sight, and saw euery man as a tree out clearely.

26 And he sent him home to his house, saying, Neither go into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.

of Christ. 33 The dispensation vnto should be 42 Offences are forbidden.

1 And he sayde vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the Kingdome of God come with power.

2 And sixe daies after Iesus tooke Peter, and James, and John, and brought them vp into an hie mountaine out of the way alone, and he was transfigured before them.

3 And his raiment did shine, and was very white, as snow, so white as no fuller can make vpon the earth.

4 And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses, & they were talking with Iesus.

5 Then Peter answered, & sayde to Iesus, Mafter, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also thre tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 For he knew not what he said: for they according to his owne capacitee, not considering the end thereof.

7 And there was a cloude that shadowed them, and a voice came out of the cloude, saying, This is my beloued Sonne:
heare him.

8 And suddenly they looked round about, and sawe no more any man save Iesus onely with them.

9 And as they came downe from the mountaine, he charged them, that they should tell no man what they had seene, saue when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.

10 So they kept that matter to the selues, and demanded one of another, what the rising from the dead againe should meane?

11 Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, That Elias must first come?

12 And he answered, and said vnto them,
Elias verily shall first come and reioyce al things: as it is written of the Sonne of man, he must suffer many things, and be set at nought.

13 But I say vnto you, Elias is come,
(and they haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would) as it is written of him.

14 And when he came to his disciples, hee saue a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amazed, and came to him, and saluted him,

16 Then hee asked the Scribes, What dispute you among your selues?

17 And one of the company answered, and sayde, Mafter, I haue brought my sonne vnto thee, which hath a deuillish spirit:

18 And whersoever he taketh him, he teasteth him, and hee someth, and gnaseth his teeth, and pincheth away: and I spake to thy disciples that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 Then he answered him, & said, O faith-les generation, howe long now shall I suffer with you? Howe long now shall I suffer you? Bring him vnto me.

20 So they brought him vnto him: and as soone as the spirit sawe him, he tare him, and hee fell downe on the ground, waillowing and foaming.

21 Then he asked his father, Howe long time is it since hee hath bene thus? And he sayd, Of a childe.

22 And oft times he casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him:
but if thou canst doe any thing, helpe vs,
and haue compassion vpon vs.

23 And Iesus sayde vnto him, If thou canst beleue it, all things are possible to him that beleueth.

24 And straightway his father of the childe creeping with teares, said, Lord, I beleue:
helpe my vnbeleefe.

running together, he rebuked the vnleane spirit, saying vnto him, Thou deuill and came out, and he was as one dead, in so much that many said, He is dead.

27 But Iesus took his hand, and lift him up, and he rose.

28 And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, Why could not we call him out?

29 And he said vnto them, This kinde can by no other meanes come forth, but by prayer and fasting.

30 ¶ And they departed thence, & went through Salue, and he would not that any should haue knowen it.

31 For he taught his disciples, and saide vnto them, The Sonne of man shall be delivered into the hands of men, & they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, he shall rise againe the third day.

32 But they vnderstode not that saying,
and were afraide to aske him.

33 ¶ After he came to Capernaum: and when he was in the house, he asked them, What was it that you disputed among your selves?

34 And they helde their peace: for by the way they reasoned among them selues, who should be the chiefest.

35 And he sat downe, & called the twelue, and said to them, If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and seruant vnto all.

36 And he tooke a little childe, and set him in the middes of them, and tooke him in his armes, and said vnto them,

37 Whosoever shall receive one of such little children in my Name, receiveth me: and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth not me, but him that sent me.

38 ¶ Then Iohn answered him, saying, Master, we sawe one casting out devils
by thy Name, which followed not vs, and we forbade him, because he followeth vs not.

39 But Iesus said, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can doe a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speake against me.

40 For whosoever is not against vs, is on our part.

41 And whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drinke for my Names sake, because ye belong to Christ, verely I say vnto you, he shall not lose his reward.

42 And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones, that beleue in mee, it were better for him rather, that a milstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into the sea.

43 Wherefore if thine hande cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life, unaimed, then hauing two handes, to goe into hell, into the fire that
neuer shall be quenched,

44 Wherefore if thy righte hande cause thee
to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee
to enter into life, unaimed, then hauing two handes, to goe into hell, into the fire that
neuer shall be quenched,

45 Likewise, if thy foote cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to goe halt into life, then hauing two fetters to be cast into hell, into the fire that neuer shall be quenched,

46 Where their woyme dieth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

47 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out: it is better for thee to goe to God by false into the kingdome of God with one eye, then hauing two eyes, to be cast into hel
fire.

48 Where their woyme dieth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

49 For euery man shall be salted with fire: and euery sacrifice shall be salted with salte.

50 Salt is good: but if the salt be vnto saourie, wherewith shall it be seasoned? destroy grace haue salte in your selues, & haue peace, that they haue recieued of God: are as salt,

which hath lost his saour, and are worse then in selde.

¶ And he arose from thence, and went into the coasts of Iudaea by the farre side of Iordain, and the people resorted vnto him againe, & as he was wont, he taught them againe.

¶ Then the Pharisees came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and to marry another.

¶ And he answered, and saide vnto them,
What did Moses commaunde you?

¶ And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

¶ Then Iesus answered, & said vnto them,
For the hardness of your heart he wrote this precept vnto you.

¶ But at the beginning of the creation,
God made them male and female.

¶ For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife.

¶ And they twaine shall be one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

¶ Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let no man separate.

¶ And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter.

¶ And he saide vnto them, Whosoever shall put away his wife and marrie another, he committeth adultery against her.

¶ And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, shee committeth adultery.

¶ ¶ Then they brought little children to him, that he should touch them: for his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

¶ But when Iesus saue it, hee was displeased, and saide to them, Suffer the little children to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

¶ Verely I say vnto you, Whosoever shall receiue the kingdome of God as a little childe, he shall not enter therein.

¶ And hee tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and ble-
sed them.

¶ ¶ And when he was gone out on the day, hee saide vnto his disciples, I goe
to God.

¶ ¶ And when he was gone out on the day, hee saide vnto his disciples, I goe
to God.

¶ ¶ And when he was gone out on the Christ sheweth by this poore tree, the state of his kingdom, and it is not like to the great magnificence of this world.

Luk. 12. 14.

Every one shewed some signe of honour and reverence. Or, say, I pray thee.

Many came in their owne name, but Christ came in the Name of the Lord. Because the promise was made to him. Mat. 31. 10. Luk. 19. 45. Math. 21. 19. Christ was subject to our infirmities.

This was to declare how much they displeased God, which haue but an outward shewe and appearance without fruit.

Mat. 56. 7.
Luk. 7. 11.

For neither could they suffer reprehension, nor that their profile should be hindered.

1 And when they came nere to Ierusalem, into Bethphage and Bethania vnto the mount of olives, he sent forth two of his disciples,

2 And said vnto them, Go your waies into that towne: & is ouer against you, & as soon as ye shall enter into it, ye shall finde a colt bounde, whereon neuer man sat: loose him, and bring him.

3 And if any man say vnto you, Why doe ye this? Say that the Lord hath neede of him, and straightway he will send him thither.

4 And they went their way, and founde a colt tied by the doore without, in a place where two wapes met, and they loosed him.

5 Then certaine of them that stood there, said vnto them, What doe ye loosing the colt?

6 And they said vnto them, as Iesus had commanded them. So they let them goe.

7 And they brought the colt to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sat vpon him.

8 And many spied their garments in the way: other cut downe branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 And they that went before, & they that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna: Blessed be hee that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

10 Blessed be the kingdom that cometh in the Name of the Lord of our father: David: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heauens.

11 So Iesus entered into Ierusalem, and into the Temple: & when he had looked about on all things, & now it was evening, he went forth vnto Bethania with the twelue.

12 And on the morowe when they were come out from Bethania, he was hungry,

13 And seeing a figge tree a farre off, that had leaues, hee went to see if he might finde any thing thereon: but when hee came vnto it, hee found nothing but leaues: for the time of figges was not yet.

14 Then Iesus answered, and saide to it, If neuer man eate fruit of thee hereafter while the world standeth: and his disciples heard it.

15 And when they came to Ierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that solde and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that solde doves.

16 Neither would he suffer that any man should carpe a beest through the Temple.

17 And he taught, saying vnto them, Is it not written, My house shall be called the house of prayer vnto all nations: but you haue made it a den of thieves.

18 And the Scribes and the Priests heard it, and sought how to destroy him: for they feared him, because the whole multitude was alionied at his doctrine.

19 But when euen was come, Iesus went out of the citie.

20 And in the morning as they passed by, they saw the figge tree dried up from the rootes.

21 Then Peter remembred, and said vnto him, Master, behold, the figge tree which thou cursedst, is withered.

22 And Iesus answered, & said vnto them, Haue faith in God.

23 For verily I say vnto you, that whosoever shall say vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, and shall not waue in his heart, but shall beleue that those things which he saith, shall come to passe, whatsoeuer hee saith, shall be done to him.

24 Therefore I say vnto you, whatsoeuer ye desire when ye pray, beleue ye shall haue it, and it shall be done vnto you.

25 But when ye shall stand, & pray, forgive, if ye haue any thing against any man, & your Father also which is in heauen, may forgive you your trespasses.

26 For if you will not forgive, your Father which is in heauen, will not pardon you your trespasses.

27 Then they came againe to Ierusalem: & as he walked in the Temple, there came to him the high Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders,

28 And said vnto him, By what authoritie dost thou these things? & who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou shouldest do these things?

29 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, I will also aske of you a certaine thing, & answer me me, & I will tell you by what authoritie I do these things.

30 The baptism of Iohn, was it from heauen, or of men? answer me.

31 And they thought with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why then did ye not beleue him?

32 But if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted Iohn, that he had bene a very Prophet.

33 Then they answered, and said vnto Iesus, We can not tell. And Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Neither will I tel you by what authoritie I do these things.

1 The vineyard is let out. 14 Obedience & tribute due to Princes. 25 The resurrection of the dead. 28 The sunne of the Lawes. 35 Christ the sonne of David. 38 Hypocrites must be observed. 41 The offering of the poore & widowes.

1 And he began to speake vnto them in paraboles. A certaine man planted a vineyard, and compassed it with an hedge, and digged a pit for the wines, & built a towne in it, and let it a The Greeke out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

2 And at a time, he sent to the husbandmen a seruant, that he might receiue of the husbandmen of the fruit of the vines.

Mat. 6. 14.

Mat. 21. 23. Luk. 10. 12.

He comprehendeth his whole office and ministerie.

They came of malice, and not to learne: therefore Christ thought them unworthy to be taught.

3 But they took him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.

4 And againe, he sent vnto them another seruant, and at him they cast stones, and byake his head, and sent him away shauellike handled.

5 And againe he sent another, & him they flew, and many other, beating some, and killing some.

6 Yet had he one sonne, his deare beloved: him also he sent the last vnto them, saying, They will reuerence mee sonne.

7 But the husbandedmen saide among them selues, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shalbe ours.

8 So they took him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shall then the Lord of the vineyard doe? He will come, and destroye these husbandedmen, and giue the vineyard to others.

10 Haue ye not read so much as this scripture? The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner.

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

12 Then they went about to take him, but they feared people: for they perceived that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, & went their way.

13 ¶ And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharisees, and of the Herodians that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they saide vnto him, Master, we knowe that thou art true, & carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly, is it lawfull to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should we giue it, or should we not giue it? But he knewe their hypocritie, and saide vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a penny, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and he saide vnto them, Whose is this image & superscription? and they saide vnto him, Cæsars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Giue to Cesar the things that are Cæsars, & to God, those that are Gods: and they marvelled at him.

18 ¶ Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

20 There were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, & when he died, left no issue.

21 Then the second tooke her, and he died, neither did hee yet leaue plure, and the third likewise.

22 So leuen had her, and left no plure: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall the be of them? for seuen had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Are ye not therefore deccied, because ye know not the Scriptures, neyther the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marry, nor women are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue ye not read in the booke of Moses, howe in the bulsh God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the liuing. Ye are therefore greatly deccied.

28 ¶ Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, and perceiving that hee had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Heare, Israel, the Lord our God is the onely Lord.

30 Thou shalt therefore loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, & with all thy soule, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment.

31 And the second is like, that is, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandment greater then these.

32 Then the Scribe said vnto him, Well Master, thou hast said the truth, for there is one God, & that there is none but he,

33 And to loue him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, & to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then, when Iesus saw that hee answered discreetly, he saide vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdom of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question.

35 ¶ And Iesus answered and saide teaching in the Temple, How say the Scribes that Christ is the Sonne of Dauid?

36 For Dauid himselfe saide by the Holy Ghost, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

37 Then Dauid himselfe calleth him Lord: by what means is he then his Sonne? and much people heard him gladly.

38 ¶ Moreover he said vnto them in his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes which loue to go in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets,

39 And the chiefe seates in the Synagogues, and the firste rooms at feastes, 40 Which deuoure widowes houses, esen under a colour of long prayers. These shall receiue the greater damnation.

41 ¶ And as Iesus late ouer against the treasury, he behelde how the people cast money into the treasury, and many rich men cast in much.

42 And there came a certaine poore widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a quadrin.

43 Then hee called vnto him his disciples, and said vnto them, Verily I say vnto

h Not as touching the spiritual nature, but concerning the state of incorruption, and immortality, so that then there shall neede no more marriage.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 10 The Gospel shall be preached to all. 9. 22 The persecution and false prophes which shall be before the coming of Christ, whose house is uncertaine. 33 He exhor-teth every one to watch.

1 As he went out of the Temple,
one of his disciples saide unto him, Master, see what stones and what buildings are here.

2 Then Jesus answered & said unto him, Dost thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone vpon a stone, that shall not be throwen downe.

3 And as he was on the mount of olives, ouer against the Temple, Peter, & James,
and John, & Andrew asked him secretly, Tell vs, when shall these things be? and what shall be the signe wher al these things shall be fulfilled?

4 And Jesus answered the, & began to say,
Take heed lest any man deceiue you.
For many shall come in my name, saying,
I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.
5 Furthermore when ye shall heare of warres, and rumors of warres, be ye not troubled: for such things must needs be: but the ende shall not be yet.

6 For nations shall rise against nation, and kingdomes against kingdomes: & there shall be earthquakes in diuers quarters, and there shall be faunne and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes.

7 But take ye heed to your selues, for they shall deliuer you vp to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: ye shall be beaten, and brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimony vnto them.

8 And the Gospel must first be published among all nations.

9 But when they leade you, and deliuer you vp, take ye no thought afore, neither premeditate what ye shall say: but what soever is giuen you at the same time, that speak: for it is not ye that speak, but the holy Ghost.

10 And the brother shall deliuer the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

11 And ye shall be hated of all men for my sake: but who soerer shall endure vnto the ende, he shall be saved.

12 Whosoerer shall see the abominati of desolation (spoken of by Admi-el the Prophet): standing where it ought not, (let him that readeth, consider it) then let them that be in Iudaea, flee into the mountains.

13 And let him that is vpon the house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his house.

14 And let him that is in the field, not turn backe againe vnto the things, which he left behinde him, to take his clothes,

15 Then two shall be to the that are in the field,
& to them that give sicke in those daies.
16 Whosoerer shall see that your sight be not in the winter.

17 For there shall be in those daies such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created vnto this time, neither shall be.

18 And except that the Lord had shortened those daies, no flesh should be saved: but for the elects sake, which he hath chosen, he hath shortened those daies.

19 Then if any man say to you, Lo, here is Christ, or, lo, he is there, beware, it is not.

20 For false Christs shall rise, & false prophets, & shall shewe signes & wonders, to deceiue if it were possible, the very elect.

21 But take ye heed: behold, I haue shewed you all things before.

22 Whosoerer in those daies, after that tribulation, the Sonne shall ware darke, and the Sonne shall not giue her light,

23 And the stars of heauen shall fall: and the powers which are in heauen, shall shake.

24 And then shall they see the Sonne of man coming in the cloudes, with great power and glorie.

25 And he shall send his Angels, & they shall gather together his elect from the foure windes, and from the vniuersall part of the earth to the vniuersall part of heauen.

26 Now learne a parable of the figge tree.
When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaues, ye knowe that somer is nere.

27 So in like manner, when ye see these things come to passe, know that the kingdome of God is nere, even at the doores.

28 Verily I say vnto you, this generation shall not passe, til these things be done.

29 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my wordes shall not passe away.

30 But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no, nor the Angels which are in heauen, neither the Sonne himselfe, saue the Father.

31 Take heed to watch, and pray: for ye knowe not when the time is.

32 For the Sonne of man is as a man going into a strange countrey, and leaueth his house, and giveth authority to his ser-uants, and to enter into his house, and commandeth the porter to watch.

33 Watch therefore, (for ye knowe not when the master of the house will come, at even, or at midnight, or at the cocke crowing, or in the dawning)

34 Lest if he come suddenly, he should find you sleeping.

35 And those things that I say vnto you,
I say vnto all men, Watch.

take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they sayd, Not in the feast day, least there be any tumult among the people.

3 * And when he was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as he late at table, there came a woman hauing a bore of ointment of spikenard, very costly, & she broke the bore, & powred it on his head.

4 Therefore some disdained among them sculces, and saide, To what ende is this waste of ointment?

5 For it might haue bin sold for moze then three hundred pence, & bin giuen vnto the poore, & they grudged against her.

6 But Iesus saide, Let her alone: why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 For ye haue the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may do them good,
but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

8 She hath done þe the could: she came afoze hand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Where I say vnto you, Whersoener this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also þe she hath done, shall be spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 * Then Iudas Iscariot, one of the twelue, went awap vnto the hye priests, to betray him vnto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would gve him money: therefore he sought how he might conueniently betray him.

12 * Showe the first day of vneleached bread, when they sacrificed þe Passouer, his disciples said vnto him, Where wilt thou that we goe and prepare, that thou makest eate the Passouer?

13 Then he sent forth two of his disciples, and said vnto them, Goe ye into the cite,
and there shall a man meete you bearyng
a picher of water: follow him.

14 And whersoener he goeth in, say ye to the Goodman of the house, The Master saith, Where is the lodging wher I shall eate the Passouer with my disciples?

15 And he wil helpe you an vpper chamber which is large, furnished & prepared:
there make it ready for vs.

16 So his disciples went forth, & came to the cite, and found as he had saide vnto them, and made ready the Passouer.

17 * And at euill he came with the twelue.

18 And as they late at table and did eate, Iesus saide, Verily I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me, which eateth with me.

19 Then they began to be sorrowfull and to say to him one by one, Is it I? and as nother, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said vnto them,
It is one of the twelue that I dipperly with me in the platter.

21 * Cruelly the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is writen of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if he had neuer bene bozne.

22 And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had giuen thanks, he brake it and gaue it to them, and said,

Take, eate, this is my body.

23 Also he tooke the cuppe, & when he had
